Modern Ball-Gear steering, featured in all Chevrolet Task-Force trucks, makes your job easier at every turn! In this precision steering gear, scores of polished steel balls minimize steering friction.

WATCH for modern short-stroke V8's

There's a new V8—either standard or optional at extra cost—for every model. They're compact, efficient engines, too—the leaders in their respective classes for horsepower-per-pound!

You'll find modern features everywhere! For example, there are famous Chevrolet high-compression 6's—the world's most popular truck engines! A great new 5-speed transmission, optional at extra cost, handles tough jobs with ease in a wide range of models. New Triple-Torque tandem options for heavy-duty trucks hike G.V.W.'s up to 32,000 lbs. . . . G.C.W.'s up to 50,000 lbs. Certainly, there are many things that point up Chevrolet truck modernity . . . many reasons why anything less than Chevy is an old-fashioned truck!

How To Display the State Flag

There are certain fundamental rules of heraldry which, if understood generally, would indicate the proper method of displaying the Flag of Michigan. The matter becomes very simple if it is kept in mind that the flag represents the living Commonwealth and is itself considered as a living thing.

If the Michigan Flag is displayed on a staff it should float below the Stars and Stripes. If displayed in a room against the wall, the State Flag should be on the left, the flag's own left. When displayed on the pulpit the State Flag should be flown from a staff placed on the speaker's left, as he faces the audience, and the Stars and Stripes on the speaker's right.

When the State Flag is displayed it would be appropriate to display it with the Stars and Stripes if possible.

When the State Flag is carried in a procession with other flags, the State Flag should be carried a little back of the Stars and Stripes.

When displayed with the Stars and Stripes against a wall from crossed staffs, the Flag of Michigan should be on the flag's own left and its staff should be back of the staff of the Stars and Stripes.

No State Flag should be placed above or to the right of the Stars and Stripes.

When the flag is in such a condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside or used in any way that might be viewed as disrespectful, but should be destroyed as a whole, privately, preferably by burning, or by some other method in harmony with the reverence and respect we owe to the emblem of our State.

Michigan Is Good to Industry

Three milion dollars was spent last year to lure industry to areas other than Michigan.

We, so far, have depended on word of mouth and personal salesmanship to tell the story of our greatness throughout the nation. A strong effort in this direction is the observance of Michigan Week with its slogan, "It's Great to Live in Michigan."

The greatness of our forests and lakes, our natural resources, history and cultural advantages are all a part of the story we should tell our friends and relatives in other states.

With it, we should tell them how Michigan is good to industry.

Our tax laws are considered fair.

We have markets for industry. Michigan lies between two of the eight Class A markets in the U. S., Detroit and Chicago. Our population — all consumers —is the fastest growing of any of the Great Lakes States.

We have production materials and resources. The Great Lakes provide our area with potentially unlimited quantities of process water. Salt and various salt chemicals — the basis of many industrial and consumer goods — are readily available. There is an excellent supply of timber, the raw material for many industries such as paper and hardboard manufacturers. Electric power for industry is plentifully supplied by the state's nine electric utilities.

We have enlightened labor and management relations. Our well-paid workers are production minded. They make things faster and better. And, just try to match our management know-how anywhere in the world.

Yes, Michigan is good to industry, and Michigan Week is the time to tell the world about it!

It's great to live in Michigan

"Just as the family doctor treats all kinds of ailments, I suppose you handle the sale of all kinds of property. I have a farm to sell, and I'd like you to help me." So said Max Branton one day.

"We appreciate your visit," I replied, "but continuing with your illustration, when the family doctor meets a problem that is out of the ordinary, he often works with a specialist. So it is, with us and your property. The size and type makes it out of the ordinary for us. However, we do have some competent co-brokers, here and in other cities, that we sometimes get to assist us on specialized properties."

"That's fine with me," Mr. Branton said. "I'll leave the problem in your hands. You can use any outside brokers that you wish to call on."

Before long, through a cooperative broker, we sold Mr. Branton's farm.

When you are planning to sell real estate, feel free to visit our office and discuss your problem. If we don't have much demand for your type of property, we'll frankly tell you. But even then, the chances are good, we can help you sell it.

Won't you come in?

Letter to Editor

To the Editor:

Additional supplies of polio vaccine are on hand and the Lenawee County Health Department urges that all children between the ages of one through 14 years, and pregnant women, visit their family physician and receive both first and second dosages as soon as possible, preferably before the peak of the polio season in late summer.

Over the United States, more than 10 million children received polio vaccine in 1955 and records show that the vaccinated children ran only one-fifth the risk of getting the paralytic disease as did their unvaccinated playmates.

Reliance on a single dose is not recommended. The first and second doses provide a primary immunization. The third injection gives "full immunizaton." Research is underway to determine how frequently additional booster doses will be needed to maintain adequate protection against paralytic polio.

Three distinct types of polio virus are capable of giving the disease and it is therefore advisable to vaccinate children who have had polio in previous years, in order to insure satisfactory immunity against all three types of virus.

The vaccine has now been proven to have a remarkable effectiveness, as well as safety and purity and is an important and powerful weapon against paralysis which deserves immediate and widespread use up to the limit of its availability.

Very Sincerely,
R. J. Hanna, M. D., Director
Lenawee County Health Dept.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Even though the school year is almost over, there are still a few days, and we would like to remind our parents and friends that Ottawa St. is barricaded in front of Central School—to help protect our children.

All the elementary school children attended a program in the high school gymnasium last Thursday morning. Mr. Ken Smith drew some pictures and told interesting stories at the same time.

Mrs. Neitling's first grade made flowers in a little pot for Mother's Day. Erie Rodabough, Danny Hare, and Gary Spillman had birthdays this week. Joe Weaver has the measles.

The fourth grade boys and girls were invited to the auditorium Wednesday to hear the junior band.

The children in Mrs. Miller's fourth grade science class have been learning how plants develop and grow. There are several types of root-systems that help plants reach the materials they need to live. The children rooted house plant cuttings and each child potted a plant to give as a Mother's Day gift.

On May 19, the Bow Club in Mr. Francoeur's room is going to have a party at the athletic field. Those who will attend are Virginia Greiman, Eugene Verrier, Greg King, Della Holdridge, Bruce King, David Crosby, Mary Alice Stutesman, Ruth Milosh, Barbara Wilbar, Jerry Kapnick, David Blouch, Brenda Hannah, Jerry Holdridge and Gale Miller. Refreshments will be served and we hope everyone will have a good time.

Mrs. Haughn acompanied Mrs. Whiting and her fourth graders on a visit to the HERALD office last week. They all enjoyed it very much.

Eldon Miller's mother came to school Tuesday and took a group picture of the children.

Sharon Korth brought about 30 cocoons to school which she found on her mother's tulip tree. We hope they will come out before school is over.

Charles Saling brought his arrowhead collection and Glenn Green brought a rock collection. Michael Wilson brought a skull which we think was a rabbit.

Shirley Creger had a birthday last week.

In Mrs. Bailey's fourth grade room the children are enjoying making maps of the United States. They have finished their social studies books and are interested in learning more about the states.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

In just a few more days the first grade is going to spend a day at the Toledo Zoo. We can hardly wait. We hope we can see all the animals we have been studying.

Marsna Richard in second grade had a birthday last week and treated us to ice cream, cake and balloons.

We are able to read so much better now than we were at the beginning of the year that we read as many library books as we wish to. Some of us read three of four during the week.

We do not know if our robin has any eggs in her nest or not but we think there are. It is very interesting to watch her.

Ruth Satterthwaite is visiting our class while on vacation in Tecumseh. She told us many interesting things about the Burmese customs and of the school she attended. She brought a Burmese costume to show us how they wear them.

We have received an award for our safety patrol from the A.A.A. It has been put in the library.

Mary Ann Mead had a birthday last Friday and treated us to crackerjack.

Your Child May Have Defective Ears

While it's common for youngsters to daydream, if your child seems inattentive much of the time, he may be suffering from a hearing loss, according to the Michigan Department of Health, which today reported hearing defects in about 45,000 Michigan school children.

Officials said unrecognized hearing handicaps often cause parents and teachers to class a child as slow or stupid, when what he may need is some medical attention to help him hear the instructions he is supposed to follow.

Dr. Goldie Corneliuson, department director of Maternal and Child Health, commended many Michigan communities for helping to sponsor hearing testing programs, which last year checked the hearing of over 200,000 Michigan youngsters.

When the test shows that a child may be having a hard time to hear, his parents are notified that he [illegible] competent medical attention by local specialists, who join to sponsor clinics following the school testing.

Dr. Corneliuson said that in some instances, a child can be helped simply by changing his place in the classroom—farther to the front, or so his "best ear" will be turned toward the teacher. In other cases, she said hearing aids help children who otherwise live in a distorted world of sound.

DAR Chapter Has Spring Luncheon

The last regular meeting of the season of Abi Evans chapter D.A.R. was the annual spring luncheon held last Friday in the home of Mrs. Al Helzerman. Mrs. Helzerman was assisted by Mrs. Roy Whiting, Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mrs. Neil Pearson and Mrs. James Artman and the luncheon was served at tables decorated by spring flowers.

Twenty-five members attended and there were two guests present from the Keziah Cooley Goss chapter in Ann Arbor. They were the Regent Mrs. Pierce and Miss Alice Johnson. The latter is an aunt of Mrs. Pearson.

Mrs. Joe Rice, who had been the chapter delegate to the National Continental Congress held in Washington in April, gave an interesting and comprehensive report of that meeting and her talk constituted the program for the afternoon.

June 8 the chapter will hold a picnic at the home of Mrs. Charles Branigin.

Flowers Are Topic of Altar Society

Members of St. Elizabeth Altar Society, meeting at the school auditorium last Wednesday evening, were entertained by a talk on flowers and gardens by Mrs. Neil Pearson and by beautiful colored slides showing views of her garden in full bloom.

There were 32 present and during the business meeting a decision was made regarding the choice of dishes to be purchased for the church dining room. Place settings for about 200 were selected.

A nominating committee to report at the next meeting was appointed consisting of Mrs. Joseph Conway, Mrs. Archie Spohr and Mrs. Ben Hammack. The regular monthly committee is Mrs. Reginald Dixon, Mrs. Mildred Hartjes, Mrs. Walter Mueller and Mrs. Louis L. Schneider.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Conway, Mrs. Joseph Dziachen, Mrs. T. J. Wagner, Mrs. Earldeen Roe, Mrs. Norma Flynn and Mrs. Elmer Spreeman.

The next meeting, which will be the last for the season, will be at the Wamplers Lake cottage of Mrs. C. F. Sage with a 6:30 potluck supper.

OLD TESTAMENT IS PROGRAM TOPIC

The Old Testament was the program topic discussed by Mrs. W. W. Ring at the meeting of St. Peter's Guild last Thursday afternoon. The meeting was held in the Parish House with Mrs. E. C. Dickin presiding, and Mrs. H. H. Hammel conducting devotions.

Final plans for the May 17 Kitchen Tour sponsored by the ladies of the church were discussed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Hammel and Mrs. E. Lavern Russell.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held jointly with the Woman's Auxiliary and will be a one p.m. potluck luncheon at the Parish House.

The Patient's Responsibility....

Much has been written about the Doctor's responsibility to his patient. But little has been said about the patient's responsibilities. Not the least of these is the moral obligation to follow through with treatment.

To frequently change physicians is a disservice to yourself and family. Do not demand immediate results — but give a full measure of cooperation.

Buick SUPER 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

When it purrs, you reign

You can hardly hear its whispered might—but man, you sure can feel it.

It's power almost without limit – power that humbles the hills, melts the miles, makes you monarch of all you survey.

For this is a new Buick—a '56 Buick—sparked by the most potent engine in Buick annals—a 322-cubic-inch V8 with a crackling high compression of 9.5 to 1.

But what makes you feel even more like bossman of the highway is the great new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

First time you tickle the gas pedal you'll know what we mean.

Now—smack in the top inch of gas pedal travel – right where you save gas every turn of the wheels – you get a swift, sure and supremely positive new getaway response in an instant.

For smooth and nimble performance—for sheer mastery in traffic—nothing like it ever was.

And that's just part of it. When you need a still greater flow of get-up-and-go for safety's sake, you merely switch the pitch and you zoom out of tight spots.

So come rule the roost in this '56 Buick.

Come drive a car with 127 gorgeous inches of wheelbase to give it regal room and a ride that's fit for a king.

Try out Buick's new steering – new center-grooved brakes – new direct-acting shock absorbers with triple the former volume of jounce-cushioning oil.

Learn how it feels to boss a car that looks like royalty and acts the part to perfection.

We promise – you'll practically purr with delight at the wheel of this dazzler—especially when you discover how easily you can make it your own.

What do you say – shall we expect you today?

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The kindergarten children entertained the first and second grades one day. We enjoyed having them and they made a nice audience for us to practice our program.

Most of our first graders have finished all of their text book and now are having fun reading in supplementary books.

Recently Leslie Pence and Joyce Hall celebrated their seventh birthdays. We all enjoyed the treats they brought for us.

Last Thursday was a very exciting day for us in third grade. We packed our lunches and took a bus trip to the Toledo Zoo. There were so many things to see. All of us took a train ride on the miniature train and most of us bought souvenirs.

We have four baby robins in our nest. The mother takes very good care of them. We can watch her feed them and they certainly are hungry most of the time.

Marvin Grigg and Sharon Greene celebrated birthdays.

In the fourth grade we, too, are reviewing and testing ourselves on the work we have done this year to see if we are ready for fifth grade work.

We are also making plans for our trip to the Toledo Zoo next Tuesday. Everyone is excited about going; and the time has passed so slowly since we first talked about it!

Nancy Nixon celebrated her 11th birthday last Wednesday and gave us each a treat.

We have finished several of our books and are doing extra work as well as review work.

Next week we are going to make Michigan books. We are learning what a wonderful state we live in.

A weary but satisfied bunch of sixth graders cheered their way home from Greenfield Village. One of the loudest cheers was for Bob Purkey who was a congenial traveling companion and assistant "checker-upper."

A week of review will end the school year for us and then a real good-bye to Patterson School. We are ready for the big move!

CENTRAL SCHOOL

There is a feeling of excitement all over the building as we are getting ready to close the school year. Up and down the halls you can hear such familiar words as "review," "tests" (especially "reading tests") and "reports."

Mrs. Neitling's first grade was happy to see Gale Murdock on her visit to their room Monday morning. Gale will not be back to school until next fall.

Virginia Rose brought a cocoon to school and we hope it will hatch before school is out. Joe Weaver brought a tiny turtle. Joe is back in school after having the measles.

Mrs. Callihan's second grade room is enjoying lovely bouquets of forsythia, tulips, violets and fruit tree blossoms.

Pamela Runk is going to Holland, Mich. this summer and next year. Her room is drawing pictures and learning about the city. Pam was there last weekend and told us a little about the tulips and windmills. Perhaps some of the room will go to the Tulip Festival this weekend.

We are learning how to add numbers above 10. We find a group of 10 and see how many more. This is easily added to 10. Now we can do number combinations easily by thinking this way.

In the fourth grades, Mrs. Whiting's room is enjoying an art exhibit. These were pictures of "The Pageant of a Nation" and showed many historical events which we have studied in our social studies class this year.

Before school begins in the morning and at noon, Mrs. Miller's room is enjoying some new games. These were selected by a committee who were chosen to spend the money we received as a prize for the highest attendance at a P.T.A. meeting.

Several of the grades are using the large bus to travel to other cities.

Mr. Kelty's fifth grade went to the Toledo Art Museum on May 15. It was an interesting trip. The guide at the museum made the visit enjoyable by his comments about the rooms.

The sixth grades will both go to Greenfield Village and are preparing for the visit by studying about the buildings they will see.

Miss Engle's room will make the trip on May 18 and Mr. Francouer's room will go on May 25.

Tri-Town Group Has Meeting

Fourteen members of the Tri-Town Extension Group met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Jack Gibson in Clinton. The chairman, Mrs. Larry Hart opened the meeting by reading the regulations governing home economics extension clubs for the benefit of the new members. It was voted to subscribe to the "Grapevine," the official club newspaper and Mrs. John Robinson was appointed club historian for the coming year.

Members decided to have secret pals for the next season and the work of the evening was decorating 18 plants which are to be taken to the Parrett Nursing Home. Mrs. Ted Sisson and Mrs. Robinson were commissioned to present the plants.

Five members of the group, Mrs. Duane Bihlmeyer, Mrs. Sisson, Mrs. Richard Whelan, Mrs. Harold Meade and Mrs. Jesse Gray attended Achievement Day in Adrian, May 2.

Mrs. Robinson will entertain the club the evening of June 18.

State Police Schedule New Training School

Sergeant Fred B. O'Donnell, commanding officer of the Clinton Post of the Michigan State Police, has issued a reminder that young men desiring to become State Police officers have only until midnight of May 30 to file applications for the next training school.

Recruits are being sought to fill 168 new positions authorized at the 1956 session of the state legislature.

"A career in the Michigan State Police is now especially attractive because of higher pay and other benefits as well as occupation," Sergt. O'Donnell said. "Recruits begin earning a good salary right from the time they enter training school and increases follow regularly thereafter, with a high in the trooper rank alone of $5,800 a year. In addition, troopers receive $900 a year in subsistence pay, longevity pay, their uniforms, paid [illegible] and sick leave.

"Promotions carry substantial increases in pay and at the end of 25 years of service an officer is eligible for a pension of half his pay which goes to his widow in event of his death. She also receives the pension should he die because of a duty incurred illness or accident before he completes his 25 years.

"You can't beat this proposition, for it solves the security problem."

To be eligible to apply, a man must be between 21 and 29 years of age, inclusive, not less than five feet, nine inches in height, in good health, and of good character. He can be either married or single.

Applicants should go to the nearest State Police post, or talk to any State Police officer. They may also write to the State Civil Service Commission or the Michigan State Police in Lansing.

Piano Is Subject of Music Club

The last regular meeting of the Music Club for this season was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. W. G. Waldron, who was both hostess and program leader. Four guests, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, Mrs. Bobbie Robison, Miss Betty Day and Mrs. John Hamilton and 15 club members attended.

"The Piano" was the theme of the program which was opened by Miss Day playing "The Shadow Dance" by MacDowell. A history of the piano from its most primitive form to the finished instrument of today was capably outlined by Miss Edith Ingersoll and the two piano duets by Mrs. John McColl and Mrs. William Hayden which followed illustrated her talk. They played a "Spanish Dance" and "The Saber Dance."

Mrs. Arthur Schwartz then gave a comprehensive resume of the life of Mozart, playing several selections from his compositions. Another two piano number by Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Schwartz followed after which Mrs. Hayden performed the "Fantasy in F Minor" by Chopin. The program was brought to a close by a two piano, eight hand selection played by Mrs. Robert Warren, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. Harley McConnell and Mrs. Waldron.

Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Waldron reported on the recent state convention of Music Clubs which they attended in Flint and the president, Mrs. Hayden appointed Mrs. Perry Hayden as chairman of the nominating committee to select officers for the coming year. The club was invited to the home of Mrs. William Hayden for an afternoon tea June 16.

Mrs. John Wintersteen and Mrs. George Wittrup assisted the hostess in serving refreshments with Mrs. Nina Heath presiding at the tea service.

Christian Science Services Listed

Man's God-given ability to cope effectively with the false suggestions of evil will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Nehemiah's monumental achievement in rebuliding the wall of Jerusalem in the face of false rumors, treachery, and other evil works, will be featured in the Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled: "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (393:-12): "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man."

Taylor Named for Division Post By A&P

Clyde L. Taylor has been named Assistant Director of Sales of A & P Food Stores' Central Westen Division, it was announced today.

Taylor, who has been sales manager of the division's Detroit unit since 1952, will assist Sales Director Thomas J. Fitzgerald in handling sales for company stores in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

An A & P employee since 1928, Taylor also has been sales manager of the division's Louisville and Toledo units, and assistant office manager in Louisville. He is a native of Jackson, Mich., and a graduate of the University of Michigan.

INDIANS ARE SUBJECT

"Indians American" was the subject discussed at the Monday evening meeting of the Baptist Women's Society held at the Youth House. The guest speaker was Mrs. William Townley of Brooklyn, who was introduced by Mrs. Earl Wood, program leader. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Blair Bashore. There were 26 members present and the group voted to assist the Good Cheer Class with their rummage sale Thursday and Friday.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Robert Gillespie and her committee with Mrs. Glenn Griewahn and Mrs. Harold Easton presiding at the tea services.

Mrs. Gillispie will be in charge of the program for the June meeting, Mrs. Delmar Finch the devotions and Mrs. Delbert Tallman the refreshments.

Michigan, My Michigan

Home of my heart, I sing to thee,
Michigan, my Michigan.
Thy lake-bound shores I long to see,
Michigan, My Michigan.
From Saginaw's tall whispering pines,
To Lake Superior's farthest mines,
Fair in the light of memory shines,
Michigan, My Michigan.

When worn with watching traitor foes,
Michigan, My Michigan.
The welcome night brought sweet repose,
Michigan, My Michigan.
The soldier, weary from the fight,
Sleeps sound, nor fears the rebels might,
For "Michigan's on guard tonight!"

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

One day we were trecking through a section of some fairly open woods with quite short undergrowth, looking for rhino. Suddenly N'Gora, in front of me, stopped and held his hand back toward me, meaning for me to be absolutely still. He had spied a little triangular, slate colored, spot so far ahead of us that I had great difficulty in finding it, when he pointed it out. It was the ear of a rhino lying down. This called for a great deal of caution. Rhinos have excellent hearing and sense of smell. We walked closer, very carefully avoiding making any noise. The wind was favorable, but we must not have been careful enough. When we were 75 yards away and could dimly see the outlines of four rhinos, one of them became alarmed and stood up. Immediately we froze in our tracks and watched. A rhino's eyesight is very poor and at that distance he could not see us as long as we remained still. After about a minute he was satisfied nothing was wrong and lay down again. We now edged closer and finally stopped, waiting for another of the group to get up to take a look. The first one was too young, his horn too small for a trophy. We hoped the others would take turns to stand up if we waited long enough.

SEIZED BY BUCK FEVER

It was terribly exciting. Here were four rhinos in front of us and we only knew what one of them looked like. There must be one big fellow in the group. Would we get a chance to see them properly? Their heads were partly hidden; their horns resting on the sand, so we could not see them. My heart was beating in my mouth and the blood thumping in my ears. I was sure my hat was moving up and down like Chuck Butler's does when he demonstrates a case of buck fever. My shirt collar became too tight. If and when I shot, would the rest charge us? They might, and two guns against four rhinos would call for some fancy stuff in the way of shooting.

Suddenly from afar came a faint yell from a native who evidently was honey hunting and had lost his partner. The native must have been at least half a mile away and we could barely hear his voice. However, that was enough for the young rhino which had shown uneasiness before. He got up with a snort and ran off down through the brush. The other three became so startled that they also jumped up and disappeared.

These big, supposedly clumsy, slow brutes, so silly that a man can run circles around them, got up and ran away so fast that none of us saw one single horn. It was a good thing they took off in the opposite direction of us, or we would have had to scramble.

HE'S HONEY HELPER

Natives are very fond of honey, but do not seem to know how to keep bees. Instead, they try to find a nest of wild bees in the woods. Another native of the continent which also loves honey, and especially the young bees in the combs, is the so-called honey guide, a bird about the size of a robin. He will fly back and forth trying to lead human beings to a tree containing a bee's nest. When he suceceds in luring a person to the right tree, the tree is felled and the bees smoked out, he is generally given a portion of the combs with young bees, for his troubles.

It was a honey hunter, looking for such a bee's nest, we heard and who scared the rhinos.

Driving toward camp late one afternoon after a long and tiring day during which we had unsuccessfully chased a rhinocerous up and down the steep sides of a great valley, we were stopped by a native boy. The boy, who was about 12 years old, had left the herd of cattle he was watching in order to intercept us. He told us that a rhino had chased him and also bothered his cattle that same afternoon and that he was sure he could show us where it was. That was good news and we lost no time in loading our guns and starting off with the boy as our guide.

It did not take long before we ran onto fresh rhino tracks and now the search began in earnest. The fellow had been meandering all over the neighborhood, not going anywhere in particular and, therefore, we had to be extra careful that a treacherous wind should not carry our scent to him Undoubtedly the fact that the sun was low and time was running out, caused everybody to be more careless than wise.

RHINO CHARGES

The boy and N'Gora were much too far ahead of the rest of us and two of our trackers were too far out to the right of Andy and me. I did not realize what we were doing until afterwards, but I think Andy should have noticed it and called everybody closer together. Perhaps he was going to do just that when it happened. N'Gora and the boy had just passed a big patch of brush which Andy and I still had in front of us. Looking around the end of that patch across a sandy place they spotted the rhino lying down. The rhino also saw them, jumped up, snorted and charged them without a second's hesitation. They immediately sprinted through the brush patch toward the two trackers on our right, which made the rhino change his course, so he was coming straight at me.

Neither Andy nor I could see the beast, but could hear it coming. Andy turned around and ran and I ran with him to get more open space between us and the rhino. Suddenly Andy turned around, yelling "Shoot," and shot. I still had not seen the rhino, but saw the brush move at the near edge of the patch, at the moment the shot rang out. Andy had seen it and decided this was no time for coaching and explanations. He hit it in the neck. My hat off to him. The whole thing had taken five seconds from the first snort to the shot. Sangora who was carrying a gun, kneeled down, took careful aim and fired. In spite of the short distance — about 20 feet, he missed the great bulk of the animal, the bullet grazing the small horn.

This exhibition of shooting prowess on the part of the native made me decide that I had better not put myself in a position where I had to depend on a black man's gun.

ANDY GETS CREDIT

I was sick with disgust. This was a fine "How do you do." At long last the much wanted rhino showed up. Did I shoot him? No, Andy did. What had I done wrong? What should I have done instead? Now I had a rhino which cancelled my license and no satisfaction. It was all wrong, not the way the book had spelled it out.

Andy was nice and considerate. It was just one of these things. I could not help it; the cards were stacked against me. I had done exactly what I should have done. That I happened to be in a position from where I could not see, was not my fault. Just think of the experience I had had. Without it, everything would have been too tame; too much right down the lane. Not everybody was attacked by a rhino and could think back on such an exciting moment!

I knew he was right, but nevertheless it irked me to have had to be so passive and I had no fun seeing the horns and hide removed and put in the back of the jeep. I am afraid I was a pretty bad sport for a while. By now it had turned dark and we had difficulty in finding our way back to the road and camp.

LAW CHECKS UP

The next day we drove to Maralal to send a wireless request to the Game Department in Nairobi for permission to buy another license. A couple of days later word arrived denying the request. Only after having appealed to the District Commissioner to intercede for us, were we granted permission. It was four days before everything was in order and the license safely in my pocket. In the meantime a traveling inspector from the Game Department paid us a visit. No doubt, to ascertain if the frantic requests for a license meant that we, perhaps, had one more rhino down than we had license for. Even in the darkest of Africa, the law tries to keep an eye on you.

Andy was not feeling very good about the prospect of my getting a good rhinocerous trophy at the area where we were camping near Maralal. We had scoured the neighborhood early and late, tracked down 14 animals without finding one which he would allow me to shoot as a worthwhile specimen. Andy was not one to be satisfied with the first the best choice. He was a fair-minded fellow with a great deal of pride in his profession and a real dyed-in-the-wool hunter and sportsman to boot. I used to get a great kick out of watching his excitement when game was about to be shot and there was no danger for our safety. He knew just what to do and was in such tension for fear that his client would not do the right thing that I would have felt almost sorry for him had it not been for the fact that he tended to make one last attempt, as we had only one day left before we were to break camp and go on to Tana River.

The area we selected to hunt that last day was the one mentioned earlier, near the place where we, late in the afternoon the day before, had watched the big old buffalo bull coming toward us.

PEEK FOR RHINO

Entering the jungle where we had left it the previous evening, we very carefully hunted up wind among a number of dense bush patches which looked like islands with sandy pathways around and between. We had to peek around each of these islands to see if a rhino should, by chance, be laying down behind them.

It was a quiet morning with very little wind and the least little sound we made could be heard quite a distance. It was impossible to see very far in any direction, therefore, the tension grew, as the game of hide and seek went on. Once I had seen a beast, like the one we were hunting, take after us in a flash and I did not want it to happen again with my being unprepared.

MICHIGAN HISTORY WITH A LOCAL SLANT

"Once upon a time" — this story might well begin with that phrase, for it happened so long ago in Michigan's history that there was then not even a state. There was only a thin line of settlements down the east coast from Mackinac to Maumee and a few tentative feelers of population reaching into the interior.

The deepest penetrating feeler was Tecumseh, a tiny settlement whose only organization at that time was a township, but who in 1825 "swung" an election and influenced the politics of the embryo state.

Tecumseh's "god father," the man whose interest in Michigan and enthusiasm for the valley of the Raisin had influenced his kinsmen, Evans and Brown to settle here, was a lawyer of Detroit and Monroe named Austin E. Wing. He had come into Michigan from Ohio with the dynamic young Lewis Cass, who had been appointed Territorial Governor of Michigan. He had served the territory as U.S. Marshall and as sheriff and in 1825 he was seeking election as Territorial Representative to the U.S. Congress. This office carried no vote and not much authority, but it was all Michigan had and her only influence in the nation's capital.

This period seems to have been the beginning of one of those radical changes in Michigan's life. So far it had been preoccupied with war, Indians and the fur trade. The population, what there was of it, had been predominately French and the Territorial Representative for 1823 and 24 had been a Catholic priest, Father Gabriel Richard. Fr. Richard was unquestionably a very able man, devoted to his people and their best interests, and he had used his influence to obtain territorial roads and other improvements for his constituency.

Now, however, second generation New Englanders from "York State" were looking westward with a view to establishing farms and villages. The Tecumseh colony was a typical example. Except for the orchards of the French settlers the newcomers took a very dim It," A. R. St. Johns. The author which included hauling barnyard refuse out onto the river ice to get rid of it. They did not feel that Fr. Richard would represent the kind of a state they hoped to have.

There were three men in the 1825 race: Fr. Richard, who as view of their agricultural practices vantage, John Biddle of Detroit and Wing. It was a bitter fight. Religion of course entered the picture, the Protestants claiming that Richard represented his church rather than the territory. Two thousand votes were cast in spite of the scattered population and almost everyone of them was challenged, many on the grounds that the incumbent had a distinct adineligible.

the voter was an Indian and hence age in Tecumseh went to the polls no matter how far he had to walk or drive his ox team. There were 14 ballots cast in the township and all were marked for A. E. Wing. Biddle promptly contested them as being incomplete. A notary had to be sent all the way from Detroit to certify every ballot before they

Naturally every man of voting battle finally cleared, Wing had won by a slim margin of four votes and Tecumseh claimed the victory.

'Open Stock' Furniture Is Tip for Bride

Choosing furnishings for her new home is one of the tasks of the season's many brides-to-be.

Because most newly-wed couples spend at least the first few years of their married life in an apartment, Jessie Marion, home furnishings specialist at Michigan State University, advises that the smart bride will choose furniture for her apartment that she can later move into a more spacious house.

Double duty pieces, which are beautiful yet functional are an asset in a small apartment. Low tables that can also be used as seats, and storage pieces that are decorative and allow flexibility in room arrangement are very popular.

A good idea for the brand new homemaker, continues Miss Marion, is to buy "open stock" furniture. She can choose basic pieces which will fit into her apartment now and add to the group when she moves into a home.

Many lines offer chests and other pieces in a variety of sizes to fit the bride's requirements. Investigate, too, the pieces which are made to fit into usually wasted corner space.

Italian provincial styling is the fashion news this year. Its straight lines allow it to blend easily with modern or contemporary furniture. It is no longer a crime to mix periods when you are furnishing a room, reminds Miss Marion.. It is necessary, though, to make sure the pieces harmonize.

A sofa is the central feature of your living room setting and in a small apartment it can be a problem. Sectional sofas come to the rescue and can be arranged many ways to make the most of the space allowed and even create a feeling of greater space.

Mom Has Fun in Kid Care

Looking after the children seems to be the favorite household chore of young mothers of pre-school children. In fact, more than half of the 100 Lansing women interviewed in a recent survey preferred taking care of their youngsters to shopping, cleaning, cooking, washing dishes, washing clothes and ironing.

Conducted by the home management department at Michigan State University, the study was begun last year to seek out some of the causes of mental fatigue of these mothers of young children. Researchers conducting the study, which is not yet completed, feel that there might be some connection between a homemakers' fatigue and her having to do a task she dislikes.

About one-tenth of the women questioned like cleaning and straightening the house best; few like shopping and washing and ironing clothes; and none of them preferred washing dishes.

EDUCATION DAY of MICHIGAN WEEK

Do you know that . . . . .

HAYDEN'S FLOUR MILLS

are older than the State of Michigan?
It's a Fact . . . . .

Hayden's Flour Mills had their beginning in 1832. Michigan did not become a state until 1837.

We here at Hayden's are very proud of being the oldest industry in Tecumseh.

This special message for Michigan Week's Education Day was prepared by Miss Kay McClure of Tecumseh high school.

107 violators who were assessed $1023 in fines and an additional $807 in court costs. Money from fines goes to the State Library Fund.

Several convictions on the latest report were for burning without a permit or for carelessly setting grassland fires which injured or endangered another person's property.

A permit is needed when burning brush, grass or debris outside city or village limits. Permits can be obtained from any conservation officer, fire officer or forest fire lookout.

Action by the Conservation Commission at its May 10-11 meeting established three new public fishing sites and 407 acres of public hunting lands.

Land acquisitions approved approved by the Commisison included fishing sites at Lake Arfelin, Marquette county; Green Lake, Antrim county; and Noe Lake, St. Joseph county.

The Commission also approved purchase of 120 acres, mostly marshland, in Lake county and 80 acres at Houghton Lake state forest in Missaukee county. Payment for these game lands will be made from the Game Protection Fund.

Fire control forces, with a welcome assist from wet weather, held fire damage down to 57 acres during the last week in Michigan.

Thirty-two fires were reported, 27 in the upper peninsula. The bulk of the losses also occurred in the U. P. where fires damaged 47 acres of forests and grasslands.

Hardest hit area was the Crystal Falls district which includes Iron, Dickinson and Menominee counties in the U. P. Nine fires in the district damaged almost 40 acres.

The Conservation Department's vast communications network was on emergency duty throughout the May 11-13 weekend, cooperating with the state Office of Civil Defense in tornado areas.

Department personnel were alerted at all field offices, district offices and equipment stations in southern Michigan. Conservation officers and fire officers supplied Civil Defense authorities with information on tornado reports and damage.

Bernard (Red) Crothers, radio dispatcher at Lansing, was on duty all weekend and handled close to 100 radio messages and dozens of telephone calls relating to tornado conditions.

Conservation officer Walter Mutchler of Mason was assigned to the Civil Defense office and operated a mobile radio unit, connecting Conservation Department communications with Civil Defense forces.

Ivan Kesten, conservation officer at Flint, used his mobile radio unit to relay tornado reports to the Department's Imlay City office when winds knocked down telephone lines and radio towers at Flint.

Conservation Department personnel also cooperated with local authorities and State Police in tornado zones and dispatched emergency equipment to damaged areas.

"Mushrooms and Toadstools," a handy guide for mushroom hunters, is available now from the Conservation Department.

The pamphlet, written by R. D. Burroughs of the Department, contains descriptions and illustrations of edible mushrooms. Descriptions of poisonous varieties also are given, as a safety guide for mushroom hunters.

The free publication can be obtained by writing to: Conservation Department Publications, Lansing 26.

Mothers Given a Style Show

Future Homemakers of America, chapter of Tecumseh High School and Mrs. Brown, the advisor and homemaker teacher for the Home Ec girls of Tecumseh High, gave a style show in the Home Ec room Thursday evening. A variety of flowers decorated the spring fashions. Each mother received a corsage of purple violets tied with a pink bow.

President of the F.H.A. Jean Luce, welcomed all the mothers and introduced Nancy Dinse, the commentator who greeted the girls as they entered. Soft music was played on a phonograph.

There were many lovely styles of blouses, skirts, dresses and suits which the girls modeled for their mothers, showing what was accomplished during the year. They showed a great deal of enthusiasm.

The table was covered with a white flowered linen table cloth, two candles lighted on each end of the table and a bouquet of red and white tulips in the center.

Refreshments were served by Nancy Brown and Lois Wight poured punch and served cookies.

Offer Students Speech Courses

High school youths eager to take advanced work in forensics, dramatics, radio and television will be served by the eighth annual Michigan High School Speech Institute at Michigan State this summer.

The one-month course, from June 24 to July 20, will make use of the Fairchild Theater, the Outdoor Theater, campus radio and TV stations and other university facilities.

Sponsored by the M.S.U. Department of Speech, Dramatics and Radio Education, the course is open to high school juniors, seniors, and June graduates. Applications must be dated before June 10.

Students interested in forensics will specialize in debate, oratory and extempore speaking, getting platform experience and profiting from guidance of trained specialists.

Those enrolled in the dramatics class will climax their work with the presentation of a series of plays, open to the public.

The radio and television course will develop the skills of interested youths and will familiarize them with professional radio and television work. And they'll participate in programs over WKAR and WKAR-TV on the Spartan campus.

Terms of Two School Board Members End

The terms of two members of the board of education of the Tecumseh Public Schools expire July 9, 1956, and persons interested in these vacancies must follow certain procedures to become candidates.

Jens Touborg, president of the board, has been on the Board since 1941 and has indicated that he will seek re-election.

Paul Breitenwischer, however, vice-president, has informed the board that he will not seek re-election:

"Dear Mr. McDowell:

I regret to inform you at this time that due to the condition of my health, I do not feel that I should be a candidate for re-election on the school board of Tecumseh Public Schools when my term expires next July. I am sure that you will be able to secure someone who will be able to contribute more than I feel that I will be able to do.

"I want to take this opportunity, Jim, to thank all of the members of the school board for making my nine years on the board as pleasant as they have been. I have quite a feeling of satisfaction within me for having contributed in my small way to the growth and success of the Tecumseh Public Schools. I think that is something that we can all be proud of, inasmuch as I feel that now Tecumseh has one of the finest school systems in the State of Michigan.

"Again assuring you of my deep regret that I feel this step is necessary and with best wishes for your continued success, I am

Very truly yours,

Paul J. Breitenwischer"

Supt. McDowell said:

It is with regret that the board recognizes that the services of Mr. Breitenwischer will not be available to the community since many important issues concerning overall educational needs, additional programs, and new buildings to serve these needs must be given very careful consideration. Experiences with board issues in the past are invaluable in planning such programs.

Mr. Touborg was elected to the board in 1941 and has served continuously since that time. He has been president of the board since 1944 and has been at the helm during two building programs. Since the Tecumseh school system, due to rapid growth within the city and annexation of rural districts is now faced with another building program, it is auspicious that Mr. Touborg has chosen to become a candidate to succeed himself.

Don Partridge Wins Road-e-o

Don Partridge won first place Sunday in the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce's road-e-o for teenage drivers.

Second place went to Ken Jacobs and Vere Hart took third.

Two cars each—a standard shift and an automatic—were donated for the road-e-o by Butler Motor Sales, Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc., and Wilson's Motor Sales, Inc.

Next Saturday, June 2, Don will go to MSU to compete in the state meet. He will be accompanied by Bill Davenport of the Jaycees.

Judges Sunday were patrolmen Jim Vallie and Carl Barnes of the Tecumseh police and trooper Harold Morrison of the Clinton State Police.

Weather threatened cancellation but the runs were made between drizzles. At the end it really rained and the presentation of the awards by Mayor Pro-Tem Arthur Schwartz could not officially be made for pictures.

3 from Area Win Regents' UM Scholarships

Regents-Alumni Scholarships at The University of Michigan have been awarded to 546 graduating seniors in Michigan high schools, it was announced today by Walter B. Rea, dean of men and chairman of the Committee on University Scholarships.

These scholarships carry a stipend equivalent to semester fees for the freshman year and are renewable for the normal length of the degree program in which the student enrolls provided the student's academic record justifies renewal. The award winners were selected from 1351 applicants representing 319 high schools. At least one scholarship is available for every accredited high school in the state provided a qualified candidate applies.

These awards are made by the committee on university scholarships with the assistance and advice of university alumni and alumnae and high school principals and teachers in the communities in which the applicants reside. In evaluating the applicants, the committee places special emphasis upon character, citizenship, the high school academic record, financial need, and the scores made on the competitive test written by all applicants.

Work of high school officials and University of Michigan alumni clubs throughout the state in helping select scholarship winners was of invaluable assistance to the committee, Dean Rea declared.

Max Ray Shepherd of Britton-Macon and Marcia Ann Bashore and Donald Owen Partridge of Tecumseh received the scholarships.

Alums

Early response to the invitations to the annual high school alumni reunion is very satisfactory, according to Richard Boyd, 1956 president. This is especially true from some of the earlier classes.

Several members of the "Golden Anniversary Class" of 1906 have signified their intention to be present. They will have a special table as will also those who graduated more than 50 years ago. The latter will all be guests of the alumni association.

As previously announced the speaker will be Wade Van-Valkenburg, speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives and a T.H.S. graduate, and a feature of the evening will be the "Main Street" movies of Leon Rosacrans.

Tickets are on sale at the Tecumseh Finance Co. office and at Butler Motor Sales, while out-of-town reservations are being sent to Mrs. Robert Williamson. In order to cooperate with the ladies of the Baptist church who are putting on the dinner, early reservations are desired. Tickets for the new graduates are half price. Reception is at 6:30 and dinner is at 7 p.m.

Archers Win in Adrian

Three Tecumseh persons won firsts in the state archery target shoot in Adrian Sunday.

Fred Cooley won the men's class "A" free style. Ralph Helzerman won in the intermediate boys' instinctive class. Lee Britton won in the intermediate class of the boys' free style.

Others form the Tecumseh area who placed were: Richard Johnston in men's instinctive class "A"; and Mike Hite in the class "B" men's free style.

Prizes Awarded by Jaycees

The following prizes were awarded Saturday by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce:

Kiddie Corvette, Dean Hamilton; rod and reel, Florence Kempf; chill chest, Vern Manwaring; tackle box, John Braden; and $5 clothing certificates, Olen Pettit and Bobby Murray.

Prizes were donated by these merchants: Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc., Baldwin's Hardware, Green's Men's and Boys' Wear, Cal's Tog Shop, Gambles and Western Auto.

The sound equipment was donated by Tecumseh Electric and the pick-up by Schneiders'.

Topical Fluoride Treatments Set

Monday, June 18, topical fluoride treatments will be given here for about 300 children.

The treatments will be given in Central school kindergarten room beginning at 9 a.m. Three treatments are involved.

Members of the same family will be scheduled for treatments at the same time.

A dental technician from the University of Michigan will give the treatments. Mrs. Robert Anderson is general chairman. She will be assisted by mothers.

MISS SMITH CAPPED

Jane Ellen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Smith, 4980 east Monroe Rd., Tecumseh, was "capped" last week at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla.

A freshman at UM, Miss Smith is majoring in nursing in UM's College of Arts and Sciences. The capping ceremony signifies the end of the probationary period for the student nurse.

School Board Lays Plans for New Year

The annexation of 15 primary districts and the transfer of other properties to the Tecumseh Public Schools have presented many problems which can as yet be but partially solved. The board of education has approved tentative plans for the fall of 1956 with certain fundamenal ideas and specific educational objectives in mind, reports Supt. James McDowell.

He added the following information:

Fundamentally, each child should have the same educational opportunities regardless of his geographic location in the district. This is practically an impossibility where all eight primary grades must be taught in the same room and by the same teacher with a wide range in age of pupils, say from five to 15. Plans to eliminate this inequality in opportunity have been made and will be given a trial next fall.

Of course, as soon as suitable housing can be provided, it is hoped within a year or so, the rural areas will be served in the same type of buildings as in the city of Tecumseh. Since bus service is to be provided all children who live more than a half mile from their assigned elementary school (grades kindergarten - 6) or one mile from their assigned secondary school (grades 7-12) it is possible by staggering school operation times, secondary school will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 3 p.m., elementary schools start approximately 9:15 a.m. and end at approximately 3:30 p.m. depending upon bus schedudes, to place not more than two grades in any one room.

This should enable the teachers to have a much more efficient operating schedule than in previous years. There is one exception and that is at Holloway where it is impossible to eliminate all of this wide range in grades because the Kelley School has not yet annexed. If early in Oct. the Kelley district does annex to Tecumseh, a shift in the grade placement in these areas will be made at once. All rural junior and senior high pupils will be bused either to the high school or Centennial by 8 a.m. and will remain until 3 p.m.

Plans for Tecumseh city schools include school rooms in four new locations, some of which are outside our present school buildings. Tecumseh is growing so rapidly that elementary school space is at a premium.

The art room at Central will be changed to a class room and the kindergarten room will become a grade room with a portion of the kindergarten children who live within the city limits being taken by bus to the Newburg school where the kindergarten that was at Central will be established.

The board is grateful to the Tecumseh Baptist church for leasing a room for school use. The room in the public library, which was formerly used for school purposes, will again be needed. Tentatively these are the location of all schools in the Tecumseh system for next

(See PLANS, Page 8)

Reading Club, Story Hour Planned for Summer

All Tecumseh area boys and girls through the sixth grade may look forward to entertainment and pleasure this summer in the vacation reading club and story-hour at the Tecumseh Public Library.

Any child in this age bracket whether from the city schools or the newly annexed rural districts is eligible to take part in what has proven to be a most enjoyable activity.

Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, Tecumseh librarian announces June 6 as the opening date when children should come to the library at 2:30 p.m. for the first gathering and enrollment. Thereafter the story hour will be held each Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

"Sailing around Michigan" will be the title of this year's project. Each child will have a paper boat and each book read will advance him a little farther on his summer cruise from Detroit to Benton Harbor. Twenty-eight books will bring him to home port.

The boys and girls will select their own books, taking them out and returning them as they wish on regular library cards. The story hour on Wednesday is an added source of pleasure and information.

There were 120 children enrolled last year and Mrs. Fosbender is prepared to welcome many more this summer because of the increased territory of the school district.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

In Mrs. Munger's first grade the pupils admired the beautiful orchid given to her by the Teacher's Club in acknowledgement of her retirement.

We were glad to have Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Voss and Mrs. Fogelsong visit us. Many flowers, plants and a turtle have come to our room recently. Elizabeth Schofield treated us to birthday cakes Wednesday.

We are sorry that many pupils are sick with measles. They are Robert Beaubien, Gary Dauber, Larry Pate, Jeffrey Barrett, Rickie Link, Sherryl Harper and Nancy Brady.

Mrs. Callihan's second grade room has been filled with beautiful flowers from the children's home gardens. We've had lilacs, tulips, daffodils, narcissus, liy-of-the-valley, iris, violets, trillium, bridal wreath, apple blossoms and yellow buttercups.

Joann Brown brought a clam. Janet Southwell found a bat. Lee Hannibal had a turtle. We have enjoyed learning about these as they visit our class. Our class visited the post office. It is interesting to see what happens to our mail after we send it or just before we receive it.

Raelynn Crosby, William Hadley, Lendall Milheim and Sandra Kent had birthdays in May.

VISITING THE CAPITAL — Britton-Macon seniors and their sponsors visited Washington, D. C. this year on their annual senior trip.

The boys and girls of Mrs. Puffer's second grade have been experimenting with tomato plants. As a culminating experiment the plants will be taken home and transplanted. Here's hoping for a big crop.

In Mrs. Miller's fourth grade social studies, we have been studying about Henry Ford's big idea—mass production. We are learning how it works, also the way it effects our living in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Thomas' third grade finds four boys one year older this month. John Belcher, Terry Keith, Ernesto Sanchez, and Billy Watson celebrating their birthdays.

Our varsity team defeated Mrs. Weitenhagen's room by a score of 8 to 1.

So far, five moths have come out of cocoons. Mrs. Whiting's fourth grade has been very interested in watching them dry their wings. Several other rooms have been enjoying them with us.

It's off to Greenfield Village for Mr. Francoeur's sixth grade. Hopes are high and all are expecting good weather and a resulting good time. The trip, because of its educational value, is certainly worthwhile. We are leaving Tecumseh with the idea of learning of our state and the people who made it great.

Preparations are now complete and all is ready. So, we are off to see and learn as much as possible.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

For almost two months the first grade looked forward to Wednesday, May 23, the day they would spend at the Toledo Zoo. It seemed that the day would never come when many, for the first time, would visit a zoo and take their first ride on a bus. But the day finally came and it was a happy group that made the trip. They want to thank everyone who made the trip possible and hope they can visit another place of interest next year.

The second grade went to the Toledo Zoo on Monday, May 28. Some of us had been there, but most of us made our first visit.

Mrs. Garlick was in New York for a week and Mrs. Surratt was our teacher. We are happy that Mrs. Garlick is back and we had a very nice week with Mrs. Surratt.

Merle Miller and Mimi Savage are back in school and we have had several days when everyone was here.

We are finishing our maps of Michigan and have learned a lot about our state. When we go traveling this summer we have many things to look for. We were especially interested in learning how the men who are building the bridge at the Straits of Mackinaw work inside a caisson on the bottom of the lake. We made a little caisson at school to prove to ourselves that it can be done.

Gregg Schultz, third grade, celebrated his ninth birthday.

Our robin has not been with us the past week. We decided that something must have scared her.

We have finished our third grade books and have most of our things taken home.

The fourth grade visited the Toledo Zoo Tuesday, May 22. Everyone had a wonderful time, and the weatherman was especially kind to us. Many of us had been there before, but there is always something new to see at the zoo!!

Roy Caldwell celebrated his eleventh birthday Monday, May 21. He brought everyone in the fifth grade a treat.

We made booklets about Michigan in celebration of Michigan Week. Michigan is famous for so many things, we are very proud to live here.

Guess the sixth grade will not produce any great poets this year. We tried to write limericks as part of our language lesson, but we were not too successful.

We are enjoying an arithmetic challenge each day, however. There is a "try this" problem on the board which is different from our usual work and really requires good thinking to produce the correct answer.

That's all until Sept. Hope all of your have a nice summer.

Piano Pupils Present Recital

The music pupils of Mrs. Margaretta Brisbin presented their spring piano recital in the Presbyterian Fellowship Center at 7:30 Friday evening. The program was opened by an introductory solo by Bonnie Iseler and Wilma Bumpus played the march by which the children marched in.

The piano selections were interspersed by tap dance numbers given by Rae Lynn Crosby, Joan Green and Jana Barron, who were accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Driscoll. Duets were played by Sherry Tucker and Johanna Young and by Rita Crosby and her mother, Mrs. Harry Crosby and the guests joined the boys and girls in singing "When the Red Red Robin Comes Bob, Bob Bobbin' Along".

Others who contributed piano solos were:

Rae Lynn Crosby, David Keasel, Cynthia Feight, Judy Reister, Beverly Eggleston, Terry Reister, Edith Holmes, Dennis Avery, Nancy Nixon, Sylvia Williams, Betty Andrews, Billy Truesdale, Donna Nixon, Richard Kaiser, Ann Metcalf, Bradley McCombs, Jacqueline Dunn, Rodna Jepson, Nancy Smith, James Creger, Carol Ross, Vonnie Penrod, Judy Truesdale, Sherry Tucker, Isabel McCombs, Jean Ann Hoag, Barbara Gibson, Rita Crosby, Bonnie Iseler, Sharon Crane, Bobby Gene LaPrad, Mary Williams, Mary Louise Clauda, Billy Joe LaPrad, Mary Ellen Smith, Inez Boltz, Johanna Young, Sandra Ross and Wilma Bumpus.

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO

THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

BY ROBERT B. ANDERSON

President, Ventures, Ltd., New York City

Former Deputy Secretary of Defense, Washington, D. C.

Our Heavenly Father, accept our thanksgiving for Thy blessings. We beseech Thy continued blessings, especially for those more needy than we.

Give us a constant awareness of Thy eternal presence. Help us to govern ourselves by tolerance and forgiveness. Motivate us by a love for mankind.

Grant that we may understand our obligations and accept them willingly with courage and faith.

Forgive us our sins. Help us earnestly to pray: "Thy will be done."

Methodists Report Church Activities

During the regular morning service of the Tecumseh Methodist church last Sunday, the Temple Dependable Class made their annual award to the young people of the church who are members of this year's high school graduating class. Bibles were presented to seven boys and girls through the teacher of the Youth Class, Aden Mead.

Also during the 11 a.m. service new officers of the Woman's Society of Christian Service headed by Mrs. Carlos Jones as president, were installed in their new positions.

Next Sunday Children's Day exercises will be held as a unified service of both Sunday School and church beginning at 10:30. Beginning June 10 both church services and Sunday school will begin at 10 a.m. and continue at that time for the summer.

The Rev. Horace James, pastor and Aden Mead, lay representative will attend the Detroit area annual conference which will be held in Adrian June 13 to 17 inclusive, some sessions at the Adrian Methodist church some at Adrian College.

VA Appraises 3,325 Homes for April Loans

Veterans Administration in Detroit received requests to appraise more than 3,325 homes for GI loans during April — the highest monthly total since Aug., 1955.

VA also received 1,601 GI home loan applications from lenders on behalf of veterans. This was an increase of approximately 13 per cent over the March total of 1,420.

The April total of 3,325 appraisal requests was nearly 37 per cent above the March total of 2,437.

Of the total of 3,325 units, 2,772 were proposed homes, an increase of 36 per cent over March, and 553 were existing homes, a 38 percent increase over the previous month.

Mr. Lloyd H. Jameson, VA's regional manager for Michigan, said the increases in appraisals and loan applications are not surprising at this time of year.

Forrest J. Louden Died Suddenly

Forrest J. Louden died very suddenly Wednesday, May 23 forenoon at Herrick Memorial hospital after suffering a heart attack at the Tecumseh Products Co., where he was employed.

The son of Frank and Anna Garlinghouse Louden, he was born Aug. 3, 1893, at Rothbury, Mich., and had lived most of his life in this community, moving from Tecumseh to Twin Lakes a few years ago. He had worked at the Products for 22 years.

Mr. Louden is survived by his wife, Edith; two sons, Wendell of Tipton and Ancyl (Tony) of Deerfield; three daughters, Mrs. Raymond Terrill of Hudson, Mrs. Neil Smith of Tecumseh and Miss Mary Louden at home; 18 grandchildren; one brother, George Louden of Interlochen, Fla., and two sisters, Mrs. Lester Shultis and Mrs. Alfred Lapham of Onsted. His parents, a son, Duane and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. Alvin Brazee in charge. Burial was in Brookside cemetery with Guy Seidel, Raymond Pask, Keith Barron, Thomas Bridges, Gordon Greiman and Edward Fairbanks as bearers.

The Power of Memorial Day

by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

I had the privilege of growing up in small Ohio communities in the early part of this century, and one of my most inspirational memories centers around Memorial Day and the old soldiers of the Civil War.

To me, Memorial Day was one of the most moving of all the national holidays. I was stirred by the speeches and martial music from the bandstand or cemetery on what we called "Decoration Day." There was something about the newness of life that the Spring had brought; soft sunshine falling on the fresh green grass of early summer, the misty hills in the distance, the sound of stirring national songs, and above all, the softly flapping flag in the gentle breeze as the speaker told us of our country, the deep devotion of its heroes, and recounted once more the stirring episodes of our heroic past.

And many a lazy summer afternoon, I sat on the coping around the old courthouse listening to the veterans of the Civil War tell of their experiences in the epic struggle between the States. A boy's imagination quickly sent him off behind long columns of blue or grey, and to him, such names as Antietam, The Wilderness, Shiloh, and Gettysburg became very real and meaningful.

Those old soldiers used to talk gratefully of Lincoln's insistence that those who had borne the heat of the battle and the burden of the struggle, the widow and the orphan, were to be given not charity, but their rightful due as the dependents of those brave men who had fought to preserve liberty and to keep the Union intact. It was regarded as a sacred duty of the nation, and the nation kept faith with its veterans.

In those days, as now, were many who had been disabled by the struggle. Their ability to compete in life had been reduced by wounds suffered in battle. Even as a boy I remember hearing how it seemed they were thought of only on such days as Memorial Day, when orators, fervent in their patriotism, remembered, if only for a day, the long continuing sacrifice made not by those who had died in battle, but by the disabled who were to live for many years following the great struggle.

The heroes of World War I and World War II and the Korean War are, of course, men who, with no concern for themselves, gave their lives that freedom might live. We can never do them adequate honor. And, we must never forget them. They died in their young life, forsaking the opportunities of the years that the rest of us might live and develop our highest hopes and dreams.

However, there are other living heroes who deprived themselves of either physical, emotional, or mental health for us and for their fellow countrymen. It would be as wrong for us to neglect or forget them as their buddies who today sleep on some Pacific Island or in a European cemetery. A hero dead or a hero maimed and disabled are both due our equal gratitude and our unceasing devotion.

We must never forget that the most effective way of honoring those who have died is to remember the living disabled, that their lives may be rich and full. They are a great asset to our country as the living embodiment of devotion to freedom. A country is recreant indeed which does not everlastingly keep alive grateful appreciation to those who suffered disability to perpetuate everything that we Americans hold dear.

There could be no better time than on Memorial Day to resolve that we shall gratefully support the honored men and women who have suffered disability from the wars of the United States.

(Written especially for the Disabled American Veterans, the Idento-Tag organization)

Boy Scout Troops Camp at Farm

Nineteen boys who are members of Boy Scout Troop 73 and Cub Pack 73 went on a camping trip over the weekend to the farm of Duncan Oliphant, four miles west of Cambridge Junction. The ten scouts were in charge of Scout Master Jerry O'Brien and nine Webelos from the Cub Pack, who will be Scouts June 1, were led by Cub Master Howard Wilson Jr.

The boys hiked the four miles from Cambridge Junction to the farm and then another mile to their wooded campsite, carrying their packs. They had nine tents, slept in sleeping bags and cooked over campfires.

The expedition was planned so the boys could earn their requirements as second class scouts and while the rain washed out some of their games they report a wonderful time. They left early Saturday morning and returned Sunday afternoon.

How large a freezer shall your family need? Six cubic feet of freezer space per person will meet the general needs of most families, say U.S. Department of Agriculture specialists. If other means of preservation are used or if a locker plant serves as main storage, then three cubic feet per person will be ample. When most of the food for the year is stored in the home freezer and there is much overlapping of storage times for various foods, 10 cubic feet may be needed.

LADIES' AID MEETS

Immanuel Lutheran Ladies' Aid met for their regular monthly meeting Thursday, May 24 in the home of Mrs. Alvin Pollitz. The Rev. V. H. Schwartz presented the topic entitled "Youth — Saved to Serve."

During the business meeting, it was decided to reorganize the work of the aid and Mrs. Elizabeth Cheever, Mrs. Viola Daisher, Mrs. Louise Vershum and Mrs. Joyce Schroeder are on that committee.

The ladies also voted to adopt a missionary and his family. The meeting was adjourned with the Lord's Prayer and Mrs. Pollitz served a luncheon.

Memorial Day services were held Sunday at the Macon cemetery with Clarence Hall as master of ceremonies. The Rev. H. Vaughn Whited led the group in prayer and the Macon choir sang two selections. The address was by the Rev. Hughes of Milan who spoke on "Blessed Be the Peacemakers." There were two selections by the Grace Christian church of Adrian orchestra and a trumpet solo, "The Holy City" by Jack McKimmons. Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts placed wreaths on the graves of 48 soldiers.

The Macon W.S.C.S. annual tea will be held Thursday, June 7 at 2 p.m. in the Macon church.

The Macon church choir is planning a concert for the evening of June 10 to which the public is invited.

The Alice Jane Circle will meet Wednesday, June 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howell of Adrian called on Mrs. Mary Howell, Sunday and attended the Memorial Day services at the Macon cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mehler and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mehler.

Hamilton Moore Sr. returned home Friday from University hospital.

Mrs. Clarence Hall, Mrs. Wade Scudder, Mrs. Rose Gilmore, Mrs. Rena Morden, Mrs. Mable Burleson, Mrs. Emogene Morden, Mrs. Beatrice Gilmore and Mrs. Hamilton Moore met at the Macon Methodist church Friday afternoon to make wreaths for the cemetery.

The Misses Margie Papp, Beverly Rohrback, Dorthy Jenkins, Larry Patterson, Kenneth Bortel, Ronald Croll and Edward Handley returned from their senior trip Friday morning.

Patty and Marilyn Morden, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morden, had their tonsils removed at Herrick Memorial hospital recently.

Mrs. James Thomas joined the Macon Methodist church Sunday, May 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Schroeder and daughter have moved to their home they recently purchased from Gerald Eaton near Tecumseh.

BRITTON NEWS

MRS. WILLIAM CUNDIFF

Correspondent

Co-He-Wo Campfire Girls and their leader, Mrs. Margaret Koczman, Sacajewa Campfire Girls and their leader, Mrs. Lorraine Hummell and Mrs. Wilma Godzina and daughter Connie attended the Grand Council Fire and dedication of the Vail Hull Memorial Saturday afternoon at Tuckabatchee Campfire camp on Lake Adrian.

Campfire and Bluebird leaders and sponsors will meet in the Britton-Macon School Monday, June 4 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. B. D. Bozeman entered Herrick Memorial hospital Saturday as a medical patient.

Recent callers in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield were Mrs. Esther Baker of West Point, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. George Baker of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Furman Emerson and son of Adrian.

Mrs. Bertha Brodock, Mrs. Forrest Weichner, Mrs. William Cundiff and Miss Pearl Smith attended a district meeting of Theta Rho Girls held in Dearborn Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William McWilliams were Sunday guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks.

Dinner guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Palmer were Mr. and Mrs. DeVone Sponsler of Lansing.

The Britton Woman's Club met last week in the Fellowship Center of the Congregational Christian church for a potluck luncheon at noon. Mrs. Jack Clement and Mrs. Nellie Stewart were cohostesses and 20 members were present. Nina Sturtevant presented the program on the history of Michigan and Myrtle Taylor led group singing with Mrs. Doris Exelby at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. John Check and children and Mrs. Becky Studnicka were in St. Johns last week to visit Mrs. Check's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Kirlick.

Mrs. John Check entertained recently in honor of her daughter Joan's eighth birthday. Eighteen friends were treated to a wiener roast and a decorated birthday cake. Games were played and Joan received many lovely gifts.

Samuel J. Lorenz Died Saturday

Samuel John Lorenz, 68, died Saturday evening at Herrick Memorial hospital, where he was taken Friday after suffering a severe heart attack at his home in Britton.

Mr. Lorenz was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1900. He was a blacksmith in Shomberg, Ill., Plymouth, Tecumseh and Britton. He was a member of the I.O.O.F. lodge of Britton.

Mr. Lorenz is survived by five sons, Herbert of Dundee, Richard of Tecumseh, Wilmer, Raymond and David of Britton; one daughter, Mrs. Alvina Shiels of Tecumseh; nine grandchildren; one great grandchild; a brother John Herzer of Chicago; and a sister in Germany.

He was preceded in death by his wife Bertha in 1937 and a daughter Erma. His son Donald was killed in the Battle of Luzon in World War II.

Services were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Niblack Funeral Home, the Rev. Haybert Woodall assisted by the Rev. O. E. Priest, officiating. Burial was in Ridgeway cemetery with Oddfellow services at the grave.

The big hats which are so fashionable this year seem to be revivals of fashion around the turn of the century and the early 1920's. You will see them as very elaborate creations with flowers, fruits and frills. They are tocques and drum-shaped chapeaus. Margaret Hearn, M.S.U. clothing professor, predicts that if this new style really takes hold in the next few years, we might see a trend towards long hair for the ladies. After all, she says, they will need something to which to pin the big hats.

Services Held for Burt D. Tate

Burt Douglas Tate, a resident of Tecumseh for the past 16 years, died suddenly early Monday morning at Herrick Memorial hospital. He had been a patient there since Tuesday.

Mr. Tate, whose home was at 203 Bidwell street, was 51 years old, having been born June 10, 1904, in Clinton, the son of Roy and Minnie Arnold Tate.

He had been employed for the last six years as an I.B.M. operator at the Tecumseh Products, previously he was a member of the Tecumseh police force. He was a member of St. Peter's Episcopal church, of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. M., of the Dad's Post of Hall-Slater Post V.F.W. and of the Tecumseh Aerie of the F.O.E.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Roy Tate; his widow, Louise; a son, Douglas; one granddaughter; four borthers, Floyd of Clinton, Oley of Vandercook Lake, John of Wamplers Lake and Charles of Jackson. His father and one brother preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mr. Tate were held Monday afternoon at the Green Funeral Home conducted by the Rev. M. Austin of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Jackson. Burial was in Riverside cemetery in Clinton and the bearers were Melvin R. Murphy, Paul Snyder, Ira Manwaring, Tom Smith, Virgil Tucker and Melvin Murphy Jr.

Waiting For The "Go-Ahead"

240 Nurses Graduate from Refresher Course

Two hundred and forty nurses from 34 cities and towns of Michigan "graduated" from the first Butterworth Hospital refresher course Friday, May 26, Edward E. James hospital Director, announced today.

The vital importance of the free course, which had been planned for months to help relieve local shortages of trained nurses, has been widely acknowledged. The retraining program, a public service project aimed at bringing up to par the readiness to serve of nurses who had not recently been active in their profession, coincidentally was announced the morning after the first disastrous tornado struck Grand Rapids on April 4. It was oversubscribed 400 per cent, forcing Butterworth nursing authorities to schedule parallel classes on alternate evenings.

James also announced that a second annual nurses' refresher course, again without charge to participants, will be offered next year at the 430-bed Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids. The 1957 program will begin Monday, April 8, with classes scheduled for Monday and Thursday between 7 and 9:30 p.m.

As before, Butterworth will cooperate with registrants so that car pools may be formed, to keep individual expenses to a minimum.

Age or distance kept few nurses away from the 1956 refresher program. Nurses ranging in age from 25 to 81 and who had been out of nursing for up to 26 years were shown and given practice in use of the latest techniques and drugs. The nurses attending reported original registration in 43 states and five foreign countries. One woman, a mother of teen-age children, found the classes so valuable that she traveled 360 miles twice weekly to bring her professional skills up to date.

The Butterworth program has been praised by medical and health leaders throughout the midwest. Civil defense directors have applauded the idea of retaining people who will be available in the event of disaster. Several nearby hospitals already have reported that course graduates have eased nursing shortages in the hospitals by accepting full-time employment.

Memorial Service Held By Grange

An impressive memorial service was part of the regular meeting of the Tecumseh Grange last Thursday evening. Dow Bilby was acting master for the meeting and acting chaplain, Phyllis Patterson conducted the program.

Assembly singing was followed by prayer by the Rev. O. E. Priest and a vocal solo by Ernest Harris. The officers then advanced in the altar formation for the memorial to Hazel Hall, Lelia Bock, Jennings Frayer and Ezra Roe, who had died during the past year.

Floral tributes were placed on the altar for each of the four late members and an inspirational talk by the Rev. Priest closed the ceremony.

North Rome Grange will visit Tecumseh for the next meeting June 14 and will present a part of the program.

COMPLETES COURSE

Specialist Third Class Thomas B. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned N. Baldwin, 311 west Chicago Boulevard, Tecumseh, recently completed the armored crewman course at the Seventh Army Tank Training Center in Germany.

The four-week course included advanced classroom and practical training in tank gunnery, communications, tactics and maintenance.

Specialist Baldwin, a squad leader in the 11th Airborne Division's 11th Reconnaissance Company, entered the Army in Nov., 1954, and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He arrived in Europe in Feb. of this year.

The 19-year-old soldier was graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1954.

OFFICIAL JACKPOT RULES

1. Contest is open to any person in U. S. or its territories who owns any make, model or year passenger car registered in his or her name, except employees and their immediate families of Plymouth Motor Corporation, Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation, its advertising agencies, the American Mailers and Binders, and Plymouth dealers.

2. There's nothing to buy. Take your registration certificate or any document proving legal ownership of your car to any Plymouth dealer. Register on the entry blank the state license plate number of your car, its make, model and year.

3. Fill in on the drawing of the standard Push-Button drive selector the designations of the push buttons in the proper locations. These designations are: "N" for Neutral, "L" for Low, "D" for Drive and "R" for Reverse. This must be done completely and correctly for you to be eligible for drawing of winners.

4. Enter your name and address where indicated on the entry blank and have your entry signed or otherwise validated by a Plymouth dealer or salesman. Place your entry in official contest entry box.

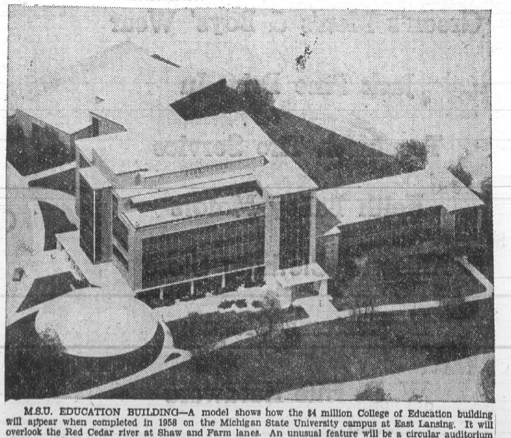
5. Winners will be selected by the American Mailers and Binders, an independent judging organization. Winners will be required to answer correctly a simple quiz on safe driving in order to receive their prize. Decisions of the judges will be final.

6. All entries become the property of Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation and none will be returned. Plymouth and its advertising agencies will not enter into correspondence with any contestant, except winners.

7. Contest opens at beginning of dealer's business day, May 25, 1956. Entries must be placed in entry box before close of dealer's business day, July 14, 1956.

8. Winners will be notified by mail by September 14, 1956. Names and addresses of winners will be posted in Plymouth dealerships. Prizes will be awarded at Detroit, Michigan.

9. Contest subject to all Federal, State and local regulations.



M.S.U. EDUCATION BUILDING—A model shows how the $4 million College of Education building will appear when completed in 1958 on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing. It will overlook the Red Cedar river at Shaw and Farm lanes. An unusual feature will be a circular auditorium classroom (shown in left foreground) for use by large groups and experimental instruction. The building also will include facilities for closed-circuit television.

NOTICE

OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 11, TECUMSEH TOWNSHIP (TECUMSEH PUBLIC SCHOOLS) LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN.

To The Qualified Electors of Said School District:

Please Take Notice That the Board of Education of School District No. 11, Tecumseh Township (Tecumseh Public Schools), Lenawee County, Michigan, has called an Annual Election to be held in said School District on July 9, 1956.

Section 2 of Act 199, Public Acts of Michigan, 1951, effective September 28, 1951, provides as follows:

> "The inspectors of election at any annual or special election shall not receive the vote of any person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which he resides . . . . "

The last day on which persons may register with the appropriate township or city clerk in order to be eligible to vote at the annual election called to be held on July 9, 1956, is Saturday, June 9, 1956.

Persons registering after 5:00 o'clock, p.m. Eastern Standard Time, on the said Saturday, June 9, 1956, are not eligible to vote at said annual school election.

Under the provisions of Act 199, Public Acts of Michigan, 1951, registrations will not be taken by school officials and only persons who have registered as general electors with the township or city clerk of the township or city in which they reside are registered school electors. Persons planning to register with the township or city clerk must ascertain the days and hours on which the clerk's office is open for registration.

This Notice is given by order of the Board of Education of School District No. 11, Tecumseh Township (Tecumseh Public Schools), Lenawee County, Michigan.

R. F. Helzerman
Secretary, Board of Education

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

CONGRATULATIONS to the graduating seniors of Tecumseh, Britton-Macon and Boysville. May God speed all of you on your way.

MRS. MARVEL NEUMAN, Holloway correspondent, was the earliest bird with early news copy this week. She brought her news in before 9 a.m. Monday.

THIS YEAR'S school annuals were outstanding. Each school seemed to have one thought in mind: to better the previous years' productions.

IN A LETTER TO US Dr. F. V. Carney, mayor of [illegible] Clair said in part: "We really enjoyed your hospitality on our brief visit to your fine and prosperous city and we look forward again to visiting you."

SEVERAL PAPERS called "The Evangelical Visitor" were found under the roof of the old Fisher house on Pennington Rd. north of town by Mr. and Mrs. George Heimerdinger, new owners. The papers were dated 1892 and 1893. The Boltz family (parents of Mervin) once lived there.

HERE'S A THOUGHT THAT may be appropriate for all of us:

I watched them tearing a building down;
  A busy crew in a little town.
With a HO-HEAVE-HO and a lusty yell
  They swung a beam and a sidewall fell.
I said to the foreman, "Are these men skilled
  As the men you'd hire if you had to BUILD?"
He gave me a laugh and said, "No, indeed!
  Just a common labor is all I need;
These men can wreck in a day or two
  What BUILDERS have taken a year to DO."
I asked myself as I went my way—
  Which of these roles have I tried to play?
Am I a BUILDER who works with care,
  Measuring Life by the rule of square;
Or am I a WRECKER, who walks the town
  Content with the labor of tearing down?
—Author Unknown

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "Yelling at children is not likely to make home a howling success."

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: I am a little thing with a big meaning. I help everybody. I create friendship and goodwill. I inspire respect and admiration. I unlock doors, open hearts and dispel prejudice. I bore nobody. I violate no law. I cost nothing. I am condemned by none. I am welcome everywhere. I am pleasing to those of both high and low degree. I am useful every moment of the day.

I AM . . . COURTESY

Any person who wishes to become a candidate for the two vacancies on the board of education must be a school elector, that is, he must be 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States, and a resident of this district for 30 days next preceeding said election, and his name must appear on the assessment roll as the owner in his own right of the property so assessed.

To obtain the printing of the name of any candidate for the board of education on the ballot, said candidate shall file nomination petitions with the secretary of the board not later than 4 p.m. on the thirtieth day prior to the date of election.

Each petition shall be signed by not less than 50 registered school electors of the district. No elector shall sign the petition for more candidates than are to be elected.

Petitions may be obtained from the office of the superintendent of schools.

PLANS

fall with teachers listed for rural schools as follows:

Brownville—morning and afternoon kindergarten.

Public library—second grade.

Baptist church—first grade.

West Branch — First, second, third.

Patterson—morning and afternoon kindergarten and grades one, two, three, four, five, six.

Central— two first; two second; three fourth; three fifth; and two sixth grades.

High school — seventh through twelfth.

Grubb—Mrs. Jones—third and fourth.

Tipton—Miss Whelan—first and second.

Paragon—Mrs. Kime—fifth and sixth.

Lanning — Mrs. Young — third and fourth.

Lamkin—Mrs. Baker—fifth and sixth.

Newburg—Mrs. Bless—morning and afternoon kindergarten.

Colvin—Mrs. Renfro—second.

Sutton—Mrs. Leonard—first and second; Mrs.—Bailey—third and fourth; Mrs. Sneyd—fifth and sixth.

Holloway—Miss Wagner—first, third, fourth and fifth.

Centennial—Mrs. Becker—seventh and eighth.

Ridgeway—Mrs. Schultz—first and second; Mrs. Schroeder—third and fourth; Miss Younglove—fifth and sixth; Mrs. Beal—morning and afternoon kindergarten.

Macon—Mrs. Gorton—first and second; Mrs. Betzoldt—third and fourth.

Culbertson — Mrs. Abraham — fifth and sixth.

The basement rooms at the Colvin and Tipton schools will be closed, as will the Bird School. There will be only one teacher in the room at Culbertson instead of two as in the past.

Next year art will be supervised in all elementary schools by a special teacher and taught by a special teacher in the secondary school. Music will be taught by special teachers in both the elementary and secondary schools in the city and will be supervised by a special teacher in the rural areas.

Because of overcrowding in the junior high of the city even this year and because it would be absolutely impossible to house them all at the high school, it will be necessary, since the rural children in the seventh and eighth grade will not be taught in these rural schools, to establish a rural seventh and eighth grade room for their use. The school chosen to serve that purpose is Centennial. All seventh and eighth grade pupils will either be housed in the high school building or at the Centennial school. The program for these children at Centennial will be the same as in the city school except that there can be no try-out courses in home economics or shop and no physical education by special teachers.

However, their basic courses will identical and those who are interested in intramural basketball will be welcome and those who make the junior high football or basketball teams will be transported to the practice sessions and home by bus.

The board of education is endeavoring to provide as nearly equal educational opportunities to the rural areas even though adequate school facilities cannot be provided immediately.

Planning and building would take from one and a half to two years even if the public were to provide the funds to pay for same immediately.

ENLARGING on a topic I mentioned briefly on a recent Tigercast, at the request of several fans who wrote in, hooking together a winning streak is the toughest thing in baseball.

To achieve a string of victories and enjoy a spurt in the standings, a team must get good hitting and pitching at the same time.

But what generally happens is that on the days that the hitting is good, the pitching is bad. Then when the pitching holds up, the batters can't buy a hit.

Sometimes the batters can overcome an ineffectively pitched game and sometimes the flingers can win despite weak support at the plate, but more often than not the game goes into the loss column.

Win 50, Anyway

This is what has been plaguing the Tigers, as it has other teams in the second division, quite naturally.

The remarkable thing is that no matter what the batters and pitchers do in approximately 50 games, they're going to win anyway.

These are the games in which the other team boots the ball all over the field or the score is 14 to 11 or else it is 1 to 0.

On the other hand, no matter how a team plays, it is going to lose at least 50 games for the same reasons it won the other 50.

So we come down to the other 54 contests of the 154-game schedule, and it is here that such factors as talent, class, managerial skill, hustle and others show up.

Without talent and class, the best manager in the world isn't going to move his team too far up in the standings. Without an astute manager, talent and class may be wasted to a degree and close games may be lost.

Such things as hustle and high morale may come from the team itself, but more frequently they are something instilled by a good manager.

Big Spurt Helpful

They actually do win ball games, sometimes more than an inferior team is expected to win, and they also are helpful in prolonging those all-important victory strings.

When a team can spurt ahead, such as the Dodgers did at the beginning of last season, or win big blocks of games between short losses, such as the Yankees have a habit of doing, that team is going to be in the thick of the pennant fight.

But when a club swings between victory and defeat day after day, the road ahead is rocky. Bucky Harris and all the Tiger brass are scratching their heads over how to make that road smoother.

Track Team Beats Hudson

Tecumseh high school harriers last week defeated Hudson 58 to 51.

First place winners for the Indians were Larned in the shot put, Dickinson in the 440, Weakly in the 220 and Ken Miller in the half mile. The Indians' two relay teams also won first places. The medley relay team consisted of Torres, Purcell, Hanna and McDowell and the 880 relay team consisted of Dickinson, Torres, Weakly and Andrews.

Second place winners for Tecumseh were Walters in the high jump, Marsh in the shot put, Walter Bailey in the pole vault, Weakly in the 100, Roe in the mile, Purcell in the 440, Baker in the 120 high hurdles, Dick in the 180 low hurdles and Ray Miller in the half mile.

Local third spot winners were Walters and Bryan with a tie in the broad jump and Andrews in the 220.

The meet concluded the track season for the Lawson men.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Fall and winter losses to the upper peninsula deer herd totaled an estimated 74,000 animals, according to the Conservation Department's first scientific peninsula-wide survey of this problem. The loss figure is exclusive of the legal kill in Nov. which was approximately 29,000 bucks in the U.P.

Unseasonal spring weather can cause trouble for man, but pheasants, too, are upset by cold, wet weather.

Rain and cold delayed growth of nesting vegetation this year, so many pheasant hatches will be later than usual. Pheasant hens are fairly automatic in their egg-laying habits which are governed by light conditions rather than temperature. Hens start laying eggs in late April in spite of weather conditions, but do not incubate the eggs until nesting conditions are favorable.

Conservation Department pheasant specialist Ralph I. Blouch said past figures indicate late hatches do not produce as many young, but the present breeding stock is so plentiful that pheasant populations should maintain a high level again this year.

Blouch said there would be real cause for concern if pheasant populations were on the downward side of their cycle because a combination of low breeding populations and bad weather can be serious. In the past, poor pheasant years have been associated with cold, wet spring weather.

"Many hens were laying eggs without nests and other nests were flooded out," Blouch said, "but regular nesting has started now and if the weather continues at a normal level, the over-all situation still looks good."

Bounty payments to hunters and trappers totaled $32,980 during April for 4668 foxes, 545 coyotes and 20 bobcats.

Indians Win 2 League Games

The Tecumseh high school Indians ended their baseball season with two league wins last week.

As a result they raised their Southeastern League record to 2-6, good for a tie for third place.

They beat Hillsdale 8 to 4 and Bedford 4 to 1.

Ray Larned led the hitters with a .402 average for the season.

Britton Boy Wins Mibs Crown

Ben Burgin, fifth grade student at Britton-Macon Agricultural school and a member of Den 3, Pack 23 Cub Scouts of Britton won the Tecumseh championship in the sixth district V.F.W. marbles tournament Sunday. He defeated Terry Berkley of Tecumseh, Cub Scout Pack 4, in play at the Tecumseh recreation field.

In the play-off Ben lost to Wayne Vickery of Adrian, who became the district champion and will play at the state meet at Eaton Rapids in June. The winner of this event will receive an expense paid trip to the finals in Tallahasee, Fla., sponsored by the Department of Michigan V.F.W.

Posts represented in the tournament in Tecumseh Sunday were Erie, Adrian, Ypsilanti and Tecumseh. As the Tecumseh area champ, Ben received camp silverware, a mess kit and pup tent awarded by the local Hall-Slater Post.

Warren Filter, commander of the local V.F.W. Post, presented awards to Ben Burgin, Tecumseh area marbles champion, following play at the recreation field Sunday.

Tornado Safety Rules

The following information was brought in by the Rev. Blair Bashore who is civil defense director for Lenawee County. The manner in which Michigan weather has been acting up may be a good reason for memorizing these rules. As the United States Department of Commerce Weather Bureau reports:

"To know what to do when a warning is received or a tornado is observed may mean the difference between life and death!"

There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept clear for use, free from water, gas, or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

If you are in open country:

1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usualy move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a city or town:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!

2. In homes: The southwest corner of the basement usualy offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a storm celar, although a depression, such as a ditch or ravine, can offer some protection. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Doors and windows on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building.

3. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

If in schools:

1. In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly-supported roofs!

2. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if shelter is not available.

If in factories and industrial plants:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the weather bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

TORNADO INFORMATION

Where Tornadoes Can Occur:

Any place in the United States at any time of the year. They happen most frequently in the midwestern, southern and central states from March through Sept.

How Often Do They Occur:

The records show that the average number of days with tornadoes varies from about 12 per year in parts of the midwest to less than one per year in the northeastern and far western states.

How To Recognize a Tornado:

Usually observed as a funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly, and extending toward the earth from the base of a thundercloud. When close by, it sounds like a roar of hundreds of airplanes.

Tornado "Weather":

Hot, sticky days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. However, many such days occur without tornadoes.

Catholic Scouts Will Have Retreat

The first annual scout retreat for Catholic Boy Scouts of Wolverine Council, including Monroe and Lenawee counties, will be held June 1, 2 and 3 at Camp Kanesatake in the Irish Hills.

Theme of the retreat will be "For God and Country" under the direction of Father John Hardy, Monroe Catholic chaplain of scouting and assistant of St. Mary's Catholic church in Monroe and Forest Townsend, area chairman of the Catholic committee on scouting.

Priests conducting the retreat Saturday, June 2 will be the Rev. Fr. George B. VanAntwerp, assistant of St. Mary's Catholic church, Adrian; Rev. Fr. Joseph F. Kernofek, assistant at St. Joseph's, Monroe; Rev. Fr. Norbert Clements, C.S.B., professor at Assumption University, Windsor, Canada.

Highlights of the retreat, weather permitting, will be field mass Saturday and Sunday, solemn closing with outdoor benediction of the Blessed Sacrament Sunday afternoon at 1:15.

All Catholic Boy Scouts and Explorers may take part in the retreat. The boys will camp out and cook their own meals for the three days. One hundred scouts are expected and check-in time is Friday, June 1 from 5 to 9 p.m.

They will break camp Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and parents and friends are welcome to attend the closing exercise of the retreat Sunday at 1:15.

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

Some of the more thought provoking new books you may draw from the library are:

"Youth," Arnold Gesell. This book is based on studies of a selected group of normal adolescents. The psychology of youth becomes more understandable and many of its problems less formidable.

"Famous American Men of Letters," Robert Cantwell. Concise biographies of 13 famous writers as Cooper, Twain, Emerson, Poe, etc.

"Supreme Court," R. H. Jackson. The story of how well the court discharges its task and its destiny.

"For People Under Pressure," D. H. Fink. If you want to understand yourself better, acquire self-confidence, make your life less boring and more satisfying this book can help you.

"Practical Taxidermy," J. W. Moyer. A working guide to show you how to prepare mounts that are true to life.

"Radio Amateur's Handbook — 1956." Standard manual of amateur radio communications.

"Girl With the Swansdown Seat," Cyril Pearl. Candid report on sexual habits of the Victorians.

"Roll Back the Sky," Ward Taylor. This novel tells the story of the men who flew the first low altitude fire bombing mission over Japan.

"Forbidden Area," Pat Frank. A tingling novel which deals with the near future: the atomic age pushed to its limits of sanity.

Realty Views

Many people assume that all real estate transactions start with a listing and then a buyer. Naturally, this is the most common pattern. However, occasionally a buyer will, more or less, place an "order" for a certain kind of property.

For example, an out-of-state investor wrote us a letter and asked us to survey the commercial district of another city for a certain type of property. If we found anything suitable, we were to "check it out" as to price, terms, taxes, physical condition, adaptability, etc.

Acting on this request, we promptly located the right kind of property. We placed a long distance call and were told to "Go ahead and draw a contract." The buyer is completely satisfied—he got exactly what he was looking for.

So if you have a specific kind of property in mind, give us the assignment of locating it for you. Regardless of type — commercial, farm, or residential — we'll endeavor to find it.

Come in and talk it over!

Marilou Burleson Becomes Bride of William F. Bale

The First Methodist church of Tecumseh was filled Saturday evening with the friends of Marilou Burleson and William Frederick Bale, when they were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony by the pastor, the Rev. Horace James.

MRS. WILLIAM BALE

Marilou is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Burleson and was given in marriage by her father. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bale of Tipton.

Hampers of white gladioli and pompoms combined with palms to flank the candlelighted altar and the family pews were marked by clusters of white gladioli and greens tied with white satin bows.

Traditional bridal music was played by Mrs. Kenton Hunt at the organ and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz sang "O Promise Me" and "Because" before the ceremony, closing with "The Lord's Prayer" as the newly wedded pair knelt at the altar.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Jim Hewitt of Addison was matron of honor with Carol Ladd of Tecumseh and Mary Ann Machie of Detroit as bridesmaids. Harold Cole was Mr. Bale's best man and the ushers were Robert Camburn of Macon and Robert Bale, a brother of the groom.

Rose pointe lace over satin formed the bodice of the lovely bridal gown with its portrait neckline and long sleeves. A bouffant skirt of nylon tulle appliqued with lace orchids fell from the scalloped torso waistline over a foundation of slipper satin. The bride's veil was silk illusion in fingertip length and she carried a white, lace covered Bible with a cluster of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was in lavender with lace bodice and tulle skirt over taffeta. Her tulle stole and lace head band were of matching color and she carried a cascade bouquet of shell pink Carol Amling roses combined with purple maline.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of the same design and material in orchid and their flowers were white Pinnochio pompoms with a center of pink roses backed with orchid maline.

Dianne and Susan Hock, little cousins of the bride were flower girls in bouffant dresses of white tulle over taffeta, made with wide necklines which had Peter Pan collars with appliques of lace orchids like the bride's gown. Both had flowered head bands and carried baskets of rose petals which they scattered in the path of the bride. The ring bearer was Larry Mattis, the groom's cousin, who carried the rings on a lace covered pillow.

Mrs. Burleson wore rose beige with beige accessories for her daughter's wedding, accenting it with a shoulder corsage of red rosette rosebuds backed by pale green velvet leaves. Mrs. Bale's gown was of navy blue lace and she wore white accessories and a corsage of pink rosettes with white velvet leaves.

After the ceremony 250 guests gathered at the Products Union Hall where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Allen French and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mattis. Names were registered by Mrs. Sally Glenn from Adrian, Toledo, Carleton, Dearborn, Detroit and Jackson.

Twin wedding cakes were served by Mrs. Richard Purkey and Mrs. Albert Hart from a linen covered table decorated with flowers and lighted tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Lucy Lawton and Mrs. Roy Heilman presided at the coffee and tea services while Mrs. Ronald Pilbeam served the punch. The gifts were in charge of Mrs. Glenn Miller, Miss Alys Clark and Miss Barbara Lynd.

The new Mrs. Bale wore a sheath dress of navy with accessories of navy and white when the bridal couple left for a trip through northern Michigan. Returning they will live on Kemp road in Tipton.

The bride, who is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co., is a graduate of Tecumseh high school, class of 1954 and attended Cleary's Business College. The groom after graduating in Clinton spent three years in the army and is now employed by the Schaeper Plumbing Co. in Adrian.

Styles Boast New Colors

Color — new color — is among the most contemporary ideas and is found even in the most steadfast traditional styles in today's furniture.

Color is everywhere and used in every possible manner and shade, declares Jessie Marion, home furnishings specialist at Michigan State University. Modern styles are more dramatic in bright red, deep turquoise, amethyst and combinations of pink and black.

For traditional and provincial furniture, gentle pastels of blues, greens, grays, yellows and beiges are used predominantly, but occasionally, you see brilliant Cerulean blue and Castilian red.

Furniture is dressed with color both on and under the surface, continues Miss Marion. When the more conservative gray, beige and sand [illegible] dresser, chest and table surfaces, gay shade of red and blue are often used to line drawers.

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic –

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflow*

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflow smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness—

The flash-fast new getaway response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you press the pedal barely an inch—

The instant new full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge—

The walloping new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all—

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week—today if you can—and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here—and what great-buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

We had almost come to the conclusion that we again had missed Mr. Fare and that he was elsewhere visiting, when he came charging out between two bush patches about 25 yards from us. He must have heard us or got a whiff of us, because he came out of hiding in quite an excited state. Towever, he did not se[illegible] and was just charging on general principles. He was an easy mark and gave up after two shots aimed at the heart. I did not feel bad about having shot him because the District Commissioner had told me that in his little District alone, rhinos killed about 10 or 12 natives every year. Natives who were watching their cattle, or just going about their peaceful errands.

The rhino had a beautiful symmetrical horn of very acceptable size and we lost no time in stripping some of the hide off him and taking the front feet as well as the head along for mounting. No doubt the Turkanas had a feast that night on T-bone steaks.

TICKS GET A MEAL

While working around the animal taking pictures, with the excited native trackers telling the story over and over again and reshooting the poor fellow, I noticed a scratching, itching sensation on my knee and leg. Investigating the cause of irritation, I found several ticks about the size of a dime doing their best to dig in under my skin. Needless to say, I quickly disposed of those loathsome things, which are so insistent that they even bother the rhino which has a hide three quarters of an inch thick. The ticks seem to be around everywhere rhinos are found. They not only crawl around on the poor animal wherever they can find a vulnerable spot, but also perch themselves on the leaves and twigs of bushes so they can jump onto anyone passing by. Chiggers at home do the same thing. From then on I was careful in checking my clothes every now and then.

The rhinos are bothered so much by the ticks that they tolerate a number of the so-called tick birds to roost on their backs. The birds walk and flutter around looking for a tidbit wherever they can find one in the fold of the skin. The rhinos skin seems to have been inadequately designed in that it is so thick and inflexible that in places, where much movement is needed — as for instance around the legs and hips, the skin chafes and breaks open and the open spots fester. This may be partly responsible for the rhinos generally bad temper. He seems to be even tempered all right but always mad. The tick birds act as watchers for the rhino. When they see someone approaching, they twitter and fly away and this disturbance warns the rhino to be on guard. For this reason the hunter watches the tickbirds very closely when approaching the beast. In the early morning the hunter looking for rhino may find one by watching the direction the tick birds fly.

BE SURE TO HIT HIM

Quite often when we were on our way out in the morning, or going home to camp at night, we would come across a couple of elephants. Sometimes they would appear in groups of up to a dozen, but they were generally females with young bulls or babies. The real large and desirable old bulls we did not see until the last day or two we were out in the bush.

Andy had told me to be sure I knew what I was doing if we should meet up with the right size elephant; to be sure of shooting straight, and only fire when warranted. Otherwise he said I might be sorry. A wounded elephant with ears flapping, trunk raised, bearing down on you screaming with rage is a terrifying sight, he said. Naturally I promised to be careful. I had no desire to find myself in such a position. The African elephant is a huge beast. Even the younger ones we had looked at so often were tremendous, I thought. Estimates vary from seven to ten tons for a good size animal. The African elephant should not be compared with the elephant we see in the circus. The circus elephant is from India and is puny in comparison with his African cousin. The game laws in Kenya said that no elephant, with tusks weighing less than 45 pounds each, could be taken. The estimate of age in relation to weight of tusks is about one pound of tusk per year of the animal's age.

During the last week at Tana River I had noticed that Andy conferred with many local blacks we met either while driving or walking. He was speaking too fast for me, to understand all of what was said on such [illegible], but the words "Tembo" — meaning elephant and M'see — old, Kidogo — little, M'bale — far away, etc. occurred often.

GIVE UP CHASE

At one time following a hint and finding what looked like satisfactory tracks, about two feet in diameter, we eventually came up to a reasonably sized old fellow. However, it was one of these cases where it was a toss up as to whether we should really go after him or not and when some unforseen difficulty in terrain presented itself, we gave up the chase after some six to seven miles of fast walking and running after him.

I had mp muscles toned up considerably during these runs, of which we had many. Finally came the day when a native runner intercepted us and related how he had seen the father of all elephants walk by his herd of goats that very morning. He was M'kubwa Sana and had tusks so long — stretching his arms up over his head.

We parked the jeep with Mama under a tree and started off. Several miles later with the runner showing the way, and at the same time following some huge tracks, we came to a spot where the thorn bushes were fewer but larger. Down to our right where the wind was coming from we saw a small elephant nibbling of the leaves from the top of a green bush. Almost at the same time we heard a noise from our left and found it was a giraffe also feeding on a bush. Although the giraffe was almost hidden from view, we knew that it would only be a matter of seconds before he would catch our scent. In that case he would bolt and running up wind would spook our little elephant on our right. We decided to retreat and make a circle to our left to avoid disturbing the giraffe.

GIRAFFE TRIGGERS ALARM

Well, we were not fast enough in acting. The giraffe scented us — which was not difficult after all the exertion in that heat. He ran up wind and spooked our little elephant and they both bolted. So did supposedly all the rest of the herd which we had not seen as yet, if there were a herd. We now stood looking at each other wondering what to do. If a large elephant had been in the neighborhood, and if he had been spooked, it would be no easy matter to catch up with him again. Elephants cover some ground when they move. They seem to think nothing of walking 30 miles for water during the night and back again next morning. But, perhaps, if we were careful and did not pursue the animals right away, the midday sun might prove too much for them and they would then stop in the shade of a tree not too far away. While we pondered the situation, Sangare, all of a sudden, pointed and said: "Look!" We looked and there, not more than 30 yards from us, stood a huge elephant bull looking straight at us. Why we had not seen him before was impossible to understand. He looked large as a barn and was only partly hidden behind a leafless thorn bush. His slate color matched the color of the branches and his legs which were in plain view simply looked like tree trunks. He was really not hidden, only camouflaged.

TRIM THAT WAIST!

If you're worried about keeping your weight down, plan to plant yourself a home vegetable garden. The Michigan Department of Health today said that besides producing fresher foods and nutritious ones, "The planting and pulling may be just what you need to trim off excess fat built up over winter months."

"But it may not be wise to begin at a frantic pace," cautioned Mrs. Alice Smith, head of the department's nutrition section. If you havent's had much exercise all winter, the health department specialist recommends: "a warm-up period — perhaps just turning over a few shovels of ground a day until you get used to it again."

If you are planting a small garden, and want to get the most value per pound and production per square foot, the health department said these vegetables should be on your priority list: beans, beets broccoli, cabbage, carrots, Swiss chard, onions, spinach, peppers, squash and tomatoes.

"A wisely planned home garden," Mrs. Smith said, "is one of the best places to get the vitamins and minerals your family needs for health, vigor and growth. The leafy green and yellow vegetables are rich in Vitamin A, and tomatoes are rich in Vitamin C. Just being out in the sunshine also gives your body a chance to create Vitamin D.

"Even if you have only a small plot of ground," she urged, "take the time to make a garden. Few things you do will give you so much for so little."

Break Ground for New Parish

Ground-breaking ceremonies for a fine new parish hall for St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Cambridge Junction will be held at the 9:30 services Sunday morning, June 3. According to Forist R. Keith, Building Committee Chairman, the Parish Hall will contain an entrance-lobby, assembly room and kitchen on a level with the present church with wash rooms, space for church school classes and furnace room in the basement.

The building was designed by Architect Howell Taylor of Ann Arbor.

Representative members of St. Michael's parish will assist Lay-Minister Jack E. Warner in the ground-breaking ceremonies.

So You Want To Go To College?

(This is the second in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

More students today are going to college than ever before. Not many years ago, it was uncommon if 10 per cent of the high school graduating class went on to college; today 30 per cent is not unusual.

Two basic factors, the increased number of births and the increasing proportion of college-age youths (18-21) attending college are contributing to the increased enrollment. The percentage of college-age youths attending institutions of higher learning has increased on the average of one per cent a year for the last 10 years, rising from four per cent in 1900 to more than 30 per cent at the present time. It is estimated that by 1970 more than 50 per cent of the college-age youths will be attending, and college enrollment may reach five million.

Unfortunately, all students cannot go to college. In some cases, it is because the student does not want to go to college, or that other personal reasons intervene. In other cases the academic record or the courses taken prevent the student from entering college.

Long ago it was proved that a college education is valuable. Today, a college education has become an even greater need because of the complicated, technical and scientific world in which we live. This type of society urgently needs physicists, chemists and engineers.

The demands for college graduates are not limited to the technical field alone. The fields of business, education, psychology, sociology, agriculture and others are critically in need of college trained persons.

TRAIN FOR OCCUPATION

So, you should go to college if you have career plans for vocations which demand a college education. Your college education will train you for your specific occupation in life.

Dr. Paul C. Glick of the U. S. Census Bureau found that college graduates, on the average, earn $100,000 more in their lifetime than high school graduates. Out of 30,000 listed in "Who's Who," 86 per cent finished college, 10 per cent attended and only four per cent did not attend college.

Yes, a college education will help you make a living. But the big "pay-off" however, is not in dollars and cents. A college education will help you learn to live with other people, to get along with all types of individuals, to co-operate in group living, to govern yourself, to assume leadership and to develop those traits which will make you a better citizen.

OPEN KNOWLEDGE AREAS

A college education will open the great areas of knowledge to you. The thinking of yesterday and today and the great unknowns of tomorrow will challenge you. The varied resources of the classroom, the teachers, and the libraries will offer you opportunities for personal growth which are unavailable elsewhere.

Yes, you should go to college, if you are prepared to go, if you have an inquisitive mind, if you wish to qualify for a profession which requires a college degree and if you would seek the great intangibles of personal satisfaction, the adventure in democratic living, and the great challenge of the unknown which is tomorrow. Yes, you should go to college if you are to compete in a world where increasing numbers of your classmates will be college trained.

The third in this series of articles will discuss, "How Shall I Choose a College?"

Rhubarb Rates 'A' In All Meals

There is no end to the way rhubarb can be served. It can be used in Brown Betty, sherbet, custards and tapioca puddings, say home economists at Michigan State University. And it combines well with oranges and gelatin to mold into a salad.

Rhubarb Bavarian — the thickened rhubarb sauce, plain gelatin and whipped cream — will top off a light meal to good advantage. If you are having a spring party, try rhubarb punch for the beverage. Use it, too, in the lunchbox. Pack some of the rosy red rhubarb sauce in a tight-fitting covered container and put in a couple of crisp cookies to eat with it.

City Water Department Improvements Ordinance

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION OF ADDITIONS, EXTENSIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS TO THE WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF TECUMSEH; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF REVENUE BONDS TO PAY THE COST THEREOF; TO PROVIDE FOR THE FIXING, COLLECTION, SEGREGATION AND DISPOSITION OF THE REVENUES OF SAID WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM AND PAYMENT OF SAID BONDS OUT OF THE REVENUES THEREOF; AND CREATING A STATUTORY LIEN ON SAID REVENUES.

THE CITY OF TECUMSEH ORDAINS:

Section 1. It is hereby determined to be necessary for the public health and welfare of the City of Tecumseh to construct additions, extensions and improvements to the Water Supply System of the City, consisting of an elevated storage tank, twelve-inch feeder main connecting wells to elevated tank, new well, well house, pumps, electrical work, piping and valves.

Section 2. The plans, specifications and estimates of cost of such additions, extensions and improvements, prepared by McNamee, Porter and Seeley, consulting engineers of Ann Arbor, Michigan, are hereby approved, and the total cost thereof, including engineering, legal, financing and incidental expenses, is estimated to be Two Hundred Twenty Thousand ($220,000) Dollars, and the period of usefulness of said additions, extensions and improvements is estimated to be not less than thirty-five (35) years.

Section 3. To pay the cost of constructing said additions, extensions and improvements, including payment of engineering, legal financing and incidental expenses, it is hereby determined that the City of Tecumseh shall borrow the sum of Two Hundred Twenty Thousand ($220,000) Dollars, and that revenue bonds of the City be issued therefor, under the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, which said bonds are sometimes referred to in this Ordinance as "the bonds."

Wherever the words "the System" or "System" are used in this Ordinance, they shall be construed to mean the complete Water Supply System of the City of Tecumseh, including, but not by way of limitation, (a) all existing water mains, and all works, instrumentalities and properties used or useful in the obtaining of a water supply or the distribution of water; (b) the additions, extensions and improvements to be constructed under the provisions of this Ordinance, and (c) all additions, extensions and improvements thereto acquired or constructed in the future.

Wherever the word "project" is used in this Ordinance, it shall be understood to mean the additions, extensions and improvements to the System constructed under the provisions of this Ordinance.

Wherever the words "revenues" and "net revenues" are used in this Ordinance, they shall be understood to have the meanings as defined in Section 3, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Section 4. Said bonds shall be designated WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM REVENUE BONDS, and shall be, not general obligations of the City of Tecumseh, but revenue bonds, payable out of the net revenues of the System, and shall consist of 220 bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, dated as of July 1, 1956, numbered and maturing as follows:

| Bonds Nos. Inclusive | Principal Amount | Maturity Date |
|---|---|---|
| 1/5 | $ 5,000.00 | July 1, 1958 |
| 6/15 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1959 |
| 16/25 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1960 |
| 26/35 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1961 |
| 36/45 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1962 |
| 46/55 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1963 |
| 56/65 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1964 |
| 66/75 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1965 |
| 76/85 | 10,000.00 | July 1, 1966 |
| 86/100 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1967 |
| 101/115 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1968 |
| 116/130 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1969 |
| 131/145 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1970 |
| 146/160 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1971 |
| 161/175 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1972 |
| 176/190 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1973 |
| 191/205 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1974 |
| 206/220 | 15,000.00 | July 1, 1975 |

Said bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding four (4%) per cent per annum, payable on January 1, 1957, and semi-annually thereafter on July 1st and January 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at a bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

Bonds numbered 1 to 85, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1958 to 1966, both inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds numbered 86 to 220, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1967 to 1975, both inclusive, will be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after July 1, 1961, at 104% if called on July 1, 1961 and decreasing said redemption price by 1/4 of 1% on July 1st of each year thereafter, plus, in each case, interest accrued to the date of redemption.

Thirty days' notice of the call of any bonds for redemption shall be given by publication in a paper circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds and in case of registered bonds, thirty days' notice shall be given by mail to the registered address. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

Said bonds may be registered as to principal only on the books kept by the City Treasurer in the manner and with the effect set forth on the face thereof, as hereinafter provided.

Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk and shall have the corporate seal of the City impressed thereon, and shall have interest coupons attached bearing the facsimile signatures of said Mayor and City Clerk.

Section 5. Said bonds and the attached coupons shall not be a general obligation indebtedness of the City of Tecumseh, but shall be payable solely from the net revenue derived from the operation of the System; and to secure such payment there is hereby created a statutory first lien upon the whole of the net revenues of said System, to continue until the payment in full of the principal and interest on said bonds.

Section 6. The holder or holders of said bonds or coupons representing in the aggregate not less than twenty (20%) per cent of the entire issue then outstanding may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, protect and enforce the statutory first lien upon the revenues of said System and may by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, enforce and compel performance of all duties of the officers of the City of Tecumseh, including the fixing of sufficient rates, the collection of revenues, the proper segregation of the revenues of the System and the proper application thereof: Provided, However, that the statutory lien upon said revenues shall not be construed to compel the sale of the System.

If there be any default in the payment of the principal of or interest upon any of said bonds, any court having jurisdiction in any proper action may appoint a receiver to administer and operate said System on behalf of the City, and under the direction of said court, and by and with the approval of said court to perform all of the duties of the officials of said City, more particularly set forth herein and in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

The holder or holders of any such bonds or any coupons therefrom shall have all other rights and remedies given by said Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, for the collection and enforcement of said bonds and the security therefor.

Section 7. The construction, alteration, repair and management of the System shall be under the supervision and control of the City Council of the City of Tecumseh. The City Council may appoint and designate a board, commission, or officer to operate and manage the System, and may enploy such person or persons in such capacity or capacities as it deems advisable to carry on the efficient management and operation of the System. The City Council may make such rules, orders and regulations as it deems advisable and necessary to assure the efficient management and operation of the System.

Section 8. The rates to be charged for water service furnished by the System shall be as prescribed by the City Council. The initial schedule of rates shall be as follows:

WATER RATES

$3.00 plus $0.25 for each 1,000 gallons used in excess of 12,000 gallons up to 100,000 gallons, payable April 1st of each year, for water used during previous six month.
$3.00 payable July 1st of each year.
$3.00 plus $0.25 for each 1,000 gallons used in excess of 12,000 gallons up to 100,000 gallons, payable October 1st of each year, for water used during previous six months.
$3.00 payable January 1st of each year.

The following rates are for users in excess of 100,000 gallons, per six month period:

100,000 - 1,000,000 gallons — $0.15 per 1,000 gallons
All over 1,000,000 gallons — $0.05 per 1,000 gallons

METER RENTAL

A semi-annual rental charge for meters shall be made against all users of water as follows:

|---|---|
| 5/8 inch meter | $0.50 |
| 3/4 inch meter | $0.60 |
| 1 inch meter | $0.75 |
| 1-1/4 inch meter | $1.00 |
| 1-1/2 inch meter | $1.50 |
| 2 inch meter | $2.00 |

which rental charges shall become due semi-annually on April 1st and October 1st of each year and shall be added to the charge for actual water consumed.

DEPOSIT

A cash deposit of $15.00 as security for payment of water rates shall be required of each user in such cases as the City Council shall deem such security to be advisable, or in such cases where a deposit is required by the provisions of Section 21 of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

BILLING

All bills shall be rendered to consumers showing the net amount due and, if not paid within fifteen (15) days after the due date, ten (10%) per cent of the bill shall be added thereto as a penalty for failure to make prompt payment.

ENFORCEMENT

Charges for water services shall constitute a lien on the property served. On or before March 1st of each year the officer in charge of collection of such charges shall deliver to the tax assessing officer a certified statement of all water charges then six (6) months past due and unpaid. The tax assessing officer shall then place such charges on the next general tax roll and the same shall be collected as part of the general City taxes.

The City shall have the right to shut off and discontinue the supply of water to any premises for the non-payment thereof when due of water rates and charges.

Section 9. No free service shall be furnished by said System to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality.

Section 10. The initial rates hereby fixed are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of the said System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all the bonds as and when the same become due and payable, and the creation of the reserve therefor required by this Ordinance, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for said System as this Ordinance may require. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts, and it is hereby covenanted and agreed at all times to fix and maintain such rates for services furnished by the System as shall be sufficient to provide for the foregoing.

Section 11. The System shall be operated on the basis of an operating year beginning July 1st and ending June 30th.

Section 12. Beginning on July 1, 1956, the revenues of the System shall be set aside, as collected, and deposited in a separate depositary account in UNITED SAVINGS BANK, Tecumseh, Michigan, a bank duly qualified to do business in Michigan, in an account to be designated WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (hereinafter, for brevity, referred to as the "Receiving Fund"), and said revenues so deposited are pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be transferred from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times hereinafter specified.

(A) OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND:

Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside, quarterly, into a separate depositary account designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND, a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the next quarter's current expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

The City Council, prior to the commencement of each operating year shall adopt a budget covering the foregoing expenses for each year, and such total expenses shall not exceed the total amount specified in said budget, except by a vote of three-fifths (3/5) of the members of the City Council. There shall also be included in said budget all expenditures to be made from the Replacement Fund and the Improvement Fund.

(B) BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND:

There shall next be established and maintained a separate depositary account designated BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND, the moneys on deposit therein from time to time to be used solely for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest upon the bonds hereby authorized. The moneys in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account hereinafter established) shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company where the principal and interest on the bonds herein authorized are currently payable.

Out of the revenues remaining in the Receiving Fund after provision has been made for expenses of operation and maintenance of the System there shall next be set aside, quarterly, in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, a sum proportionately sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest upon all outstanding bonds payable from the revenues of the System, as and when the same become due and payable. Commencing July 1, 1956, the amount so set aside for interest each quarter during the first six (6) months of each operating year shall be not less than one-half (1/2) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following January 1st, and each quarter during the last six (6)' months of each operating year shall be not less than one-half (1/2) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following July 1st. Commencing July 1, 1957, the amount so set aside for principal each quarter during each operating year shall be not less than one-fourth (1/4) of the principal maturing on the following July 1st. If there shall be any deficiency in the amount previously required to be set aside, then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the current requirements.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund a separate account to be known as the Bond Reserve Account, into which account there shall be deposited, after providing for all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund and current requirements of the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, the sum of Twenty-one Thousand ($21,000.00) Dollars during the operating year commencing July 1, 1956, so that by the close of said operating year said Bond Reserve Account will total said sum. Moneys in said Bond Reserve Account shall be used solely for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds, if necessary.

If, at any time, it shall be necessary to use moneys in the Bond Reserve Account for such payment, then the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues first received thereafter which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for operation and maintenance or for current principal and interest requirements: Provided, However, that such Bond Reserve Account shall not be regarded as moneys otherwise appropriated or pledged for the purpose of determining the sufficiency of funds available for redemption of callable bonds.

No further payments need be made into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund after enough of the bonds have been retired so that the amount then held in said fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) is equal to the entire amount of principal and interest which will be payable at the time of maturity of all the bonds then remaining outstanding.

(C) REPLACEMENT FUND:

There shall next be established and maintained a separate depositary account designated REPLACEMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements to the System, if needed. There shall be deposited into said fund, after providing for all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars during each of the operating years commencing July 1, 1956, and July 1, 1957, until the sum in said Replacement Fund shall total Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars. If, at any time, it shall be necessary to use moneys in said fund for such purpose, the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues in the Receiving Fund which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account).

(D) IMPROVEMENT FUND:

There shall next be established and maintained a separate depositary account designated IMPROVEMENT FUND, the moneys on hand therein from time to time to be used for the purpose of acquiring additions, extensions and improvements to the System. There shall be deposited in said fund at the end of each operating year after providing for all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), and the Replacement Fund, such moneys as the City Council shall deem to be necessary for making additions, extensions and improvements to the System.

(E) SURPLUS FUND:

Any revenues remaining in the Receiving Fund in any operating year after meeting all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), the Replacement Fund, and the Improvement Fund, shall be deemed to be surplus and may, at the discretion of the City Council, be transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund for the purpose of calling bonds herein authorized, or transferred into the Improvement Fund: Provided, However, that in the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) and moneys and/or securities in other funds of the System shall be transferred first to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and second to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent of any deficit therein.

Section 13. Funds of the System on hand as of July 1, 1956, shall be transferred to the Receiving Fund established by this Ordinance, and subject to the provisions of this Ordinance relative to the use thereof.

Section 14. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds of the System shall be transferred, First, to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and Second, to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent of any deficit therein.

Section 15. Moneys in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund over and above those being accumulated for the payment of principal and interest next maturing, moneys derived from the proceeds of sale of the bonds, and moneys in any other fund except the Receiving Fund and the Operation and Maintenance Fund, may be invested in obligations of the United States of America. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or funds from which such purchase was made. Income received from such investments shall be credited to the fund from which said investments were made.

Section 16. Said bonds shall be sold and the proceeds applied in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Section 17. The proceeds of the sale of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall be deposited in UNITED SAVINGS BANK, Tecumseh, Michigan, a Federal Reserve System member bank, in a separate depositary account, and there shall first be transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund the amount of premium or accrued interest paid, if any, and the balance of such proceeds shall be applied solely in payment of the cost of the project hereinbefore described and any engineering, legal and other expenses incident thereto and to the financing thereof. Payments for construction, either on account or otherwise, shall not be made unless the registered engineer in charge of such work shall file with the City Council a signed statement to the effect that the work has been completed in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, that it was done pursuant to and in accordance with the contract therefor, and that such work is entirely satisfactory.

Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of sale remaining after completion of the project herein authorized may, in the discretion of the City Council, and to the extent of Thirty-three Thousand ($33,000.00) Dollars be used for further improvements, enlargements, and extensions to the System, provided that at the time of such expenditure, such use be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission. Any remaining balance after such expediture shall be paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and shall be used for the redemption of callable bonds, or prior to the first call date only, purchasing bonds on the open market at not more than the fair market value thereof, and at a price in any event not exceeding the first call price.

Section. 18. The City of Tecumseh covenants and agrees with the successive holders of the bonds and coupons that so long as any of the bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest —

(a) The City of Tecumseh will maintain the System in good repair and working order and will operate the same efficiently and will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to the System required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates for water services rendered by the System, and the segregation and application of the revenues of the System in the manner provided in this Ordinance.

(b) The City will maintain and keep proper books of record and account, separate from all other records and accounts, in which shall be made full and correct entries of all transactions relating to the System. Not later than three (3) months after the close of each operating year, the City Council will cause to be prepared, on forms furnished by the Municipal Finance Commission, if such forms be available, a statement in reasonable detail, sworn to by its chief accounting officer, showing the cash income and disbursements of the System at the beginning and close of the operating year and such other information as may be necessary to enable any taxpayer of the City, user of the service furnished, or any holder or owner of the bonds, or anyone acting in their behalf, to be fully informed as to all matters pertaining to the financial operation of the System during such year. A certified copy of such statement shall be filed with the Municipal Finance Commission and such statement and books of record and account shall, at all reasonable times, be open to inspection by any taxpayer of the City, user of the service, or holder or holders of any bonds, or anyone acting in their behalf. The City Council will also cause an annual audit of such books of record and account for the preceding operating year to be made by a recognized independent certified public accountant within ninety (90) days from the close of such operating year. Said annual audit shall be in such reasonable detail as will present the full financial condition of the System to the holders of the bonds and shall include the auditor's comments on the manner in which the management of the System has complied with the provisions of this Ordinance relating to the setting aside of moneys in the several funds established by Section 12 of this Ordinance, the acquisition of insurance, and such other matters as an auditor might normally audit. A certified copy of such audit shall be sent each year to the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing the bonds herein authorized and the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing any bonds which may be hereafter authorized.

(c) The City will maintain and carry, for the benefit of holders of the bonds, insurance on all physical properties of the System, of the kinds and in the amounts normally carried by public utility companies and municipalities engaged in the operation of water supply system. All moneys received for losses under any such insurance policies shall be applied solely to the replacement and restoration of the property damaged or destroyed, and to the extent not so used, shall be used for the purpose of calling bonds.

(d) The City will not sell, lease or dispose of the System, or any substantial part thereof, until all the bonds have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest. The City further will cause the operation of the System to be carried on as economically as possible, will cause to be made to the System all repairs and replacements necessary to keep the same in good repair and working order and will not do or suffer to be done any act which would affect the System in such a way as to impair or affect unfavorably the security of the bonds.

Section 19. The right is reserved, in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, to issue additional bonds payable from the revenues of the System, which shall be of equal standing with the bonds herein authorized but only for the following purposes and on the following conditions:

(a) To complete the project herein described in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor. Bonds shall not be authorized unless McNamee, Porter and Seeley, the consulting engineers, or the successor engineer in charge of construction, shall execute a certificate to the effect that additional funds are needed to complete the project in acordance with the plans and specifications therefor. If such certificate shall be so executed and filed, it shall be the duty of the City Council to provide for and issue additional revenue bonds in the amount stated in said certificate to be necessary to complete the public improvements in accordance with the plans and specifications.

(b) For extensions and improvements to the System: Provided, that no such additional bonds shall be issued unless the average net revenues for the two completed operating years or two completed twelve-month periods next preceding the issuance of the additional bonds, or the net revenues for the immediately preceding operating year, whichever is lower, when supplemented by the net revenues estimated to accrue from the making of the extensions and improvements proposed, are equal to not less than one hundred fifty (150%) per cent of the largest amount of combined principal and interest to fall due in any future operating year on any bonds then outstanding, payable from the revenues of the System and on the additional bonds so to be issued. As a condition precedent to the issuance of said bonds, a written estimate of the net revenues estimated to accrue from the proposed extensions and improvements, concurred in and executed by McNamee, Porter and Seeley, consulting engineers, or such successor engineer as shall be designated by the City Council, and by the engineer of the Municipal Finance Commission (or in the event no such State officer or agent exists, an engineer selected by the Municipal Finance Commission, or successor State agency having jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds), shall be filed with the City Clerk and the Municipal Finance Commission. Permission of the Municipal Finance Commission (or such other Commission as shall have jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds) to issue such additional bonds shall constitute a conclusive presumption of the existence of conditions permitting the issuance thereof.

No additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued pursuant to the authorization contained in this Section if the City shall then be in default in making payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), and the Replacement Fund.

Section 20. Said bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF LENAWEE
CITY OF TECUMSEH
WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM REVENUE BOND

No.________ $1,000.00

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that the CITY OF TECUMSEH, Lenawee County, Michigan, for value received, hereby promises to pay to the bearer, or if registered, to the registered holder hereof, but only out of the revenues of the Water Supply System of the City, including all additions, extensions and improvements thereto, the sum of

on the first day of July, A. D. 19________, with interest thereon from the date hereof until paid at the rate of________per cent per annum, payable on January 1, 1957, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of July and January of each year, on presentation and surrender of the proper interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due. Both principal of and interest on this bond are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at ____________________, and for the prompt payment thereof, the net revenues of said Water Supply System, after provision has been made for reasonable expenses of administration, operation and maintenance, are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of two hundred twenty (220) bonds of even date and like tenor except as to date of maturity________, aggregating the principal sum of $220,000.00, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 to 220, both inclusive, issued pursuant to Ordinance No.________ adopted by the City Council on____________, 1956, and under authority of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, for the purpose of paying the cost of constructing additions, extensions and improvements to the Water Supply System of the City.

This bond is a self-liquidating revenue bond, and is not a general obligation of the City of Tecumseh or an indebtedness of the City within any constitutional or statutory limitation, but is payable, both as to principal and interest, solely from the revenues of the Water Supply System of the City. The principal and interest on this bond are secured by the statutory lien hereinbefore mentioned.

For a complete statement of the revenues from which, and the conditions under which this bond is payable, and the conditions under which additional bonds of equal standing may hereafter be issued, reference is made to the above-described Ordinance.

Bonds of this issue numbered 1 to 85, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1958 to 1966, both inclusive, are not subject to redemption prior to maturity.

The right is reserved of redeeming bonds numbered 86 to 220, both inclusive, maturing in the years of 1967 to 1975, both inclusive, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after July 1, 1961, at 104% if called on July 1, 1961, and decreasing said redemption price by 1/4 of 1% on July 1st of each year thereafter, plus, in each case, interest accrued to the date of redemption.

Thirty days' notice of the call of any bonds for redemption shall be given by publication in a paper circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds and in case of registered bonds, thirty days' notice shall be given by mail to the registered address. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

This bond may be registered as to principal only on the books kept by the City Treasurer and such registration noted on the back hereof, after which no transfer shall be valid unless made on the books and noted on the back hereof in like manner, but transferability by delivery may be restored by registration to bearer.

The City of Tecumseh hereby covenants and agrees to fix and maintain at all times, while any of such bonds shall be outstanding, such rates for service furnished by said Water Supply System as shall be sufficient to provide for payment of the interest upon and the principal of all such bonds as and when the same become due and payable, and to create a Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including a Bond Reserve Account) therefor, to provide for the payment of expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of said Water Supply System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for said System as are required by said Ordinance.

This bond and the interest thereon are exempt from any and all taxation by the State of Michigan or by any taxing authority within said State.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law precedent to and in the issuance of this bond

Clouds:

Familiar thunderstorm clouds are present. An hour or two before a tornado, topsy-turvey clouds appear sometimes bulging down instead of up. The clouds often have a greenish-black color.

Precipitation:

Rain, frequently hail, preceding the tornado, with a heavy downpour after it has passed.

Time of Day:

Mostly between 3 and 7 p.m., but they have occurred at all hours.

Direction of Travel:

In most cases they move from a westerly direction, usually from the southwest.

Length of Path:

Usually 10 to 40 miles (the average length is 16 miles), but they may move forward for 300 miles.

Width of Path:

The average width is about 400 yards, but they have cut swaths over a mile in width.

Speed of Travel:

Twenty-five to 40 miles per hour average, but they have varied from five to 139 miles per hour.

Wind Speed:

Estimated as high as 500 miles per hour within the tornado.

Causes of Destruction:

(1) Violent winds which uproot trees, destroy buildings, and which create a serious hazard from objects blown through the air.

(2) Differences in air pressure which can lift automobiles and can cause buildings to collapse.

More Than She "Bargained" For

Dad Baker retired from active dairying—seven or eight years ago—but still keeps a half-dozen purebreds more or less as a hobby.

Dad goes all-out for these six. Temperature-controlled barn, expensive feed . . . the works. As a result his milk has a low bacteria count, a high butterfat content. And as a favor to neighbors, he sells it just two cents above the ordinary price.

Recently, a neighbor complained—asked if she couldn't get the milk "at cost." Dad agreed, sent her a bill for exactly what the milk cost: 75¢ a quart.

From where I sit, it's easy to misunderstand if you don't get all the facts. That's why we ought to consider the other fellow's viewpoint before we talk out. For example, you have your reasons for liking particular beverages. I have mine. And whether we're talking about buttermilk or beer ...let's try to respect each other's point of view.

Booster Shots May Be Necessary

Recent outbreaks of diphtheria in Michigan indicate that this disease is threatening a comeback and the Lenawee County Health Department again urges parents to be sure to have their youngsters immunized and given booster shots on schedule.

Through April 27, Michigan had 48 new cases of diphtheria rereported, contrasted with only 59 cases all last year. So far the disease had turned up in Detroit and Wayne County, and in Washtenaw, St. Joseph, St. Clair, Monroe, Kalamazoo, Genesee, Calhoun and Berrien Counties.

In areas where diphtheria cases do develop, it is recommended that teenagers and even older adults should have booster doses of vaccine, or be tested to determine if they still have immunity to the disease.

In years past, when there was more diphtheria, immunized persons were naturally exposed to the disease from time to time, and this boosted their immunity, keeping it at safe level.

Today, Michigan's good fortune in almost cleaning up on diphtheria means that few persons are exposed to the disease, and there is a chance that the immunity built up by vaccinations early in life has worn thin. This is why teen-agers and even older adults in areas reporting diphtheria cases should be checked, and given booster shots of vaccine if necessary.

Source of the diphtheria outbreaks is usually a person or persons who are unsuspectingly carriers of diphtheria, and suffer no ill effects from the disease themselves but are capable of passing it to others.

Whether you live in an area in which diphtheria cases have been reported, spring is an ideal time to have children immunized against diphtheria, smallpox, lockjaw and whooping cough. Vaccinations in the spring gives the child's body plenty of time to build up the disease-fighting antibodies before he starts school in the fall. Immunization against these diseases is safe, sure and as close at hand as your doctor's office.

Motion Kelso and seconded Powell to accept the petitions and the same be referred to the City Manager for scheduling. Motion carried unanimously.

RESOLUTION

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Councilman Kelso and seconded by Councilman Powell:

WHEREAS the incorporation of additional lands within the former village (now City) of Tecumseh has resulted in certain street name inconsistencies; and

WHEREAS it is desired to correct these irregularities as rapidly as possible in order that street addresses may become stabilized.

NOW THEREFORE THE CITY OF TECUMSEH RESOLVES THAT:

1. The portion of Evans Street runninf northwards along M-52 from the principal intersection of the City, and along those streets successively known as Evans Street, Mill Street and Maumee Street, shall be known as Evans Street throughout its entire extent, viz: from the principal downtown intersection northwards along M-52 (a part thereof being known as Tecumseh-Clinton Road) to the City limits.

2. The portion which was formerly known as Evans Street and which extends northwards from its intersection with Shawnee Street near the old north depot and to the west of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church, shall be known as Church Street.

3. The portion of Kilbuck Street which extends from Park Street west to Occidental Highway shall be known as Willow Street.

4. The portion of M-50 (also known as LaPlaisance Bay Turnpike) which extends westward from the old village limits (at Adrian Street) to the present City limits, also the portion of M-50 which extends eastward from the old village limits to the present City limits, is declared to be an extension of west and east Chicago Boulevard and shall be known as West Chicago Boulevard and East Chicago Boulevard.

5. The thoroughfare formerly known as Sunset Road shall be extended easterly along its course, over thoroughfare formerly known as Parkway to West Chicago Boulevard; and that thoroughfare known as Parkway shall be known as Sunset Road.

6. The City Manager is directed to have appropriate street signs erected or changed and to have all city records corrected in accordance with the foregoing.

7. The City Clerk is directed to forward a certified copy of this Resolution to the Lenawee County Register of Deeds within thirty days hereafter; and to forward a certified copy of this Resolution to the Auditor General within a like period, each copy to be accompanied by a certificate by the City Clerk direction attention to the names of any plat subdivision or addition affected by the Resolution.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

MSU Sponsors Newsmen School

Michigan high school youths serious about becoming newsmen will broaden their experiences at a special Michigan State University summer course.

The ninth annual "high school journalism course" will be sponsored by the school of journalism, June 25-July 6.

Many Michigan publishers provide scholarships to encourage local youths in their communities to attend.

Members of the school of journalism will lecture and give individual training in news writing, feature writing, photography and also editing and page makeup. The youths also will have a choice of enrolling in sessions on mimeographed school papers, printed school papers, or yearbooks.

New Fish Sorter

A Conservation Department fisheries worker at the Platte River rearing station near Beulah helps fish along the runways of a new Department-developed fish sorter that will save thousands of dollars in coming years. The sorter allows trout to slide down a series of tubes and fall into tubs below. Small trout fall through narrow openings, larger trout through larger openings. The sorter was designed and built by Department workers to make fish-planting operations uniform.

LINCOLN
The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln ever built

People who know fine cars are changing to Lincoln

More fine car buyers are changing to Lincoln this year than ever before in Lincoln's entire history—because they recognize that this longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time is unmistakably . . . the finest in the fine car field.

Naturally, most of these people are turning to Lincoln because of its fresh, trend-setting new styling. But after owning Lincoln, they praise this car's other fine qualities.

They tell us—time and time again—about Lincoln's exceptional handling ease. They're surprised that such a big, roomy car can be so effortless to drive—and that wives actually prefer this Lincoln over the family's smaller car.

They tell us about Lincoln's outstanding performance, too—in dozens of ways. Those who have never experienced Turbo-Drive are astonished to find that an automatic transmission can be so smooth . . . and those who take long trips say that this Lincoln makes the ride seem so much shorter.

And they tell us about roadability. They like the way Lincoln rides so firmly through a curve—and the freedom of taking any road they choose . . . instead of avoiding the bad ones.

If you've been thinking this is your kind of fine car, stop in and see us. We'll put a new Lincoln at your disposal any time you say.

Hunters Meet at Grange Hall

Forty members of the Hiawatha Club, a group which hunts together each year in northern Michigan, held a southeast area meeting at the Tecumseh Grange Hall Wednesday evening with dinner and a program. Members attended from Grass Lake, Jackson, Stockbridge and other points in the southern part of the state.

Local members include Mr. and Mrs. Howard Truesdale, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kempf, the James Bartons, Ed Clarks, Floyd Billingtons, Lawrence Churches, Lawrence Mohrs, Harold Clarks of Tecumseh and the Robert Karles and Ray Hardys of Tipton.

A skit was presented by eight members after the dinner, depicting various phases of the lighter side of deer hunting. Those taking part were the Bartons and Truesdales, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Barton of Stockbridge and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Seigert of Grass Lake. Two tap dance teams also entertained, one of which was made up of Jana Barron, RaeLynn Crosby and Carole Green; the other of Meredith Munger, Gail Elliott and Connie Godzima. Mrs. Glenn Driscoll accompanied both groups.

Howard Truesdale has been president of this area division of the club but retired at this meeting to be succeeded by Neil Barton.

About 400,000 muskellunge eggs are being processed at Wolf Lake hatchery near Kalamazoo, eggs that someday will provide big fighting fish for Michigan anglers.

Last year, 5000-6000 young muskies were reared and planted in Michigan waters. This year, the third year of the musky program, Conservation Department fisheries workers hope to raise a larger number of these young fish.

Also, 500,000 northern pike eggs were hatched at Drayton Plains hatchery this spring and of this total 200,000 [illegible] raised to fingerlings size at Hastings, Wolf Lake and Drayton Plains hatcheries. The others were planted as fry earlier.

Earlier, about 2,325,000 walleyed pike were hatched at Drayton Plains hatchery. About 1,325,000 have already been planted; the remainder will be reared to fingerling size at Wolf Lake and Drayton Plains and planted later this year. Last year, 1,430,000 young walleyes were planted.

Suckers, carp and brine shrimp are used as live food to feed the young predator fish. To date, about 35,000,000 sucker eggs and an undetermined number of carp and shrimp have been gathered and are being processed for food.

Michigan forest fire losses — held down by recent wet weather — are slightly below the 1954 level when the state established its best record in fire prevention and suppression.

So far this year, 261 fires have damaged 1932 acres of public and private forests and grasslands. during the same period in 1954, about 2000 acres were damaged.

Ten fires last week damaged 45 acres, with most of the loss in the lower peninsula. The upper and lower peninsulas each reported five fires during the week, but one blaze in southwestern Michigan damaged 35 acres.

Preliminary information from the Conservation Department's annual post card poll of small game hunters shows Michigan hunters bagged some 1,182,000 pheasants, 1,606,000 cottontail rabbits, 314,000 ruffled grouse and 623,000 ducks during the 1955 season.

Small game hunters also took approximately 19,000 geese, 657,000 fox and gray squirrels, 46,000 woodcock, 284,000 snowshoe hares and 163,000 raccoons.

A Conservation Department poll of deer hunters shows 55 per cent of the hunters prefer the present Nov. 15 opening of their 16-day season.

Some 24 per cent prefer a Saturday opening, 12 per cent want a weekday opening and four per cent prefer Sunday.

The special opinion poll sampled some 1200 hunters — every 350th deer hunting license sold last season.

The Nov. 15 preference was expressed by both upper and lower peninsula hunters.

County Man Honored by U. S. Treasury

H. Dale Gardner, vice president of the Commercial Savings Bank of Adrian and Lenawee County Savings Bond Committee chairman, has been awarded a Treasury citation for outstanding patriotic service to the Savings Bonds Program.

The "100% Club" Medallion was presented to Mr. Gardner in recognition of the fact that, under his leadership, Lenawee County achieved its 1955 savings bonds sales goal of $1,998,060. County sales for the year totaled $2,178,729 in Series E and H bonds, which compared with $1,756,208 in 1954. The county's 1956 quota is $2,054,005.

The award was presented by Noble D. Travis, Michigan State Savings Bond Committee chairman, at the spring meeting of Group 9 of the Michigan Bankers Association, held in Adrian the evening of May 15. He praised the efforts of Mr. Gardner and other volunteers who helped make the 1955 county achievement possible.

"The people of Lenawee County are to be congratulated," Travis said, "for their joint contribution to personal thrift and to a sound national economy. It has been my observation that any area in which the people have good thrift habits is a progressive area with a sound economy."

Mr. Gardner, appointed County Savings Bond Committee Chairman in January 1955, was born at Clayton, Michigan. He began his banking career in 1929 with National Bank of Commerce at Adrian, and from 1942 to '46 was discount teller at Lenawee County Savings Bank. For approximately a year before joining the Commercial Savings Bank staff in 1947 he was cashier at Morenci's First State Savings Bank. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin School of Banking.

Gardner is active in civic affairs and is well known in banking circles. He is chairman of the Lenawee County Bankers Assoc., Trustee of the Adrian Board of Education, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, and treasurer of the Lenawee County Polio Chapter. He is a member of Kiwanis, Eagles, and the Adrian Club.

The silver medal, slightly smaller than a silver dollar, was designed by a master engraver and struck at the government's Philadelphia Mint. The face bears the figure of the Minute Man, the Treasury seal, and the wording, "U. S. Treasury Award". The reverse side carries the inscription "For Patriotic Service — U. S. Savings Bonds Program", Mr. Gardner's name, and the year.

The medallion is mounted in a translucent stand which holds the disc in an upright position.

In accepting the award, the County Bond Chairman expressed appreciation to business, industry, labor, and to newspapers, radio and television stations, billboard companies, and other media for their support of the Savings Bonds Program.

BUTTON PLANT WILL RESUME PRODUCTION

WORK WILL RESUME — Work will begin in the former Universal Button Co. plant about July 1. The plant closed last Sept. 1 when operations were moved to Lawrenceburg, Ky. It had been in operation four years and it employed 65 employees at peak production.

Will Employ 40 Persons

Talon zippers for home sewing soon will be packaged at the Hayden Mill plant, (former building of the Universal Button Co. here). E. R. Ingram, assistant sales manager of Talon, Inc., has announced the purchase of the Hayden Mill property from Universal Button Co., a subsidiary of Talon, Inc.

Talon, Inc. manufactures Talon zippers at plants located at Meadville, Pa., Woodland, N. C., Cleveland, Ga., and Morton, Miss.

Mr. Ingram said that an important market for Talon zippers is home sewing, and fasteners for that purpose are individually packaged with instructions explaining how to insert them in the many uses in which they are found.

Talon, Inc. is in the course of preparing the Hayden Mill plant for operation and already is installing specially designed packaging equipment.

Mr. Ingram estimated that 36 to 40 local persons will be employed when this has been accomplished, with operations scheduled to begin about July 1.

One of the factors which influenced Talon in selecting Tecumseh as a location for packaging is its close proximity to important midwestern markets, Mr. Ingram revealed.

The Tecumseh plant will be under the direction of R. C. Bolig, supervisor of packaging, who also is responsible for Talon's packaging operation at Flemington, New Jersey.

ANOTHER GROWER OF hybrid iris in this community is Mrs. August Hoffmeister who lives at 6201 Green highway. She has more than 100 named varieties, including many of the newer ones which are just coming into bloom. Mrs. Hoffmeister is very proud of her collection and anyone interested is invited to visit her garden.

TUESDAY, JUNE 5, will be ringed in red in the annals of the Oley Hanna family. A daughter, Anne Elizabeth was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Oseid of Long Beach, Calif., Tuesday morning. Her mother, Janie Hanna was also born on June 5 which was in addition the birth date of Hugh H. (Oley) now both father and grandfather. This would seem to set some sort of a record. At least it has caused the head band of Oley's hat to shrink alarmingly.

THAT WAS QUITE a statue Fred Dickinson, the senior, was carrying around early Monday morning. Some kids snitched the valuable antique out of the Dickinson's garden and a neighbor called police stating that the statue was at their place. Police recovered it.

Churches Plan Programs for Their Children

The vacation Bible school of the Friends church will open at 9 a.m. Monday, June 11 and will continue through Friday, June 22. There will be a closing demonstration service Sunday evening June 24 at 7:30.

For the third year in succession the school will be conducted by Miss Jane Huff of Grinell, Iowa, who will be assisted by local teachers under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard Woodcox.

There will be four grades of instruction: beginners, primary, junior and intermediate departments.

Sunday will be Children's Day at the Tecumseh Friends church and the morning service will be a unified one of both Sunday School and church service. The children will give the program with only a short devotional service by the pastor, the Rev. Edward Escolme. The service will begin at 10:30 instead of the usual hour of 10 a.m.

Sunday also will be Children's Day at the Presbyterian church with a program by the children. The Rev. George Walworth will deliver a short, three-dimension sermon for young and old. The annual church picnic will follow the services.

The Rev. Horace James, who is in charge of the union vacation Bible school announces that any additional children wishing to attend may join for the second week, Monday morning. About 160 are now enrolled.

HEARING DEMANDED

Two Tecumseh men demanded examination on charges of unlawfully driving away an automobile when arraigned Thursday before Justice Robert L. French.

They are Harry V. Marsh, 35 years old, and Norman W. Hensen, 22.

The two are charged with taking a car Tuesday morning, May 29, belonging to Richard Graf of Tecumseh.

The car was recovered at the Hensen residence about two hours after it was missed, and police arrested Marsh and Hensen.

Their examination before Justice French is scheduled today, June 7.

Fluoride Trial Set July 26, 27

The suit brought by members of the anti-fluoridation committee against city officials will be heard July 26 and 27 in circuit court. It will be heard without a jury.

When the suit is heard it will mark one year and eight days that it was first brought to the attention of city officials mayor H. H. Hanna, city manager Ed Nelson and John Kopka, superintendent of the water department, all named as defendants.

The matter was first brought before the council Monday, July 18, 1955. At that time members of the anti-fluoridation committee charged that fluoridation again has showed up in city water and "we demand an immediate investigation."

Subsequently, the official wording of the suit read: "To show cause why an injunction should not be issued restraining the city . . . and each defendant, your officials, agents, or employees from permitting, causing or continuing the introduction of fluorine or fluoride or any of its chemical components into the water supply of the city."

City officials, through attorney J. C. Beardsley filed an answer denying the charges.

And the anti-fluoridation committee through its attorneys Baker and Baker of Adrian filed a third paper in the suit charging that fluoridation "has entered city water through artificial means and unlawfully and that feeders on water lines should be removed."

This paper was filed last Aug. and then the matter rested until it was placed on the calendar for July 26 and 27.

12 Receive Scholarships at THS Graduation

Twelve scholarships were presented to Tecumseh high school seniors at commencement last Thursday night.

Winners of the Herrick Foundation scholarships were Betty Day, Merene Boltz, Donald Partridge and Albert Gebarowski.

Given for the seventh straight year by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Herrick, the scholarships presented by the Rev. Edward Escolme, are good for $600 per year for four years.

Other scholarship winners were:

Beverly McClain who received a full tuition scholarship to Adrian College.

Merene Boltz who won a scholarship to Michigan State University.

Albert Gebarowski and Larry Hooton were given scholarships to Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton.

Donald Partridge received the Regents' scholarship to the University of Michigan.

Two new scholarships were awarded. The $300 Marian Wilcox Hart scholarship went to Betty Barton who also received the state board of education award. And the Lucius Lilley award of $200 went to Val Spangler. Supt. James McDowell presented these awards.

The fifth annual William E. Gaston award of a gold wrist watch went to Merene Boltz. The donors are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heilman and Mrs. Sally Pope.

Shirley Larned and Betty Day received merit pins from the VFW. Past Commander Warren Filter made the presentation.

John Cadmus, president of the class of 1956, presented a cash gift to principal Hart. The money will be used for a movie screen and black-out curtains for the gym.

The gym was filled to capacity with almost 1600 persons attending the services.

GRILL CHARGED WITH DISCRIMINATION

A complaint against the Top Hat Soda Grill for discrimination against a colored woman has been filed with the prosecutor's office.

The complaint was signed by Edna Taylor, 8622 Harnor Court, Detroit.

She reported that she and a Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their two children stopped at the Top Hat May 26 for a meal. The party, she said, had been visiting friends in Adrian.

But the waitress said they could be served a "take out" but they could not eat inside the grill.

According to Prosecutor Paul Betz, the charge is a misdemeanor under Michigan law.

15 Gray Ladies Begin Services at Herrick Hospital

Fifteen ladies who have been attending classes, training to become Red Cross Gray Ladies, were present at Herrick Memorial hospital Monday morning for their orientation course in hospital service.

These ladies, who are now eligible to give their services at the hospital helping the nurses and patients in any way that does not go beyond their duty as Gray Ladies, feel that they are going to relieve the nurses in many ways. Their work will also give a bit of help and enjoyment to the patients during their stay at the hospital.

These women are now required to give at least two hours of hospital service each week. They are proud of their group for while some are working evenings some are working all day long.

Mrs. Hunter Heesen was the orientation instructor for the following ladies who will receive their Gray Lady caps in October: Margaret Aebersold, Gwen Quigley, Dorothy Hoffman, Betty Lake, Mrs. A. Jeschke, Shirley Fielder, Betty Brooks, Glyde Wittrup, Audrey Elder, Frances Hewlett, Marie Brenke, Marjorie Tonneberger, Julia Titley, Betty Kaiser, Lois Henricks and Gertrude Golat.

Dr. Richard Limes, Optometrist Seven Years, Dies

Dr. Richard Limes, a Tecumseh optometrist for the past seven years, died Wednesday morning, May 30, in Veterans' hospital, Ann Arbor. He had been a patient for some time at Bixby hospital in Adrian and had been transferred to Ann Arbor a week ago.

Dr. Limes was born in Adrian, April 16, 1923, and was the son of the late Paul K. and Anna Cummings Limes.

In April, 1945, he was married to Lucille Zimmerman of Adrian.

He received his education in the Adrian schools and was a graduate of the Northern Illinois School of Optometry. A member of the Marine Corps in World War II, his death was considered to be the indirect result of wounds received at that time.

He was a member of the Holy Name Society and of Hall-Slater Post V.F.W.

Besides his wife, Lucille, he is survived by three sons, Paul, Richard and Kevin; a brother, Thomas Limes of Tecumseh; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Limes of Coral Gables, Florida; a brother-in-law and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zimmerman and his father-in-law, Ernest C. Zimmerman.

Preceding him in death were his parents and a brother, Kenneth, who was killed in World War II.

The Rosary was recited at the Collins Funeral Home Friday evening and High Requiem Mass was held Saturday morning at St. Elizabeth Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins as Celebrant, Fr. Michael Collins as Deacon and Fr. Edward Szymanaski as Subdeacon.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery in Adrian with honorary pallbearers Harold Green, Ben Hammack, Edward Mossing, Harvey Wilson, Michael Hoben and Harold Burns and active pallbearers, Robert Ferguson, George Heeman, Dr. Richard Dustin, Ford Mudgett, Ned Rosacrans and Jack Puffer.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Raynor Aylesworth, 50, of Route 1 Tecumseh, appeared before Justice Robert French Monday and pleaded not guilty to driving under the influence of liquor.

Arrested by Tecumseh police last Friday, he was released on a $150 bond and his trial was scheduled for June 13.

NOTICE

THE TECUMSEH HERALD office will be closed all day Saturdays during the remainder of June and all day Saturdays during July and Aug.

In Sept. the office again will be open Saturdays.

Will Register for Swimming

A program for swimmers' instruction will begin at the swimming pool Monday, June 11, when registration gets underway. Registration will continue through Friday, June 15, from 9 to 12 a.m. daily.

There will be a $2 enrollment fee.

Swimmers must be at least six years old. They will be grouped according to age, with a maximum of 25 in a class.

Two Red Cross swimming instructors will give lessons.

Emphasis will be given to beginner, junior intermediate and intermediate classes.

Classes will begin Monday, June 18, and continue for six six weeks.

Register for Rec Program

The three playgrounds in the Tecumseh Recreation's summer program will open next Monday, June 11, at 1 p.m.

The first week will be primarily organization, registration and practice for the softball teams.

All boys and girls are asked to register at one of the three playgrounds Monday from 1 to 5 p.m.

A full schedule of recreational events for chillren three to 10 will begin Monday, June 18, at 9 p.m.

There will be no city men's or church softball leagues. Nobody reported for organizational meetings. Key men in what would have been a softball league are taking part in the baseball league in Adrian.

Hundreds See Memorial Day Services

Hundreds turned out Wednesday, May 30, to take part in or to view the Memorial Day parade and services which were held in Brookside Cemetery.

The Rev. Bernard Gill of the Church of the Nazarene gave this address:

"I should like to preface my remarks today with one verse of scripture that fell from the lips of the great lawgiver. Moses in addressing the children of Israel, after they had secured their freedom from the cruel hand of the Pharaohs said, " . . . remember all the way the Lord led thee."

"On this Memorial Day it should bring great comfort and joy to our hearts as we remember of our great nation that ' . . . all the way the Lord has led us.' To me that makes a great difference on an occasion of this kind.

"Some time ago I saw a memorial on which were written words to the effect that a young man had lost his life in the service of his country. I can think of nations today where I believe young men did lose their lives, that is their lives were sacrificed for a cause that was unjust or inhuman. And I suppose in a sense such words would be appropriate. I do not mean to find fault with words for I am deeply conscious of the impossibility of uttering works equal to the occasion. However, I feel that no young man or woman ever lost their life in the service of our beloved country. Numberless young men and women did give their lives and for them we are gathered here today.

"For those of you in this assemblage today who especially feel the pain of a loss so great, I know that it would be futile for me to

Boston University Honors Pearson

Richard Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson of Tecumseh, has been honored by the Boston University News, the school paper, for being one of the top 12 students of the university.

Named to the "hall of fame," Pearson was honored for being second in his class in law school. His citation read: "Although academic committments are extremely rigid at law, Pearson has found the time and energy to distinguish himself and his school as case editor of the Law Review and as a member of the National Moot Court Competition team."

A graduate of Tecumseh high school in 1946, Pearson graduated from the University of Michigan in 1950.

He spent two years in the United States Army, one year of which was spent in Alaska.

He graduated from Boston University Law School last Sunday.

He took the New Hampshire bar examination May 28 and 29 and he now is associated with a law firm in Concord, N. H.

219 Attend Kiwanis Charter Night

Two hundred and nineteen persons turned out Monday for the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club's charter night program and dinner in the Tecumseh Products Workers' Union Hall.

Gov. A. C. Locke of Fenton, of the Michigan District, presented the charter to Fred Hadley, president of the local club which has 26 charter members.

Lew Ewing and John Hathaway of the Adrian club and Don McCray of the Blissfield club of the new club building committee worked out the program with officers of the local club.

Gov. Locke reviewed the history of Kiwanis which has 4200 clubs in the United States. There [illegible] 400 Kiwanians in Lenawee County.

A banner, gong, gavel, secretary's kit and flags were presented by Adrian members Lorne Clemes, James Fridd and John Hathaway and by Don McCray of Blissfield.

Mayor H. H. Hanna welcomed the new club to the community.

Frank O. Staiger of Port Huron, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan district, led community singing with Tom Nixon of Adrian accompanying at the piano.

Dr. L. K. Cox of Adrian, lieutenant governor of district seven, presided.

The Rev. Bernard Gill gave the invocation and the Rev. Father Thomas Collins gave the benediction.

Nine clubs of the district sent representatives to the charter night program.

WIN AWARDS

The following seniors won scholarships at Britton-Macon commencement last Thursday night: Marge Papp, Eastern Michigan College, tuition; Paula Schober, Eastern Michigan College, tuition; Beverly Rohrback, Michigan State University, tuition; Max Shepherd, University of Michigan, Regents' Alumni; Valerie Bentley, Adrian College, tuition.

Williamson Heads Alumni; 352 Attend Banquet

One of the most successful reunions on record was enjoyed by the alumni of Tecumseh high school Saturday evening. Three hundred and fifty-two former graduates were served dinner by members of the Baptist church in the high school gymnasium.

As for the past several years, the invocation was given by the Rev. Alvin Brazee of the class of 1908.

President Richard Boyd conducted a business meeting following the dinner during which new officers for the coming year were named by the nominating committee headed by Lester Handy. They are president, Robert Williamson; vice-president, Dermont Poley; treasurer, Oscar Bryan; corresponding secretary, Betty McCoy Powell; assistant corresponding secretary, Pearl Brown Osburn; and recording secretary, Martha Hewlett Baldwin.

An appeal was made by Bob Williamson for cooperation on the part of members in compiling an alumni directory and the association confirmed the granting of a life membership to Bertha LaPointe who this year retires after 40 years of teaching in Tecumseh schools. In accepting, she said it was more gratifying than an honorary degree.

"In memoriam" for graduates who had died during the past year was said by the Rev. Brazee. He paid tribute to Amey Scutt, class of 1890; Frank P. Keeney, 1896; Julia Gilmore, 1896; Maude Osburn Driscoll, 1900; Ethelyn Garlinghouse, 1901; Vesta Wilson, 1909; Hazel Hall Beland, 1911; Iva Gove Wilson, 1911; Ada Howe Galdoni, 1918; George Deery, 1924 and William Beardsley, 1926.

The traditional welcome to the new class of 1956 was most fittingly extended by the oldest alumna present. Miss Asenath Hosmer of the class of 1887 told briefly of the activities of her class of eight, gave a forward-looking resume of the progress in education since her time but closed with a spritely hope that this youngest generation would make the most of the fundamentals which both classes have in common, "readin', ritin' and 'rithmetic." Miss Betty Day, 1956 valedictorian, replied graciously to the welcome, promising cooperation on the part of her classmates.

The class of 1906, celebrating their golden anniversary were then introduced. Six members of the original class of 17 were present; Mary Kreidler Smith and Helen Crittenden Pentecost of Adrina; Fern Hanford Beach of Dexter, Margaret Elliott Mahalak of Flint; Mary Morden of Saline and Marion Foote Stone, whose home is Tecumseh. They were seated at a special table and already had an afternoon of reunion memories at the home of Mrs. Stone. Four other members of the class survive but were unable to attend. They are Ethel Leonard Wiggins of Lebenan, Ore.; James A. Waldron, Burlingame, Calif.; Grace Quackenbush Powell, Pueblo, Colo. and Jessie Smith, Oakland, Calif. All had sent letters for the afternoon gathering.

A new reunion feature this year was a special table reserved for alumni of more than 50 years ago. These 14 present were introduced: Minnie Russell, Elona Anderson Barber, Nina McClure Heath, Maude Saul Bell, Julia Hicks Anderson, Anna McClure Mead, Edith Ingersoll, Harry Osgood, Lura Pocklington, Edna Smith Codling, Edith Rector Calhoun, Wilfred Waldron, Gertrude E. Collins, Elmer Pocklington and Robert S. Moore.

Mr. Moore who was a member of the class of 1890 was the senior alumnus present next to Miss Hosmer.

After assembly singing, conducted by Lillian Service with Edna Staulter at the piano those who wished adjourned to the second floor for the evening's program leaving the gymnasium floor to Cal Damon's orchestra and the dancers.

Nearly 300 of those present elected to hear speaker of the evening Wade VanValkenburg of Kalamazoo who gave his audience a brief but seriously informative talk on the legislative affairs of Michigan.

A member of the legislature for 10 years, four of them as Speaker of the House, Mr. VanValkenburg expressed concern regarding taxation for three major problems; education, crime and mental health. Of these, he said, education is the most pressing but his audience was startled at the statement that one person in every 16 is a mental case. He sees no easy way out and left a vivid picture of the pressures under which a legislature works.

Three reels of film taken in 1928 and 1929 by Leon Rosacrans of people and everyday events on Tecumseh's main street were then shown. Faces were brought to mind that had been almost forgotten and cries and laughter greeted the recognition of once familiar figures. Mr. Rosacrans plans to keep these films as a permanent record of Tecumseh's past.

Out-of-town alumni who registered were—

DETROIT—Anna Clark Wonnell, Mrs. Barbara Lindsley Pfalz, Malcolm F. Waring, Margaret Gregg Hurlburt, John Alton McIntyre, Donald B. Chandler, Dorothy Chandler Kerr, Asenath B. Hosmer.

DEARBORN—Gertrude E. Collins, class of 1904.

BIRMINGHAM—Isabel McIntyre Moore.

Cub Pack Field Day Is Saturday

Cub Scout Pack 73 will hold their annual Field Day Saturday, June 9, and the committee in charge met Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oberlin to make final plans for the event.

The program will open at 10 a. m. at Walter Hayes State Park, Wamplers Lake. Lunch will be potluck and each family is requested to bring table service and sandwiches for their own family, a dish to pass and a dessert. Coffee and soft drinks will be furnished.

This is a family affair and the committee desires that each cub be accompanied by one or both of his parents. They feel that the responsibility for his safety at a lake resort should not be delegated to others.

State Police to Use More Radar to Check Speeding

An experiment in the use of radar to apprehend speeders having proved successful, the Michigan State Police are putting into operation four more of these units.

A new electrical speed watch timing device also is being used. With this device tubes are stretched across the road to check speeds.

The State Police put their first radar unit in service Dec. 18 on US-24, otherwise known as Telegraph road, and in 57 days of operation made 983 speeding arrests through use of the machine.

The four additional units will be used in high accident areas in the lower part of the state. The new units are entirely concealed in the cars and the cars themselves are in different colors. Two were in service over Memorial Day.

The speed watch was tested in the Lansing area for a period of three days during which 50 tickets were issued.

Alumni, Student Events Precede MSU Graduation

Traditional events for alumni and graduating students will precede Michigan State University's 98th annual commencement program on Sunday, June 10.

An estimated 1,500 alumni will take part in activities Friday and Saturday (June 8 and 9). Special programs will be held by 14 alumni classes including the "Golden Anniversary Class" of 1906.

The alumni, some of whom will see their children receive degrees June 10, will also be shown the university campus in guided tours.

A major highlight for students will be the annual Water Carnival, scheduled for 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday (June 7-9). Student-built floats, employing humorous themes, will parade down the Red Cedar river on the M.S.U. campus. Title of the 1956 carnival is "Media Mania."

Other activities of the week include Senior Lantern Night, Senior Swingout and ROTC commissioning for 171 cadets.

Friday, June 8 will be the last day of classes for those to receive degrees. Final examinations will continue June 14-20 for other students, with the last day of the term on Wednesday, June 20.

9,000 Attend Rotary Convention

With an attendance of more than 9,000 Rotarians and members of their families from 50 countries of Europe, Asia, Africa, and North, South, and Central America, the 47th annual convention of Rotary International convened in Philadelphia, Pa., Sunday.

The keynote of this five-day gathering of business and professional executives—who represent more than 9,100 Rotary Clubs with a membership of 430,000 Rotarians in 99 countries—will be the internationality of the Rotary organization. Throughout the convention program, emphasis will be given to the opportunities which Rotarians have, in all parts of the free world, to work for the achivement of one of the principal goals of Rotary—the advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace.

Among the speakers scheduled to address the Rotary convention are: Harold E. Stassen, Special Assistant to President Eisenhower; Dean Clarence Manion, former Dean of the Law School of Notre Dame University; Governor George M. Leader of Pennsylvania; Harold A. Wallace, President of the American Trade Association Executives; Marshall Muncie, Vice-President of the York Corporation and a Director of the National Association of Manufacturers; Kiyoshi Togasaki, Chairman of the Board of the Nippon Times of Tokyo, Japan; Richardson Dilworth, Mayor of Philadelphia; and Rotarians from 17 different countries.

The President of Rotary International, A. Z. Baker of Cleveland, Ohio, today announced that during the past 11 months 286 new Rotary Clubs have been organized in 42 countries, bringing the membership of this world-wide service organization to an all-time high.

Gian Paolo Lang, an exporter from Livorno, Italy, was elected President of Rotary International for 1956-57.

SERVICE

try to comfort you. Sorrow for the departed is one thing from which we refuse to be divorced. And yet I trust there wells up within your heart today an extreme pride in that the sacrifice of your loved one was in no sense in vain. I know that in times of despair and loneliness that that thought has come to hush and heal the heartache.

"Some time ago I had occasion to read a letter written by a young Israeli soldier to his wife just a few days before he fell in Israel's war for independence. A part of that letter from Sidney Greenburg's book, contained these words: 'When I die, for you I shall continue to live. And when it comes to pass that a new settlement is built here, come and plant poppies in this place; they grow so beautifully here and thrive so well. And let this be the place of my grave. And perhaps you will err and your flowers will not be planted on my grave but on that of one of my comrades nearby. Well another wife will think of her husband as she plants flowers on mine. No one will be overlooked.'

"May we take new courage today from their example and determine that in this great bastion of freedom we shall ever be able to say, these is no space here to divide a man and his friends. And may they further inspire us to strive for the right that one day we may stand beside them and hear the words of the Great Commander, 'Well done, enter in to a land of eternal peace where war is learned no more.'"

Gray–Waters Vows Exchanged

Roma Miriam Waters and Frank E. Gray, both of Tecumseh were united in marriage Saturday, June 2 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Driscoll at 7 west Brown street.

The house was gay with spring flowers when the Rev. Horace James of the Tecumseh Methodist church performed the single ring ceremony at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The attendants were the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crosby.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of aqua lace and carried yellow and white roses while her sister's dress was blue organdy in street length and her flowers were pink roses and white carnations. Mrs. Driscoll wore printed crepe in rose and white and a corsage of white carnations with pink roses.

After an informal reception attended by only the immediate family and Mr. and Mrs. David Higgins of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Gray left for a two weeks trip into Canada. On their return they will reside at 61 Mill street. The bride is a secretary at the Quaker Oats Company and Mr. Gray is employed by the Consumers Power Co.

Mrs. Woods Heads Legion Auxiliary

New officers for next season of the American Legion Auxiliary were elected at the Monday evening meeting held at the Lgion Home.

The new president is Mrs. Donald Woods; first vice president, Mrs. Purnell Osburn; second vice president, Mrs. William Powell; secretary; Mrs. Lavern Seizert; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas King; treasurer, Mrs. Al Curtis; sgt. at arms, Mrs. Richard Graff; historian, Mrs. Leroy Johnston; chaplain, Mrs. Dwight Drake and member of the executive committee, Mrs. Charles Howe.

Delegates appointed to the department convention which will be held in Lansing Aug. 2 to 5, inclusive, are Mrs. Robert Lowe, Mrs. R. C. Osburn and Mrs. John Zarnock with Mrs. Al Curtis, Mrs. Joseph Russell and Mrs. Charles Howe as alternates.

Mrs. Lyle Grigg, chairman of the poppy committee reported that sales this year brought in $718.07 which is nearly a record for the organization. The hostess committee, Mrs. Lavern Seizert, Mrs. Al Curtis and Mrs. Charles Howe served refreshments to the 28 members present.

Culbertson P.-T.A. Has Last Meeting

The Parent-Teacher Association of Culbertson school met for the last time Sunday, June 3. They held their annual spring picnic at Island Park in Adrian and formally disbanded their organization.

Twenty families were represented with Harold Kempf as the last president. The association has been an active force in their community for 30 years. The money left in their treasury, amounting to $40 was voted by the membership as a gift to the Croswell School for retarded children.

The final meeting of the P.-T.A. of the Lanning district was May 15 when they held a potluck picnic in the schoolhouse. So far there has been no formal action to disband the organization which is one of the few avenues for local acquaintanceship.

In the Colvin district the school picnic was held May 22 at the schoolhouse. No final decision has been made regarding the future of the district P.-T.A.

Adrian Class of 1946 Plans 10th Reunion

The 10th reunion of the 1946 graduating class of Adrian high school will be held June 16 at the Adrian Eagles Home.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

A brief program will precede an informal evening of dancing.

All members of the class and their husbands and wives are invited to attend this first get-together of the class.

Members of the committee planning the event are Mary Lyons Smith, Barbara Ott Page, Jeannette Christmas Schultz, Clair Haney and Mary Alice Powell.

Mrs. Lulu Watson Babcock of Jackson was a guest recently of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Watson. While in Tecumseh she presented the public library with a copy of the "Pictorial Atlas of Lenawee County" which was published in 1874. Both Mrs. Babcock and her husband, the late Herb Babcock were former residents of Tecumseh.

Harold Koons of Tecumseh received a serious back injury recently while at work at Charlotte, N. C. He has been a sales representative of the chain saw department of the Clinton Machine Co. for the past two months and was demonstrating equipment when injured. He was taken to Mercy Hospital in Charlotte and Saturday evening was flown to St. Joseph hospital in Ann Arbor. His injuries include a pulverized disk and a broken vertebra and it is anticipated that an operation will be necessary.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Work crews at Highland recreation area near Milford are busy with preparations for the first international Girl Scout rally, to be held June 28 — July 10.

More than 5,000 Girl Scouts from 18 nations are expected to attend the encampment. These delegates will represent the more than 2,000,000 girls enrolled in scout units throughout the world.

Approximately 1500 adults also will participate in the assembly, including instructors, military detachments, State Police, hospital attendants and others.

Girl Scout officials selected Highland recreation area for the rally after inspecting camping areas throughout the nation. Paul Bouford of New York City, representative of Girl Scout national headquarters, is supervising preparations at the site for the rally.

"I have never seen anything so grand in my life," Bouford said. "The spirit of Michigan is reflected in all the planning and installing required for this international encampment."

During the encampment, Girl Scouts will pitch their own tents and cook some of their own meals. Hikes, demonstrations and other activities will be held on the 5000-acre Highland area.

Some of the Girl Scout activities, including a huge "Americana Festival," are scheduled for television coverage by "The Home Show" (NBC-TV).

A DAY IN the life of a baseball player is considerably different from those of most other occupations. For one thing, ball players frequently go without lunch or else their heaviest meal is in mid-afternoon.

The explanation for this strange existence follows, but taking the day of a major leaguer is chronological order, it begins with his arising for a heavy breakfast.

Family men usually get up earlier than bachelor players, around 8 a.m., to allow time to play with the children or do a few household chores. Single players generally arise an hour or so later.

In any event, breakfast for them all frequently consists of something like fruit, cereal, eggs, hot cakes and milk or coffee or both.

Voluntary Sessions

Most of the team arrive at the clubhouse between 11 and 11:30 a.m., but batters in a slump will already have finished a voluntary hitting session, starting as early as 10 o'clock, by the time their teammates straggle in.

(Some clubs mandatorily require players to report three hours before game time when at home, an hour later when on the road.)

After reading fan mail and undergoing treatment for any physical ailments, the players change into uniforms for batting practice, beginning with a 30-minute session by the home team pitchers at 11:30.

Three Brief Segments

The rest of the home club then gets an hour's hitting workout, the "scrubinis" batting the first 20 or 30 minutes, the regulars hitting the remainder of the time.

After the visiting team takes the field for a half hour's batting at 1 o'clock, the final half-hour before game time is split into three 10-minute segments.

The first 10 minutes is devoted to the visiting team's fielding practice, the second 10 to the home club's fielding and the final segment to ground crew work while the opposing pitchers warm up.

Inasmuch as they're busy with batting and fielding practice and have had a comparatively late breakfast anyway, most of the players forsake lunch. Only the early risers eat the middle meal, and then just a fast sandwich in the clubhouse.

Like Steak Dinners

The big repast is saved for after the game. Then, after cooling off for 20 minutes or so and taking a shower, the boys go home to a dinner that frequently consists of large shrimp cocktail, big steak, potatoes and salad. Virtually all ball players enjoy heavy steak dinners.

A quiet evening of cards or watching television or going to the movies precedes a comparatively early bedtime. Boxing and wrestling matches, particularly when the team is on the road, are a favorite spectator sports diversion.

As for that heaviest meal in mid-afternoon the players devour it on the day of a night game. After the contest, win or lose, they settle for a light lunch and a good night's sleep.

Have Economic Faith

Some economists are calling 1956 the greatest post-war test of the nation's economy. But because so far this year the total economy has not kept pace with record-breaking 1955 is no cause for alarm.

Those who really should know are not wringing their hands.

Henry C. Alexander, chairman of the J. P. Morgan and Co. of New York City, described conditions today as a mixture of "hard" and "soft" spots or strengths and weaknesses existing together.

"Demand for automobiles, farm implements, synthetic fibers, home building, household appliances and some other consumer products has declined, rather sharply in some instances, but in most only mildly," he said in a recent speech.

The strong spots, Mr. Alexander added, and still advancing are in steel, nonferrous metals, machinery and equipment, all facing a demand that cannot be supplied because capacity is operating at ceiling . . . the strongest forward force in the economy is new construction and equipment.

A survey by McGraw-Hill reports that investment in new construction and equipment will reach $39,000,000,000 this year, a gain of 30 per cent over 1955, for an all-time high.

But what about the importance of the automobile industry to the total economy? David J. Wilkie, Associated Press automotive editor, calling attention to the near-record dealer inventories of new cars — about 900,000, reports that the presently indicated output of six and one-quarter million and retail delivery of 5,800,000 cars this year will top all but a couple of other years in the industry's history.

Mr. Wilkie further writes: "It may be that competition brings the peaks and a resulting temporary saturation the valleys. These contrasting levels have been with the automobile industry since it entered the mass production age."

The Washington Letter of the "Nation's Business" for June looks toward the second half of the year and reports business prospects are good:

This is the consensus of economists, business forecasters and industrial leaders.

While there are some soft spots in the economy—notably housing starts and auto sales—other factors shore up belief that 1956 will equal or exceed last year's record performance.

These are the strong points: manufacturers' orders, sales are running higher than same time last year. Government spending is likely to rise through rest of year.

Spending for plant expansions and new equipment is running at highest lever ever.

In a recent poll 42 per cent of businessmen expected sales of their lines to rise in coming six months. And only four per cent expected decreases in their sales.

In an economic report President Eisenhower stated: "Expecting our economy to grow and to prosper, business executives do not permit minor variations in sales to divert them from their objective of strengthening, or at least maintaining, their competitive positions five or 10 years later."

In other words, planning—like research and capital investment—is on a long-term basis.

Summarizing what the immediate future may offer, Mr. Alexander asserts: "I do not think the economy is in major difficulty. On the contrary — it has great strength — more strength than weakness. Our problems are manageable."

It seems to us that the economic experts are saying HAVE FAITH and America again will pull through.

Book Program Begins at Library

June 1 marked the beginning of the vacation book program at the Tecumseh Public Library. From that date until Oct. 1, patrons may take out as many books as they wish and keep them as long as they desire for their summer reading. Advance arrangements are necessary, of course, and this long term borrowing does not include the current best sellers. The librarians will furnish further information on request.

Kroger Offers Scholarships to 1956 Grads

High school graduates in this area are eligible to compete for 97 agricultural and home economics scholarships offered under the Kroger Scholarship Plan for 1956, it was announced today by Carl Fuller, Branch Manager of the retail food firm's Toledo Branch which operates local stores.

Designed to encourage worthy young men and women to enter college who might not otherwise be able to do so, the $200 one-year scholarships will be available next fall at land-grant colleges in 17 midwestern and southern states in which Kroger operates, as well as California and Florida where the company's produce procurement offices are located.

In announcing the program, Mr. Fuller called it an "investment in knowledge" which pays "interest" in the form of helping to develop useful and active citizens of tomorrow. "Throughout its many years, the program has been a rewarding and inspiring experience for us at Kroger," he said. Originally begun at Ohio State University, the program was later expanded to include 25 land-grant colleges.

Winners are selected by the respective college scholarship committees on the basis of high school scholastic achievements and evidence of leadership qualities demonstrated in school, church, 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, New Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, or similar organizatons.

Applications should be made directly to the dean of the college of agriculture, or through county agents, home demonstration agents, home economics teachers, or vocational agriculture instructors.

Michigan State University is one of several colleges taking part.

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

It was a good thing for us that we had stopped where we did. It could have been a very serious thing to have run right into him. Whew!

"Get ready," Andy said, "This is it!" I slipped the safety off my double barreled rifle and started to edge sideways, so I could get a chance at his flank. Nothing doing. He kept turning so he continued to face me, his big yellow tusks and trunk pointing right at me. I did not want to provoke a charge at close quarters and stopped my circling movement. There we stood for quite a while, looking at each other in the eye. Boy! What a sight. I did not feel very big then. There is considerable dignity in 10 tons of elephant quietly surveying you at 90 feet distance. Finally he decided that discreation was the better part of valor and started to turn away. That was my chance. I fired two shots at his heart and he went down on his knees.

A queer feeling came over me at that moment, and it is still there. The feeling that I was not justified in what I was doing; that I had no right to kill this big animal just for his tusks and front feet. Even if the Turkanas would eat his meat, he was too venerable to be treated so brutally. I felt sure I would never do that again. To put him out of his misery quickly, I shot him several times again but without telling effect.

It then dawned on me that there must be something to the reports made by many hunters, that once an animal, like buffalo or elephant, has recovered from the shock of the first bullet or two, no further amount of shooting will seem to have immediate effect unless an important nerve center like spine or brains is damaged.

HE STAGGERED ON

The big fellow staggered on in spite of the extra bullets and I told Andy that I was going to make a brain shot in order to put an end to the show. He warned me to be careful not to damage the tusks because the upper ends of these huge teeth are close to the brain. I did not particularly care if this should happen. At the moment I was so anxious to have the thing over with that a damaged tusk seemed a minor matter.

I aimed for the right spot about the size of a salad serving bowl seen from the edge. Instantaneously as the shot was fired, the elephant let out an agonizd yell. Evidently I had missed the brain. Later we found that the bullet had gone through one tusk about three inches from the extreme end and, therefore, penetrated the large cone shaped nerve which fills the upper end of the tusk. No wonder the poor fellow yelled. The second bullet hit the brain cavity and the animal fell instantly with a great thud.

Against Andy's advice I carefully walked up to look at my quarry. Andy had warned me about the use an elephant can make of his trunk even when he is down. There did not seem to be any need for caution. The great beast was quiet except for a slight fluttering of an eyelid. I watched this for a while and did not like it, so in order to finish the job, I kneeled down and put two more bullets through his brain. The eyelid did not flutter any more.

By now the gun was so hot that the barrels burned my hands and I had to put it aside. In counting up our shells we found that I had shot the brute 11 times. The first two shots would have been sufficient but I gave him the last nine shots to finish him off quicker.

The thing was done. I was not very proud of myself.

We sent for mama and pictures were taken. The runner was properly taken care of with the necessary shillings and we left for camp. Our skinners and other experts in such matters were sent out to bring in the tusks, hide and front feet. The natives again had a chance for a real feast.

WE CELEBRATED

We did a little celebrating ourselves in camp that night and drowned some of my scrupples in a little Aalborg Aquavit left over from previous evenings of hilarity.

Besides the five dangerous types of animals mentioned above, leopard, lion, buffalo, rhinocerous, and elephant, we successfully hunted various types of antelope which abound on the African continent. Eland and waterbuck; Hunter's antelope, impala, Thomson's gazelle, gerenuk and Grant's gazelle. Guinea fowl we also went after with good luck and they were a very welcome change in the diet as were Francolin, a bird about the size of a grouse. These animals were hunted for two reasons; to some extent for their value as trophies, but most because we needed meat.

After a while when I had overcome the buck fever, I actually hated to go out and bring in a Thomson gazelle. They were so clean cut and nice to look at with their constantly wagging white tail, that I felt like a butcher when pulling the trigger. However, we had to have meat.

AIMED AT HEART

In shooting game, large or small, I followed Andy's instructions and always aimed at the heart. I am sorry to say I very seldom hit it. One time when I shot a Thomson gazelle at long distance, the animal seemed to look puzzled for a second, then took off racing at full speed for about 100 yards. I thought I had missed him completely. Suddenly he stopped, got up on his hind legs and pawed the air as high as he could reach. Then he collapsed stone dead. The bullet had hit his heart and blown it to bits. I had never seen such a thing before and it made quite an impression on me. For some reason it cooled my ardor for hunting these fine little fellows.

Incidentally, that was one time Mohamed did not get there soon enough with his knife and that night the Moslems had "Posha" — ground corn meal — for dinner instead of meat.

We were also fortunate in getting a beautiful big zebra stallion which made delicious hamburgers, as well as a 300 pound ostrich in all his fine plumage. The day after the big bird was brought home, all the natives sported fine ostrich feathers in their hats. Andy quickly put a stop to that, or otherwise we would not have had anything but the skin to bring home as a reminder of these gorgeous birds.

Methodist Circle Entertains Scouts

Members of the Mary Foster Circle of the Methodist church were hostesses to the Buttercup Troop No. 21 of the Brownie Scouts last Thursday. A potluck supper was served at the church parlors and each girl received a favor from the circle in addition to finding her name on a cupcake which marked her place.

Brownies of Buttercup troop are Sue Ann Hammack, Linda Spooner, Mary Jo Mensing, Marie Kohler, Nancy Mead, Peggy Easton, Toni Herrick, Karole Davis, Dianne Hoch, Loraine McKenzie and Sharon Green. Their leaders, who were also guests, are Mrs. Glenn Kohler and Mrs. Ernest Hammack.

The girls entertained their hosts with an interesting program after which the circle held a short business meeting.

The hostess committee was Mrs. Mrs. Edward Leighton, Mrs. Aden Mead, Mrs. Joseph Poley and Mrs. William Powell.

The next Mary Foster meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. C. Cameron on Democratic street, June 14.

Summer Will Arrive June 21

Summer will arrive astronomically at 5:24 a.m. Thursday, June 21, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh. She won't make any guarantees about June's temperatures, however.

The Sun has been steadily climbing north, and on the 21st will reach the sumer solstice, 23 and a half degrees from the equator, most northerly point reached by the sun in its apparent yearly journey, Professor Losh explains.

On that day we'll have our longest daylight, 15 hours, and shortest night, nine hours, she adds.

But we won't be having our warmest days even though we'll be having our longest, says the astronomer. "The peak heat of the season usually comes from four to six weeks later, because the temperature continues to rise as long as more heat is received during the day than is lost at night."

MOVES MORE SLOWLY

Luckily we are farthest from the sun during our summer and nearest to it during the winter so our seasons are a little milder than those of the southern hemisphere, she reminds. And because the earth is moving a little more slowly in its orbit around the sun during the summer, this season is slightly longer than the winter — even this years' winter, she maintains.

Moving on to constellations of the month, Prof. Losh mentions particularly Scorpio, with its bright red star, Antares, rising around sunset in the southeast.

The Scorpion can be picked out easily as a line of stars curving up like a giant celestial fish-hook — unlike many of the other constellations it actually looks something like the figure it's supposed to represent.

MARS HAS RIVAL

Antares is one of the most interesting stars in the sky, the professor says, and its name means "rival of Mars."

"Those who named Antares probably didn't dream that it is really no rival of Mars at all, but a great sun, different from the planet in every way but appearance," she says.

Antares is so large that Mars and its whole orbit around the sun could be placed in the star with space to spare — its diameter is 75,000 times that of the planet, Prof. Losh declares.

"When you look at these two objects in the same general direction of the sky remember they are far apart in space and you are looking at them at different times — the star as it appeared around 1780, the planet as it was about three minutes ago," she says.

The Northern Cross, or Cygnus, the Swan, which can be seen in the northeastern sky just after dark, contains a star, Albireo, of particular interest to University of Michigan fans — a double star with components distinctly maize and blue when seen through a small telescope, she concludes.

Assembly of God Has School Treat

Aunt Helen and the gospel twins Minnie and Jimmie and Squeaky, the song leader, again will appear at the Assembly of God Church, beginning Tuesday, June 12, and continuing through Sunday, June 24.

They will be at the church from 10 to 11:30 a.m. daily.

The program will consist of oil-painted scene-o-felts, stories and games.

Picnics with plenty to eat, cold drinks, ice cream and prizes also will feature their stay here.

Transportation to and from the church will be provided. Those who need rides are asked to call 765-M.

MAN, there's nothing like
MILK
Fresh from the farm!
JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH!

MILK starts the day right!
MILK builds energy quickly!
MILK helps you sleep at night!

ENJOY MORE MILK . . .
For Health and Vigor the Thrifty Way
Drink 3 Glasses Every Day!

When you buy delicious, refreshing milk you receive double your money's worth in food value. The average housewife spends fifteen per cent of her food budget for milk and milk products. But she is actually buying thirty per cent of her family's nutritional needs.

This unsurpassed bargain in good living is one of nature's bountiful gifts, assisted in large measure by your dairy farmer. During June, recognized across the land as Dairy Month, pure, wholesome milk is in abundant supply. Add to your pleasure and health by making fresh milk your drink, this month and every month.

June Is Dairy Month

June has been proclaimed Dairy Month by Governor Williams in recognition of the state's leading agricultural industry.

Dairy farming is Michigan's largest agricultural enterprise and Michigan is one of the six leading dairy states of the country. It is second only to Wisconsin in the sale of fluid milk, used for bottling purposes, a factor influenced by the large industrial and urban areas in the southeastern and central part of the state.

Fluid milk, fresh from the farm, is the leading dairy item in the greater Detroit market, accounting for 71 per cent of all the milk produced in the southeastern Michigan milkshed. The rest goes into manufacture of ice cream, cheese, butter, cottage cheese and other dairy products.

More than 17,000 dairy farmers in 69 of the state's 83 counties, nearly 12,000 of them serving the Detroit market, are members of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association, the state's largest farmer cooperative. Through their organization, these members provide the major portion of the fluid milk requirements of 32 city markets, including the far flung metropolitan Detroit market.

Showers Honor Linda Johnson

Linda Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Leon Johnson, whose marriage to Ashley Chase will take place June 9, has been honored recently by several pre-nuptial social affairs.

Mrs. Robert Wood, who was assisted by Mrs. Luther Wood entertained at a family gathering during which Linda received a shower of miscellaneous gifts. Another miscellaneous shower of gifts for her home was held May 17 at the Melvin Muhn home which was decorated for the occasion in a color scheme of green and yellow.

Mrs. Ernest Hammack and Mrs. Harry Creger were hostesses at a bathroom and linen shower May 26 at the home of Mrs. Hammack. The rehearsal dinner will be given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hirsch at their home on S. Oneida street.

A&P Stores Will Open on Mondays

Vice President R. R. Betz announced today that Toledo unit stores and super markets of A & P Food Stores will be opened regularly to business on Mondays, effective June 11, to provide additional service required by customers.

Monday hours of business here and in other A & P stores of the Toledo unit will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"We are opening Mondays to meet the changing requirements of our customers," Vice President Betz said. "It was on this same basis that we conducted the original experiment on the five-day week in our Fort Wayne stores in 1946. Results in Fort Wayne encouraged us to undertake the five-day week operation throughout the Toledo unit.

"Our stores exist to serve the public, and we must continually be in position to adjust our hours of business to public needs and convenience. If a number of our customers find it necessary or more convenient to shop Mondays, it would appear to be our obligation to provide these additional hours in the interest of rendering adequate service."

Use television to bring your family close together. When families must choose among programs by sharing and giving up some, they learn to appreciate each other's interests and rights.

Television Can Boost Family Life, Habits

Television can be a boon or a bomb to your family life.

Before you decide which it is in your family, consider the amount of reading being done by each family member, the quality of school work done by the children, the play and sleep habits of the family and the amount of time the family spends talking together, suggests Mrs. Lennah Backus, family life specialists at Michigan State University.

Mrs. Backus goes on to say that television can help your family unity if you work with it. She tells of six ways this can be done:

First, study the programs that your children like best and notice how they react to them. There may be clues to their needs that parents can help fill.

Share some of the programs with your children. Discuss the stories and help them realize the difference between phoney and real-life situations.

Notice whether your children seem to fall back on television because there is nothing better to do.

Guard against radio and television being a child's only outlet for a natural tendency toward aggressiveness.

Encourage children to choose programs that sharpen their curiosity about important things such as science, travel and the lives of worthwhile people.

Finally, use television to bring your family close together. When families must choose among programs, share some and give up some, they learn to appreciate each others interests and rights.

Young Musicians Invited to Summer Course

Both group and individual instruction in vocal and instrumental music will be offered Michigan high school students at the 11th annual Youth Music Course at Michigan State University, June 24-July 14.

Students who are graduated this June from high school along with those who will be in ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades this coming fall are eligible to enroll.

The course once again will be sponsored by the M.S.U. department of music. "This summer course," according to the sponsors, "provides an opportunity for the high school youth to improve himself musically so he can make a better contribution to his own school group next fall."

The students will be divided to form a concert band, a training band, orchestra, chorus and varied ensembles. Classwork will include music theory, conducting, recitals, music, listening, accompanying and other phases of music.

A message from Ralph Hodges, 'Your Pharmacist'

FATHER'S DAY is celebrated this year on June 17th. Hundreds of famous quotations tell about the worth of Mothers, and we approve of everyone of them, but surprisingly little has been written about Fathers, except jokes.

HE IS THE HEAD of the family, so he gets the headaches. He is the fellow who is usually put on the pan, if he doesn't bring home the bacon.

ALL CHILDREN are "Stomachs surrounded by curiosity — usually a pain in the neck when around, and a pain in the heart when they are not." What we seem to need most is a child labor law to keep children from working their Fathers too much.

FATHER'S DAY is usually the one day that everybody remembers this forgotten man, but we like Fathers, and promise to take good care of them every day. We are happy about the fact that Fathers like our pharmacy, because they visit us very often to secure the many things we carry for their health and comfort.

Christian Science Services Listed

The safety and abundance which can be experienced through reliance on God will be a theme developed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Psalms 37 (39, 40): "The salvation of the righteous is of the Lord: he is their strength in the time of trouble. And the Lord shall help them, and deliver them."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (494:10-11): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Selections to be read from the King James Version of the Bible will include the following (Psalms 121:8): "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

So You Want To Go To College

"HOW SHALL I CHOOSE A COLLEGE?"

(This is the third in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance).

Once the decision to attend college has been made, one of the important remaining questions is, which college should I attend?

Most important in this decision is for you to examine your abilities, aptitudes and weaknesses. There is no "best" college for everyone. The "best" college is the one which suits your needs.

Your decision will be influenced, also, by the field of work in which you wish to major. More than 20,000 ways of making a living are listed by the U. S. Department of Labor, and a large percentage of these can be studied in college. After you have decided your major course of study, you probably will want to choose the college or university which has an outstanding educational program in your chosen field.

WE HAVE 54

There are all types of institutions of higher learning in the U. S. One authority has estimated that there are more than 2,000 institutions which offer some type of education beyond high school. Michigan has 54 colleges and universities.

Some of these institutions offer undergraduate and graduate degrees, others have programs which are shorter than four years and some even have short-term technical training programs.

There are a great variety of types of institutions and colleges, which include major universities and colleges, state and municipal institutions, private independent colleges for men and women or co-educational and interdenominational colleges affiliated with religious groups.

Also, there are colleges for teacher education; independent technological institutions offering such training as chiropody, osteopathy, denistry, medicine and optometry; independent theological institutions and junior or community colleges.

SIZE IS IMPORTANT

A third factor in choosing a college is the size of the institution. Institutions vary from the largest —the University of California with 35,273 students—to the small community colleges of several hundred. Naturally, each type or size college offers certain advantages. Generally speaking, a larger institution with greater resources can command a more varied faculty and program with more adequate laboratories and libraries.

It has been said that a small college allows you a closer contact with your fellow students but the same advantages holds true in a larger institution. No institution is any larger than the dormitory group. Just like a large city, an individual's life is centered in his own neighborhood.

Another question to be decided is whether you should attend a coeducational institution or a men or women's college. Approximately 85 per cent of college students seem to prefer coeducational colleges. This is in all probability based on the idea that our civilization is based on a social system which involves men and women working together and a school organization which parellels this situation is more realistic.

Another question involved in the choosing of a college is whether to attend an institution close to home or to travel to a college or university out-of-state. Nearly 80 per cent of college students attend institutions in their own state. Many students find it advantageous to attend a community college located in or near their home town, for it greatly reduces the expense involved, allows them to work part time and affords them two more years of "growing up."

BE "ON YOUR OWN"

On the other hand, one of the most valuable experiences of going to college is being on "one's own." It is admitted that the commuter loses many valuable experiences of college life. Likewise, it has been found that students who go home weekends do not do as effective work, do not make as good adjustments, tend to drop out more rapidly and fewer of them complete their college work.

Finally, the cost of higher education is an important consideration in choosing a college. However, it is safe to say that today no qualified student should be prevented from attending college because of financial reasons.

A college or university may be chosen which has a small tuition charge as opposed to one which is very expensive. Other factors which affect the financial picture when choosing a college are opportunity for part time work, cooperative housing arrangements, and availability of scholarships and loans.

The fourth in this series of articles will discuss, "What Does College Cost?"

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow!*
BUICK

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT —that's what it is!
IT TAKES a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick—with the newest transmission of them all.
It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time—with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.
It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflow can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.
And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflow's newest marvel. The engineers call it "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)
There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.
Sure—you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.
But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.
It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.
And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.
So why not come in and see—and feel—the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet—and the best buy yet, by far.
*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Clemens in order to gather facts about muskies.

Anglers in the vicinity are urged to bring their muskellunge, preferably alive, to the station which is in operation on weekends at Gasow's boat livery. The livery is located at 32825 South River Road, Mt. Clemens, about 100 yards upstream from the mouth of the river.

John E. Williams, incharge of the Hastings fisheries research station, is directing the study. Williams said the project is designed to gather biological and creel census information and to determine if musky eggs can be obtained for propagation at the Department's Drayton Plains hatchery.

Preliminary musky investigations were made at Lake St. Clair in May and June of 1954 and 1955, but fish examined were not satisfactory for egg collection.

Department workers, who will operate the checking station on Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays until mid-June, hope to examine at least 200 St. Clair muskies this year.

Old, experienced fishermen can tell tall tales about "the one that got away," but six-year-old Joe Gorwolinski of Detroit has a true story about the two he landed on one hook.

While fishing at a bridge on Thunder Bay Main River near Hillman recently, Joe hooked an 8½-inch brook trout and before he could land it an 18-inch great northern pike clamped onto the trout.

The boy called to his grandfather who assisted him in landing both fish.

Cold, foggy weather caused a perplexing situation for loons in the vicinity of Mio recently.

Conservation officer Verne Dockham of Mio reported finding one of the big birds on a road near Luzerne and another alongside a road near Mio.

Dockham said the loons, apparently confused by the poor visibility, mistook the roads for the Au Sable River and grounded themselves. Once a loon lands, it is helpless to get off the ground in flight unles put in a body of water large enough for take-off.

After considerable effort, with the birds trying viciously to defend themselves, Dockham managed to place the two loons in the AuSable.

Conservation officer Robert Van Camp of Rose City also reported a grounded loon which he transported to a nearby lake.

Nine Huron county sportsmen's clubs worked together recently to provide an important contribution to conservation education.

The clubs sponsored an all-Huron county products dinner at Harbor Beach community school and sold 260 dinner tickets. Proceeds from the event were used to provide scholarships for three Huron county teachers to the Conservation Department's training school this summer.

The sponsors were: Caseville Rod and Gun Club, Bad Axe-Huron Sportsmen's Club, Elkton Sportsmen's Club, Harbor Beach Conservation Club, Grindstone City Sportsmen's Club, Pigeon Conservation Club, Port Austin Conservation Club, Sebawaing Sportsmen's Club and Sebawaing Sportsmen's Auxiliary.

The unusually long fish journey was made in less than a year.

The wandering trout was planted in the Betsie River, Benzie county June 13, 1955, and caught the opening week of trout season this year.

It had traveled down the Betsie River to Lake Michigan, down the lake coast and upstream into the Blue Creek stream system.

The fish was one of 29,000 tagged rainbows stocked at or near the mouths of various Great Lakes streams to see if hatchery rainbows can supplement natural "steelhead" runs from the Lakes.

Mike Kabelis, Bergland, was going out to check his minnow traps early one Sunday morning recently, when he came upon an animal, apparently caught on a steel rail of a spur line of the White Pine, Duluth and South Shore railroad, which runs through Bergland.

Close investigation showed a medium-sized beaver stuck against a rail. The animal was frozen to the metal by its long chest hairs.

Kabelis returned to Bergland and enlisted the help of his friend, John L. Sullivan, also of Bergland.

The two men returned and, holding the beaver's head aside with a stick, poured hot water on the frozen hair until it thawed.

The freed animal scampered to a nearby pond and disappeared beneath the surface, apparently unhurt by the experience.

Kenneth Grant, local conservation officer, reported the incident.

Alfred Masini, manager of Proud Lake recreation area, recently was honored for "outstanding service" by the 8,000-member Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts.

The Oakland county group awarded a plaque to Masini with the inscription: "To Al Masini, for outstanding service. In appreciation for your interest in and services to the youth of our community."

The plaque is the highest award that can be given to an individual outside the scouting ranks and was only the second awarded in Oakland county in the last five years.

Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the Conservation Department's parks and recreation division, sent his congratulations to Masini. "No one works harder in the interest of conservation and parks than you, and you surely are entitled to this outstanding award." Elmer said in a letter to Masini.

ONE HUNDRED FIFTH YEAR — NUMBER 37 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1956 TEN CENTS A COPY

READING GROUP — If you think the Wednesday afternoon reading club at the public library is unpopular and that all kids are watching too much television you had better guess again. When the above picture was taken 84 young readers (count them) were grouped around librarian Mrs. Conrad Fosbender (there in the middle). All of the kids stayed to sign up for the summer reading club.

Troop 4 Scouts Have Camp Out

Scouts of Troop No. 4 camped out four and one-half days last week north of Clare at the cabin of Dr. W. S. Britton of Tecumseh and Dick Karner of Dundee.

Sleeping in pup tents, the Scouts used the cabin as headquarters. They did their own cooking and the inevitable dishes and passed several Scouting achievements.

The program also included swimming, hiking, initiation, some softball, frog catching and sight seeing in the tiny town of Lake George.

The camp-out lasted from Wednesday through last Sunday when the tired but completely happy group came home.

Members of the troop committee who supervised the four and one-half days were Dr. W. S. Britton, chairman of the camp committee; Dr. Robert Laidlaw, chairman of the troop committee; Clyde Cook, Scoutmaster; and Dr. Robert Murray, John Twist, Bill Davenport and Bob Warren.

Also present were Bill Karner from Dundee and his son Tod, a Cub Scout, who mixed right in to the camping with the older boys.

Kelso Named To AFSLA Board

HAROLD M. KELSO of Tecumseh has been named a member of the board of directors of the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Association.

His appointment to the board was announced Tuesday by Harold H. Sherman, president.

Mr. Kelso, a member of the city council here, will fill the unexpired term of Mr. George L. Bennett of Adrian who died last Jan.

President Sherman also announced the appointment of Dr. John H. Dawson, president of Adrian College, to the board. He will fill the unexpired term of Mr. Allen T. Clark of Adrian who died last March.

The board now is comprised of E. A. Ballenberger, Kenneth A. Wassink, John L. Tuttle, Malcolm J. Linehan, Roy McPhail, Harold H. Sherman, Rex B. Martin, Harold M. Kelso and Dr. John H. Dawson.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

WOULDN'T IT BE wonderful if you could work in Tecumseh and commute to the north woods each night to sleep? We thought of this when we were lulled to sleep at night by the call of the Whip-Poor-Will, the croak of the bull frogs, the gentle sway of the poplar and birch and the drone of the mosquito as we camped out with Boy Scouts north of Clare.

THE LADY ASKED the tiny Tecumseh lass what she wanted to be when she grew up, expecting the tike to say "nurse," "airlines hostess" or something similarly exciting. So the lady was really surprised when the lass answered: "Woman."

HAVE YOU EVER WATCHED a ruby-throated humming bird take nectar from coral bells? It is something to see one of the tiny birds perform this rite but when you see two of them, both male and female, working on flowers less than five feet away you have hit the naturalistic jackpot. Last week we saw them sip the sweet stuff in our back yard and it was sight that long will be remembered.

Neighbors Fit, Plant 47 Acres of Corn for Injured Farmer

Ellsworth Lindsley, 71, Macon farmer, knows what it means to get a helping hand from his neighbors.

Injured Monday, May 28, when his tractor overturned on him while he worked one of his several fields on Ford road, two miles north of Macon, Ellsworth, as he lay in Herrick Memorial hospital recovering from injuries received in the accident, wondered how in the world his corn would get planted.

But his neighbors under the chairmanship of Clarence Hall never wondered. They knew how it would get planted and last Thursday men, women and children gathered at his place to do the job.

The 22 men brought along 17 tractors with various attachments; and the women from the Saline and Macon Community Clubs served a typical farm meal for the men that made the table groan. Some of the older children helped their mothers.

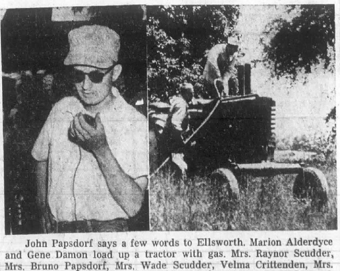
In addition Hoyt Whelan Co. loaned a couple of rigs for the day and the Marion Alderdyce Oil Co. of Milan donated more than 100 gallons of gasoline for the tractors.

By nightfall, the 47 acres of corn had been fitted and planted.

Ellsworth Lindsley heard about it later. Everyone of the neighbors who turned out to help "dropped in" to visit him at the hospital.

Fay Whelan was on hand when the work was being done and he had each neighbor send greetings to Ellsworth on a wire recording.

Later Thursday Ellsworth Lindsley heard the recording at the hospital and knew full well what a swell bunch of neighbors he has.



John Papsdorf says a few words to Ellsworth. Marion Alderdyce and Gene Damon load up a tractor with gas. Mrs. Raynor Scudder, Mrs. Bruno Papsdorf, Mrs. Wade Scudder, Velma Crittenden, Mrs. Clarence Damon, Mrs. Clarence Hall, Mrs. Paul Alber, Mrs. Ellsworth Collins, Barbara Damon and two Alber children helped with the meal.

Flags

Today (Thursday, June 14) is Flag day when Old Glory is supposed to be displayed.

Is your flag out?

Legion Officers Are Installed

These new officers of the American Legion post were installed by the 40 et 8 ritual team of Adrian last Thursday night: James Rohrer, commander; Don Maves and Almond Curtis, vice commanders; Richard Beasley, sergeant-at-arms; Robert Noe, chaplain; Richard Colson, historian; Dennis Goller, adjutant; and Robert Gillespie, service officer.

Vern Manwaring was given a past commander's pin.

And members decided to continue their meetings during the summer months, meeting every Thursday at the post home.

JUDGEMENT GRANTED

A default judgement of $885.21 was granted in circuit court Monday to Martin Burger of Adrian Refrigeration Co.

Costs of $30.30 also were assessed against the defendant Johnson's Grill of Tecumseh in the suit to collect payment of an account for air conditioning.

Construction Begins on North Memorial Gardens

Landscape work on Lenawee Hills Memorial Gardens North is underway.

The gardens are located on the north east corner of Billington's Corners. Owned by Memorial Service, Inc., of Port Huron, the property was purchased from Floyd Billington last year through the McCoy Real Estate Agency.

There are 46 acres in the property. About 10½ acres have been plotted. These will be developed into two religious garden units. One will be named "Sermon on the Mount". This one will be non-sectarian. And the other will be the "Garden of Mount Olivet". This one has been approved by the Cemetery Association and the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit for families of the Roman Catholic faith.

Both gardens will feature memorials dedicated to the life of Christ to give an outdoor church atmosphere.

The property is being developed by Teeple Landscaping Contracting Co. of Port Huron. The company has specialized in cemetery development for the past 10 years.

About 4000 feet of 24-foot wide all weather driveway will be built. And an adequate drainage system is being installed.

It is expected that the property will be ready for the first interment by early July.

All grave markers will be of bronze and flush with the lawn. Grave decorations allowed for winter months will be blankets and wreaths. During the summer potted plants will be permitted on the lawn for one week; then they will be transplanted to "flower of memory" beds. But floral bouquets will be welcomed and the cemetery will furnish without charge temporary vases to families.

Thomas Berkheiser is manager of the memorial gardens. He and his family live in the house at Lenawee Hills North which is a branch of Lenawee Hills of Adrian.

AL CLARK of the Teeple Landscape Contracting Co. out of Port Huron begins the job of leveling off the property for the new memorial gardens.

Check One Petition

Three Seek Posts on School Board

Petitions have been filed by four candidates for the Tecumseh Board of Education election which will be held Monday, July 9. Two posts are open.

Three petitions have been checked, reports Supt. James McDowell, and the names of Jens K. Touborg, Virgil Tucker and Harold W. Anderson will appear on the ballot.

Mr. Touborg is an incumbent, presently serving as president of the board. Paul Breitenwischer, present member, is not seeking reelection.

One other petition, Supt. McDowell explained, has an insufficient number of registered electors on it and, therefore, unless errors in registration lists from the various clerks of the newly annexed districts are discovered, the petition will be invalid.

The circulators of the petition have been notified by Supt. McDowell and they have been invited to check the Tecumseh Public Schools' poll lists for possible errors so that the name of their candidate may appear on the ballot.

Supt. McDowell further explained:

"Due to the recent annexation of 15 primary districts and the fact that the Tecumseh Public Schools are a registration district, it has been necessary to get poll lists from various township clerks.

"Any person registered as a voter in the townships or city which comprises the Tecumseh Public School District prior to the signing of the petition is eligible to sign not more than two petitions since there are only two vacancies on the board.

"It has been difficult to check the petitions to see that at least 50 or more registered electors have signed."

Deadline for filing the petitions with the secretary of the board was last Saturday.

LIBRARY HOURS ARE CHANGED

Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, librarian at the Tecumseh Public Library announces a change of hours for Saturdays.

Starting July 7 the library will be open each Saturday at 11 a.m. instead of the usual 2 p.m. and will close at 6 p.m. rather than 9 p.m. as in the past.

Beat Heat

As the HERALD went to press a record attendance for the first three days of the week was expected at the swimming pool.

Tuesday 385 turned out to swim. This record number has been tied only once when 385 used the pool June 9, 1954, soon after it opened.

Next Monday instruction begins in several classes of swimming. Carl Hale, manager, said his staff will have no trouble in registering 300, the limit for the total class attendance this year.

Fire Destroys Shed, Equipment

A storage shed and equipment owned by the Misses Lavi, Mary and Ellen Snedecor, 25 west Brown street, were destroyed by fire Monday about 11 a.m.

A power mower, power garden cultivator and a quantity of storm sash also were destroyed. And some scorch damage was done to the side of the shore cabin.

The owners stated they are very appreciative of the work of firemen who kept the flames from spreading and the help of neighbors who turned in the alarm.

PAYS $18.60 FINE, COSTS FOR DISCRIMINATING

Pano Galovich, 48, proprietor of the Top Hat Soda Grill was fined $10 and ordered to pay costs of $8.60 when he appeared before Justice John Lowe of Adrian Friday on the charge of discrimination against a colored woman.

The complaint was signed by Mrs. Edna Taylor of Detroit.

Galovitch was arrested by sheriff deputies on order of the prosecutor.

264 Girls Take Part in Scouting

Mrs. Howard Truesdale presided over the annual meeting of the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association in the Scout cabin Wednesday, June 6. Twenty-five members were present. Reports of the year's progress were made by officers and troop leaders showing that there were 10 troops of Brownies and eight troops of Intermediates and two troops of Senior Scouts representing 264 girls besides adults.

Almost all of the troops have averaged one meeting a week and some more while two troops met every other week. All of the special activities provided by the Association were well attended and appreciated by the girls.

Mrs. Truesdale will be president of the Association for another year. She thanked all of the leaders, assistant leaders, committee members, officers and parents for their cooperation during the past year and then introduced the following new officers: vice-president, Mrs. Ted Walworth; recording secretary, Mrs. George Derby; treasurer, Mrs. Wellington Wotring; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Victor Lawson; secretary of supplies, Mrs. Don Johnson; custodian, Mrs. John Hanna; and registrar, Mrs. Duncan Oliphant.

The committees for the coming year are as follows: calendar of activities, Mrs. Ted Walworth, Mrs. Wellington Wotring, Mrs. LeRoy Titley, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. John Cameron and Mrs. John Dennis; publicity, Mrs. George Derby, Mrs. Robert Warren and Mrs. Wilmer Kiser; revisions, Mrs. Julius Vincze, Mrs. Ernest Hammack and Mrs. Russell Cooper; auditing, Mrs. John Saling, Mrs. Don Nixon and Mrs. Ogland Lay; nominations, Mrs. Frank Robinette, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. T. Rentschler.

Hostesses during the coffee hour were Mrs. LeRoy Titley, Mrs. Howard Morris and Mrs. Clarence Beach.

An announcement was made about the Senior Round-up which will be held near Pontiac from June 28 until July 11 when more than 4000 Girl Scouts will live in tent cities and cook over charcoal fires besides producing programs based on Americana.

Golfers Shoot against Fleck; Beat Adrian

National Golf Day sponsored by the Professional Golfers' Association was held at the Tecumseh Country Club Saturday.

Seventy-nine golfers participated, the men playing against Jack Fleck, winner of the national open tournament. Proceeds of this fifth annual event go to charitable organizations such as Red Cross and U.S.O.

Winners — men's team — Frank Owen — 68; Clyde Gunder — 65; Jake Fassezke—67; R. H. Moore—67; Leo Bishop—68; Charles Butler—64; R. D. Moore—61.

Women played against Jacqueline Cochran, winner of the women's national open tournament.

Winners — women's team — F. Clauda—76; P. Moore—68; A. Laidlaw—70; E. Smith—72.

Caddies—D. Champanois—66; G. Forgacs — 66; D. Elliott — 67; D. Lamkin — 66; M. Smith — 68; C. Champanois—63; S. Forgacs—66; T. Kempf—67; G. Smith—67; D. Rutherford—63; and V. Spangler —66.

In an inter-club match Sunday Tecumseh players defeated Adrian players by 2½ points. Thirty-six members played for each club.

Leo Bishop reported that this was the closest match between the two clubs in the past seven years.

Adrian low scorers were Jake

INJURED IN WRECK

Joshua Saunders, 35, of Tecumseh was treated for head and shoulder injuries at Herrick Memorial hospital Tuesday after his car collided with one driven by Harold Faust, Jr., of Adrian on Occidental highway at Ives Rd.

Faust was given a summons by Clinton state police for reckless driving.

Both cars were damaged extensively.

---o---

CAR STRUCK BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

A car driven by Mrs. Sally Pope of Tecumseh was damaged Sunday about 6:30 p.m. when it was forced off the road on Pentecost Highway by another car and hit a tree.

State Police said she was driving north on Pawson Rd. The other car, which did not stop after the accident, was in the center of the road. It struck Mrs. Pope's car in the left rear.

Beverly McLaury is Bride of Malcolm P. Schard

Candlelight and white flowers formed a beautiful setting in the Tecumseh Presbyterian church Saturday evening when Beverly Karlene McLaury and Malcolm P. Schard were united in marriage.

MRS. MALCOLM P. SCHARD

The double ring service was performed by the Rev. George Walworth and the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. McLaury of Port Clinton, Ohio, was given in marriage by her father. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm P. Schard Sr. of Amityville, N. Y., are the parents of the groom.

Mrs. William Hayden played an organ prelude with the traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Martha Hayden as she sang "Because" and "I Love Thee" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the conclusion of their vows.

The bridal procession proceeded between tall aisle candelabra of lighted tapers to an altar decorated with white gladioli and carnations and flanked by hampers of white flowers and candelabra.

Mrs. Ted Sisson was matron of honor in a cornflower blue, floor length dress of crystalette over taffeta. The bridesmaids were Betty Hanna Griffiths of Cleveland, Ohio and Miss Carolyn Weaver of Lansing. Their gowns were of the same material in a lighter blue, all being made with full skirts and off-the-shoulder bodices with pleated midriffs. Each of the three attendants wore lace and pearl head bands with tiny veils and short gloves and carried traditional birdesmaid's baskets of blue pompoms and white larkspur with a center of pink roses.

The flower girl, little Margaret Barritt, carried a similar basket in miniature. Her dress of white crystallette had a tiered skirt over crinolin and her head band was like those of the bridesmaids.

The bride made a lovely picture in her wedding gown whose very bouffant, floor length skirt was made of many layers of net and tulle over taffeta. Rose point lace and tulle over taffeta formed the bodice which had brief sleeves and a deeply rounded neckline, whose scalloped edge was pearl embroidered. An applique of lace continued the bodice into a simulated peplum on the skirt. A lace and pearl cap held her double, fingertip veil. She wore short gloves and carried a white Bible which was topped by pink rosebuds and maline in the shape of a cross.

Mr. Schard was assisted by Charles Bosworth of New Hyde Park, N.Y. as best man. He was a fraternity borther as were ushers, Dick Harlow of St. Johns, Bruce Green of Plymouth and John Pridgeon of Reading. The fourth usher was Max McLaury, a brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore blue with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses while Mrs. Schard's gown was pink as were her hat and gloves and her corsage was of white rosebuds. Mrs. Guy McLaury, grandmother of the bride, wore navy blue and white with a gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Hart were hosts at the wedding reception for 150 guests which followed the ceremony. The Fellowship Center was beautifully decorated with pink and white garden flowers and the refreshment table featured a three-tiered wedding cake whose decoration was a miniature church scene and bridal party with blue-gowned bridesmaids.

Miss Margaret Schard of Houston, Texas, a sister of the groom and Mrs. Donna Hewitt of Addison served the cake, while coffee and punch was served by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Mary McLaury of Michigan Center and Mrs. Mary Culver of Junction City, Kansas. The gifts were registered by the Misses Audrey Dixon of Lansing and Nancy Smith of Wyandotte.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Scharf wore a princess dress of navy blue, accented with white and a corsage of red rosettes.

The bride is a 1952 graduate of T.H.S. and received her R.N. degree from Sparrow Hospital training school in Lansing in 1955. She has been employed as a nurse at McGunder hospital in Port Clinton. The groom graduated from Amityville high school in 1952 and received a B.S. degree in chemistry from Michigan State University the day after his marriage. At East Laning he was a member of Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Schard will make their home in Harmarville, Pa., where he is employed as a chemist by the Gulf Oil Co.

Mary E. Forgacs and James Hartsell Exchange Vows

Mary Elizabeth Forgacs, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Forgacs of Ridgeway and James F. Hartsell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hartsell of Tecumseh exchanged their marriage vows in an impressive ceremony at St. Elizabeth Catholic church Saturday morning. The Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at 10 a.m.

MRS. JAMES HARTSELL

Mr. Forgacs gave his daughter in marriage and her attendants were her sister, Irene Forgacs, who was maid of monor and the Misses Betty Ann Kish of Flat Rock and Joyce Schafer of Macon, bridesmaids. Peter Rhein assisted the groom as best man and James Hartsell and Dale Tingley were ushers.

White gladioli and pompoms filled the altar vases which had a background of palms. Gladioli tied with white satin marked the family pews and the customary white aisle runners were used.

Satin under tulle and Chantilly lace formed the wedding gown of the radiant young bride. Her full tulle skirt had panels and medalions of the lace and swept into a chapel train. The fitted bodice had long sleeves, a deep illustion yoke, a lace, mandarin collar and pearls and irridescent sequins were embroidered on the lace which edged the yoke. Pearls also trimmed the lace tiara which held the veil of French illusion made in double finger-tip length. She carried a prayer book of mother-of-pearl topped by Phalenopsis orchids.

The three bridal attendants wore similar dresses of nylon net and lace over taffetta, the maid of honor in pink, the bridesmaids in blue. All were sleeveless and of ballerina length and were complemented by cascade bouquets of carnations in contrasting pink and blue.

Mrs. Forgacs wore Copenhagen blue lace over pink taffeta for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were white and her flowers pink rosettes. Mrs. Hartsell's dress was of beige lace over taffeta with hat, shoes and gloves of blue and she also wore a corsage of pink rosettes.

"Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" were sung by Wallace Whiting to the accompaniment of Mrs. Ben Hammack, who also played traditional organ music.

A 8 p.m. Saturday a reception for 350 guests was held at the Products Union Hall with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Graham as hosts. Guests from all over Michigan, Ohio and Indiana were registered by Mrs. John Braden. Mrs. John Forgacs, sister-in-law of the bride cut the wedding cake and Miss Blanche Schafer presided at the coffee urn while Miss Donna Miller and Mrs. Violet Knight assisted with the serving. The gifts were received by Larry Hartsell and entertainment was supplied by the Products orchestra.

The bridal couple left for a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan and Canada, the new Mrs. Hartsell wearing a sheath gown of lace over taffeta. Her accessories were white and she wore the orchids she had carried during the ceremony.

The bride graduated from Britton high school, the groom from Tecumseh and both are employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. They will reside at 201 north Ottawa street, Tecumseh.

Mildred L. Mitchell and James Oosse Married Saturday

The Raisin Center Friends church was the scene of a beautiful summer wedding Saturday aft ernoon at 2:30, when Mildred Louise Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William John Mitchell of Rt. 3, Adrian and James William Oosse exchanged their vows.

Mr. Oosse is the son of Mrs. Ada Hartley and the late Jack Oosse of Cleveland.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lowell Shreve, pastor of the church, before an altar decorated with white iris and spirea. Pews were marked with white satin ribbons and flowers.

Miss Emily R. Moore of Cleveland, organist, played nuptial music and Douglas Jenes, also of Cleveland, sang "Lord Bless This Hour," "God Gave Me You" and "The Wedding Prayer." As the bride approached the altar, the groom sang "It Was Heaven's Grace That Made Thee Mine."

Embroidered nylon net over taffeta was the gown chosen by the bride. It featured a sweetheart neckline with rhinestone insets and short sleeves. Her veil of white nylon net was held by a crown pearl tiara and she wore white mitts and carried a white orchid on a Bible.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Marie Mitchell of West Point, Neb., as maid of honor and Doris and Marjorie as bridesmaids. Marie wore pink nylon net over taffeta, ballerina length with matching jacket and headpiece. The other sisters were in similar gowns of yellow and blue.

Douglas Mitchell and Dianne Mitchell, nephew and niece of the bride were ring bearer and flower girl. Mr. Oosse was attended by Raymond Coulter as best man and ushers were Raymond Pauli and William Carr of Cleveland and Kenneth Mitchell, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Mitchell wore a gray-green suit dress with beige accessories for her daughter's wedding and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church basement for 200 guests. A three-tired wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom and decorated with rosebuds and silver leaves centered the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Oosse left after the reception for a two weeks' wedding trip to northern Michigan, the bride wearing a pink linen dress with white accessories.

She is a graduate of Adrian high school and Cleveland Bible College and is employed as clerk at the Pennsylvania Rubber and Supply Co., Cleveland. The groom graduated from Mobile, Ala., high school and is employed in Cleveland. They will reside at 4905 Franklin Blvd., Cleveland.

Friends Church is Scene of Johnson-Chase Wedding

The June wedding of Linda Lou Johnson and Ashley Chase had a background of spring flowers. It was held at the Tecumseh Friends church at 2:30 in the afternoon of June 9 and the double ring service was conducted by the Rev. Edward Escolme.

MRS. ASHLEY CHASE

Linda Lou is the daughter of Mrs. Leon Johnson and the late Mr. Johnson while Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Chase are the parents of the groom. Luther Wood, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage and she was attended by Marilyn Manley and Gerry Hirsch as maid of honor and bridesmaid. Diana VanValkenburg was flower girl.

Ritchie Davis attended the groom as best man and the guests were seated by Robert Wood and Robert Manley.

The lovely, young bride wore a waltz length gown of white marquisette made over hoops. It was sleeveless and was complemented by lace gloves which matched the crown holding her finger tip veil. Lace medallions embroidered with sequins edged the illusion yoke. The white Bible she carried had a cover of lace and a cluster of lilies of the valley about a white orchid from which fell a shower of satin streamers in lovers' knots.

Miss Manley's waltz length dress of nylon lace and net was strapless and she wore a brief jacket. Her crescent shaped bouquet was of red Delight roses backed with Pinnochio pompoms, rose red maline and satin bows. Miss Hirsch wore white chiffon with short puffed sleeves and a portrait neckline. Her flowers were like those of the maid of honor and both had lace head bands and matching mitts.

The flower girl dressed in white nylon tulle carried a tiny nosegay of red sweetheart roses and poms with red satin streamers.

Mrs. Johnson's dress for her daughter's wedding was of dusty blue crepe and Mrs. Chase wore yellow crepe. Both had white accessories and a corsage of lavender orchids.

A concert of traditional organ music played by Mrs. William Hayden preceded the ceremony and Sharon Muhn sang "Because" and "O Promise Me."

Spring flowers also decorated the church parlors where the reception followed the ceremony. The guests were received by Mrs. Naomi Sallows and were registered in the guest book by Carolyn Chase. The bride's cake formed the centerpiece of the refreshment table and was served by Vonnie Penrod and Marjorie Chase after being cut by Mrs. Robert Hirsch. Miss Sandra Biederman presided at the punch bowl and Joan Judd and Marjorie Chase at the gift table.

The bride, who will complete her high school course next year, is bookkeeper in the office of Dr. R. G. B. Marsh and the groom, a 1955 graduate of Tecumseh high is employed by the Tecumseh Farm Equipment Co. They will make their home at 301 N. Pearl.

After the reception they left for a weekend trip, the bride wearing a navy blue suit and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

So You Want To Go To College

(Note—This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

"WHAT DOES COLLEGE COST?"

One of the important aspects which you must consider when planning your college career is the cost.

Almost all colleges and universities have a charge for tuition and fees. These vary with the type of institution involved. Generally speaking, land-grant colleges and universities, state universities and state teachers colleges — all state supported institutions — have a lower tuition rate than the private schools. For example, the tuition at Michigan State University is $68 a term, or a total of $204 for the academic year for Michigan residents.

One of the largest items in the cost of a college education is room and board. At Michigan State University, assuming that you live in a residence hall, the cost is $690 a year. Books for a college year will cost an estimated $90. And then there are a great number of incidentals which vary a great deal with each individual. These include laundry and recreation.

Also to be considered is the cost of transportation from your home to the institution which you will be attending. Naturally, this varies with the distance you are from the college you attend and the number of times you go home. In addition to this cost, an item should be included for clothing.

So a college education costs, on the average, $1,225 to $1,500 a year.

HOW ABOUT HELP?

Naturally, you are asking the question, "Is there any way I can get financial help while going to college?"

The answer is "yes." Most institutions have a scholarship program for qualified young people who need financial assistance. Ordinarily, a high school student is eligible to apply for a scholarship if he has at least a B average and is in the upper one-third of his senior class, said J. Robert Stewart, director of scholarships at Michigan State.

It has been estimated that there are more than 140,000 scholarships available in colleges and universities in the U. S., amounting to about $31,000,000. Last year 17,000 of these went begging. In most cases, scholarship grants cover the cost of tuition. Most large state institutions offer at least one renewable tuition scholarship for each accredited high school in the state.

However, there are some scholarships which offer financial help over and above the tuition costs. For example Michigan State University this year started 10 one thousand dollar renewable alumni distingueshed scholarship awards. These are presented to students who have distinguished themselves throughout high school.

ASK FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

In addition to these scholarships, there are special grants for 4-H club winners and Future Farmers of America, as well as a great number of other privately sponsored scholarships for which special requirements must be met. Students wishing to apply for scholarships should direct their inquiries to the director of scholarships.

Another way a student can help finance his way through college is by working part time during the school year. Jack Breslin, director of placement at Michigan State University, reports that during the fall term 4,000 M.S.U. students had part time jobs. He also estimates that during the college year more than 12,000 students work at one time or another. This part time work includes a wide range of jobs, from baby sitting to sales.

Illustrating another type of income for college students, Breslin said that 80 per cent of M.S.U. students work during the summer vacation.

The rate of pay for part time work varies, but at M.S.U. a student is allowed to work a maximum of 20 hours at the minimum pay of 85 cents an hour. Thus, a student would be able to earn more than $600 during the academic year from part time work. But university officials strongly counsel freshmen not to begin any gainful employment until they have become well adjusted.

FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE

A third source of financial assistance is loans. Almost all colleges and universities have funds available to students on either a short or long time basis. Tom King, dean of students, reports that Michigan State University has $210,000 available each year for loans.

"Students are not required to pay any interest while they are in college," Dean King explains, "but four per cent interest is charged after the student graduates or leaves school."

Money is lent to freshmen and sophomores on a short-time basis payable within six months. Juniors and seniors may borrow on a long-time basis payable after graduation. A maximum loan at Michigan State University is $300.

If you really want to go to college, and if you can meet the necessary requirements, financial need should not keep you from going to college. It may involve certain sarcifices, but the hundreds of thousands of young people who have attended college have found these sacrifices worthwhile.

The fifth in this series of articles will discuss, "What Do the Colleges and Universities Expect of You?"

Don't Lug Picnic "Bugs"

Too many folks lug "bugs" around in their picnic hampers, and the result, according to state health authorities, is an upswing of food-borne poisoning during summer months.

The "bugs" — in this case microscopic bacteria — can grow and develop their poisons whenever you fail to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, said Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the department's disease control division.

Dr. Leeder also warned that foods such as creamy salads or custard-filled pasteries aren't recommended as picnic fare because they serve as ideal culture media for the obnoxious germs.

One of the common forms of food-borne poisoning, he said, is caused by staphylococcus germs, which are often found in food and produce their toxin or poison if the food is left standing around at room temperature.

Another food-borne infection is caused by a family of germs known as the "salmonellas" — which are usually spread by persons who are infected with the germs without knowing it. Dr. Leeder said the salmonella germs, which can cause illness ranging from a mild stomach upset to severe dysentery, can be destroyed by cooking food, but the food should be refrigerated promptly to avoid contamination.

The health department spokesman added a caution against storing picnic meals in car trunks or under boat seats, "because unless the food is in an ice chest, both locations give germs the warmth they need to grow, multiply.

U-M Journalism Students Will Run Two Weeklies

The first step in an augmented instructional program in weekly newspapering will be taken by the department of journalism of the University of Michigan June 15 when a professor of journalism and seven students, all from Michigan, take over the complete editorial and business operations of two weekly newspapers.

The newspapers being lent to the department of journalism for instruction over three summer months are the Evart Review, a weekly established in Osceola County in 1872 with a current circulation of 1,400 and the Marion Press, also an Osceola County weekly, 20 miles from Evart, with a circulation of 900. The two newspapers are owned jointly by Berkeley and Fred Smith, who also own the Iosco County News (East Tawas) and the Oscoda Press, of which Berkeley Smith is the publisher-editor. Both the Smiths (not related) are graduates in journalism from the university.

COMPLETES ARRANGEMENTS

Fred Smith, publisher of the two newspapers, and Wesley H. Maurer, chairman of the department of journalism at the university have completed detailed arrangements for the instruction of the students under the supervision of Prof. Karl Zeisler, member of the department's teaching staff.

The new course, for which the students will get eight hours of University credit, is the first step in advancing an instructional program designed to serve the weekly newspapers of the state and nation, said Prof. Maurer in announcing the project.

"The weekly newspaper," Prof. Maurer said, "is the backbone of the nation's journalism, and the university is interested in increasing its contribution to the quality of small town life by preparing journalists, as it now does teachers and physicians, for a career of service to the citizens of smaller communities."

"We look forward to an interesting and challenging experience," publisher Smith said, adding, "as far as we know, this is the first time anywhere that a weekly newspaper serves as a continuous instructional facility in editorial and business departments under the complete supervision of a department of journalism. This project will give an opportunity to students to get their teeth into the weekly newspaper experience and will give them time, also, to become part of the community life. I feel, too, that the project will accelerate the interesting and unique plan Prof. Maurer has discussed with me for building up the department of journalism service to the weekly press of the state and the nation."

PHASES WILL VARY

Prof. Zeisler, who will be "visiting publisher," will provide students with assignments in all phases of editorial and business tasks, including the gathering of news, the writing of editorials, the selling and preparation of advertising, the direction of circulation, the keeping of accounts, cost-estimating for job printing, and the production details of the weekly press. Daily editorial conferences and evening seminars are scheduled in which Publisher Smith will serve as "consultant."

In adidtion, Prof. Maurer said, the community itself will be studied and various projects in community relations with the newspaper will be undertaken.

Prof. Zeisler, who has managed a community newspaper for 20 years, said, "I am convinced the Evart Review supervised internship offers a challenging educational opportunity in a field hardly to be duplicated. It will teach the student one of the most important aspects of journalism, — how the community functions and how to get to know the community and all its contributiing factors."

The seven students selected from the applicants agreed to reside in the community for three months and to pay their own living expenses. In preparation for their summer's work, they met during the past semester in four preliminary sessions in which they studied the community, the newspaper, and the surrounding communities.

"We are deeply indebted for the cooperation of publisher Fred Smith," Prof. Maurer said. "He accepted my invitation instantly in the expressed belief that the university's service to the weekly press would thereby be advanced."

Smith is currently president of the University Press Club of Michigan.

Some cast iron fry pans and Dutch ovens come seasoned and ready to use; if seasoned, a utensil will be labeled. Others need to be rubbed with unsalted fat and left in a warm oven for several hours before using. Michigan State University home economists say to prevent rusting, dry cast iron utensils thoroughly after each use.

Development of Man Attributed To Tools, Wayne U. Students Learn

Dr. George Lechler of Wayne University's history department shows student Eunice Leavenworth of Grand Rapids how the Egyptian shovel he is holding was patterned after a man's hand.

Two billion years ago life began on our earth. Mankind emerged as a unique animal a million years later. In that relatively short time man has made himself supreme among all life on earth. Why?

Students in Dr. George Lechler's history classes at Wayne University in Detroit have discovered the answer—tools. Man is the only tool-using animal. "Tools help people to live better and when we improve our tools, we improve our future," said Dr. Lechler.

Going back one million years students found that the change in the pelvic bone in the human body permitted standing and walking erect, leaving the hands free to use tools. These very early tools were extensions of the hand, sharp-edged and pointed stones used for cutting, drilling, boring and scraping.

The first man-made cutting tools, called fist axes, were chipped out of stones with sharpened edges about a half a million years ago. This improved tool helped man improve his scale of living by allowing him to do a greater variety of work.

With special-purpose stone tools, developed about 50,000 years ago, man could control his cutting action. This made possible complex implements for hunting, fishing and tools for agriculture.

The Bronze Age, followed by the Iron Age brought about a marked change in tools—stone gave way to metal. These implements were more efficient, durable and could be resharpened.

The Industrial Revolution, only 150 years old, greatly advanced human progress, said Dr. Lechler. "It developed after one million years of human tool making, increase and spread of knowledge and discovery of more durable materials."

Machines developed during the Revolution are traced back to the earliest tools. The first plan, invented in 1817, can be traced back through the hammer and chisel and the primitive wide edge scraping stone.

The earliest milling machine was a long, sturdy digging stick. Next came a sharp-edged and massive chipping stone, later a hand file and in 1818, the first milling machine.

"With the Industrial Revolution we eliminated human error by putting production into machines. People today have the opportunity to share in production and development of tools for the future," Dr. Lechler said.

Sally Prielipp is Bride of Douglas L. Grady, Jr.

In a candlelighted service in the North Blissfield Lutheran church, Sally E. Prielipp and Douglas L. Grady, Jr., both of Britton were united in marriage Saturday evening by the Rev. William Weinlander.

MRS. DOUGLAS L. GRADY, JR.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prielipp was given in marriage by her father and the double ring ceremony took place at 7:30 p.m. before an altar with vases filled with pink carnations and white gladioli. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas L. Grady Sr. of Britton.

Chantilly lace was combined with tulle for the gown of the lovely, slender bride. It had a tulle yoke and tulle panel in the lace skirt and featured long sleeves and a standup collar. The skirt ended in a chapel train. A cap of shirred tulle and pearls held the fingertip veil. She wore a gold cross which was the gift of the groom and carried a cluster of carnations and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Mrs. Haldon Grinage of Blissfield was her sister's matron of honor and wore a waltz length dress of yellow net. The bridesmaids, Charlene Prielipp, also a sister of the bride and Mrs. Harold Auten of Britton wore similar dresses in aqua and pink respectively. All wore mitts and headbands to match their dresses and carried heart shaped bouquets of daisies.

The groom was attended by Harold Auten as best man while his uncle, Louis Plank of Adrian and Charles Barret of Milan were ushers.

The mothers of the bride and groom wore gray lace and navy blue gowns and each had a corsage of pink roses.

Traditional music before and during the ceremony was played by Richard Lawer of Milan and Mrs. B. E. McWilliams of Tecumseh sang, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Little Viola Plank, a cousin of the groom, was the flower girl, carrying a basket of rose petals and the rings were carried to the altar on a heart-shaped pillow of satin and lace by a nephew of the bride, Roger Grinage.

Guests from Britton, Tecumseh, Clinton, Adrian, Hudson, Milan, Deerfield, Blissfield, Detroit, West Milton, Ohio and New Jersey were among the 200 who were entertained at a reception at the Eagles Hall in Adrian following the ceremony at the church. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Filter cut the six-tiered wedding cake which was a feature of the refreshment table.

The new Mrs. Grady wore the corsage from her bouquet on a yellow plaid redingote dress with white accessories when the bridal couple left for a trip through the south and west.

Both are graduates of Britton high school, the bride being employed by the Aget Manufacturing Co. in Adrian and the groom at the Underwood Garage in Clinton. They will live in an apartment in Britton until their new home is ready for them.

The Silver Lining

ELMER POCKLINGTON, 1898 graduate of Tecumseh high school, supplied a fitting climax to a successful 1956 alumni reunion by reading his original poem "Retrospective Pleasures":

The old man sat is his rocking chair
As we talked of days long past
And he said, "The pleasures you should seek Should be the kind that last."

Living he was on "borrowed time"
But living, — not waiting to die;
He lived each day as it came along
And he lived the ones passed by.

Said he to me, — "In seventy-six
Five other boys and me
Went out to Philadelphia
To see what we could see.

We saw a lot, we farmer lads,
We saw a wonderful show,
We saw the old Centennial
Held there so long ago.

But here's the point I want to make,
And plainly it appears, —
We've now enjoyed that trip out East
For more than fifty years.

And so," he said, "as years roll by
I'm sure that you will find
'Twill pay to gather pictures
For the Gallery of your mind."

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "Men still die with their boots on—one boot on the accelerator!"

WE HAVE ALL KINDS of services here. Thursday a couple of girl tykes dropped in to pick up last year's swimming cards. They weren't nearly as surprised as we were that we still had the cards. And recently Mrs. Percy Boyd of Detroit asked for a recipe for a cracker-crumb pie that the HERALD published "last summer," according to her letter. She had mislaid the recipe and wanted it sent to her. Research showed the recipe was pubilshed more than two years ago. And it was sent to her. I hope she enjoys it.

ADS REALLY PAY. This classified ad ran in the West Branch, Iowa, Times: "Wanted—general soaking rain." The paper went into the mail at 8 a.m. By supper time a soaking rain came and ended an eight-month dry spell. You can't tell farmer Cliff Perkins who placed the ad that advertising doesn't pay.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Do not forget that an honest, wise zeal, a lowly, triumphant trust, a true heart, and a helping hand constitute man, and nothing less is man or woman. — Mary Baker Eddy

Whiteds Honored at Farewell Party

The Rev. and Mrs. H. V. Whited and daughter Sandra were guests of honor Saturday evening when 200 friends gathered at the Macon Methodist church.

Leonard Stark of Ypsilanti acted as master of ceremonies and conducted a "Big Surprise" television program. A quartette composed of Bud Gorton, Jim Rhoades, Carl Thomas and Leonard Stark led the group singing. Mrs. Don Faust and Wilford Allen, accompanied by Frances Gorney, all of Adrian, entertained with humorous readings. A German band from Chelsea, under the direction of Richard Stark played several numbers.

Contestants were Mrs. Fred Gil[illegible], Clayton [illegible] and the Rev. and Mrs. Whited. The Whiteds won the "Big Surprise" and were presented with a gift of money. Leonard Stark accompanied by Mrs. Helen Thomas sang "Happy Times" and "You'll Never Walk Alone".

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in lilac and white. The centerpiece, made by Mrs. Elwyn Bugbee was a boat depicting the Whiteds traveling to England. The Rev. Whited, who has served the Macon church for six years, will work on his dissertation at Oxford University and Mrs. Whited, choir director will assist him.

Friends were present from Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Ypsilanti, Brooklyn, Monroe, Saline, Adrian, Britton, Clinton and Tecumseh.

Wade Receives Honorary Degree

President Paul V. Sangren of Western Michigan College conferred four honorary degrees during the 53rd annual commencement service of the college last Saturday.

Recipients included Wade VanValkenburg, Doctor of Laws.

VanValkenburg is at the moment speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives, but plans retirement from legislative work at the close of his preesnt and fifth term.

Born in Tipton and graduated from the Tecumseh high school, VanValkenburg has degrees from the University of Michigan and Detroit College of Law. He also taught two years in Coldwater high school.

He was the featured speaker at the high school alumni banquet this year.

He has been engaged in Kalamazoo activities since 1929, when he became general counsel for the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. He now has a private law practice in Kalamazoo.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY

MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Cub Pack Has Annual Picnic

Cub Scouts of pack 73 and their parents, 75 strong, attended their annual picnic at Walter Hayes State Park last Saturday. Soft ball games were played before lunch and afterward there were races. These included sack race, three-legged race, spoon race and 50 yard dash as well as baseball throw and broad jump.

The boys were classified in age groups and won ribbons of blue for first prize, red for second and white for third. Mothers present participated in a ball throwing contest and a mixed shoe race.

Scout awards were presented to the following boys: Richard Milosh, Robert Glenn and Paul Kruse, silver arrow under bear; Gregg King, bear badge with gold and three silver arrows; Charles Squires, silver arrow under lion; Robert Seitz, two silver arrows under wolf; Barry Roe, wolf badge; James Cook, bear badge; Stanley Wise, wolf badge with gold and silver arrows; Gregg Schultz, wolf badge and Randy Fergus, gold and silver arrows under wolf.

Webelo badges were received by Tommy Dickinson, Philip Miller, Norman Grigg, Larry Harper, Donald Sniffen and Michael Osburn.

The leaders and cubs express their appreciation to Mr. Carson House and his committee who substituted at the last minute for the regular field day committee.

June 18 the leaders plan to take the pack to Detroit to see the Tigers play the Yankees at Briggs Stadium. Cubs are to meet at 11:30 a.m. in front of the Central school building and each should have 75 cents for transportation.

Bishop Reed Will Speak at College

Bishop Marshall R. Reed will preach Sunday, June 17 at the Methodist mass meeting to be held in the athletic stadium of Adrian College, marking Conference Sunday. His topic will be "Michigan Methodism Tomorrow" and the 10:30 a.m. service will feature a mass choir of all the Methodist churches of Lenawee county and a quartette from the Adrian high school band.

Officers of the conference will attend and there will be announcement of conference appointments.

There will be no service at the Tecumseh Methodist church this week because of this meeting and, as previously announced, morning worship and Sunday School will be held at the same hour of 10 a.m. each Sunday for the rest of the summer.

CUB PACK WILL MEET

The committee of Pack 4 of the Cub Scouts met Monday evening at the home of the Cubmaster, Dr. R. E. Dustin and made plans for the regular meeting June 18. This will be held as usual at the Baptist Youth House at 7:30 p.m. and will have a rodeo theme. All cubs and den mothers are to come as cowboys, cowgirls or Indians and the committee suggests that parents attending also come in costume.

This will be the last meeting of the summer except for a picnic to be held sometime in July.

IT'S FUNNY how these things turn out.

At the beginning of spring training, the Tigers looked like a club that was strong in pitching, defensive performance and speed.

They did not appear to be a free-swinging bunch that could overpower the opposition.

So what happens? The pitching falls apart, the defensive play is good but far from sensational and the speed has not produced more stolen bases.

But—and this is a big but—Detroit has shown increasingly greater power at the plate. The long ball, the game-breaker, something that has not been particularly apparent in the Bengal attack in several years, is gradually returning.

Unexpected Help

Extra base power was expected of players like Ray Boone and Al Kaline, but few anticipated home run strength from Charley Maxwell, Red Wilson or Bill Tuttle, and Bob Kennedy was still in a Chicago uniform until his trade to the Tigers a few weeks ago.

Boone and Kaline took a long time getting started this year, and that accounts in part for some of the Tigers' early-season troubles. But Tuttle, already one of the best ball hawks in the league, is becoming an increasingly strong hitter. His homers and other extra base hits are most welcome blows.

Wilson and Kennedy have taken a page from the Yankees' book and beaten them at their own game, Wilson clouting a ninth-inning homer to break up the game with them here and Kennedy getting a grand-slam home run to win at New York.

Maxwell, the pride of Paw Paw ("Two Paws," he calls it), is the greatest surprise development of all. His consistently strong hitting and extra base power have helped the Tigers immeasurably. He still boasts the team's most imposing batting average, and also gave the Yankees a taste of their home run medicine at New York.

Harvey Kuenn not alone is spraying hits to all fields but is getting more extra base hits, while Frank House and Earl Torgeson can be depended upon for additional punch at the plate. Wayne Belardi is proving a valuable pinch hitter.

Contrarily, much was expected of Ned Garver but he's on the disabled list. [illegible] Miller, a promising prospect, has shown he needs further minor league seasoning. Billy Hoeft is winning with a sore arm. Virgil Trucks is coming back after an ankle injury. Duke Maas is knocked out of the box too often.

Good in Relief

The years are beginning to take their toll on Steve Gromek, who aches all over after pitching a nine-inning game, although he is impressively effective in relief. Only Frank Lary seems to keep on going without interruption, and he's lost some more of those heart-breaking, one-run decisions.

So, where the pitching was expected to be strong and the hitting light, just the opposite has occurred thus far. As we said, it's funny how these things turn out.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Archery deer hunters bagged a record number of whitetails last season, according to a Conservation Department survey of hunting results.

Approximately 37,200 archery hunters took part in the 1955 season and killed an estimated 2,310 deer. Statewide archery hunter success was 6.2 percent.

Some 864 camp permits also were issued and about 400 deer were taken for this use.

Estimated archery deer kills for the past few years were: 1952 season, 1840; 1953 season, 1820; and 1954 season, 1810. Success among bow and arrow hunters during these years was: 1952, 6.4 per cent; 1953, 6.0 per cent; and 1954, 5.5 per cent.

Success among firearm hunters also increased last year, the postcard surveys showed. About 17.5 per cent of all firearm hunters bagged a buck during the 1955 season. In 1954, only about 14 per cent of the firearm hunters killed a deer.

South Carolina rabbits probably are confused, but happy, about the sometimes-baffling nature of legislative processes.

According to a Charleston, S. C. newspaper, the News and Courier, a bill was introduced into the South Carolina general assembly to permit youngsters under 16 to hunt rabbits with a stick without need of a hunting license.

A senate amendment broadened the bill to include sling-shots. A house committee then tacked on air rifles, bows and arrows and boomerangs.

Finally, a house member forced tabling of the bill when he came up with an amendment to add blow-guns and the right of youngsters to "stalk rabbits, point the index finger thereat with thumb extended and yell loudly, 'bang, bang'!"

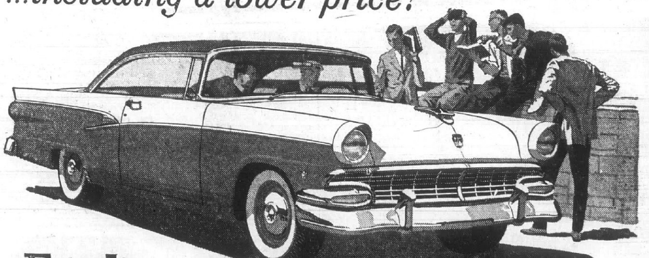
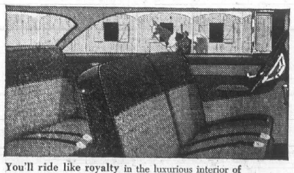
All you want in a hardtop
...including a lower price!



The lines of the Ford Customline Victoria are low—and so's the price
Ford's
New Customline Victoria
Open-air smartness of a convertible ::: carefree GO of Ford's great V-8!
If you've admired the wide-open beauty of hardtops but have always been a little "gun shy" of their price, then this new Ford Customline Victoria was meant for you. For here is all you have dreamed of in a hardtop—including a price tag that will be a pleasant surprise!
But this car's economy only begins with its low price. Its low operating cost will delight you! In fact, this very model won the Mobilgas Award for delivering the greatest gas economy per pound in Ford's field! Or, you may order the mighty 202-h.p. Thunderbird V-8 engine that's now available in all Fordomatic Fords—the same basic engine that powered Ford to victory at Daytona.
Like its Fairlane running-mate, this Customline hardtop has quarter windows that roll down completely, leaving nothing between you and the view but fresh air. You get the open-air smartness of a convertible, the trim lines of a Thunderbird, and the snug comfort of a sedan.
As for safety, you drive surrounded by Ford's Lifeguard Design. You may never need Ford's deep-center steering wheel, double-grip door locks and other Lifeguard features ... but it's nice to have them just in case!
Better arrange for your "driving date" soon. Slide behind the wheel and head for the wide open spaces. When you return you'll understand why Ford is the V-8 with the world's biggest following.



You'll ride like royalty in the luxurious interior of the Ford Customline Victoria. Virtually a "living room" on wheels, it features deep-cushioned seats upholstered in exquisite new fabrics. Each fabric is color harmonized with the interior trim and exterior finish.
In Performance Ford won the Pure Oil Manufacturer's Award for top all-around performance
In Safety Ford won Motor Trend Award for year's greatest automotive advancement
In Economy Ford won Mobilgas Economy Run Award for greatest gas economy
Ford goes first!
Now! A Ford with air conditioning costs less than many medium-priced cars without it.* Try one today!

Old Glory Is 179!

We observe June 14 as Flag Day because it was on that date in 1777 that the Stars and Stripes, by resolution of the Continental Congress, came into being, with "thirteen stripes of alternate red and white, with a union of thirteen stars of white in a blue field, representing the new constellation" in the Western skies.

Our Flag was first carried by American troops in the Battle of the Brandywine the following Sept., and tradition says the first Old Glory was made by Betsy Ross, of Philadelphia, at General Washington's request.

So much for a brief history of our flag.

But do you know how to display it? The following material on what not to do may be helpful:

1. Do not permit disrespect to be shown to the Flag of the United States of America.
2. Do not dip the Flag of the United States of America to any person or any thing. The regimental color, State flag, organization or institutional flag will render this honor.
3. Do not display the Flag with the union down except as a signal of distress.
4. Do not place any other flag or pennant above or, if on the same level, to the right of the Flag of the United States of America.
5. Do not let the Flag touch the ground or the floor, or trail in the water.
6. Do not place any object or emblem of any kind on or above the Flag of the United States of America.
7. The Flag should never be used as drapery of any sort whatsoever, never festooned, drawn back, nor up, in folds, but always allowed to fall free. Bunting of blue, white and red, always arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle, and the red below, should be used for covering a speaker's desk, draping the front of a platform, and for decoration in general.
8. Do not fasten the Flag in such manner as will permit it to be easily torn.
9. Do not drape the Flag over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle, or of a railway train or boat. When the Flag is displayed on a motor car, the staff should be affixed firmly to the chassis, or clamped to the radiator cap.
10. Do not display the Flag on a float in a parade except from a staff.
11. Do not use the Flag as a covering for a ceiling.
12. Do not carry the Flag flat or horizontally, but always aloft and free.
13. Do not use the Flag as a portion of a costume or of an athletic uniform. Do not embroider it upon cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes.
14. Do not put lettering of any kind upon the Flag.
15. Do not use the Flag in any form of advertising nor fasten an advertising sign to a pole from which the Flag is flown.
16. Do not display, use or store the Flag in such a manner as will permit it to be easily soiled or damaged.
17. The Flag should never be used as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying, or delivering anything.

Christian Scientists Say

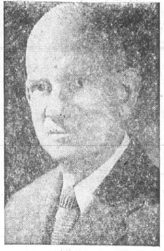
Problems Facing Humanity Need Christ's Christianity

Nothing but Christ's Christianity can supply the answer to the tremendously challenging problems facing humanity, The Christian Science Board of Directors said today.

"The world needs the Science of Christianity as it has never needed it before," the Directors declared in a special statement.

Thousands of Christian Scientists from many parts of the world heard the Directors' message at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Taking note of the significant changes taking place in the world, the Directors said: "With the breaking of the barriers of time and space the mental outlook of men stands out in increasingly sharp relief, revealing an unprecedented clashing of ideologies.



CLIFFORD A. WOODARD

"Materia medica is more and more tracing physical effects to mental causes. The churches are reaching out for spiritual healing."

Application of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, demands individual consecration, the Directors emphasized.

"We need to retain the spirit of the sturdy pioneer, to guard against apathy, superficiality, and the intoxication of ease in matter," they stated.

Their message, read by Theodore Wallach, retiring First Reader of The Mother Church, highlighted a session at which progress was reported on the far-flung activities of the denomination which now has branches in some 48 countries.

In his keynote address Clifford A. Woodward of Cambridge, Mass., Christian Science practitioner and incoming President of The Mother Church, underscored the vital role of practical Christianity today. "Humanity," he said, "sorely needs our prayers and all the help that Christian Science can give to solve the world's troubles and problems.

"What," he added, "can melt away the evils of a 'cold war' but the warmth of affections enriched by the Word of God? What can still the ambition to rule the whole world but the realization that, as the Psalmist assures us (Ps. 62:11), 'Power belongeth unto God,' and (Ps. 103:19), 'His kingdom ruleth over all'?"

When your child tells untruths, think a little bit; perhaps he's afraid to tell the truth for fear of punishment, caution family relation specialists at M.S.U. Maybe your demands, as parents, are too stern and punishment is too severe. Relax a little and let him know you are willing to be reasonable and patient in helping him change his behavior.

Two from Area Are MSU Grads

An estimated 2,195 spring graduates at Michigan State University received degrees at 4 p.m. Sunday, June 10, in commencement exercises on the M.S.U. campus.

The 98th annual graduation program was held in Macklin Field stadium.

The spring graduating class included approximately 1,839 bachelor degree, 282 master degree and 74 doctoral degree candidates. The degrees were conferred by President John A. Hannah.

The commencement speaker was President Virgil M. Hancher of the State University of Iowa. The distinguished educator spoke on "The Two Nations."

Including all degrees, the 1956 class is the second largest in M.S.U. history. The 1950 class was largest with 2,432 graduates. This year's graduating senior class is M.S.U.'s third largest.

Candidates from the Tecumseh area include William L. Bortel of Britton, bachelor of science in animal husbandry, and Beverly I. Hay of Tecumseh, bachelor of arts in speech.

Brazees Entertain Wit and Wisdom

The Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Brazee of Iron Creek entertained the Wit and Wisdom Club Monday evening for their annual picnic. The Brazees have been hosts for this event for several years and the potluck supper was held in the social rooms of the Iron Creek Community church as usual. A feature of the supper was home made ice cream made by the hosts.

A very short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Herbert Munger during which a program committee was appointed for the coming year. Those who will plan for next year's activities are Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Finch, Miss Marjorie Wickwire, Mrs. Hoyt Whelan and Mr. and Mrs. Faye VanValkenburg.

A social hour of impromptu stories, poems and reminiscences replaced a formal program and was much enjoyed by those present. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pocklington of Ridgeway were guests.

"ONE WORLD" SELECTED FOR FESTIVAL TITLE

The following band masters met Tuesday night at the home of Alvin Bohms of Adrian: Don Johnson of Tecumseh and Howard Bond of Blissfield.

Purpose of the meeting, which was presided over by Clare Camburn, chairman, was to select a title for the coming tenth annual Lenawee County Band Festival to be held here next Oct. 2.

The title decided on was: One World with a sub title of Transportation and Communication.

Mr. Bohms is bandmaster in the Adrian Schools.

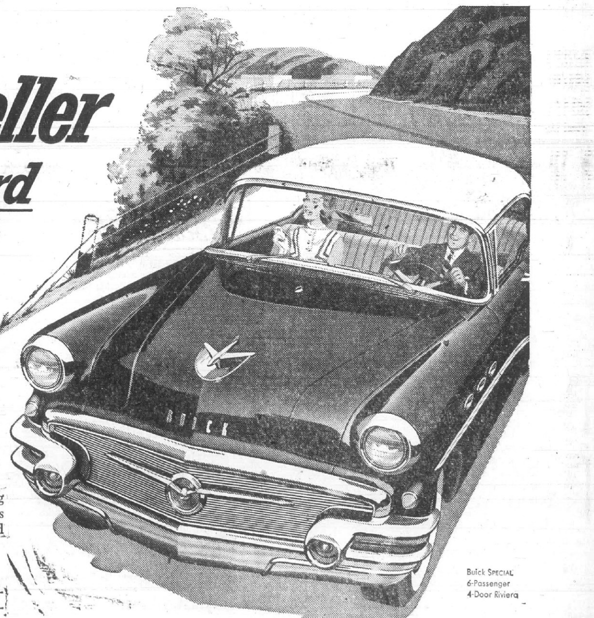
Best Seller that's hard to beat

This '56 Buick is packed with new features— and priced close to the smaller cars!



Buick SPECIAL 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

WANT SOME QUICK FACTS on the big news in automobiles today—news that can guide you to a smart move and a real smart buy?

Then listen—it won't take long.

The 1956 Buick has so many new developments—in styling—in power—in performance—in ride and handling—that it is, literally, the best Buick yet. That's Fact No. 1.

And Fact No. 2 proves it: Buick today is more strongly entrenched than ever in the top three of the nation's best sellers—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

One big reason for this success is the strapping new Buick SPECIAL—like the one pictured here.

It's priced right close to those smaller cars—but, like every '56 Buick, it's a whale of a lot more new car for the money.

It cradles a big, new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that's record-high in power and compression, and crammed with engineering news even the costly cars can't claim.

It makes the most of every bit of power with a new version of Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that's the most efficient yet. With a new development the engineers call "double regeneration," Dynaflow gives you great new acceleration from the first thrifty inch of pedal pressure. Even before you switch the pitch.

And this '56 Buick cushions you in the softest ride ever. Shows an uncanny sense of direction on every curve and turn. Puts a whole new feeling of safety, security and solidity into every mile you drive.

So before you buy any car—catch up on the latest news. Come try a '56 Buick. When you see how much new automobile your money can buy, we don't think you'll ever settle for less.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Allens Entertain Troop 8 Brownies

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, grandparents of Linda and Lana Callihan, entertained Brownie Troop 8 at their farm on Allen Rd. last Friday.

The girls enjoyed a wild flower hike through the woods, games in the hay mow in the barn and a cook out in the yard.

In concluding the outing Mrs. Allen, representing the P.E.O. the sponsoring organization, presented each girl with her badge sash which will be a part of next year's scout uniform.

Girls in the troop are Linda Callihan, Lana Callihan, Aprill Warren, Peggy Morris, Inara Freimanis, Karen Gollar, Chris Rodabaugh, Loretta MacKenzie, Nancy Kennel, Kathy Hodges, Maxine Fuller and Mary Ellen Smith.

Leader is Mrs. Howard Morris and assistant leader is Mrs. Robert Warren.

MSU Offers Education Course at Adrian College

Michigan State University will offer a course in education this summer at Adrian in conjunction with Adrian College.

The course, Elementary School Curriculum, will be taught by the M.S.U. College of Education at Adrian College, June 18 to July 26.

"Michigan State welcomes the opportunity to cooperate with Adrian College in providing summer school instructional services. This is a practical expression of collaboration between M.S.U. and Adrian," declares Leslie W. Scott, director of the M.S.U. Continuing Education Service. Michigan State will teach 35 selected courses at 16 locations during the summer.

The Adrian course, offering three term hours of graduate or undergraduate credit, will be taught by Dr. Mildred Sommers. Dr. Sommers, secured by M.S.U. for this course, is director of instruction for the Jackson public schools. The classes will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Dr. Sommers reports the course will be a study of the elementary school curriculum, the significant psychological and philosophical backgrounds, subject areas and trends and pupil-progress reporting.

Teachers and other interested adults can secure additional information about the course from Dr. Lewis Brembaugh, dean of Adrian College.

Circle 7 Has Last Meeting

The last meeting of the season of Circle 7 of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening. Thirteen members and two guests enjoyed a potluck supper at the home of Miss Ann Carson.

The president, Mrs. LeRoy Titley conducted a routine business meeting and the devotional period was in charge of Mrs. John Stoner.

Mrs. E. J. Aebersold was program leader and all present participated in a skit which had an Indian theme. Indians American has been the study subject this year.

Miss Carson was assisted by Mrs. Forest Abner and Mrs. William Frownfelder. The group will resume meetings in Sept.

Christian Science Services Listed

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Man's God-given dominion over material laws and limitations will be set forth in readings from the King James Version of the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Among the selections to be read from Science and Health is the following (307:26): "Man was not created from a material basis, nor bidden to obey material laws which Spirit never made; his province is in spiritual statutes, in the higher law of Mind."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (95:3,4): "The Lord is a great God, and a great King above all gods. In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the strength of the hills is his also."

The Way I Saw It . . . .

BY JENS TOUBORG

The day after I had got my elephant, Andy took us out on a long trip in the jeep to look for Oryx and Lesser Kudu. We went about 30 miles from camp in an easterly direction, turned off the regular track and started moseying south down through the thornbushes.

At one time Andy stopped the car and invited me to come up on the roof with him. He made me turn around in all directions and showed me how difficult it would be, in the middle of the day, when the sun was right overhead, to know in which direction north was. With the total lack of landmarks which existed there, it was indeed a problem. There was absolutely nothing to go by in the way of moss or other marks on the bushes. They looked alike from any angle; no hills nor ravines to give character to the landscape. Without a compass I would have been lost, at least in the middle of the day. And what about cloudy days?

Having seen nothing except landscape from our perch on top of the car, we got down and continued our general search, now following a faintly distinguished trail weaving in and out among the bushes.

We never did see the animals we were after.

MAMA BECOMES EXCITED

Suddenly Peg became excited and pointed in between the large thornbushes. There were three elephants majestically walking past us in the direction of the river. The river was a long way off and completely out of sight, but we knew where it was and evidently so did the elephants.

We immediately parked Peg and the jeep under a bush and started after the elephants with the camera. I badly wanted some good pictures of these great beasts and here was a real chance.

In order not to spook the big fellows, we had to run and walk a course parallel to the one they were walking, but far enough off to leeward so they would not be aware of our presence. After we had passed them, we then had to try to get closer to the path they were following and by standing still take pictures without being detected. Believe it or not, that took stamina.

The elephants were huge. It did not take long to see that the smallest of the three was larger than the one I had shot the day before, and the largest — Oh Boy!

I took picture after picture, of course, not knowing that I was still working on the film from the episode with my lion, the one which did not move when I turned the button.

NOW ANDY IS EXCITED

Andy was beside himself with excitement. He ran and looked, ran and looked. "Oh, this is fantastic. This would be front page stuff in Nairobi, if only they knew," he said.

At long last we stopped and Andy proposed that we go back to camp to get Mr. Clausen and have him shoot one of the big fellows, since he had not yet got his.

We left Mohamed, N'Gora and Sangora to carefully follow the elephants and make signs on the trail, so that when we came back with Clausen, we would know how to catch up with them.

In the early part of the afternoon we were back in camp and I was detailed to try to talk Mr. Clausen into coming along. He had not been feeling good and had taken aspirin the evening before and during the night. I told him this was a chance of a lifetime, but he felt it would be foolish for him to risk pneumonia by getting up.

EFFORTS ARE FUTILE

When my efforts proved futile, Andy put in an oar but with the same result. We finally gave it up as a bad job and drove back to our thornbushes and elephants.

After some search and deciphering of marks on the ground, we picked up our three helpers and drove toward camp again.

Next morning Clausen got up for breakfast and told Andy that he wanted to go elephant hunting. For a moment I thought we were going to have a case of mayhem in camp, but we succeeded in calming Andy down. They went hunting and had the unheard of luck of running into a real nice specimen three miles from camp.

Everybody happy.

There were many, many other little incidents with which I shall not try to tire the reader.

In conclusion, I must say that the safari was a wonderful experieuce, one whieh I shall never forget. Even today a nostalgic feeling comes over me when I allow myself to dream of the friends we made among the natives and the things we saw and experienced. Some day I hope to go back and take up where we left off and see as much as possible of a fascinating continent and its people before it becomes too late to do so.

THE END

A word to those who are stuffing Thanksgiving turkeys—If you prepare the stuffing ahead of time, store it seperately in the refrigerator. Stuff the turkey just before roasting. And when storing the left-over turkey and dressing, be sure to remove the stuffing again and store them separately.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Just the Facts, Ma'am!

Having a red-hot crime wave in town. Specs McGuire and Buck Hanson were caught taking money out of parking meters—again. I was at Police Headquarters when a nice old lady rushed in to report them.

"It was dark but I saw their faces in the flashlight beam," she said breathlessly. "You can't trust anybody these days!"

She got flustered when Chief Benson explained that Specs and Buck are authorized collectors—working nights after their regular jobs. "Have to get 'em uniforms," said Benson. "Third time they've been turned in!"

From where I sit, we ought to guard against accusing anyone of being "wrong" just because that's the way it looks to us. For instance, I've heard people talk against a neighbor because they didn't approve of his choice of beverage! (They liked tea, or something, while he preferred a glass of beer.) Be sure you have a case before you lay down the law.

For those who don't, sudden trouble may lie ahead.

The law works like this: If you fail to pay taxes, either by skipping one year's payment or by continued forgetfulness, the county will place your tax on sale, three years after the tax delinquency occurs. Purchasers may afterward use this tax as a wedge toward acquiring title to the land.

Probably you will be notified that your taxes are due, but neither state nor local officials are responsible for an owner's failure to pay his taxes. Each owner must take care of this by himself.

Cases occur continually of persons who forget to pay taxes, then "go to sleep" on the subject, and finally wake with a start to find themselves being dispossessed.

Land owners are somewhat protected by various privileges, even after tax-reversion is under way, but all are legally complex and much more costly than the original unpaid tax.

The land owner, for example, in odder to regain title, can match the high bid when his land is sold at public auction. He has 30 days after the sale in which to match this bid price.

Other privileges also are available, but only if the land owner acts promptly. Contact county tax collection agencies or the Conservation Department's lands division at Lansing, 26, for further details.

Fire damage to state and private forests and grasslands totaled 28 acres during the last week as 26 fires were reported.

The northern lower peninsula had the bulk of the loss with 16 fires damaging 19 acres. Another 10 fires in the upper peninsula damaged nine acres. No fires were reported in the southern lower peninsula.

Including last week's totals, 287 fires this year have damaged 1960 acres in the state.

LUTHERAN CHURCH PLANS PICNIC

The annual Sunday School picnic of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church will be held June 17 with a potluck dinner in the church basement. In the afternoon there will be games for each of the classes and later ice cream and pop will be served.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church held their birthday meeting Wednesday evening. After the program the ladies made cancer pads.

This is the second week of the vacation Bible school at Grace church; 93 boys and girls are taking part.

Butters Lend Gourmet Touch to Food Snack

What's better than butter spreads to add a gourmet touch to snacking.

Suggestions for a variety of butter spreads are given by Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University. For all the following spreads, use one-fourth cup butter as a base for preparation. Cream the butter, add the ingredients and mix thoroughly. Store in a covered jar in your refrigerator until ready to use.

Anchovy butter — add any amount of anchovy paste or mashed anchovy fillets.

Honey butter — add one-fourth cup honey and blend thoroughly.

Cheese butter — add one to three tablespoons Blue, Roquefort, Nuworld or Parmesan cheese rubbed through a strainer. Season.

Chive or Parsley butter — add one to two tablespoons finely chopped parsley or chives.

Garlic butter — add one to two cloves of garlic crushed with one-half teaspoon salt, a few grains of black pepper, one-fourth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and one drop of Tobasco sauce. Sauces may be omitted. This is excellent with steaks, fish or for garlic bread.

Horseradish butter — add drained horseradish to suit taste.

Olive butter — add two tablespoons finely chopped green or stuffed olives and a few drops of onion juice.

Nut butter — add two to four tablespoons finely chopped pecans, hazel nuts or almonds. Season with salt.

TECUMSEH GRANGE WILL MEET TONIGHT

A regular meeting of Tecumseh Grange will be held June 14 beginning at 8 p.m.

Members of the North Rome church will be present and will furnish some numbers for the program.

Local members will present two short skits entitled "Tempest at the Breakfast Table" by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore and "Miss Belind's Burglar" given by the Hally sisters and their brother Roger.

Iva Grigg will give a reading, "Lena's Leap Year Leap" and there will be flute selections played by Mrs. Margaret Bless. Refreshments of cake and jello will be served at the close of the program.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

THOUGHT YOU SHOULD KNOW why there are so many brides in June. It's been going on for centuries. In ancient Roman mythology the statuesque Juno was the goddess of marriage and June was her special month. So Roman maidens aspired and contrived to be wed during her purportedly protective reign. And the popularity of June as the month of marriages has survived through the ages.

JUST ABOUT EVERY YEAR at this time we receive a note from Mrs. Will Allen of Detroit who goes to Cincinnati, Ohio, for the summer, explaining that the paper should be sent to her in the Ohio town. And she always reminds us "to wrap the paper very carefully" to make sure that she gets it because it is "going too far now." Mrs. Allen has taken the HERALD 65 years. Her carefully-wrapped paper again is on its way.

SHOULD THE STREAM that bisects Monroe County, Mich., be called the River Raisin or Raisin River?

If you are one who likes to keep alive the original names of places you will call it the River Raisin, reports Ralph E. Phelps in the Toledo Blade.

When the first explorers, LaSalle and Charlevoix, visited the area they were attracted by the magnificent grape vines and thick clusters of beautiful grapes in the forest that lined the banks of the stream.

Being French, they named the river "Riviere aux Raisin," or "River Raisin."

Here is how LaSalle described the area then:

"Great luxuriant fields of wild rice and sweet flags, grapes and berries extend ahead and around us for miles. The streams and trees along its banks are festooned with magnificent vines bearing great clusters of grapes. We gave it the name 'Riviere aux Raisin' and asked our coureur de bois who proceeded up the stream if there was much game and he said there was."

Even thought the country ultimately passed into the hands of the English and Americans, the French name for the river stuck and today rarely is it referred to as the Raisin River.

The Indians once called it River of Sturgeon.

IF YOU WOULD BE SUCCESSFUL start at the bottom and wake up.

THE SOUND OF GROWING THINGS —

I put my ear against the ground.
Within the earth I heard a sound.
I listened close, and far below
I heard the sound of things that grow.

I heard the boom of bursting seed,
The pop of sprouting flower and weed,
The scratching fingers of the roots,
The rustle of unfolding shoots.

I heard the rattling paper frill
Unwinding from the daffodil;
I heard young blades of grass and grain
Come whispering up toward sun and rain.

Oh, lucky me . . . to put my ear
So close to earth that I could hear
The lovely music summer sings,
The happy sound of growing things!

Tecumseh Has 2901 Registered Voters

Monday, July 9, is the last day to register for the general primary election which will be held Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Meanwhile, a list of voting precincts and the number of registered voters in all townships in the Tecumseh area and in Tecumseh and Adrian cities have been compiled by the Secretary of State.

The report shows that Tecumseh has 2901 registered voters and Adrian has 9413.

Tecumseh has three machine precincts and Adrian has 13.

TOWNSHIPS LISTED

Tecumseh area townships and their registration numbers are:

Clinton Township—one machine precinct; 1050 registered voters.

Franklin Township — one machine precinct; 655 registered voters.

Macon Township — one paper precinct; 420 registered voters.

Raisin Township — one paper precinct; 710 registered voters.

Ridgeway Township — one machine precinct; 610 registered voters.

Tecumseh Township — one machine precinct; 256 registered voters.

Secretary of State James M. Hare says: "This marks the first time in the history of the state that we have a complete census of voting precincts and the number of registered voters."

The lists were compiled from reports required by the state legislature and made to the Secretary of State by clerks of all cities and townships in the state.

STATE HAS 3,128,449

Early this year the state had 3,128,449 registered voters in 5,175 precincts, or roughly half of the total population.

Of these precincts 2,577 use paper and 2,598 use voting machines.

There are 31,388 registered voters in Lenawee County.

Water

Last week during the heat wave the city pumped a new high in water gallonage, reaching 2,700,000 gallons a day.

Meanwhile, city manager Ed Nelson is looking for a new source of supply. He told councilmen Monday night his "witch stick" told him that there is a good water flow west of Occidental road off Munger road.

13 Leave for Boys' State

The following boys will leave today by 40 et 8 box car for Boys' State at Michigan State University: Nick Touborg (chairman), Dean Andrews (secretary), Warren Naugle, Neil O'Hara, Al Dickinson, Don Greene, Ron Mikesell, Charles Hand, Scott Harvey, Gary Cameron, Dave Merillat, Gordon LaLonde and Barry Packard.

The week trip will be sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, Exchange, American Legion, VFW, Rotary, United Products Workers, Tecumseh Products Co., Tresco Foundation and Ottawa Machine.

Boys' State is sponsored by the American Legion Department of Michigan. It gives boys first-hand information on government, politics and citizenship with mock campaigns and elections in city, state and national offices.

Tecumseh Has 1140 Elm Trees

The city will wait to see what the Michigan Department of Agriculture does before any action is taken on spraying elms for Dutch Elm disease.

A nursery has surveyed elm trees 20 feet in from the curb. There are 1140 in the city, including parks and the cemetery. The cost of spraying these trees would be a little more than $1 per tree. The nursery estimated the cost would be $1,595.

The information was tabled by council action until the state report is made available.

Local School Census Lists 4136 Students

The school census recently completed for 1956 shows that there are 1302 children between birth from five years or age residing in the Tecumseh school district and 2834 from the ages five through 19, making a total of 4136.

Through the annexation of 15 primary districts plus the normal increase in population of Tecumseh there are 1262 more school age children and 513 more preschool children than the system had one year ago.

The increase in the city is about normal. In 1955 the city had a gain of 100 from five to 19 and 35 from 0 to five. In 1956 the gain was 116 from five to 19 and a decrease of 32 from 0 to five.

The totals in the new census according to ages are:

Under One—211
One—295
Two—250
Three—252
Four—294
Five—245
Six—230
Seven—249
Eight—268
Nine—267
Ten—187
Eleven—164
Twelve—192
Thirteen—202
Fourteen—162
Fifteen—163
Sixteen—146
Seventeen—118
Eighteen—130
Nineteen—111

TELEVISION BURNS

Firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Charles Hooten on south Division St. Saturday night when a television set caught on fire. Damages were confined to the set.

FUN IN THE PIT — Bill La Prad, Bill Ross and Larry Titley have a lot of fun in the pit and cool off during the hot summer days. Duaine Furbush is the swimming instructor.

Val in Open

Val Spangler, 17, shot a 79 Monday to qualify as an amateur for the Michigan Open.

The qualifying round was played at the Indian Wood Country Club at Lake Orion.

One hundred and fifty-four will compete in the open which will be held on the same course June 28 to 30.

A caddy at the Tecumseh Country Club, Val is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grenval Spangler.

Topical Fluoride Clinic Begins

The committee working on the topical fluoride treatments for children's teeth requests that parents cooperate in making appointments.

The program will continue at Central school five days a week until July 17 at 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. each day.

Those wanting information on scheduling may call Mrs. Victor Lawson, 810-J; Mrs. George McCombs, 663; or Mrs. Robert Anderson, 974.

Crack Down on Speeders

City officials want to crack down on speeders.

Councilmen Monday night said too many residents are complaining of speeding in the city limits.

To counteract the complaints, the electric timing device was placed on various city streets. One day last week it "caught" 38 speeders on Russell road.

Councilmen want to know what happens to speeders after they are caught. Some think that the fines they receive — particularly the habitual speeders — are not stiff enough.

Their thinking is this: too many that are caught don't mind paying $5. Some even tell the apprehending officer "O.K., give me my ticket; so I can be on my way." Several of these are habitual.

One case was cited where a driver was going 90 miles an hour racing in town. He thought the car chasing him wanted to race; but it turned out to be a patrol car.

Councilmen believe that a "get tougher" policy is in order. They feel that "one of these days a speeding car is going to strike down a child; then it will be too late."

They requested that chief of police George Kilbourn and Robert French, justice of the peace, be present at the next council meeting to explain their thoughts on speeding and fining of speeders.

$500

A $500 advance to city attorney J. C. Beardsley was granted by the council Monday night for use in the fluoridation trial.

He explained that the money is needed to pay witnesses that will be called to testify in the trial which is scheduled for July 26 and 27 in circuit court.

The attorney said he did not know how much of the $500 would be needed for this purpose.

Discuss Sanitary City Land Fill

The city will try a sanitary land fill for disposing of garbage and rubbish.

The city manager Monday night told councilmen that he had received a number of calls complaining of odors coming from the sewerage disposal plant. On checking, he continued, the odor had lifted before he arrived.

He said he believes that the odor is coming from the city dump and not from the disposal plant.

The city manager explained that the sanitary land fill (a huge trench is dug and as refuse is placed in the trench, it is covered with dirt) would serve two good purposes: it would probably do away with a lot of bad odors in the east part of town and it would help the city reclaim land.

Councilmen gave him the go ahead sign on the proposed project.

Tecumseh Gets $15,831 for Roads

Area units of government have received motor vehicle funds and weight and gas tax monies.

Motor vehicle funds distribution included: $322,790 for Lenawee County; $1775 for Britton; and $15,831 for Tecumseh.

The funds go for road and street improvements.

Weight and gas tax monies included: $21,015 for Lenawee County; $113 for Britton; and $1016 for Tecumseh.

GRADUATES FROM UM

John C. Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron, 205 north Democratic, Tecumseh, received the degree of doctor of dental surgery at commencement exercises at the University of Michigan last Saturday.

He was one or 5032 graduates who received degrees.

Commencement speaker was Nabor Carrillo, rector of the National University of Mexico.

The Rev. James Re-Appointed to Methodist Church

The Rev. Horace James has been re-appointed pastor of the Methodist church here.

And the Rev. Haybert Woodall has been re-appointed as pastor of the Britton and Ridgeway Methodist churches.

The Rev. Ronald Brunger, former Tecumseh pastor, was re-appointed as pastor of the Dundee Methodist church.

The new pastor at Clinton is the Rev. James Simmons and the new pastor at Macon is the Rev. Donald Bates.

They succeed the Rev. H. Vaughn Whited.

The appointments and re-appointments were announced by L. LaVerne Finch, superintendent of the Ann Arbor district.

Plans Outlined for New Bridge Over Red Pond

Tecumseh has a good chance of having a new bridge across Red Pond by early next year.

The Michigan State Highway Department sent a resolution to the council explaining a three-way plan whereby the state, the county and the city will share in paying for the cost of the new bridge.

The cost was estimated at $180,000 with the city paying $30,000.

According to Ed Nelson, city manager, the city could pay for its share of the bridge in about seven years by allowing its gas and weight tax monies to make the payments.

4 Will Be in Race for School Board

The petition of a fourth candidate for the election of the board of education of the Tecumseh Public Schools was found valid following a recheck of the registration sheets sent by one of the township clerks for the school election registration books by that township clerk and the superintendent.

Mathew Lunn of Holloway will have his name on the ballot for a three year term along with those of Jens K. Touborg, Virgil Tucker and Harold W. Anderson.

Mr. Touborg and his wife, Peg, live on Pottawatamie St. and have two children. Margaret graduated from Tecumseh and attends Albion College and Nicky is a senior in Tecumseh high.

Mr. Touborg was first elected to the board in 1941 and has been president of the board since 1944. He is director of engineering at the Tecumseh Products Company.

Mr. Tucker and his wife, Marion, live on Bidwell St. and have three children. Sherry is 14, Michael 12 and Lance two.

Mr. Tucker is assistant secretary at the Tecumseh Products Company.

Harold W. Anderson and his wife, Mae, live in Tipton. They have two girls, Patricia Lee 12, and Connie Marie five.

Mr. Anderson is a farmer.

Mathew Lunn and his wife, Marjorie, live in Holloway and have two children. Margaret Ann, recently married, graduated from Adrian high and attended Albion College and Adrian College one year each. James graduated from Adrian high this spring. Mr. Lunn is a guidance counselor at Adrian junior high.

Further information concerning these candidates will appear soon.

Absentee voters ballots may be obtained from the superintendent's office in the high school.

Richard Myers Is New Manager at Kroger Store

Richard Myers is the new manager of the Kroger store here. He succeeds Gene Shoemaker who resigned. The Shoemaker family is moving to Arizona.

A native of Findlay, Ohio, Mr. Myers, 25, is a graduate of Findlay high school and had one year of college work at Findlay College.

He has had Kroger experience at Findlay, Ottawa, Delta and Toledo, Ohio.

Married, Mr. Myers, his wife and year-old son will move to Tecumseh as soon as they find adequate housing.

Two Convicts Arrested Here

Tecumseh police apprehended two escaped convicts from the Virginia State prison during the past week.

Frank Lewis Smith, 30, was arrested Wednesday, June 13, and Henry Lee Lucus, 20, was arrested Monday.

They admitted stealing three cars on the way here. And they were arrested when they tried to sell a stolen camera.

Both men are lodged in the county jail awaiting arrival of Virginia officers.

Tecumseh High School Rates High with U-M

The following letter, received by Neville L. Hart, Tecumseh High School principal, from the Bureau of School Services, of the University of Michigan, reads in part:

"It was a pleasure for the group from the University of Michigan to spend May 2, 1956, visiting the Tecumseh High School. The fact that there were numerous visitors (seven from the University of Michigan) gave a good opportunity to observe the various departments of the school.

"Your school shows the efforts of good administration and the cooperative work of the staff and the community. The citizenship shown by the students was good and all staff members were very cooperative. You are troubled by population growth which is common at this time; however, your plans for enlarging your facilities will solve this problem for a time."

Following are comments and recommendations made by the visitors:

COMMERCIAL: "The commercial department in your school is very good, and I feel that the work being done is in accord with the demands of the community. I would continue to stress the need of complete training in this area. It is my opinion that the instructors in the commercial department are very well prepared and have a good understanding of the commercial needs of your students. You are to be commended for the fine equipment in this department, especially for the office machines added recently."

HOMEMAKING: "The work in the area of homemaking is very good and the department is well equipped; however, if at all possible, there should be more room provided for this department. To teach homemaking and to provide space for a living area where students have the opportunity to experiment with arrangements require more space than is available at present."

GUIDANCE: "Undoubtedly the most significant of my observations was the genuinely high morale displayed by both students and teachers. Interviews with teachers and a sample of students gave many indications that pupil-teacher relatonships were much above the level found in the ordinary school. These relationships provide many opportunities for forms of incidental guidance activities."

FOREIGN LANGUAGES: "In visiting the foreign language clesses and one English class of this school, I was impressed by the cooperative and wholesome relationship between staff and students and by the apparent absence of any problem children.. The morale among the teachers whose classes I visited and with whom I subsequently talked was excellent. The foreign language teachers, whose professional and pedagogic competence I respected, gave the impression of being members of a well-functioning team led by a competent and trusted captain with marked administrative talent and a gift for interpersonal relations."

SOCIAL STUDIES: "I was favorably impressed with the physical plant at Tecumseh High School. In spite of somewhat over-crowded conditions the building is well kept and provided a pleasant atmosphere for students and teachers alike. The teaching staff is a pleasant group made up of persons who appear to be interested in their work. The students were cooperative, orderly and respectful towards their teachers. The administration appeared to be making a sincere effort to provide the students with a sound educational program. The school spirit was excellent."

ENGLISH: "First of all, I wish to speak of the air of friendliness and cooperation, both in the classroom and out of it, which characterized our visit to Tecumseh High School. This is a 'happy ship' to use Navy parlance, which means a smoothly functioning command from the C. O. right down to the ultimate unit of personnel. The cleanliness of the building is one of the best clues to a general good state of affairs; this is a clean building. Classroom atmosphere I found to be a healthy one in the four English classes I visited. An air of good humor while getting the job done was remarkably evident; the youngsters laughed often—always with the teacher—and were freely responsive and alert. I saw no hint of disciplinary problems—we all commented on this in the car on the way back—and work went forward in an orderly fashion."

INDUSTRIAL ARTS: "The classes visited revealed a fine teacher-student relationship with student interest and enthusiasm very evident. The exploratory general shop class for boys and girls was unusually well organized and conducted. A written description of the industrial arts courses and program is a patricularly desirable project that is nearing completion. Staff members displayed real interest in their students and in procedures for improving the instructional program. An important problem is the inadequate facility for farm shop instruction. The present shared space is entirely too small and inadequate for a good program. A farm shop room should be added with adequate space, storage facilities, and needed equipment to serve this instructional area. I feel the staff will conduct a superior program if adequate facilities are provided for their use."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR GIRLS: "The indoor facilities including the two gymnasia, locker rooms and shower facilities are clean, pleasant and seem adequate for the present class load. The students seem to enjoy the program and are given some responsibility in conducting the class. The pep and enthusiasm of the instructor is reflected in the students' attitude. An attempt is being made to satisfy the needs and desires of the very heterogeneous high school group."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR BOYS: "Since the weather had forced the classes inside from the normal outdoor spring activities, the activities were largely recreational. I should point out, however, that this did not prevent the instructor from doing some very excellent incidental teaching with various individuals in the class. I

HOURS CHANGED

Beginning Saturday, July 7, hours at the Public Library will be changed for that one day each week. The doors will be open at 11 a.m. rather than 2 p.m. as in the past and will close at 6 p.m. instead of the present 9 p.m. hour.

JCC AWARDED

The Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce has been given an award by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce for outstanding civic service.

CAR HITS SCHOOL

Gary Marsh, 17, of Tecumseh escaped injury early Sunday morning when his car went off Monagan highway and struck Excelsior school.

He told state police that he did not see the end of the road because the fog was too thick.

He was given a summons for driving too fast for road conditions.

Rumler-Hahn Vows Spoken in St. Elizabeth Church

Pink peonies in altar vases and hampers predominated in the decorations of St. Elizabeth Catholic church Saturday morning when at 10 o'clock Vivian Pauline Hahn and Franklin Eugene Rumler were united in marriage by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins at Nuptial High Mass.

Palms and lighted candles added to the impressive ceremony and clusters of peonies tied with satin bows marked the family pews. The soloist, Wallace Whiting, accompanied by Mrs. Ben Hammack at the organ sang "Ave Marie" before the wedding party arrived at the altar and later sang "Panis Angelicus" and, as the bride placed flowers before the Blessed Virgin, "Mother at Your Feet is Kneeling".

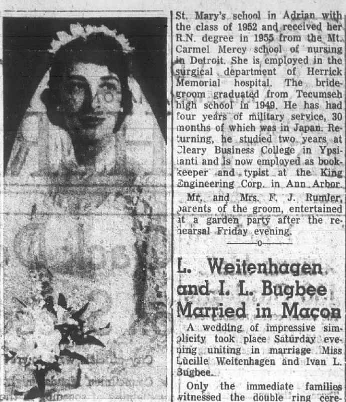
The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hahn of Clinton was given in marriage by her father. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Rumler, whose home is on the Clinton-Tecumseh road.

Mrs. Melvin A. Murphy of Tecumseh was matron of honor, gowned in frosted white organdy under mint green net and taffeta. It was made waltz length and sleeveless with a scoop neckline outlined by the taffeta. Her flowers were white daisies accented with pink roses and gypsophilia arranged in a cascade.

The bridesmaids, Jean Wiedelhaus and Rosemary Hathaway, wore yellow, their dresses being identical in style with that of Mrs. Murphy and their similiar bouquets being yellow roses and daisies. Both young ladies were classmates of the bride at the Mercy School of Nursing. All the attendants wore picture hats of white horsehair and short white gloves.

Karen Ann Rumler the bridegroom's sister was junior bridesmaid and her costume was like the others except that she wore a circlet of daises and roses in her hair and carried a miniature bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

The best man was Bernard Swindeman of Deerfield and Melvin A. Murphy and John Cameron of Tecumseh were the ushers.



MRS. FRANKLIN RUMLER

The gown of the slender, brunette bride was of Chantilly lace and tulle, featuring a fitted bodice of the lace, points of which, embroidered with iridescent sequins, outlined the deeply rounded yoke and neckline. The long lace sleeves ended at the fingers. Tiered hoops supported the very full, floor length skirt and her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a crown made of orange petals and French berries embroidered with sequins. White phalaenopsis orchids were combined with yellow roses and ivy to form her cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Hahn, mother of the bride, wore a gown of tan linen and lace. Her hat, shoes and gloves were white and her costume was accented by a corsage of red rosettes. Slate blue shantung was worn by Mrs. Rumler with pink and white accessories and her corsage was of pink roses. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. John Reum of Dundee wore a corsage of white roses with a black dress.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held at the Tecumseh Country Club where a buffet luncheon was served to 175 guests. They were received by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hahn of Clinton, aunt and uncle of the bride and registered by Mrs. Robert Moore of Britton. The bride's cake was cut by Mrs. Patrick Mudget of Cleveland, Ohio and the bridegroom's by Mrs. Harley Slick of Tecumseh. Mrs. James Lunn of Detroit presided at the luncheon table and the gifts were received by Lorrain Kerber, Jean Lemmer and Ilene Hahn. White larkspur, daisies and pink roses and peonies decorated the buffet table and were arranged about the club rooms.

The bride wore tan linen when the couple left on their wedding trip. Her accessories were white and her corsage of red roses. They planned to visit northern Michigan, Canada and New York and when they return their home will be at 313½ N. Maiden Lane in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Rumler is a graduate of St. Mary's school in Adrian with the class of 1952 and received her R.N. degree in 1955 from the Mt. Carmel Mercy school of nursing in Detroit. She is employed in the surgical department of Herrick Memorial hospital. The bridegroom graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1949. He has had four years of military service, 30 months of which was in Japan. Returning, he studied two years at Cleary Business College in Ypsilanti and is now employed as bookkeeper and typist at the King Engineering Corp. in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Rumler, parents of the groom, entertained at a garden party after the rehearsal Friday evening.

L. Weitenhagen and I. L. Bugbee Married in Macon

A wedding of impressive simplicity took place Saturday evening uniting in marriage Miss Lucille Weitenhagen and Ivan L. Bugbee.

Only the immediate families witnessed the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. H. V. Whited in the Macon Methodist Church at 7 p.m.

Large baskets of pink and white peonies decorated the sanctuary. Mrs. Helen Thomas, church organist, played the traditional wedding march and also appropriate music during the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weitenhagen of 618 Croswell St., Adrian, are the parents of the bride and the groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bugbee of Tecumseh.

The bride chose a street length wedding dress of white nylon over yellow taffeta with white accessories. Her corsage was a phaelanopsis orchid with miniature goldilock roses.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Bugbee, brother and sister-in-law of the groom. Mrs. Bugbee wore a yellow nylon dress with a gardenia corsage and white accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the basement of the church. Miss Elaine Faust, niece of the groom, had charge of the guest book. Mrs. Don Faust, Jr., also niece of the groom, assisted with the gifts.

The refreshment table was decorated in a pink and white color scheme. The wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, was cut by Myrna Bugbee, sister of the groom. Mrs. Frank Swager of Palmyra, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Burton Weitenhagen, sister-in-law of the bride assisted with the serving.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue summer sheer dress with a red rose corsage and blue accessories.

The bride attended Deerfield schools and was employed at the A & P store in Adrian. The groom is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and is employed as a mechanic at Bug's Super Service in Tecumseh.

The couple is at home in their newly purchased home at 116 S. Maumee St., Tecumseh.

Garden Club Has Picnic

Miss Ann Carson was hostess for the annual Garden Club picnic last Friday. Tables were set on the porch for the noon luncheon and 23 members were present. Small bags of vermiculite, compliments of the Tecumseh Saw Shop were favors and later Miss Mary McWilliams and Mrs. Hugh Walters were awarded larger amounts of this garden commodity.

A short business meeting was conducted by Miss Carson, the president and Miss McWilliams gave a report of the recent state conference of Garden Clubs held in Grand Rapids. The group then visited the gardens of Mrs. Al Helzerman and Mrs. Neil Pearson, studying the plants and flowers now at their best. The club will meet again in July at the home of Mrs. Thomas O'Hara.

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

BY HERBERT R. MAYES

Editor, Good Housekeeping

O Lord, support us all the day long, until the shadows lengthen and the evening comes, and the busy world is hushed, and the fever of life is over, and our work is done. Then in Thy mercy grant us a safe lodging, and a holy rest, and peace at the last. (Book of Common Prayer.)

Kerby Files for Prosecutor

Yale Leland Kerby, Morenci attorney has filed his nominating petition as a candidate for prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket.

A former Tecumseh resident, he has been active in Republican circles, running for state senator on the Republican ticket in 1948. And he was one of the first to organize for Ike in 1952.

Mr. Kerby attended Addison high school in 1938; then Tecumseh high school, graduating in 1943.

He attended Michigan State University and graduated from Ohio Northern University in 1951.

Mr. Kerby resided in Tecumseh 14 years before assuming the late Judge Bernard Williamson's law practice in 1952.

Mr. Kerby has been active in civic and veteran affairs. He has served as vice-president of Kiwanis Little League Baseball, president of the Morenci Area Community Chest, and American Legion County Commander.

Mr. Kerby served 32 months in the Marine Corps, and 20 months overseas in World War II.

He pledges a "vigorous prosecution of the law if elected."

METHODIST CIRCLE TO SPONSOR BROWNIES

The Mary Foster Circle of the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church held their June meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. John Cameron with the new officers in charge. Mrs. Clyde Smith conducted a short business meeting during which it was voted to sponsor the Buttercup Brownie Troop again next season. Plans were also made for a rummage sale to be held in the fall.

The hostess with the assistance of Mrs. Andrew Woodward served refreshments to the 12 members and one guest who were present.

It pays to look over clothes for special stains. Stains are best removed when they are fresh and always before the clothes are washed. Hot water and detergent may set stains so they never can be removed.

Correction

Governmental agencies are sometimes in error and the Michigan Historical Commission was a case in point when it sent THE HERALD information regarding the Centennial status of the Bowen farm on Occidental road northwest of the city.

The 100-year part was correct but the notice stated the farm was owned and operated by Dale Bowen. Dale's father, Paul Bowen, now 76 years old, still actively operates the farm as he has done since his boyhood.

ANDERSON GIRLS BIRTHDAY PARTIES HAVE CIRCUS THEME

Saturday June 16 was birthday party day at the Robert Anderson home on W. Pottawatamie street. At 10 a.m. Mrs. Anderson staged a party with circus decorations for her daughter Nancy's sixth birthday and at 2 p.m. there was a "grown-up" party in honor of the 10th birthday anniversary of daughter, Michelle.

Nancy's guests played games, received favors from a fish pond and enjoyed refreshments in a circus theme. They were Melissa Hanna, Kathy Jo King, Joyce and Jill Holden, Jan Wescott, Jane Abner, Patsy Cook and Marie Geisenhaver. Merriam Puffer was not able to come.

Corsages for each of the guests made Michelle's party very adult and each made herself a party hat with the prize for the funniest going to Barbara Colgrove. The others were Sue Fuller, Ann Surratt, Nancy Kennel, Nancy Hooten, Beth Anne O'Neill, Mary Smith, Candace McEnroe, Jean Preston, Joyce Richards, Pam Williams, Kathy Brown and Peggy Johnson.

Here's why more farmers choose
Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

SCHOOL ELECTION JULY 9

Two members will be elected to the Britton-Macon school board at an election to be held at the school July 9. The terms of G. E. Rodgers and Clarence Herford expire at that time. The polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The regular meeting of the school board scheduled for July 4 will be held June 30 instead.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Britton Boy Scouts will hold their regular meetings the first and third week of the month during the summer months. At a recent meeting, it was decided to have a bake sale the last Saturday of June, July and August sponsored by the Boy Scout Mothers' Club.

Boy Scouts are also making plans to attend summer camp at Camp Kanesatake the latter part of June. Six boys recently joined the troop. Five were from the Webelos den led by Norman Yarkow. Donald Maskray is a new member, transferred from Ann Arbor. At present the troop consists of 19 Boy Scouts and seven Explorers. The Explorers will soon be sponsored by the Britton Businessmen's Association.

THIS BEAUTY CAN THREAD A NEEDLE!

Here's Handling So Precise and Effortless, You Forget You're Bossing One of the Biggest Cars on the Road!

It feels and moves like no other car you've ever known!

Here is control as precise and sure as the engineering that created this sleek '56 Pontiac.

It's control based solidly on the strength and balance of a rugged X-member frame—on the power and smoothness of the brilliant Strato-Streak V-8 and Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic*. It's control born of steering so accurate you could thread a needle—and of huge brakes that react to tiptoe pressure to give you cat-quick stops!

A few miles in this road-hugging beauty is an eye-opening experience!

Try it! Come on in and see us soon.

*An extra-cost option.

W.S.C.S. Officers Assume Duties

Fourteen members and one guest attended the June meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church last Wednesday in the social rooms of the church. The new officers were in charge and Mrs. Carlos Jones, the new president presided. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Earl McNeil, who was assisted at the piano by Mrs. Vaynard Close.

The group voted to dispense with meetings in July and August and to send two delegates to the school of missions at Albion. Announcement was made of the seminar to be held in Dundee, July 12 and members were urged to attend and to contact either Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Robert Bonner regarding transportation. The club was also informed that Mrs. Luther Wood, who is confined to the hospital because of a broken hip is making a rapid recovery.

Mrs. McNeil read a very interesting letter from Miss Mabel Lawrence, a retired missionary from India regarding the wonderful work and progress in Christian living in the compound there.

June starts a new year for the W.S.C.S. and these are the new officers who assumed their duties: president, Mrs. Jones; vice-president, Mrs. Ed Leighton; recording secretary, Mrs. Maynard Close; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Hadsell; secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities, Mrs. Elmer Bryan; secretary of missionary education, Mrs. W. G. Waldron; secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. Walter Hizer; secretary of literature and publications, Mrs. Leighton; secretary of promotions, Mrs. Edward Harper; secretary of youth work, Mrs. Robert Bonner; secretary of children's work, Mrs. Horace James and Mrs. Joseph Poley; secretary of status of women, Mrs. Ellsworth Collins; secretary of student work, Mrs. Luther Wood; secretary of supplies, Mrs. Erwin Buss; secretary of sunshine greetings, Mrs. Edna Codling; chairman of Naomi Irene Circle, Mrs. Marge Heflin; chairman Mabel Lawrence circle, Mrs. Owen Partridge; chairman Mary Foster circle, Mrs. Eleanor Smith; chairman Sarah Rebekah circle, Mrs. Helen Geigler; chairman Temple Dependable class, Miss Elizabeth Beamish.

Western Theme Used by Cub Scouts of Pack 4

Pack 4 of Cub Scouts held their June meeting Monday evening at the Baptist Youth House. The theme of the meeting was a rodeo and everyone was dressed in western costume.

Den I did a game of target shooting at tin cans. Den 2 roped and branded steers. Den 3 were Indians and attacked Den 6, who were cowboys. Den 4 gave a demonstration of spinning balls. They then asked parents to see if they could do as well. They picked Mrs. Lillian Fielder and George Kilbourn, both of whom did very well. The troop thanked them.

Den 5 played a game of "scramble board" and also had two boys in the flag ceremonies. Den 6 were the cowboys who were attacked by Indians. They were sitting around a campfire singing "Home on the Range" when the Indians attacked and the cowboys ended by driving them off. Den 7 put on an act of bronco busting. Two boys at a time took turns on a plank contesting to see who could take a hat off a chair which was the "educated horse".

Den 7 then challenged any boy they wished to take the hat off the chair and also challenged the others to see who could do the best tricks in ball twirling.

A group of Boy Scouts from Monroe in Indian costume then gave an interesting demonstration of Indian dances. These scouts are making a study of the language, dancing, living and eating habits of Indians and their show was much enjoyed by the cubs and their parents.

Awards were then given as follows: Wolf badge to Bobby Smith; silver arrows to Franklin Boike, Roger Beal, Robert Beakley, Steven Derby, Terry Lee Keiths, Rickey Nighswander, William Schulze, Tommy Smith and Terry Sisty; gold and silver arrows under Bear to Jimmie Wallace; silver arrow under Bear to Gary Tietsema; gold and silver arrows under Bear to Paul Snyder; silver arrow under Bear to John Mensing; two silver arrows under Bear to John Dixon; Bear badges to Douglas Goldberry; and Douglas Kaynor with one gold arrow to each; silver arrow under Lion to Brian Packard.

Richard Fielder won the contest of the scrambled pledge of allegiance in 22 seconds. Den 6 won Tin Can Cubby for attendance. Mrs. Pat Hatch will take over Den 7 in place of Mrs. R. W. Dixon after this meeting and will be assisted by Mrs. Harold Warren as assistant den mother. The troop is sorry to lose Mrs. Dixon.

This was the last meeting of the year except for a summer picnic to be held July 16. All cubs, parents and children are invited to come but each cub must be attended by one or both parents so parents are urged to join the fun.

Den 6 had two displays. One was a model corral, showing cowboys and horses, the other a western town with an Indian tepee set up outside the village with Indians standing watch. Other articles which they had made in their den were on display. Mrs. Boike and Mrs. Carpenter are den mothers for Den 6.

Research shows that the easier, flavor-saving raw-pack may be safely used to preserve asparagus. Count on using about 2½ to 3½ pounds of fresh asparagus for each quart. Choose fresh, tender stalks. Wash, trim off scales and tough ends and wash again. Cut in one-inch pieces.

To raw-pack in glass jars, pack the pieces as closely as possible without crushing, to within ½ inch of the top of the jar. Add ½ tospoon salt to pint jars and 1 teaspoon to quarts. Cover with boiling water leaving ½-inch space at top. Adjust lids and process in a pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240° F.). Process pints for 25 minutes and quarts 30 minutes. As jars are removed from the canner, complete the seal, if the closures are not self-sealing.

An oil labeled "salad oil" ought not to solidify or separate from a salad dressing at refrigerator temperature.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

The 1956 bass fishing season opened Saturday providing many hours of good sport — and good eating — for Michigan fishermen.

The spunky bass is the last major game fish to be removed from the closed list this year. The season continues through Sept. 9 in trout waters and through Dec. 31 in other lakes and streams.

Last year, with sunshine and calm, pleasant weather for the Saturday, opening, an estimated 70,000-100,000 anglers turned out for the first day of bass fishing.

Largemouth and smallmouth bass are abundant in many lower peninsula lakes while upper peninsula lakes have few largemouths but a fair proportion of smallmouths.

Minimum legal size on both species is 10 inches. Daily creel and possession limit is five bass, in any combination of largemouths and smallmouths. Other regulations are covered in detail in the 1956 fish law digest, available from any license dealer or Conservation Department office.

"Fishing in Michigan," a state publication, points out that the usual method of angling for largemouths is to cast plugs, spinners and live bait into areas of lily pads and other aquatic plants in shallow waters. Smallmouths also are often taken in this manner, or by trolling with spinners and live bait in moderately deep water. Both species often are caught during the late evening or at night.

The top catch on record in Michigan for largemouths weighed 11 pounds, 15 ounces and the record smallmouth tipped the scales at 9¼ pounds.

A three-month training program for 42 recruit conservation officers is scheduled to get under way July 1 at the Conservation Department's Higgins Lake training school.

The program will consist of classroom and field work to prepare the trainees for the variety of duties required of a conservation officer in the nation's most popular hunting and fishing state. The recruits will boost the total officer force to 200.

Included in class work is training in law, firearms, first aid, public relations, criminology and field methods. In field training, the recruits will assist older officers and gain actual experience in conservation problems and techniques.

The 42 officer candidates, selected from hundreds of applicants, first had to pass Civil Service examinations and then stiff Department physical, oral and character tests to qualify for school assignments.

Upon completion of the training program, officers will be assigned to regular field posts throughout the state.

Sales of more than 278,000 resident fishing licenses were reported during the first five months of the year, but the figure was about seven per cent below sales reported in the same period in 1955.

Similar reports on sales of nonresident licenses show a 22 per cent decline from last year.

Unfavorable spring weather probably delayed fishing activities in many areas of the state. Trout stamp sales got off to a slow start, but improved weather has boosted the number of active anglers and trout permits are running close to 1955 sales.

The Conservation Department summary of license totals does not include all sales, but only sales reported and processed at the Lansing office.

Price increases recently recommended for Michigan hunting, fishing, camping and trapping licenses could produce about $1,750,000 in new revenue in 1958, enough to meet expected outdoor needs of Michigan's sportsmen during that fiscal year.

If enacted by the 1957 legislature, the raises would allow the Conservation Department to continue operation at its present level during 1958. Otherwise, cutbacks in present game, fish, land acquisition, education and protection programs would be inevitable that year.

Detailed geological records of rock formations in various parts of Michigan recently have been compiled by the Conservation Department's geological survey division.

Information on the rock formations has been gathered during thousands of well-drilling operations in the state during the last 25 years. Drill cuttings from each well were analyzed and recorded, along with core descriptions.

An inventory, listing the sample logs and core descriptions available, has been compiled by Beverly L. Champion and Robert H. Edwards of the Conservation Department.

The inventory is designed to assist geologists and laymen who are working with subsurface formations. The logs included in the inventory are more detailed and informative than the average driller's log.

The complete listing of records available can be obtained for 50c from the Conservation Department, Lansing 26.

Northville Downs Opens June 26 for 13th Season

Northville Downs, Michigan's pioneer parimutual harness track opens a 35-night meeting Tuesday, June 26.

Northville Downs will be opening for the 13th year and the Detroit area's popular half-mile oval is looking forward to a season that will be as big, if not bigger, than 1955 when all betting records went by the boards.

The suburban racing plant is offering its most extensive stakes program in history, one designed to attract many of the nation's top performers and certainly one that will hold the interest of fans from the first to the last of the series of five early closing events, according to John J. Carlo, executive manager.

The series will be held Wednesday nights: the $6,000 Northville Pace July 4; $6,000 Northville Trot July 11; $[illegible] Wayne County Pace July 18; and the two traditional standbys — the $10,000 Michigan Pacing Derby July 25 and the $10,000 Governor's Cup Trot Aug. 1.

The Northville Downs management constructed nine barns during the winter months to improve conditions for horsemen. The new barns will eliminate the "tent city" of a year ago and are the most modern now being used in the Detroit area.

The buildings, which will take care of more than 200 horses, are on a property adjacent to the track and are the first of a construction program that will find new stalls for some 250 horses in another year.

Playgrounds

Playgrounds of the Tecumseh Recreation Department are open this week from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The department has playgrounds at Tecumseh Acres, Herrick Park and Central school.

The handicraft schedule on the playgrounds begins next Monday, June 25.

REGARDLESS OF their position in the final standings, the Tigers have done more to show that the American League pennant race is far from a "one team" race than anything that has yet happened this season.

By whipping the Yankees in their own back yard three straight games recently, the Bengals made it perfectly clear to the other teams that the Yanks, far from the traditional New York steamroller, are just "nine guys out there."

Taking heart from the drubbing administered by the Tigers, who seemingly almost always give the Yankees a rough time, other clubs have been adding a few licks of their own.

Weak Pitching

Although it remains true that the Yankees can still beat you over the head with their power, their pitching and fielding reveal some glaring deficiencies.

Particularly on the mound are the New Yorkers weak, a situation that Manager Casey Stengel freely admits has him worried. Outside of Whitey Ford, who's taken a few good raps himself recently, Ol' Case has no one he can depend upon.

Don Larsen should be his number two pitcher, but Larsen walks a lot of batters. His trouble is that he seeks too fine a control. As a consequence, many of his pitches just miss the corners.

Bob Turley has proved a major disappointment. Turley throws just as hard as ever, but it doesn't mean much when you can't get the ball over the plate.

Balls Dropping In

Tommy Byrne was ill for quite awhile and has not regained full effectiveness. Young Johnny Kucks has slipped from his fine performances of last year. And so it goes in the pitching department.

In fielding, both the Yankee infield and outfield are letting balls drop for hits that Yankee teams of other years would surely have caught.

The 1956 Yankees' greatest asset is their superb bench strength. Stengel can call for any one of a number of good players to come in, in a tight spot, and belt the long ball.

Can He Continue?

Moreover, Mickey Mantle has come into his own this year and Yogi Berra remains the old reliable.

Mantle's explanation for his phenomenal hitting is that he isn't swinging at as many bad balls, particularly those coming in high and low. He's making the pitchers come across with some good ones and he's belting them.

However, it seems unlikely that Mickey can maintain such a scorching pace. If he did, he would rewrite virtually every hitting record in the book.

Stengel still firmly believes his team will win the pennant, but should Mantle taper off and the pitching and fielding fail to improve, what then?

FORD sets 500-mile record at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

. . . dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

Ford's record was timed and certified by the United States Auto Club

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway . . . whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches . . . to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Previous to Ford's record run, no other stock car had gone even one lap at Indianapolis at 100 m.p.h., but one of Ford's laps was timed at the electrifying speed of 113.7 m.p.h.! And Ford averaged over 107 m.p.h. for the full five hundred miles . . . close to the average set by the extremely costly, specially-built racer which won the Memorial Day "500"!

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter claims about "racing victories" (many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Pete de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hood-full of throbbing horsepower to the road-hugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

Watch Out, Kids

The cartoon this week says "Watch for Kids . . . School Is Out." According to the Michigan Police Journal kids also should watch out; but the police are not talking about traffic safety.

They are talking about the sensitive subject of molestation of children. Although there have been very few cases of this type in the Tecumseh area, it is a good idea to pass along the tips that veteran policemen make in the Journal.

The policemen tell children to WATCH OUT FOR:

Any stranger who tries to join in your play.

Any stranger who asks you to go with him.

Any stranger who tries to have conversation with you in the movies.

Any stranger who tries to touch you in the movies.

Policemen also advise the children:

To remember the car's license number if possible.

And always try to remember the description of the stranger.

Illustrated material includes these instructions:

Never take rides from persons whom you do not know.

Never take money, candy or treats from a stranger or let him touch you.

Never go with strangers when they ask for directions.

Never go with strangers who offer you a job with pay.

Never wait or play around toilets but leave immediately.

Never play alone in alleys or in deserted buildings.

Take a pal along when you go to the playgrounds, movies and stores.

Keep together; there is a certain amount of safety in numbers.

Parents are asked to impress upon their children these simple but important rules. It is hoped their children need to have to use these precautions; but in case they do, they will know better what to do.

"I'd like to buy a home," said an expensively dressed man, "but they are all too high."

His well-tailored wife added, "I keep telling him, they are not. Can you help me prove it? If you've got a nice house to show us, we'll look. Our car is outside."

It was a brand-new, gaily colored sedan.

They liked the house I showed them, but the gentleman said, "Too much."

"Hold on," I replied. 'Compare it with your new car. It weighs 4,000 pounds and sells for $4,000. That's a $1 per pound. Evidently you feel it's worth the money. Would you pay 10c a pound for a new home?"

"Oh, I think so," he said.

"Fine," I answered. "This home, built of brick and frame, weighs about 150 tons, or 300,000 pounds. After deducting the lot value of $2,500, you are paying only $15,000 for the house. Instead of ten cents that is just a nickel a pound. Isn't that the best buy on earth?"

He slowly nodded, and his wife said, "Where else can the vanishing nickel buy so much. We'll take it."

Now if you'd like a home, come in. We have more good home values at only a nickel a pound!

Carolyn Comfort is Bride of Robert L. Weeldreyer

The Tecumseh Friends church was candlelighted Friday evening, June 15 when Carolyn Elaine Comfort became the bride of Robert Lee Weeldreyer of Wheaton, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT WEELDREYER

The Rev. Edward Escolme performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Comfort of Rogers highway and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weeldreyer of Wheaton.

Hampers of pink and white peonies arranged with gladioli were combined with palms and lighted candelabra to form the setting for the wedding party and clusters of flowers tied with satin bows marked the pews.

Before the ceremony a prelude of beautiful organ music was played by Mrs. William Hayden and Martha Hayden sang "Ich Liebe Dich" with Mrs. Hayden's accompaniment. At its conclusion Miss Hayden sang, "Blessed Master" and Gordon Comfort, brother of the bride, sang the folk song, "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride's gown of white peau de soie taffeta had a long silhouette bodice whose bateau neckline was edged with D'Angleterre lace and the same lace formed a peplum over the bouffant hooped skirt which ended in a chapel train. A pearl encrusted lace tiara held her finger-tip length veil and she carried a cascade cluster of phalaenopsis orchids with stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Margaret Teed of Aurora, Ill., the maid of honor and Jo Anne Morris of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., as bridesmaid wore identically styled dresses of strawberry pink crystalette, ballerina length and made with long fitted bodices which were finished with bows at the back. Their headbands of sculptured pink velvet ended at the sides in clusters of pink and white rosebuds and both wore short gloves and pearl chokers, gifts of the bride. Cascade bouquets of feathered pink carnations completed their costumes.

Mrs. Comfort wore delft blue nylon for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were white and she had a corsage of pale pink rosettes. Mrs. Weeldreyer's dress was a summer print in aqua with white accessories and her flowers were ruby red rosebuds.

Douglas Weeldreyer of Wheaton, Ill. was his brother's best man and the ushers were William Hayden of Tecumseh, James Quinn of Dixon, Ill. and Paul Laveneau of Oak Park, Ill.

The bride's parents entertained at their home after the ceremony for about 75 guests. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William Berkhof of Mt. Clemens, Mrs. Perry Hayden, Mrs. Ronald Wells of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Kenyon Sprunger of Berne, Ind., and Miss Joan Breitenwischer of Toledo.

The bridal couple left after the reception for an unannounced destination, the bride wearing a powder blue ensemble with white accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Both bride and groom are recent graduates from Wheaton College in Ill. The bride completed Tecumseh high school in 1952 and the groom is a graduate of Emory high school in Emory, S. D., of the same year. She will teach in the schools of Hinsdale, Ill., while Mr. Weeldreyer, who has just received his commission as a second lieutenant in the army reserves will enter the medical school of the University of Ill., in Chicago.

Mohr-Harsh Vows Spoken Sunday in Adrian Church

At three o'clock Sunday afternoon, Shirley Ann Harsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bugbee of 417 E. Maple Ave., Adrian and Richard Eugene Mohr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Mohr of Tecumseh were united in marriage in the First Methodist church in Adrian.

The Rev. W. S. C. Pellowe performed the double ring ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Bugbee.

Hampers and vase arrangements of pink and white peonies decorated the altar of the church and an organ prelude was played by Richard Wegner as the guests were seated by the ushers, Ted Verrier, James Nichols, Gary Marsh and Richie Davis, all of Tecumseh. Mr. Wegner also accompanied Caroll Demlow as he sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Carolyn Jackson, matron of honor and the Misses Norma Foster and Janette Weiss as bridesmaids. Robert Martin of Tecumseh assisted Mr. Mohr as best man.

The groom's little niece, Patty Purkey was the flower girl, wearing a dress of pink nylon and scattering rose petals before the bride. Darell Jardine of Adrian, a cousin of the bride, carried the rings.

The lovely blond bride wore a waltz length gown of lace and net over taffeta which had been designed and made by Mrs. Kenneth Sallows. It had a fitted bodice and long sleeves of lace, the latter being finger-tip in length. The Peter Pan collar was embroidered with silver bugle beads and pearls and she wore the groom's gift of a string of pearls. Lace also formed the scalloped peplum over the very full, many layered skirt of net over taffeta. Lace covered buttons finished the back of the bodice and the sleeves. Her double veil of French illusion was held by a daisy covered cap and her bouquet was of white roses with a center corsage encircled by pink sweetheart rose buds.

Maid of honor and bridesmaids wore ballerina length dresses of blue, yellow and lavender with matching head pieces of roses. They carried bouquets of carnations in pastel shades similar to the color of their dresses.

Mrs. Bugbee's afternoon dress was of dusty rose lace and her accessories were white. Mrs. Mohr wore Copenhagen blue jersey with hat, shoes and gloves of white. Each had a corsage like the one of white roses which centered the bride's bouquet.

Two hundred and fifty guests were entertained immediately after the ceremony at a reception in the church dining room. Mrs. Jean Mowat cut and served the four-tiered wedding cake which was decorated with pink rose buds and topped by a miniature bridal pair. Barbara Hanke and Sandra Allen presided at the punch bowl while Jo Ann Hampton and Sharon Bugbee cared for the gifts with Sandra Green arranging the ribbon ties. The guests were registered by Arnetia Harper.

For her going-away costume the bride had chosen a pink nylon dress and wore with it the corsage from her bouquet.

Mrs. Mohr graduated in 1956 from Adrian high school and the groom is a graduate of Tecumseh high. He is employed at the Oro Manufacturing Co. and they will live at 331 east Church street, Adrian.

Following the rehearsal Saturday evening the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Mohr entertained the wedding party for lunch. They were assisted by Mrs. Robert Purkey, Mrs. R. W. Mohr and Mrs. Lawrence Mohr.

MRS. RICHARD MOHR

Sherry Ann Moore and Ancel Renner Married

The Tipton Community church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday evening, June 16 when Sherry Ann Moore was married to Ancel Mahlon Renner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Renner of Onsted. The bride's parents are Mrs. Elmer House of Rt. 2, Tecumseh and Wayne Moore of 720 St. Joseph St., Adrian.

MRS. ANCEL RENNER

Mr. Moore gave his daughter in marriage and the Rev. Howard Chipchase of Onsted performed the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. before a candlelighted altar decorated with palms and large hampers of white gladioli with white Supreme pompoms.

Mrs. James Crone, a sister of the bride was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Jeanne Hubbard, Jean Luce and Joan Deis. Dianne and Bobbi Renner, small nieces of the groom, were flower girls and Stephan Moore, brother of the bride was the junior usher.

Mr. Renner asked his brother, Duane Renner to assist him as best man and the guests were ushered to their seats by James Croane and Ernest Groeb.

Tulle over taffeta formed the gown of the brunette bride, floor length and sweeping into a Cathedral train. The bodice, with its deep V front and back, was of shirred, embroidered tulle as were the brief sleeves and matching mitts. Four tiers of embroidered tulle made the side panels of the full tulle skirt and the fingertip veil was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid in a cluster of frenched mums and gypsophilia on a white Bible and wore the groom's gift of pearl earrings.

The matron of honor wore a ballerina length dress of yellow lace and tulle with a lace jacket and carried a cascade bouquet of blue carnations and pink sweetheart roses combined with blue maline and ribbon. The bridesmaids' dresses were also of lace and tulle made in ballerina length and strapless with matching stoles.

Miss Hubbard was in yellow and carried a crescent bouquet of orchid dot bebe mums with yellow roses and orchid maline and satin ribbon; Miss Luce, who wore orchid, had a similar bouquet of yellow roses combined with yellow maline while Miss Deis, who was in blue carried yellow carnations and roses. All the attendants had floral tiaras to match their bouquets.

Mrs. House wore a sheath dress of pink eyelet dacron with matching duster, pink accessories and a corsage of red sweetheart roses with gypsophilia. She wore a matching tiara. Mrs. Renner's dress was of rose crepe and her accessories were white and her corsage of white carnations.

The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Aura Candit of Ann Arbor and Mrs. William Moore of Adrian and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Emma Mattocks of Clayton all wore corsages of pink carnations.

Mrs. Ruth Ostrander was the organist, playing the recessional and the traditional wedding march and accompanying Mrs. Ruth Bennett as she sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

At the reception for 250 guests which followed in the church parlors, Mrs. Orman Haas served the wedding cake while coffee, punch and iced tea were served by Mrs. Eldon Condit, Mrs. William Condit and Mrs. Duane Renner. Mrs. Wayne McKnight was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a 1956 graduate of Tecumseh high school while the groom graduated from Onsted high school in 1953 and is now employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. When the newlyweds left on a trip through the south, Mrs. Renner wore a sheath dress of black linen with white accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet. On their return they will make their home in Springville, Mich.

ATTEND WEDDING

Mrs. Frank Turner and daughter, Miss Gertrude were in Toledo Saturday, where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Turner's grandson, Harry Turner Heinl. The bride was Miss Shirley Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wallace of Withlow Drive, Toledo, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Heinl, Mrs. Heinl being the former Margaret Turner.

The wedding took place at 2:30 p.m. at the Boulevard Church of Christ and the groom's brother Larry Jr. was best man while his two sisters, Margo and Mary Louise were bridesmaids. A reception followed at the Sylvania Country Club.

Local Topics

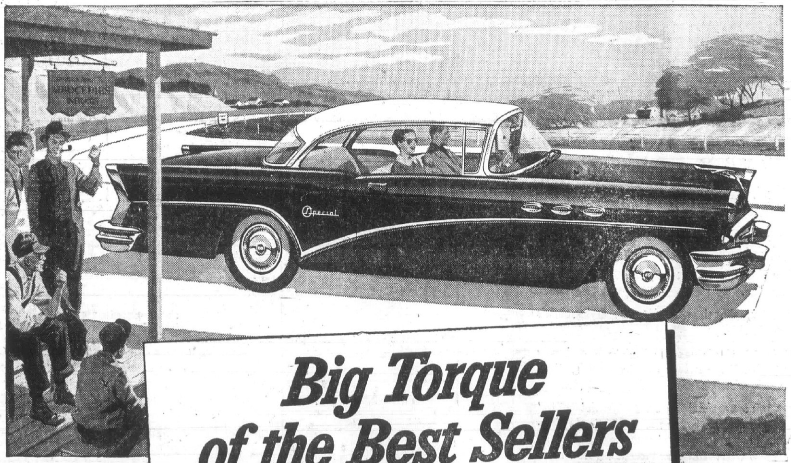
Mrs. F. B. Wood of Berkley, Calif., arrived Monday afternoon to visit her sisters, the Misses Beth and Geneva Satterthwaite and her brothers, Perry and Joseph C. Satterthwaite and their families. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Satterthwaite and daughter Ruth will be in Tecumseh until early in July when they will leave for Rangoon, Burma, where he is the U.S. Ambassador.

---

The Rev. and Mrs. Loren Kuhn and two daughters of Flushing, Ohio, are visiting Mrs. Kuhn's mother, Mrs. Naomi Sallows and her grandfather, Reuben VanWinkle. The Rev. Kuhn is attending the Ohio conference of the Friends church at Lakeside, Ohio. Mrs. Kuhn will join him later and the two daughters will remain with their grandmother.

---

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boussum and two children are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen. They came for a family reunion last Sunday in Clinton.



Special
Big Torque of the Best Sellers

It would stand to reason that automobiles selling in the same league, so to speak, would be pretty close in their engineering specifications.

Like in "torque multiplication"—the twisting force a transmission delivers to the drive shaft. (The greater the torque multiplication, the greater the performance).

But what do you find?

You find that any '56 Buick with advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow delivers a higher torque ratio than any standard-production car in America.*

And you find that this high-torque performance is one reason for Buick's best-seller standing. For Buick is now more strongly positioned in the Top 3 of the nation's biggest-selling automobiles.

That's news—and there's plenty more where that came from. For the '56 Buick is jam-packed with new engineering and styling advances to make it the best Buick yet, by far.

That new Dynaflow, for example, brings you the world's only switch-pitch performance in cars—plus a new part-throttle getaway response that's swifter, surer, and a gas-saver to boot.

The new V8 engine is 322-cubic-inches big, and packed with the highest horsepowers, the highest compressions in all Buick annals.

There's a joyous new ride, too—a new steering magic—a new "sense of direction" in your every handling maneuver.

Thing to do is come see for yourself. That way you can also look at the prices that have helped move Buick to a new sales success—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller ones.

Will you do that, this week?

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Treat Old Folks Like People

When new public homes are built for our old folks, they should be built in the cities and towns rather than in the country, says a University of Michigan public health expert.

The recently revised Federal Hill-Burton act provides Federal funds to help in the construction of new facilities such as non-profit convalescent and nursing homes to care for the old, the helpless, and the chronically ill. Before Federal funds are forthcoming, each state must present a master plan, including location, for all of its proposed construction. Dr. Vlado Getting urges that the planners develop these homes in populated areas in or near the cities and towns.

WILL TO LIVE FADES

Commenting on the plight of our "senior citizens," Dr. Getting stated to a group in East Lansing recently that most public or charity homes are currently located out in the country where the residents can't get in anybody's way. "Here people mostly sit around and do nothing. The will to live fades," he says.

To remedy the apathetic atmosphere of most existing old folks homes, Dr. Getting suggests "Get the bedridden folks out of bed. Rehabilitate them. Many of the people wasting away in this situation could be made well enough to send home. And many could be self-supporting," he adds.

The old folks home should be a substitute for the family home during the "golden years," Dr. Getting stated.

LET THEM WORK

If they are going to stay at the homes, give them pleasant surroundings in a homelike atmosphere, he added. "Let them work around the place — have a small carpentry shop, garden space, sewing and mending facilities and other outlets for the many talents these people have," he continued.

"The fact that our senior citizens have a good many more years of experience behind them than we have is either neglected or forgotten," he reminded.

"Let them have visitors, and let them visit. They do not forget their friends and relatives when they go to such a home," he added.

Old folks need privacy, just as any one else, Dr. Getting continued. Very few existing homes and institutions offer the individual any privacy. "This should be a definite consideraton when building new homes and institutions. A person loses his sense of dignity and identity when he is herded about like one of a flock, and has no place of his own when he wants to be alone," said Dr. Getting.

LIKE TO WALK

As most old folks come from cities and towns, staying in a home located in such a town keeps them near the activities to which they are accustomed. "These folks like to walk around and enjoy themselves in their own way," said Dr. Getting. "If a man wants to sit on a bench by the cigar store with his friends or contemporaries and 'spit 'n whittle' all day, he ought to be given that privilege. If a lady wants and is able to visit her grandchildren, or go window shopping, there is no reason why she shouldn't."

The location of most of such homes today prohibits pleasure giving activities such as these.

It is a well known fact that people who retire from an active life and do nothing but sit and stare, are likely to fade rapidly, Dr. Getting added. The incentive to live is gone.

"Old pople are not mushrooms," Dr. Getting reminds. They have the same wants and needs as other people. But, as with other people, they have to move about and remain active. Making life interesting for them will increase their usefulness, and make them live longer.

Christian Science Services Listed

The everpresent power of Christian healing will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" will include Christ Jesus' instruction to his disciples (Luke 10:9): "And heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, is the following (98:15): "Beyond the frail premises of human beliefs, above the loosening grasp of creeds, the demonstration of Christian Mind-healing stands a revealed and practical Science. It is imperious throughout all ages as Christ's revelation of Truth, of Life, and of Love, which remains inviolate for every man to understand and to practise."

Services Held for Clair Rozelle

Edward Clair Rozelle, a resident of Tecumseh for the past nine years, died very suddenly of a heart attack last Friday morning. His death occurred at his home at 208 W. Kilbuck St.

The son of the late Isaac and Mary Bixler Rozelle, he was born Dec. 21, 1913, in Delphos, Ohio and was only 42 at the time of his death.

Coming to Tecumseh from Delta, Ohio, he was employed for some time at the Palman store but for the past six years has been a laboratory technician at the Tecumseh Products Co.

Mr. Rozelle was a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church. He also belonged to Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. M. and the Royal Arch Masons Tecumseh Chapter No. 42. He was a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star Tecumseh chapter No. 51; a member of Adrian Council 19 and Adrian Commandery 4 of Knights Templar.

Besides his wife, Anna he is survived by a son, Edward and a daughter, Barbara; three sisters, Helen Marie and Mary Elizabeth of Delphos and Mrs. David (Emily) McKay of Ft. Wayne, Ind. and five brothers, Arthur N., Ypsilanti; Robert B., Harold E., and Paul F., all of Delphos and Louis R. of Jennings, Ohio. His parents preceded him in death.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon by the Rev. George Walworth at the Green Funeral Home with Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr., singing, "God's Other Room." Burial was in Brookside cemetery where Masonic services were conducted by Jack Puffer as master; Howard Wilson, Sr., chaplain; Stanley Miller, senior warden and Robert Osborn, junior warden. The bearers, all Masons, were Joe Rice, Elwyn Green, William Butler, Owen Partridge, Lavern Russell and Elmer Bryan.

Members of the Masonic Order attended the funeral in a body as did also the Past Matrons of Tecumseh Order of the Eastern Star.

Rains Were Hard on Soil Nitrogen

Home gardens may have lost valuable nitrogen down the drain as the result of the heavy spring rains in Michigan.

Louis G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent, suggests that home gardeners add nitrogen to their soil now or within the next few weeks. Unless there's an ample supply of this important nutrient, chances for a successful garden are reduced, points out John Carew, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State University.

For gardens that were not fertilized this spring, Carew recommends an application of ammonium nitrate between the rows. Apply at a rate of one-fourth pound per 100 square feet. Be careful not to put any of the nitrate on the plants themselves.

Complete fertilizers may also be used to supply the nitrogen. Carew recommends an application of three pounds of these fertilizers per 100 square feet of garden area. Again, apply between the rows. Analyses such as 4-16-16, 6-12-12 and 5-20-20 are satisfactory.

For those who aren't sure whether their garden needs nitrogen, the M.S.U. specialist suggests putting on some of these fertilizers in small test areas. If these areas become greener than the rest of the garden, then the entire area needs nitrogen.

WALLACE TAKES 2ND

Robert W. Wallace, of Britton, was second among 900 field representatives in Mutual of New York's central region in number of paid applications for insurance in the first five months of 1956, it was announced today by Neal D. Brubaker, Detroit agency manager.

Nationally, among 3,200 MONY underwriters, Mr. Wallace was sixth for the year to date.

'Dunk' Food Doubles for Salad, Snack

Finger salads can be served right with the main course of the meal or served as snack foods.

For finger salads you need an ample supply of crisp raw relishes and a variety of dressings, explains Robert Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University. When serving them as a salad course of a meal, use individual salad plates. Place a mound of dressing on each one and surround it with one or more kinds of relishes. Each person dips his own.

Miss Hershey suggest some cheese dressings as being especially tasty with raw vegetables. Some are: cream cheese thinned with mayonnaise and seasoned with chopped pickle; cream cheese mixed with blue cheese and thinned with cream; cottage cheese mixed with sour cream and then seasoned; sour cream, as it is or seasoned; cottage cheese thinned with cream and seasoned with garlic or onion salt. Another suggestion is mayonnaise or salad dressing mixed with curry, dill, catchup or horseradish.

Raw relishes, without any dressing, can double as a salad, too. For crisp raw vegetables try small romaine or lettuce leaves; carrot or celery sticks; small chunks of lettuce or Chinese cabbage; watercress sprigs; cucumber sticks or slices; scallions, radishes, green-pepper strips or rings; thick tomato wedges; or tiny caulifowerets.

AWARDED MEDAL

Army Specialist Third Class Richard G. Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Hubbard, 512 Outer Dr., Tecumseh, recently was awarded the Good Conduct Medal at Fort Sill, Okla., while serving with the 602d Field Artillery Battalion.

Hubbard, an ordinance parts specialist in the battalion's Service Battery, received the decoration for his exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity.

The 25-year-old soldier entered the Army in July, 1954, and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

He is a 1954 graduate of Michigan State University.

So You Want To Go To College

(Note—This is the fifth in a series of articles prepared by the department of information services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

Colleges and universities expect certain things from you as an entering student.

Every institution of higher learning expects to receive the very best students from high school. The college of your choice will expect that you will be at least in the top half of your graduating class.

From 75 to 90 per cent of students admitted to college are in the top 50 per cent of their high school graduating classes. Although there are many factors which contribute to college success, college officials say that the single best indicator is your rank in your high school class.

"Colleges and universities expect the entering student to be serious-minded, dedicated to getting the most out of college," said Robert S. Linton, Michigan State University registrar.

SOME ARE REJECTED

It is necessary every year for colleges and universities to reject students who are not qualified. Michigan State University had to turn down 2,500 applications last year, according to registrar Linton.

"In addition to being academically qualified," said Tom King, dean of students, "it is expected that students entering Michigan State University will accept the responsibilities and obligations of all who wish higher education. They must consider the rights and privileges of others and learn to get along with people as well as to develop academic and leadership qualities."

One of your responsibilities as an entering student will be to meet the requirements of your choice of college. Then, it is necessary to provide the specific materials that the college will want from you.

All institutions require a transcript or record of your high school grades. Arrangements can be made with your high school principal for this. Almost all colleges require freshmen to be high school graduates with at least 15 credits.

Included in the 15 units of work must be three units (years) of English and seven units selected from the following groups: foreign languages, mathematics, science and social studies. If four units of English are taken, only six units are required from the other subjects.

In addition there must be five or six more units elected either from those listed above or from vocational studies. Music and art may be substituted by a student who plans to specialize in either of these areas. The other units needed for the total of 15 may be in any other subject the high school accepts for graduation.

CHECK YOUR RECORD

Other requirements for admission to college include a satisfactory record and a recommendation from the high school principal, indicating that you will make a suitable college student. The principal usually considers your attitude, habits, emotional stability, general conduct, character, ability and capacity.

Many colleges and universities in Michigan, including M.S.U., operate under "The Michigan Secondary School—College Agreement." If your high school is a member of this agreement, it means that the colleges will give more importance to the principal's recommendation and your academic accomplishments than to the subjects you have taken. Technical and scientific fields, however, require that certain preparatory courses be taken before specialization begins.

You can get an application blank for admission from your principal. It should be filled out and returned to him at the close of the first semester of your senior year. He will send it to the college admissions office and the college will inform you concerning your admission. All admissions are tentative pending the results of the final semester.

The sixth in this series of articles will discuss, "How Do I Prepare for College?"

MRS. MARVEL NEUMAN
Correspondent

A weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Neuman was Mrs. Neil Zeluff of Britton. Other guests in the Neuman home were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mapes and Kenneth and Mrs. Mapes' mother, Mrs. August Klickman of Toledo.

The tri-county pastors' conference of which the North Blissfield Lutheran church is a member, will meet at Ellis Playground in Blissfield Tuesday, June 26.

Danny Kelch, son of Mrs. Kay Kelch, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Clare Rutledge of North Branch and her sister, Dawne Rutledge is in Holloway for some time.

Mrs. Carl Rewoldt and daughter Mrs. Lucille Wetmore of Genoa, Ohio, were Sunday dinner guests of the Neuman family.

Margaret A. Lunn and Max Minnich Married Saturday

Large hampers of white peonies and gladioli decorated the altar of the Holloway Presbyterian church Saturday evening when Margaret Ann Lunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lunn of Rt. 3, Adrian and Max M. Minnich exchanged their marriage vows.

Mr. Minnich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Minnich of Bowling Green, Ohio.

MRS. MAX MINNICH

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Hessert, pastor of the church. Mrs. Roger Richard, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Mahlon Smith of Adrian as she sang "Because," "If I Could Tell You" and "At Dawning."

The lovely, young bride wore a nylon tulle and lace gown with a fitted bodice and short sleeves. The full skirt was marked with medallions and a lace tiara held her veil of organdy. She wore short white gloves and carried a bouquet of phalaneosis and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Judy Ferguson of Benton Harbor was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Lyndamae Minnich of Bowling Green, Sally Baker of Adrian and a cousin of the bride, Barbara Rainey of Detroit. The four attendants wore similar gowns of embroidered nylon in pink and white with square necks and short sleeves. Their pink head bands held short pink tulle veils and they carried arm bouquets of pink and white sweetheart roses and strands of ivy.

Neil Minnich of Bowling Green was best man and ushers were James Lunn, brother of the bride, Mike Minnich of Bowling Green and Jerry Mazey of Adrian.

The mother of the bride wore a powder blue lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Minnich chose a navy sheer dress with a corsage of Carol Amling rosettes and white accessories.

A reception for 200 guests was held after the ceremony in the church parlors. Pat Rion of Adrian was in charge of the guest book and hosts were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Fisher of Tecumseh.

A four-tiered bride's cake topped with a bell and flowers was cut and served by Jill Bennington, Mrs. Robert Creger and Nancy Hornby of Adrian. Mrs. Eryl Rainey of Detroit, Mrs. Ida Calhoun, Darrell Lowery of Holloway, Mrs. Ray Ernst of Tecumseh, Mrs. Earl Bennington, Mrs. Carl Gritzmaker and Mrs. Jean Norrie also assisted.

Guests attended from Bowling Green, Massilon, Liberty Center and Canton, Ohio; Chicago, Ill.; Muskegon, Napoleon, Dearborn, Adran, Holloway, Tecumseh and Benton Harbor.

The bride graduated from Adrian high school and attended Albion and Adrian Colleges. She is employed at the Bridegport Brass Co. in Adrian. Mr. Minnich graduated from Napoleon high school and Bowling Green State University and is a teacher in Adrian Junior high school. The couple traveled to the eastern states for their honeymoon and on their return will reside at 1735 Rogers highway.

The reunion of the Jones family was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher of Holloway. Dinner was served to 75 members and a program followed. Guests were from nine different cities and included Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Daniels of Homer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fowler of Rollin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jones of Jackson, Miss Kay Pelheon of Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones of Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones of Adrian, Mrs. Robert Rowlison of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Jones of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Kehoe and daughter Beverly Ann of Holloway and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brieschke of Blissfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail Austin and children are on a week's vacation to the Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains.

Mrs. Allen Schmid and children of Saginaw spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Lewis, returning home Monday with her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Kehoe and daughter moved Wednesday from Adrian to Holloway.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sackett and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bilby of Onsted Sunday and also called on Mr. and Mrs. James Feller of Onsted, who were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jahn entertained at a reception Sunday for their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jahn of Adrian, who were married May 18. A buffet supper was served to 50 guests, who were present from Roseville, Grosse Pointe, Lum, Allen Park, Pontiac, Birmingham, Detroit, Adrian and Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gritzmaker visited their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shull and family of Ann Arbor, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sawyer entertained over the weekend Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson and son Michael and daughter Susan of Manistee. Sunday evening guests in the Sawyer home were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gritzmaker and family of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. John Gritzmaker and Terry Reister of Tecumseh.

A son, Bruce Ray, was born June 8 to Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Shreve in Herrick Memorial hospital. Mrs. Shreve's mother is here from Wichita, Kans.

Mrs. Eula Avery and Mrs. Katherine Block of Ann Arbor were supper guests Sunday of Miss Edith Haviland. Miss Haviland's brother, Wallace Kinney, spent the weekend with his son, Carl Kinney of Lansing.

The Holloway Mothers' Club will hold its annual picnic at Walter Hayes State Park at Wamplers Lake, Tuesday, June 26 at 12 noon sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kopka, Mr. and Mrs. Walter German and Stan Doty, Mr. and Mrs. Robert German and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill German and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kopka and boys of Sand Creek all attended an open house in Wayne, Sunday, honoring the graduation of James Glenn from Wayne high school which had occurred Thursday.

The Round the Block Extension Club will meet Monday evening with Mrs. Alma Mumaw at 8 p.m. Project lesson will be on copper tooling.

The Ladies' Aid of the Holloway Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. Bertine Comfort for a one o'clock luncheon Thursday, June 21.

LENAWEE COUNTY'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
SERVING TECUMSEH, BRITTON, RIDGEWAY, MACON AND TIPTON

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

ONE HUNDRED FIFTH YEAR — NUMBER 39 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1956 TEN CENTS A COPY

GIRLS' STATE — Some 330 high school girls from all over the state traveled to the University of Michigan for Wolverine Girls' State.

The week-long experience in the operation of state government was under the dirction of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Primed for a crack at the tennis courts in back of their residence hall are Rita Crosby, 305 E. Pottawatamie, Tecumseh, sponsored by Unit 34 of the American Legion, left, and Janis Tagsold, 303 S. Lane, Blissfield, sponsored by Unit 325 of the American Legion.

Brother Hilarion Will Leave Boysville

Brother Hilarion Brezik, C.S.C., director of Boysville of Michigan for the past seven years, received a new assignment from his Provincial Superior at Notre Dame, Indiana.

His appointment as director of Boys' Ranch in Dallas, Texas, takes him from Michigan to his native state of Texas. His hometown is Houston. He will leave Boysville July 15.

Boys' Ranch is sponsored by the Variety Club of Dallas, Texas, and provides a year-round program for neglected and underprivileged boys from the Dallas area. Its present enrollment is 40 boys.

The Brothers of Holy Cross, who staff and operate Boysville for the Bishops and the State Knights of Columbus, are taking over the operation of Boys' Ranch Sept. 1.

Brother Hilarion came to Boysville in Aug., 1949. He succeeded Brother Patrick Cain, C.S.C., who resigned after his first year at the school. Brother Hilarion formerly was director of St. Charles Boys' Home in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Hs is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, and has been in youth work for the past 16 years.

Under his direction Boysville has increased its enrollment from the initial 15 to 136. There have been 907 Michigan boys who have benefitted from the Boysville program since its opening on Oct. 7, 1948. All but 35 of this number were enrolled during Brother's tenure as superior and director at the school. The faculty grew from the original four Brothers to the present 14. The entire personnel number 23.

During his seven years as director the original buildings have been put into use and three permanent brick buildings, a gymnasium, dormitory and chapel, have been added.

A fully-accredited high school program has matured, and a well-rounded extra curricular program, included full varsity and intramural sports, a concert and marching band, Saddle Club, photography department, and wood and machine shop, various clubs; so that in all phases of school life, Boysville compares favorably with other high schools in the state.

Brother has been at the service of both the archdiocese and the Knights of Columbus in their promotions for the benefit of the school; and has taken an active part in acquainting the people of Michigan, especially Knights of Columbus all over the state, with Boysville and its development. For that purpose he inaugurated an Annual Open House and K of C Field Day which has attracted as many as 1500 persons to view the school program in operation.

This year's 17 seniors will make the fifth graduating class under his supervision. In order to supplement the work of the school, this year he organized a parent-teacher association and an Alumni Club.

Brother Hilarion will be succeeded by Brother John Lavelle, C.S.C., who has been assistant headmaster at Gilmour Academy in Gates Mills, Ohio.

He is now completing his studies toward a Master's degree from De-Paul University in Chicago.

Brother John Lavelle is a native of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Closed

Most stores, the United Savings Bank, post office, city offices and the Tecumseh office of the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association will be closed for the holiday, next Wednesday, July 4.

Most business places and the rest will be open for business again Thursday morning, July 5.

No special events are planned for the holiday.

Know Your School Board Candidates

The following information was received from the four candidates for board of education members for 1956-1959 terms:

JENS TOUBORG

Jens Touborg, a resident of Tecumseh since 1936, was born in Vinding, Vejle, Denmark. He received his education in Denmark, graduating as an electrical engineer from Aarhus Elektroteknicum.

Before moving to Tecumseh, Mr. Touborg was employed by Westinghouse Electric Company and Gibson Refrigerator Company. It was in 1935 that he came to Tecumseh and entered into a partnership known as Tresco, Inc. in the capacity of director of engineering. Last year Tresco, Inc., merged with Tecumseh Products Company and Mr. Touborg was appointed executive vice-president.

Mr. and Mrs. Touborg are the parents of Margaret, a junior at Albion College and Nicky, a senior in Tecumseh high school.

Mr. Touborg was elected to the Tecumseh school board in 1941 and has served continuously, being president of the board since 1944.

As to hobbies, hunting is his favorite, recently returning from a safari in Africca where he bagged several nice trophies. He also takes great pride in his farm and likes to spend any spare time riding the tractors or just being out in the fields.

HAROLD ANDERSON

Mr. Anderson is 38 years of age and is married and father of two girls, Patricia, age 5, and Connie, age 12.

He owns and operates a 160-acre dairy farm near Tipton where he has lived all his life.

In 1941 he went into the U. S. Army and served four and a half years.

Prior to the annexation of the Franklin Center School to the Tecumseh Public Schcools he was moderator of that district for three years.

MATTHEW LUNN

Mr. Lunn has been a resident of Raisin Township for the last 19 years. He is married and his wife and son James, who graduated from Adrian high this year, live at 1702 Rogers Highway. His daughter Margaret also graduated from Adrian high, attended college two years and was married recently. He is presently boy's counselor at Adrian junior high and has been in the educational profession the past 28 years.

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

NICK TOUBORG, SCOTT HARVEY and Don Greene are governmental officers this week. Nick, chairman of the local group to Boys' State at East Lansing, is a regent to the University of Michigan, Scott is a city mayor and Don is a school commissioner. In addition Barry Packard and Don Greene were named to the Boys' State band.

MRS. CECILE SMITH who works in the city offices can't stay away from her work even on her day off. Tuesday she returned to the city offices . . .but of course for a good reason. Representing the BPW, she gave the city bleacher fund another $200 boost.

THE TECUMSEH BOY WAS practicing his violin lesson in the house, while out on the porch, his younger sister was playing with the dog. As the boy scraped away on his fiddle, the hound howled dismally. The sister stood it as long as she could, then she poked her head in the open window and said:

"For goodness sake, Jimmy, can't you play something the dog doesn't know?"

IF YOU WANT TO make a contribution to a real worthy cause buy some of that reading matter from the American Legion Auxiliary.

NOWADAYS JUST ABOUT every magazine, newspaper and Sunday supplement you read and at least every other tv and radio program you see and hear are full of items on proper nutrition. Every time I hear this word and its long list of benefits I think of a classmate of eons ago. Riding a bike around Ann Arbor, he would drink from a large jumbo size bottle of beer and munch on a huge head of lettuce. And he had the perfect answer to the toothpaste ads that describe what happens when you can't brush your teeth after every meal. After his beer and lettuce lunch, he would wipe off his perfect set of choppers (his own) with his hankie or a wash cloth. A star on the tennis team, he was a healthy specimen. But it never was scientifically determined whether his fine nutrition and healthy body stemmed from the lettuce, the bike, the brew or the way he cleaned his teeth. (Incidentally, this was for adults only. Heaven forbid if the kids are soaking this up.)

WE LIKE THESE TWO sentences from some unknown writer.

A young man who had just received his college degree, rushed out and said: "Here I am, world—I have my A.B." And the world replied, "Sit down, Son, and I'll teach you the rest of the alphabet."

MICHIGAN THIS SUMMER is offering two special vantage points for visitors to the state's gigantic Mackinac Bridge construction site. One in Michilimackinac State Park in Mackinaw City, lower peninsula approach to the bridge; the other in the Straits State Park near St. Ignace, gateway city to the upper peninsula.

Sidewalk superintendents will be able to check construction progress against a set of statistics and dimensions

Conlin Sees Slim Chance of Tax Cut

By Gretta Porter

(Note: This article was written by Miss Porter for the Michigan Journalist, University of Michigan laboratory newspaper.)

The Chairman of the House Taxation Committee believes that the foreseeable future in state affairs allows little chance that reduction in taxes can be achieved.

Rollo G. Conlin (Rep., Tipton) is the author of the Conlin Amendment, which, in the main, assured public schools of state aid through the sales tax diversion.

"The Conlin Plan was designed to correct the faults of the original 'sales tax diversion amendment,' but the problems of taxation are many and deal with the entire economic and social structure of the commonwealth," says Conlin.

Recently Conlin said, "Probably the most critical tax area at present is property taxes, and some relief should be given . . ."

Since the property tax is strictly in the realm of local taxation, it could probably be relieved by additional state aid which could mean more state tax from some other source, Conlin said.

"The sales tax," he said, "is claimed by some to be a regressive tax. This might be true if it were to stand alone but the sales tax is only part of a tax system, and as such and considering its restricted use, I feel it is an equitable tax."

The State General Fund now receives one-sixth of the collection of sales tax or about $51,000,000; cities, villages, and townships receive another one-sixth; the schools receive the remaining two-thirds or about $220,000,000.

Jaycees Plan for Homecoming

At an important meeting of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 in the Eagles hall assignments for work on the Jaycee-sponsored free fair and homecoming will be made.

Bob Breniff is chairman of this major Jaycee project of the year which will be held July 9 through July 14 on the corner of Mill and Brown Sts., across from the Top Hat Soda Grill.

Proceeds will be applied to the bleacher fund.

Witnesses Called for Fluoride Trial

Present and former city councilmen have been given subpoenas to testify for the defendants in the fluoride trial set for July 26 and 27 in circuit court.

In addition Ed Nelson, city manager, and John Kopka, water department superintendent also have been given notice to appear at the trial for possible testimony.

BLEACHER DONATION — A second payment of the Business and Professional Women's pledge for recreation field bleachers is made to Ed Nelson, city manager, by Mrs. Cecile Smith, secretary of the club. The club has pledged and given $500 for the bleachers.

Business Women Give $500 to Bleacher Fund

The summer picnic meeting of the Tecumseh Business and Professional Woman's Club was held Monday evening at the home of Miss Marjorie Wickwire with 25 members present. A potluck picnic was served on the lawn at 7 p.m. and was followed by a business meeting during which annual reports were given.

The president, Mrs. Ray Sluyter, who with the other officers had been re-elected for the coming year gave a summary of the season's activities, the most important of which had been the canvassing of the area for a directory and the sale of the books. This had resulted in a profit of more than $600 of which $500 has been turned over to the bleacher fund for the Recreation Field. The club had also purchased one band uniform. Committee chairmen were appointed by the president.

Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, librarian of the public library was guest speaker giving brief, interesting reviews of some of the new books in a manner that made her listeners look forward to vacation reading. She also listed some of the services offered by the library inviting a visit from those who are not customary patrons.

There will be no more meetings of the club until fall.

Consumers Plans To Remodel; Office Will Move

Consumers Power will remodel its Tecumseh office.

Meanwhile, the utility's office will move Saturday, June 30, to the Elmer Eberhardt Insurance office.

It is expected that it will take three to four months to remodel the Consumer office.

The Eberhardt Insurance agency will move temporarily to the rear of its present office.

BEAT THE PRO

Tecumseh Country Club members will try to beat pro Leo Bishop next Sunday.

Players will tee off at 9 a.m.

Proceeds will go to the JGA's golf course for hospitalized veterans at Battle Creek Veterans' hospital.

Services Held for Naomi Williamson

Naomi North Williamson, widow of Charles H. Williamson died last Saturday in Wilmington, Calif., where she had been spending the winter. Her death was entirely unexpected as she was planning an immediate return to Tecumseh.

Except for one year in New York City, Mrs. Williamson had lived in Tecumseh all her life, having been born here, Dec. 7, 1879. She was the daughter of Dr. Lucian and Ida Stevens North, her father being a prominent physician here for many years.

She graduated in 1897 from Tecumseh high school and from Kalamazoo College and March 10, 1904, she was married to Mr. Williamson.

She was an outstanding citizen, taking an interest in all civic affairs and contributing much of value to the town's activities. In collaboration with Mrs. F. C. Dickinson, she wrote the script used in Tecumseh's Centennial Pageant in 1924 and was a member of the Ladies' Band for most of its existence. She was an active member of the Tecumseh Monday Club, holding most of its offices, including that of president and was a charter member and the second regent of Abi Evans Chapter D.A.R. A life long member of the Tecumseh Baptist church, she gave much time and effort to its affairs being a trustee for many years and one of the early organists.

Following the death of her husband, Dec. 11, 1938, she has spent her winters in Calif. and in travel, visiting Hawaii, Japan and South America and giving much pleasure to her friends by her graphic descriptions of the things she saw and did.

Mrs. Williamson is survived by two daughters, Marion, (Mrs. Edmund R. Childs) of Monroe and Margaret, (Mrs. Arthur Lepon) of Wilmington, Calif.; two sons, Charles Lucian Williamson of Monroe and Dr. Edwin Williamson of Kalamazoo; 12 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, Charles, a son, Judge Bernard Williamson, who died Aug. 11, 1952, and a brother, Cuyler Stevens North, whose

Rotarians Fete Their Ladies; Install Officers

Members of the Tecumseh Rotary Club Tuesday night held a ladies' night and installed new officers.

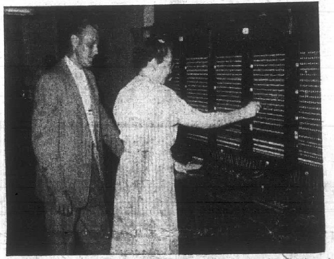
James McDowell was installed as president. Other new officers are Virgil Tucker, vice-president; Lester Rogers, secretary; and George Green, Sr., treasurer.

Mr. Rogers and Mr. Green are hold overs.

Herbert Dillon was given a past president's pin.

Joseph E. Layton was installed as a new member of the club.

Members of the club's board of directors are Robert French, Carlos Jones, Virgil Tucker, John Surratt, Howard Truesdale, Herbert Dillon, James McDowell, Richard Beemer and Albert Merz.



NEW SWITCHBOARDS — William Beagle, local manager of the General Telephone Co., watches as Mrs. R. W. Mead, chief operator, checks one of the new switchboards.

New Boards Go in Operation at Phone Office Here

William Beagle, district manager of the General Telephone Company of Michigan, announces that on June 30, at 10 p.m., new common battery switchboards will be placed in operation at the Tecumseh exchange.

The new switchboards will mean a better grade of service for the Tecumseh area, he said, and will provide facilities for additional subscribers.

Mr. Beagle also explained that due to this installation it will be necessary to change the majority of telephone numbers in the rural area, and a special Tecumseh directory is being printed for the convenience of customers.

The General Telephone Company will have expanded approximately $50,000 upon completion of the switchboard installation, he said.

Four from Area Become Citizens

Four Tecumseh area persons became citizens of the United States at a hearing in the court house in Adrian Friday.

The new citizens are:

Elizabeth Kovach of Britton from Hungary.

Peter and Efrosine Michajlenko of Tecumseh from Russia.

Gabriella Kossey of Tecumseh from Czechoslovakia.

Twenty-four county residents became citizens.

RECKLESS DRIVER GETS JAIL TERM

Richard Vallie, 26, of Britton was arrested by Tecumseh police Sunday on a reckless driving charge.

He pleaded guilty to the charge before Justice Robert French Monday morning. He was sentenced to serve five days in jail and he was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and $8.60 costs.

WOMAN FINED

Ruby Jantz, 58, of Tecumseh paid a fine of $5 and costs of $8.60 when she was arraigned before Justice Robert French on a drunkenness charge. She was arrested by local police Wednesday, June 20.

Silo Fumes Kill Youth

Leon Patrick Lewis, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Lewis of 9134 Pentecost Highway was asphixiated by carbon dioxide gas from clover ensilage while working in a silo near his home. The accident occurred last Thursday morning on a farm owned by Keeney Orchards and located on Feller Road which is being operated by Russell Cryer, as tenant farmer.

Mr. Cryer was overcome by fumes in attempting to rescue Leon.

But he revived in time to drag the unconscious youth from the silo.

Tecumseh firemen worked for more than an hour on the youth with the resuscitator. He was admitted to Herrick Memorial hospital and was pronounced dead 10 minutes after arrival.

Leon was born May 18, 1939, at Clark Lake and would have been a junior in Onsted high school in the fall. Besides his parents he is survived by five brothers, Raymond Charles, Leroy Alva, Gerald Keith, Charles, Jr., and Sherman Lee, and by five sisters, Audrey Jean, Shirley Ann, Carol Sue, Sandra Kay and Anna May.

The Rev. Seth Hoisington conducted the funeral services Saturday afternoon at the Union Gospel church in Franklin and burial was in Mills cemetery on M-50.

Bearers were Leland Downing, Jack Wolf, Kenneth Freese, Gordon Smith, Jerry Irwin and Richard Luke.

Haydens Leave for New Career

William Hayden, who for three years has been a member of the sales department of the Hayden Mills, has become a partner in the Amstutz Hatcheries, Inc., Celina, Ohio, and will be manager of the Illinois district.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden and family leave Thursday (today) for a visit with her family at their cottage on Lake George in New York state, where Mrs. Hayden will remain until suitable housing is found for the family in central Illinois.

Shirley Righter and J. W. Hollis Exchange Vows

An informal but pretty wedding took place at the Raisin Valley Friends church, Saturday after noon, June 16 when Shirley Ann Righter and J. W. Hollis were united in marriage.

Both young people are from near Britton, the bride's parents being Mr. and Mrs. Milton Righter of 5462 Sutton road and the groom's address, Britton Rt. 2. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis of Sulligent, Ala.

The Rev. Lawrence Cox, pastor of the church performed the double ring ceremony at 3:30 p.m. before an altar banked with palms. The bridal pair was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis.

Miss Righter's dress was floor length, of Chantilly lace and tulle, and full skirt had a front panel of pleated nylon net. The bodice was sleeveless and she wore a fingertip length veil of illusion net caught on either side with a cluster of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white carnations arranged around a centered orchid.

Mrs. Davis wore Nile green lace over satin, made in ballerina length and her flowers were pink carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Righter chose a pink print with which she wore white and brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

At 7:30 that evening a reception for 150 of their friends was held at the Palmyra fire hall. Those who helped in entertaining included Mrs. Joseph Righter, who, assisted by Mrs. Willard Gaffman, cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a miniature bridal couple. Both ladies are aunts of the bride. Barbara Upell, Beverly Upell and Marlene Ashenfelter, all friends of the bride poured punch and coffee. Her cousins, Betty Jo Gaffner and Sandra Ream served smaller cakes and another cousin, Pamela Gaffner registered the guests.

For her wedding trip through northern Michigan the bride changed to a nylon dress of blue print. On their return they will reside in a newly decorated home on Sutton road.

The new Mrs. Hollis attended high school in Tecumseh and was graduated last month from Adrian high school. Mr. Hollis attended the public schools in Sulligent, Ala. and is now employed by the Clauda Plumbing and Heating Co. in Tecumseh.

Margaret A. Champanois Is Bride of D. F. Aylesworth

A June wedding of beautiful appointments took place Saturday evening at the Tecumseh Presbyterian church when Margaret Anne Champanois and Douglas Freeman Aylesworth were united in marriage by the Rev. George Walworth.

MRS. DOUGLAS AYLESWORTH

The double ring ceremony took place at 7 p.m. and the bride was given in marriage by both her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Champanois of 715 Outer Drive. The groom is the son of Raynor Aylesworth of Rt. 1, Tecumseh and the late Mrs. Irene Aylesworth.

White peonies tied with satin bows marked the aisles and white gladioli filled the altar vases and the hampers, which, with lighted candelabra and palms, formed the background for the wedding party.

Mrs. Herbert Dillon was organist, playing before and during the ceremony and accompanying Pat Davis who sang "Because" preceding the service and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the conclusion of their vows.

The slender bride was very lovely in her waltz length gown of layers of nylon net over satin. The deep neckline of the fitted Chantilly lace bodice was outlined by a scalloped band of the lace which gave a yoke effect and was dotted with iridescent sequins. Matching scalloped lace bands circled the very full net skirt. A crown of sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil of silk illusion and she carried a showered cluster of Eucharist lilies and stephanotis on a lace covered white Bible.

Her sister, Beverly Champanois was maid of honor in Nile green crystalette over ttaffeta, made with a very full ballerina length skirt which had a soft drape at the hip line ending in a butterfly bow in the back. The bodice had short sleeves and a deep V-neckline and cluster of pink Demure, rosebuds matching those which formed the center of her cascade bouquet of Frenched white carnations.

Luella Bishop, Sylvia Helzerman and Shirley Brooks were the three bridesmaids, all wearing gowns identical with that of the maid of honor except in color. Theirs were orchid and their cascade bouquets of Frenched white carnatons had a center accent of yellow Goldilocks rosettes which were repeated in their white velvet headbands.

Ramon Aylesworth acted as best man for his brother and John Saunders, Robert Brooks and Richard Kahle were ushers.

Little Suelyn Lipp, as flower girl, was a miniature of her cousin, the bride and like the other attendants wore a single strand of pearls and earrings which were the bride's gifts.

The rings were carried by Lloyd Gibson and Lawrence Petter Dernyer Jr., also cousins of the bride on cushions which, like the flower girl's dress, had been made by Mrs. Marvin Lipp, the bride's aunt.

Mrs. Champanois' sheath dress was of beige lace over blue satin. Her accessories were blue and she wore a dark red orchid. Mrs. Wayland Kahle, an aunt of the groom was dressed in navy blue and her orchid was light in color.

A decoration theme of yellow and white was carried out at the Tecumseh Country Club where a reception for 350 guests was held immediately after the ceremony. Yellow carnations and white gardenias formed the wedding ring around the cake, flanked by crystal candelabra of yellow tapers. Judy Fairbanks registered the guests as they arrived and Betty Barton, Ellen Hindes and Sandra Simmons received the gifts. The cake was cut and served by Beverly McClain and Linda Beck, the ice cream by Delora Fletcher and the coffee and punch by Mary Lou Partridge, Mary Pat McCann, Carol Walz and Lois Kahle.

When the newly married pair left for a week's trip through the upper peninsula, the bride was wearing a sheath dress of white linen with a matching duster and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

A 1956 graduate of Tecumseh high school, the bride is employed at the Tecumseh Products while the groom, who graduated in 1952 is parts manager at Wilson's Motor Sales. They will live at 705 west Chicago Blvd.

Before her marriage, the new Mrs. Aylesworth had been the guest of honor at several pre-nuptial affairs. Twelve of her friends from the office of the Tecumseh Products entertained at a picnic shower. They met in the Founder's Park in Brownville for supper and presented the bride-to-be with a gift from the group.

Last Tuesday, Miss Sylvia Helzerman and Miss Luella Bishop of Britton gave her a personal shower at the Helzerman home with 15 of her friends present. A tiered wedding cake was a feature of the refreshments served.

Mrs. Mahlon Kahle of Tipton and Mrs. Richard Kahle of Tecumseh, aunts of Mr. Aylesworth, honored the bride at a miscellaneous shower June 20 at Mrs. Richard Kahle's home which was attended by 15 relatives and friends.

Before the rehearsal Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Champanois, parents of the bride gave a dinner at the Country Club for the 14 members of the wedding party.

Betty L. Allison Wed in Pontiac

Honeymooning in Calif. are Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Lasley, who were married Saturday at the Central Methodist church in Pontiac by Dr. Milton Bank.

The bride, the former Betty Lou Allison, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Allison of Newberry street, Pontiac. Betty is the granddaughter of Mrs. Eva L. VanVleet of Tecumseh. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sutphin of Berkley.

For the 4 o'clock ceremony, the bride selected a gown of Duopioni silk with imported French Alencon lace. The round neckline was of re-embroidered Alencon lace, which was repeated in the hipline detailing. The floor-length bouffant skirt featured a fan flare hemline.

Mrs. Robert Matthews of Ypsilanti, sister of the bride, wore a lavender ballerina-length gown of slub silk for her duties as matron of honor. Bridal attendants Mrs. Robert Norton of Berkley and Mrs. Rose Marie Ranzilla of Pontiac wore similar gowns in a shade of Nile green.

Serving as best man was Keith Major of Royal Oak. Ushers were Robert Norton of Berkley and Robert Matthews of Ypsilanti.

The reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests attended from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Flint, Jackson, Tecumseh, Owosso, Battle Creek, Bay City, Ypsilanti, Carleton, Granville, Dearborn, Royal Oak and Farmington.

Realty Views

"Guess what?" Lou Gilton said enthusiastically as he came into our office, "I've got a prospect for you."

Mr. Gilton had given us an exclusive listing on his home, and was one of our favorite clients. We had handled several transactions with him in the past.

"You mean on your house?" I asked.

"Yeah," Lou replied. "Last night this fellow stopped by. Said he heard we wanted to sell and he liked the looks of our house. However, he wanted to buy it direct."

"What did you tell him?" I asked.

"I told him it was out of the question for three reasons," Lou replied. "First, the house was exclusively listed with you. Second, it's worth the cost to me to have you handle it—I know it will be well done. And third, it was worth it to him too. Because you could help him obtain the proper financing and look after the other details."

Lou gave us the prospect's name. In a few days, we had a contract. Because the buyer was self-employed with widely fluctuating earnings, it took two attempts to place the loan.

The buyer said, "I can see now you do earn your money. I appreciate your efforts in making it possible for us to buy."

May we HELP YOU TOO in either buying or selling real estate?

Junior Gets "Pinned" Down

Junior Baker and friends are all set for their circus. Look for their advertisements on neighborhood trees.

The kids have had problems in staging the event. The biggest was the admission fee. Junior wanted to charge five cents, Mrs. Baker thought it would be much nicer if they charged five pins.

So Junior held a meeting with his Directors—then told his mother they'd taken her advice. The ads now read: Giant Circus in Baker's Backyard. ADMISSION FIVE PINS PLUS FIVE CENTS TAX.

From where I sit, that's a cute example of a mighty important point—if you want things to turn out your way, then you had better let the other fellow have his choice, too. For instance, if your taste should happen to run to, say, iced tea . . . then you owe it to yourself to see that those who prefer beer, buttermilk or what-have-you get to enjoy their favorite beverages, too. After all, turn about's fair play.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Dewey V. Sturtevant of Ridgeway will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, June 30. The event will be celebrated by a reception to which their many friends are welcome, given by their daughter at the Ridgeway Methodist church from 2 to 5 p.m.

Dewey Sturtevant and Nina Lowe were married in Mr. Sturtevant's home town of Lima Center, Wis., July 3, 1906. Mrs. Sturtevant has spent her entire life in Ridgeway and they have lived for 47 years on the family farm which was purchased by her grandfather, Justus Lowe in 1865. Mr. Sturtevant still operates the farm.

They are the parents of one daughter, Thelma, Mrs. Jennings Frayer and grandparents of Dewey J., Van and Cynthia Frayer.

Kiwanis International Will Construct Million Dollar General Office Building

Kiwanis International will construct a modern General Office building at a cost of approximately one million dollars on a site near Chicago's famous loop area, it was announced today by J. A. Raney, Indianapolis, President of Kiwanis International, before delegates to the 41st annual convention of Kiwanis International in San Francisco. Construction of the new building will begin within two years. The new Kiwanis address will be 101 East Erie (one block west of Michigan Avenue — Chicago's "Magnificent Mile"). Kiwanis currently maintains its General Office at 520 North Michigan Avenue in Chicago.

Purchase of the Chicago property and announcement of construction plans follow several years of search and negotiation for a new General Office site, Raney said. The steady growth of Kiwanis International, and the consequent enlargement of the General Office staff and of its function have necessitated the move, he added.

Two years ago, a special committee was set up by Kiwanis to study possible locations for a new General Office building. The committee reported in favor of the "near north area of Chicago," because of its central location, and its ability to serve all Kiwanians more quickly and more adequately. Kiwanis has maintained its General Office in Chicago since 1918. The organization moved into its current quarters, the McGraw Hill Building, in 1931.

The Kiwanis General Office, which is headed by International Secretary O. E. Peterson, serves a quarter million Kiwanians in 4200 clubs located in the United States, Canada, Alaska, and the Hawaiian Islands. Twelve departments are operated by the General Office, including the Kiwanis magazine department. This magazine, the official Kiwanis International organ, has a circulation of 300,000. Kiwanis employs approximately 125 people. The General Office also serves Key Club International, a high school level service organization numbering 33,000 boys, and Circle K International, a college level group.

The organization's new headquarters will be built on property which is now occupied by the famous old Anita McCormick Blaine home, a Victorian-style red brick structure. For 60 years, this house was the home of Mrs. Blaine, daughter of Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper and founder of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, and later the wife of Emmons Blaine, son of the Republican party's famed "Plumed Knight," James G. Blaine, who lost a presidential election to Grover Cleveland.

"Construction of the new General Office building is Kiwanis' declaration of faith in the future of the United States and Canada, and the people who have built this organization into a 250,000 man force for good," Raney said.

VIRGIL TUCKER

Mr. Tucker was born and raised near Britton and graduated from Britton high school.

He is 43 years of age, has worked at the Tecumseh Products Company since 1936, and today holds the position of assistant secretary of the company.

He and his wife, Marian, have owned their home in Indian Acres since 1939 and have three children.

Their daughter, Sherry, is in the tenth grade at Tecumseh high, their son, Michael, is in the eighth grade in Tecumseh junior high, and their son Lance, is two years of age.

He is a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church and vice-president of the Tecumseh Rotary Club.

The election will be held in the lobby of the high school gymnasium from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. July 9.

Two members will be elected. All registered electors of the Tecumseh Public Schools, District No. 11, are eligible to vote. The district now comprises the 15 primary districts annexed this spring and all persons whose property has been transferred to the district this year.

The fifth proposition on the ballot is concerning the sale of the Bird School building which will not be needed if present board plans are carried out since area schools are planned for the near future. The land upon which the Bird School stands reverts to the original owners or their heirs and, therefore, only the building may be sold.

CONVICTS DISAGREE ON STOLEN CAR CHARGE

Two Virginia escaped convicts who were apprehended by local police last week went before a federal judge in Detroit Monday on the charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Henry Lucas pleaded guilty to the charge and Frank Smith pleaded not guilty.

The Silver Lining

For a close-up view, special excursion boats run the full length of the huge engineering operation to take visitors within rivet throwing distance of the 500-foot high support towers.

When completed next year, the five mile long bridge will span the Straits of Mackinac to provide the first motoring link between Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "The only thing wrong with that dollar that used to buy three times as much was that you didn't have it.—"

THE GRAND OLD FOURTH of July blazed as gloriously for teen-agers a century ago as it does now, according to an old diary in the possession of the University of Michigan Historical Collections.

Elizabeth Gurney (Taylor), 14 at the time, wrote an account of that holiday as it was celebrated in 1854 in the little town of Centerville in St. Joseph County.

"Today the great Fourth of July has come once more with its pleasures and pains," she writes. "Father and I went to see them form a procession and march to the new Methodist meeting house. Mr. Upson delivered an oration. We went from there to the courthouse after some ice cream and refreshments."

Lizzie didn't have to wait too long for the excitement to start: "While there we were alarmed by the bell ringing and a cry of 'Fire.' We found out it was Mr. Powers' house. They finally succeeded in putting out the fire after tearing up the furniture. Her husband has gone off peddling lightning rods."

She continues, "In the evening we went to see the fireworks in the public square. They had fireballs, Roman candles and rockets, some of them beautiful. After the fire I went to the courthouse with the market basket after our dishes. They were as busy as ever.

"Again we heard the fire alarm! It was Bennett's tin shop. It caught fire from a fire cracker thrown on the roof. Mr. Powers' house is supposed to have taken fire by a fire cracker on the door mat.

"We found out also that there had been fire enough to burn a large hole in the courthouse stairs, making, in all, three fires in one day. I think that is doing pretty well for good old Centerville!" she concludes happily.

LATELY WE HAVE been receiving home phone calls for the other Bob in the family. Last Saturday we turned down a chance to trade comics, a chance to earn a couple of extra bucks washing windows and a chance to play ball. The trouble or mix-up can be traced to two facts: in school the younger Bob learned to answer the phone by stating who was speaking and I learned this important time-saving fact years ago. Secondly, now that he is a grown-up 13 he no longer likes to be known as Bobby. Meanwhile, we're waiting for a better deal before we take one of the jobs that have been offered to us and him.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: The man who wakes up to find himself famous has not been sleeping long.

Division of the Board
Greater convenience and service to buying and selling clients!
What Multiple Listing Is
" M. L. B. "

Multiple Listing brings to the purchaser's attention each piece of property that is for sale. Participating Realtors pool their listings in a central (the Board) office, from which they are broadcast to participating members of the Board. It sets a large sales organization in motion and provides more clients for the property and therefore, a quicker sale, than by other methods. It is co-operative service, enabling participating Realtors and their salesmen to offer properties that they otherwise might never know were for sale.

The following Realtors are Participants in our Multiple Listing Bureau activities:

Six-Foot Protest

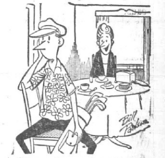
PETITIONS TO CONGRESS these days are nothing new, as this 120-year-old document shows. An act of Congress in 1836 granted Michigan statehood on condition that the "Toledo strip," an area desired by both Michigan and Ohio, go to Ohio with Michigan taking the Upper Peninsula. A storm of indignation followed, and this lengthy protest, held by Patricia Relitz of the Henry Ford Museum staff, was signed by 109 residents of Whiteford township, Monroe county, who didn't want to live in Ohio. The Upper Peninsula, denounced in the petition as "the frozen and sterile shores of Lake Superior," later proved a bonanza of timber and iron ore.



"I've got news for you. Your vacation doesn't start till NEXT Monday!"

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH ACTIVITIES

Immanuel Lutheran Walther League met recently in the church auditorium. During the business meeting it was decided to undertake the project of cleaning the Sunday School room in the church and to have a picnic to welcome the newly confirmed members. Joyce Schafter and Tom Miller served the refreshments.

The Vacation Bible School of Immanuel Lutheran church was closed with a service Wednesday, June 20 with 152 in attendance. During the service the children were presented with certificates and book marks. Later the parents viewed the handicraft. Refreshments were served by the Ladies Aid.

Sunday, June 24, the Fellowship Club of Immanuel Lutheran church, had a picnic and went to the Toledo Zoo.

During the months of July and August there will be two Sunday morning services at Immanuel Lutheran church. Matins will begin at 8:15 a.m. Sunday School and the Bible classes will begin at 9:30 a.m. as usual and the morning Worship Service will be held at 10:30 a.m.

The June meeting of the Ladies Aid will be held in the church auditorium. Mrs. Otto Miller is hostess.

WELCOME NEW MINISTER

Beginning, Sunday, July 1, Sunday School at the Macon Methodist church will be held at 10 a.m. instead of 10:30 and church service will begin at 11 a.m. A cooperative dinner will be served in the church basement next Sunday to welcome the new minister and his family, the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Bates, son David and daughter Cathie. Each family is to bring table service and a dish to pass.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETS

Mr. and Mrrs. Ralph Halladay of Clinton were hosts to the Macon Community Club Tuesday evening. Election of officers resulted in the following: president, Clayton Bigelow; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Halladay; sunshine secretary, Mrs. Melvin Travis. The calendar for the next year was planned and it was announced that the July meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilmore, who will also be in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow were program chairmen of the evening and showed pictures of Macon vicinity, northern Michigan and Florida. Mr. and Mrs. O. Evans, Mrs. Mary Gooding of Milan, Mrs. Earl Lindsley and Mrs. Mae Morgan of Tecumseh and Mrs. Nina Pennington of Clinton were guests.

BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSES

The closing program of the vacation Bible school of the Macon Methodist church was held Sunday morning. Each teacher explained what her class had done and Bible verses were recited by the classes. There was also a display of handicraft. Seventy-six were enrolled in the school, 55 having perfect attendance, and 11 missing only one day. Teachers and helpers were Mrs. Virginia Thomas, Mrs. Arlene Gibson, Mrs. Eunice Camburn, Margie Papp, Betty Hawkins, Mrs. Evelyn Hawkins, Mrs. Rosann Vollmer, Mrs. Donald Bates, Mrs. Alice Gorton, Mrs. Hamilton Moore, Mrs. Helen Williams, Mrs. Mary Hagens, Mrs. Betty Wedemeyer, Mrs. Helen Thomas and Mrs. Emogene Morden.

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Bates and family have moved their trailer home to the church yard.

Robertt Osborne spent Sunday with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne and daughter.

Miss Nancy Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hawkins is ill with the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Travis spent the weekend in Ohio. Mrs. Travis' sister, Miss Mae Baker returned home with them for a visit.

Richard Moore is attending Judson Collins camp at Wamplers lake this week.

Mrs. Marion Spitler entered Herrick Memorial hospital Sunday instead of Tuesday as stated in last week's paper.

The Alice Jane circle will sponsor an ice cream social Thursday, June 28 at the Macon Methodist church. Serving will start at 5:30 p.m.

Macon Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet Thursday, July 5 at 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. Elfa Munroe. Mrs. Hazel Scudder is in charge of devotions and Mrs. Truman Jordan is program chairman.

Macon Boy Scout troop will meet Monday, July 2 instead of July 4 and July 3 will attend a ballgame in Detroit, meeting in Macon at 11:15 a.m. Each scout is to bring a dollar for transportation and a sack lunch.

Six Macon Boy Scouts and their scoutmaster Dean Moore of Tecumseh went on a 50 mile bicycle hike Friday evening and Saturday. They camped out overnight east of Britton. Scouts who went were Jerry Rhoades, Fred Betzoldt, Ricky Zick, Larry Pennington, Larry Neidlinger and Richard Moore.

Macon Youth Fellowship will sponsor a car wash Monday and Tuesday, July 2 and 3 at Bug's service station in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Mary Howell has received word that her granddaughter Mary Jo Howell of Catoosa, Okla., won first place in the finals of a statewide Methodist Youth Fellowship speech contest on World Peace. Mary Jo is a junior at Claremore high school, secretary-treasurer of the senior M.Y.F. in the First Methodist church of Claremore and vice president of the Tulsa district M.Y.F. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howell of Catoosa, former Macon residents, while Mr. Howell was associated with the University of Michigan.

Kohler and Fitzpatrick Join Multiple Listing

The Lenawee County Realtors' Association report the following:

"We are happy to announce the formation of a multiple listing bureau, division of the Lenawee County Board of Realtors. This new multiple listing bureau service brings to the purchaser's attention each piece of property that is for sale.

"All realtors participating in the multiple listing bureau service pool their listings in a central office from which they are broadcast to all other participating members of the bureau.

"It sets a very large sales organization in motion and provides more clients for the property and therefore a better sale for the owner than by the old individual broker method. It is cooperative service enabling participating realtors and their salesmen to offer properties that they otherwise might never know were for sale.

"The owner having property for sale lists the property with the realtor participant of his choice, and it is then processed through a central office which has been established on the second floor of the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Association, which is in charge of Mrs. Ilah Avis who has been retained as assistant secretary of the Board.

"Photographs of the property are taken and complete descriptive information then sent out to all of the participating realtors who in turn deal right through the listing realtor participant in all matters pertaining to the showing and sale of the property.

"We feel that this is a big step forward in modernizing the realtor profession. In recent years, a large number of real estate boards throughout the country have adopted the multiple listing system, and it has proved highly desirable and effective for both the realtors and their clients.

"Kohler Real Estate and Rena Fitzpatrick are charter members of the multiple listing bureau and are the participating realtors in the Tecumseh area.

FFA Holds Summer Meet

The first summer meeting of the Tecumseh Future Farmers was called to order by president Darrell Lowery.

At the meeting four honorary members were brought into the chapter. Mr. Fay Whelan and Mr. Eldon Colthurst, implement dealers who have assisted the FFA boys each year by combining their oats and wheat as well as moving the brooder house three times a year. Mr. Mel Partridge who was also to receive this honor could not make the meeting. Mr. Louis Schneider also received the honorary degree of chapter farmer for donating the use of a pick-up truck to the chapter.

Mr. Burns, FFA adviser, read a letter from the state office of vocational agriculture stating that the boys received a silver award of $15 for their individual supervised farming program. The chapter also entered the state FFA chapter contest this year. The results have not been determined.

The crop projects for the summer were also planned at the meeting and a committee for a chicken barbecue was set up. Ramon Aylesworth is in charge.

After the meeting cokes were served. The next meeting will be July 23.

Historical County Map Planned by Historical Society

The summer meeting of the Lenawee County Historical Society held last Thursday afternoon at the Horton Farm southwest of Adrian was attended by several members from Tecumseh.

Dinner was served to a large group by the ladies of the Fruit Ridge Grange nearby and the afternoon meeting was held on the lawn of the farm home, which has been well known in Lenawee agricultural circles for many years. It is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cornelius of Detroit, who were hosts to the society for this meeting.

The main topic of discussion was the historical map of the county which is a project of the society at the request of the Michigan Historical Commission. Miss Phyllis Robertson of Blissfield, who is chairman of the project was the main speaker.

Mrs. W. W. Cooke of Clayton, president of the society was re-elected to that position as were the other 1956 officers who include Mrs. W. G. Waldron, vice president and Delmar Finch, treasurer, both of Tecumseh.

Those attending from this area were, Mr. and Mrs. Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon, Miss Edythe Shull, Mrs. Jennie Satterlee, Miss Edith Ingersoll, Miss Lillian Cannon, Mrs. James Artman, Mrs. Jay Morse, Mrs. Norman McConnell, Mrs. Frank Turner, Miss Gertrude Turner, Mrs. Lucy Terry, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. W. G. Waldron, all of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pocklington and Mrs. Guy Pocklington of Ridgeway.

It was voted at this meeting to hold four meetings each year instead of two as in the past. The date of the next meeting will be decided by the executive committee and announcd later.

PROBABLY THE leading citizen of Paw Paw, as well as its unofficial mayor, is Charles Richard Maxwell, Sr., a fugitive from the Boston and Baltimore clubs and right now one of the hottest properties of the Detroit Tigers.

Charles Richard not alone is hitting the baseball at such a furious clip that he is among the league leaders but he also has improved afield to the point where he is making sensational catches and throwing the ball like an arrow.

If the powers running the Red Sox and Orioles are found pounding their heads against the wall, small wonder. They had their chances with Charles Richard and booted them. To be honest, the Tigers almost muffed, too.

Failed to Impress

The pride of Paw Paw, who was born in Lawton and attended high school there before going to Western Michigan College, evidently does not show too well in early spring.

After tenures with Roanoke, Scranton, Wellsville, Birmingham and Louisville, all in the Red Sox farm system at one time or another, Charlie came up to the parent club but failed to impress anybody.

Curiously, Maxwell served under Pinky Higgins on three of the clubs when both were working their way up to the majors, Higgins to manage the Sox, Maxwell to play for them.

Charlie credits Higgins with teaching him much of what he knows about hitting. He was a pull hitter, dragging every ball to right field, when Higgins took the left-hander in tow and taught him how to poke an outside ball to the opposite field.

Infrequent Appearances

But he didn't do well enough to satisfy the Boston moguls and was sold to Baltimore after the 1954 season. The Orioles despaired of him early last spring and the Tigers obtained him on waivers.

It looked as though Maxwell were to suffer a similar fate here. He got into the line-up only infrequently last year and appeared headed for discard this season before his chance finally came.

In fact, Maxwell was so sure the end was near that he began studying accountancy in preparation for a career outside of baseball. Despite his great success now, Charlie is still taking correspondence courses and plans on becoming a CPA when his playing days are over.

Chopping for Uppercutting

Charlie, who hit only three homers all the time he was in a Boston uniform, attributes his batting success with the Tigers to several factors.

Perhaps foremost is the coaching of Joe Gordon and Billy Hitchcock, who still holler at him to chop the ball as a reminder every time he comes to the plate. Charlie has a tendency to uppercut the ball, which leads to disastrous results, and Gordon and Hitchcock had him substitute the chopping swing.

Then there's the early training by Higgins and, finally, the opportunity to play more or less regularly.

"I never really knew if I could hit big league pitching until I got this chance," Maxwell confesses. "Now that I know I can, it's given me all the confidence I need."

Jackson Schedules July 4th Races

A seven-event program of late model stock car races is scheduled for July 4 at Jackson Motor Speedway. Time trials will start at 7 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m.

This program is open to 1949-1953 passenger cars and will feature a 50-lap main event.

A top notch field of drivers is expected to roll into action to race for a guaranteed purse of $1,000 against 40 per cent of the gate.

The hardtops continue to race every Saturday night on the 3/8 mile track where the purses have averaged over $1,000 so far this season with one as high as $1,500.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

An early spell of hot weather has created a fish kill problem in several Michigan lakes.

Extremely hot weather kills vegetation in shallow water, causing oxygen depletion and fish suffocation. This summerkill often occurs in shallow lakes during the hotter months of the season, but abnormally-high June temperatures have put several lakes at the critical stage already.

Conservation Department fish workers have received many reports from persons who found dead fish in shallow lakes. Fish specialists point out that the hot weather kill occurs only in shallow lakes and bays and is less extensive than winterkill in ice-covered lakes.

If the summerkill problem becomes more serious, fishing regulations could be relaxed at lakes affected, enabling anglers to take fish which otherwise would be lost.

Nature, however, controls the only sure remedy for the problem —cooler weather.

Sales of state-owned timber for June total $8340, lowest in several months.

"June is always a slack month for timber operators," explained Conservation Commissioner Shirley Allen, Ann Arbor, in announcing the sales at a recent Commission meeting.

Included are 1145 cords of pulpwood, 457,000 board feet of saw timber and 960 cedar posts.

The year's largest number of conservation law convictions was reported for the week ending June 9 when 139 violators were listed.

The guilty persons were ordered to pay $1335 in fines and another $1077 in court costs in justice courts throughout the state. All money from fines goes to the state library fund.

Most of the convictions were for violations of state fishing laws, but two men received stiff penalties for possession of deer during closed season.

A resident of Cadillac was ordered to pay a $50 fine, $8.40 in court costs and serve three days

Down at the Playground

In Midget League softball last week Herrick Park boys blitzed Central 35 to 4 and Central edged Tecumseh Acres 22 to 21.

Mike Montgomery hit two homers, a triple, a double and a single for the Parkers and Jim Newell chucked a four hitter.

In boys' Junior League play Herrick Park measured Central 7 to 4 and Central blanked Tecumseh Acres 4 to 0.

Mike Tucker hit three for 4 for the Parkers and Dennis Harrison tossed a three hitter.

In Senior League play Herrick Park boys defeated Central 9 to 4 and Central clipped Tecumseh Acres 18 to 10.

A Little League baseball plan is in the hopper with the five best boys from each team as players. These boys will be from 11 to 13. They will play a 14-game schedule.

In the Senior Girls' League Central mauled Herrick Park 32 to 2 and Central defeated Tecumseh Acres 20 to 12. Ann Kempf banged out two triples in the latter game.

Top batters in the league so far are the following:

Midget League — Butch Anderson of Central, four of seven for .571; Mike Higgins of Tecumseh Acres, four of five for .800; and Mike Montgomery of Herrick Park, five of six for .823.

Junior League: Mike Tucker, Central, five for eight for .625; Steve Kruger of Herrick Park two for three for .666; and Bill Ross and Jerry Holdridge of Tecumseh Acres, 1 for three for .333.

Senior League—John Conklin of Tecumseh Acres two for two for 1.000; Gary Hizer of Herrick Park, three for four for .750; and Roy Miller of Central, five for eight for .625.

Girls' League—Luella Bishop of Herrick Park, two for two for 1.000; Ann Kempf of Central, three of four for .750; Carol Kapnick of Tecumseh Acres, three for four for .750.

In special events the following won first prizes for box hockey.

Tecumseh Acres—Dave Lemerand, junior; Jim Hubble, senior.

Central—Kirk Lucas, junior; Gale Miller, senior.

FORD TRUCKS COST LESS

More loadspace! New Ford F-100 holds more than any other half-ton pickup—up to 19 cu. ft. more, thanks to new 8-ft. box (low extra cost). 6½-ft. box is standard.

The pay-off is in the payload! New Ford T-800 tandem-axle model lets you carry up to 3,000 lbs. more payload than most other 6-wheelers. GCW 65,000 lbs.

Widest range of Short Stroke power in the 2-ton field. New Ford F-600 offers a Short Stroke Six plus three Short Stroke V-8's developing up to 168 h.p. GVW 19,500 lbs.

Ford costs start low –
Ford costs stay low . . .

The factory-suggested list prices of Ford Trucks are scaled right down with the lowest—and dozens of Ford Truck models are priced below all competitive makes!

But low initial cost is only one of the reasons why Fords cost less. Take resale value—it stays high, thanks to the demand for used Fords. Take operating and maintenance costs—no other trucks with comparable horsepower beat Ford's rugged Short Stroke engines for gas and oil economy.

When you take everything into consideration, you'll agree Ford Trucks cost less! Before you buy any truck, see your Ford Dealer.

Commenting on the Passing Scene

THE TECUMSEH AREA already has one fatality caused from carbon dioxide in silos.

Perhaps this message may help others from being overcome from the poisonous fumes.

Clayton Ingerson, assistant county agricultural agent, explains that carbon dioxide gas often replaces the oxygen in the silo pit before it's full and this gas can cause suffocation quickly.

Agent Ingerson also listed these important precautions:

"In partially filled silos where the silage has set over eight hours, it's a good idea to let the blower run for a few minutes with the lower silage doors removed before going inside the silo.

"This will circulate the air at the base of the silage level and remove possible carbon dioxide gas."

Here's a way to check for carbon dioxide gas: Ingerson suggests lowering a lantern into the pit. If its light goes out, better ventilate the place before entering.

Another safety tip from Ingerson: Make sure the silo ladder is in good condition. Take away the bottom rungs so children won't be tempted to climb. And check the silo platform.

WHEN CONGRESS COMPLETES approval of the new 51.8 billion dollar federal highway program, Michigan motorists will start paying a total of 42 per cent in three taxes on the gasoline they consume.

The total tax in Michigan then will average 9.8 cents a gallon for regular grade gasoline. The tax increase is expected to go into effect July 1.

This again should show conclusively that all federal aid programs are not given to us but are paid for through various types of taxes.

ONCE AGAIN THERE is agitation from the council to crack down on speeders. It is hoped that this time the agitation will be lasting and that some permanent good will result.

In the past the agitation did not last. The crack down was made but there was no permanent and lasting result.

Apparently habitual speeders knew that the crack down would not continue because now they are back with us worse than ever before.

There is a plan used by other cities that might have merit here. A habitual speeder who has been arrested more than once is fined $5 for every mile over the city speed control law that he has broken.

Rough? No, not when it may keep some crazy maniac from running down and killing a child.

It is time the council, the police department and the justice of the peace get tougher with the habitual speeders and continue a more stern policy.

"The History of My Life"

In every far-flung reach of this country, millions of people look forward each week to the appearance of their local small-town papers. These papers are the running histories of the communities and regions they serve, and there is nothing that can take their place.

Now and then some old-time reader troubles to tell the editor just how he feels about the local paper. That pleasant experience happened the other day to the editor of the News, of Hemet, California. The correspondent was a woman who had lived in the Hemet area for more than half a century. She wrote: "I have many fond memories of your newspaper and the people who have been connected with it. Not long ago . . . it occurred to me that in the files of your paper is the history of my life.

"Your paper recorded my birth, my childhood parties, my graduation from high school and later from college, my marriage, the arrival of each of my four children and the death of one of them — and now, in more recent years your columns have been recording the arrival, one by one, of my grandchildren . . . Is it any wonder that your paper means so much in our home and that we look forward eagerly to receiving it each week?"

The country paper is an intensely personal thing, close to the lives and work and thoughts and aspirations of all who read it. And it's a certainty that no medium of communication and opinion has so large a proportion of loyal, beginning-to-end readers.

So You Want To Go To College

(Note—This is the sixth in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

The transition from high school to college will be one of the most important times of your life.

As a high school student, you have been under the direct control of your parents. For 16 or 17 years, you have looked to them for guidance and they have laid down certain rules and regulations for your conduct.

In high school, you were told pretty much exactly what you should do by your teachers. A certain project was outlined, a certain number of pages was assigned and certain books had to be read and reports given. Your life was pretty much directed and controlled by those about you.

Now, you are ready for college. Yesterday, you were a high school boy or girl, today you are a college man or woman. In most cases, mother and dad will be many miles away. No longer will you be directly under their supervision.

YOU'RE ON YOUR OWN

In college you are on your own. You may choose your friends, many of your courses, your major field of work and your recreational activities. No longer will anyone tell you exactly how long you must study.

The average student at Michigan State University carries 17 hours of class work. This means that he meets in a class 17 times a week. But beyond this, he is expected to spend at least two hours outside of class for each hour he spends in class.

How can you as a high school student prepare for college? First of all, you can do the very best academic work possible. You can select these courses which will be helpful to you in college work. This is especially true if you have already decided on the life work you want to follow. For example, if engineering is your choice of vocation, mathematics and physics are important subjects for you in high school.

In high school, you can develop good study habits. You can assume responsibilities on your own. You can learn to use the library effectively. You can learn to listen to a speaker and take notes. You can learn to keep your mind open and arrive at conclusions based on facts.

COLLEGE IS DIFFERENT

Dr. Guy H. Hill, director of high school cooperation at Michigan State University, recently said, "College is different from high school for it places responsibility on the student himself.

"The high school student will be given as much assistance as the college can give, to help make his college life successful. But his success or failure will be dependent to a large extent on how much he is willing to do for himself."

Dean of Students Tom King explains that success in university life is also related to the extent to which the high school student learns to utilize university resources and facilities in his own adjustment. The university will not force you to use them, but they are available to you. The instructors, counselors, health service, placement bureau, housing office, the dean of students office, registrar, improvement services, library, and many others are easily accessible to you. All of these are at your service at your request.

As you think of college and how to prepare for it, remember that the essentials for success in college are adequate preparation, desire and determination to learn, a real purpose for wanting to go to college and enough mental ability to pursue studies which require abstract reasoning.

Christian Science Services Listed

Man's God-given right of self-government will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God."

Gideon's answer to the men of Israel who asked him to rule over them will be included in the readings from the King James Version of the Bible (Judges 8:23): "And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the Lord shall rule over you."

The basis of proper self-government will be emphasized in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (106:7): "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love."

MPA Files Protest Over Milk Pricing

A delegation of eight members of the Michigan Milk Producers' Detroit market committee entered protests before the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington Monday, June 25 seeking a more favorable decision by the Department with respect to milk pricing in the federal order governing the Detroit market.

Headed by Glenn Lake, president of the Association, the delegation included Ernest Miller, Bad Axe, chairman of the Detroit market committee, George Austin, Ovid, Fritz Olson, Greenville, Irving Haskill, Lapeer, and Harold Mapes, Adrian, all members of the Association's Detroit marketing group.

"The Department of Agriculture's recommended decision is shockingly inadequate," said Lake. "The agricultural agreement act provides that farmers should get a fair return for their milk. Last Feb. the Association made, in good faith, proposals for price increases to producers based on costs of production. The Department of Agriculture apparently disregarded the testimony of farmers.

"Prices under the recommended decision are unrealistic and do not adequately reflect farmers' costs, and are therefore unacceptable to members of the Association."

The MMPA filed a brief of exceptions to the recommended decision and demanded the hearing to bring the Detroit federal market order in line with negotiated prices for milk.

Local Topics

Father's Day guests in the C. W. Allen home included Mrs. C. W. Boussum and children of Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundberg of East Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. What's New in Getaway?
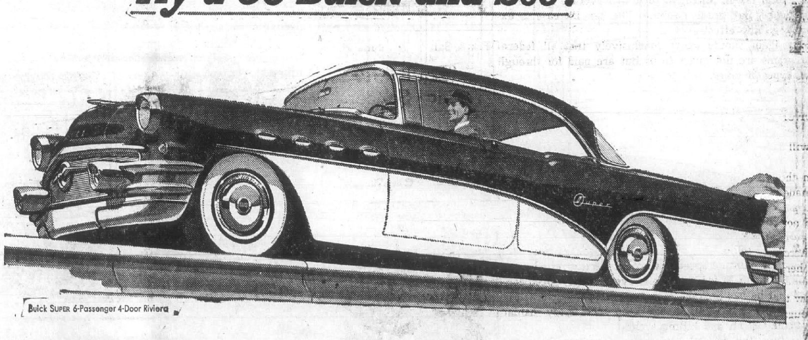
Try a '56 Buick and See!



Buick SUPER 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

YOU'VE probably heard us say a lot, recently, about the 1956 Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*
And maybe you've wondered just what that "new" means.
Well, it means a brand-new principle in transmission design. A new way to make whirling oil add to its own velocity and produce fast torque build-up at only part throttle.
What does it do for you?
It gives you a quick new getaway response right in the first inch of pedal travel—right where you do most of your normal driving—and right where you get better gas mileage every inch of the way.
It gives you more safety-surge breakaway when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch—more electrifying full-power acceleration to pull out of a tight spot.
And it gives you all this with absolute smoothness—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.
But if you think this great new getaway is the only reason for Buick's strong position in the Top 3 of America's best sellers—listen:
In every 1956 Buick there's newness from end to end.
New 322-cubic-inch V8 engines. New brakes, new frame, new rear end. A new deep-oil cushioned ride. New handling ease, new quiet, new comfort. New carburetor "deicing." New exhaust manifolding. New interlocking safety door latches. New Safety-Aim headlamps. New features everywhere you look—including new styling and beauty inside and out.
What it all adds up to is the Best Buick Yet, by far. And we cordially invite you to come see and sample all the new thrills a '56 Buick has in store for you.
You'll find them packaged in a price that makes any model you choose your smartest buy yet. Can you make it this week?
New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Farmers Can Get Gas Refund

Louis G. Hall, county agricultural agent announced today that Lenawee farmers have thousands of dollars coming to them as a refund on gasoline used for farm purposes.

Public Law No. 466, approved April 2, 1956, provides that federal taxes on gasoline and special fuels used on their farms for farming purposes will be refunded. The first claims to be filed will be for gasoline purchases after Dec. 31, 1955, and used before July 1, 1956. The claim must be filed on or before Sept. 30, 1956.

Hall said the form used in filing claim in U. S. Treasurer's form Number 2240 and may be obtained from the Cooperative Extension Service Office, Basement Court House, Adrian, or any bank in Lenawee County.

Directions are printed on the form.

Receipts [illegible] not accompany the form but the farmer should keep them in his files.

Milky Way To Dominate July Sky

Fireworks will be the feature attraction in the sky July 4, but during the rest of the month the Milky Way will dominate the heavens, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

This broad, hazy band will come into good view in the early evening hours, she says. "Just after dark it extends as a giant arch from north to south across the eastern sky, rising higher and higher during the later night hours and as the summer progresses."

Before the invention of the telescope the true nature of the Milky Way could only be conjectured, Professor Losh continues, but now photographs taken with modern instruments show that this cloudy appearance is caused by the presence of myriads of stars which cannot be separated by the unaided eye.

"Field glasses or a small telescope, however, will reveal the innumerable individual stars which form the band," she states.

Some of the conspicuous constellatons of the month will be Cassiopeia and the Northern Cross in the north, Scorpio in the south, Aquilla and Sagittarius in the east.

Rising in the Milky Way almost exactly in the east is Aqulla with its bright star, Altair.

This star, says the astronomer, is located at the apex of a great triangle with Vega, in Lyra, and Deneb, in the Northern Cross, as the other corners. Altair is one of our nearest stellar neighbors, Professor Losh points out. It is sixteen light years away, so we see it now as it appeared in 1940.

In the rich, star-clouded area of the Milky Way near Sagittarius lies what is believed to be the center of our vast stellar system, 35,000 light years from us.

Planets visible this month will be Venus, now a "Morning Star," Jupiter in the west, Saturn in the east, and Mars slightly south of the east point of the horizon, Professor Losh concludes.

MSU Finds Way to Boost Cheese Flavor

Michigan State University scientists have found a way to boost the amount of a desirable flavor substance in cottage cheese to give the product a better taste.

Dr. L. G. Harmon and Charles S. Wales reported that one way to increase the desirable flavor substances is to add an organic acid to the water used in washing the cottage cheese curd during the manufacturing process.

The researchers said one substance in cottage cheese has a bad odor when it's isolated in its pure form. But when it is present in minute amounts in the cottage cheese the chemical contributes to the flavor.

The study is part of M.S.U.'s research marketing program designed to increase the shelf life of dairy products to make Mrs. Homemaker a satisfied customer and a repeat buyer.

The researchers are working with dairy manufacturers at the invitation of management.

Keep Poisons Out of Reach of Children

Chil[illegible] drink almost anything regardless of taste or smell, especially when they are thirsty in hot summer weather.

Warning labels are often found on such things as lye, ammonia and strong acids which should remind parents that they should be kept out of children's reach, comments Coral Morris, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State.

But, she warns, things that might mean danger are often not so labeled. In fact, records on one large city's Poison Control center show that drugs (such as overdoses of aspirin, candy-flavored medicine and oil of wintergreen) kerosene, household disinfectants, insecticides, furniture polishes and laundry bleaches, turpentine and costmetics are the most common causes of poisoning in children.

For the youngsters under five in your house it's a good idea to check for poisons in your kitchen, bathr[illegible] bedrooms, garage, attic, yard, basement and closets. Be sure that anything harmful is off the floor and low shelves, off the tops of tables and sinks, away from food shelves and locked or stored away.

Miss Morris suggests that for added protection you read all labels carefully, including the small print. Discard all prescriptions not being used. Never leave household chemicals around in containers which were meant to hold food or beverages. Always replace the cover tightly on containers. And, keep them out of reach and out of sight of children.

FROZEN FOOD

A FREEZER-REFRIGERATOR IS LIKE A SUPERMARKET AT YOUR FINGERTIPS

Convenience is the keynote of a modern electric Refrigerator-Freezer. It's just like having a food store that's never closed, right in your home. An old-fashioned refrigerator just wasn't designed to give you such convenience.

With a combination Refrigerator-Freezer you can prepare for guests before they come . . . bake or cook when the weather is cool . . . freeze school and picnic lunches ahead. Food you have prepared at your leisure can be stored in the freezer section, ready to relieve the pressure of busy days.

A two-zone Freezer-Refrigerator is economical too, because you can buy food in season, in quantity, when the price is right.

Refrigerator-Freezers come in many popular sizes. Their special features include shelves that roll out, butter and cheese compartments, automatic defrosting . . . in fact they give you all of the advantages of your present refrigerator plus a spacious frozen food compartment.

Remington Family Has Reunion

Fifty-seven descendants of James Lenardo Remington and wife met at the Kimball Community House in Clinton, Saturday, June 16 for their annual reunon. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundberg of East Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen of Tecumseh were hosts.

These reunions have been held yearly through six generations, beginning as a Christmas celebration with the Remington's own children. Now each June the great, great, great grandchildren are participating in the festivities.

Guests were present from East Lansing, Toledo, Macon, Milan, Saline, Bay City, Manchester, Britton, Mason, Colon and Tecumseh. Telegrams and letters were read from absent members in Calif., Fla., and Penn. A bounteous cooperative dinner was served at one o'clock and the afternoon was spent in visiting and reminiscing.

The 1957 reunion will be held at the summer home of Mrs. Ellen Wanty at Evans Lake with Mrs. Mary Gooding as co-hostess and Mrs. Wayne Patton of Tecumseh, acting as secretary.

VFW State Encampment Set in Bay City

Upwards of 5,000 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its ladies auxiliary and their families were on hand at Bay City June 21-24 to attend the 37th annual state encampment of the V.F.W.

Delegates and officers from the more than 400 Michigan posts set policy for the up-coming year and elected a slate of V.F.W. officials for the state.

Highlight of the four-day conclave took place Friday, June 22, when National V.F.W. Commander Timothy J. Murphy, of Milton, Mass., addressed the opening business session of the convention.

OUTLINE OBJECTIONS

Murphy outlined the V.F.W.'s objections to the Bradley commission report, issued recently. The commander-in-chief also cited V.F.W. policy concerning other veterans benefits.

Governor G. Mennen Williams' also addressed the convention on Friday morning. Many other state and national officials were in attendance.

The ladies auxiliary to the V.F.W. held concurrent meeting with the parent organization. The Military Order of the Cootie, fun degree of the V.F.W. held its convention on Friday which was featured by election of state officers.

SUBMIT RESOLUTIONS

Business of the encampment centered about the more than 50 resolutions submitted by individual posts and the state and national organizations of the V.F.W. State Commander Don M. Draher, of Royal Oak, presided over all business sessions.

In addition to the three days of business, the heavy convention schedule includes a memorial service, on Thursday, June 21; a parare on Saturday, June 23, and the Pageant of Drums, on Saturday, in which musical and marching units of the organization compete for state crowns.

If delegates keep with the line of succession method of electing a commander, Max C. McCarn of Mason, will be the next state commander. This method of elevating the state senior vice commander to state commander has not been broken since the middle 1930's.

Howard Barhitte, of Muskegon, is expected to receive no opposition in his bid for state senior vice commander.

Biggest election fight centers about the position of state junior vice commander where four acknowledged candidates are bidding for the ofifce. They are Wilburt Kirsch, Victor Bocci and Charles Gallagher, all of Detroit; and William Rogers, of Trenton.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

State quartermaster - adjutant, Christie J. Braun, of Lansing, is seeking re-election to his eighth term in that office. Other state positions to be filled are judge advocate, surgeon and chaplain.

The ladies auxiliary is expected to elevate Mrs. Clarissa Loeding, of Marysville, to the state presidency.

Convention arrangements are being set up by a Bay City committee headed by Walter Jacobs. Bay City Post No. 485 is host post for the conclave.

Teachers Rated by Teen-Age Girl a Century Ago

How did the teen-age girl of a century ago rate her teachers?

An answer comes from the diary of Elizabeth Gurney (Taylor), now in the possession of The University of Michigan Historical Collections. Elizabeth—Lizzie to her friends—lived in St. Joseph County near Three Rivers and kept detailed and animated journals — 13 of them — for 33 years.

On Nov. 20, 1856, when she was 16, Lizzie wrote: "This morning Mr. Sadler whipped Frances Baldwin. Under the circumstances I think that Frances was to blame. He and another boy got to laughing. He threw his head down on the desk. Mr. Sadler went to them quietly and said he wanted to see them after school. Frances put his head down again. Mr. Sadler told him to hold it up again. He did not mind and so was whipped. He afterwards made an excuse for not obeying because he had a nosebleed. But, Lizzie comments judicially, "he was to blame for not saying so and might have saved himself the whipping."

To fun-loving Lizzie, the unforgiveable pedagogical sin was dullness. On Dec. 16, she wrote indignantly: "There was a new assistant teacher today, named Miss Richardson, as perfect an old maid as ever breathed the breath of life. I have only one recitation that is under her charge, which is physiology. If she teaches the class next term I shall drop it and take something else in its place. She just sits in her chair during the whole recitation, asks a question and lets someone answer it, asking no questions but what are in the book. Examination days are next Tuesday and Wednesday and the term has seemed short. Mr. Sadler is such a good teacher. I hope they will hire him another year after this."

Most modern truck V8's
...and the pounds prove it!

Pound for pound, the most powerful truck V8's today are Chevrolets. That's one way you can tell they're the most modern V8's going!

Chevrolet's modern short-stroke V8 truck engines do more work for their weight than any other V8 in any truck today!

That means they carry around fewer pounds for power they develop. (They weigh up to 200 pounds less than other comparable engines!) It means, too, that less of the maximum truck G.V.W. consists of engine weight—and more is devoted to payload.

Stop by and let us give you the facts on Chevrolet's compact, super-efficient truck V8's.

Weigh the facts... and you'll choose today's most modern trucks

Wasted weight is engineered out of Chevrolet truck V8's!
The ultra short-stroke of Chevrolet's truck V8's makes possible a rugged yet compact cylinder block. Modern design cuts down engine weight and increases engine efficiency.

More power per pound means more power for your payload!
Since less power is used in moving engine weight, a bigger proportion is available for moving your payloads. You get hour-saving performance on the job. And modern V8 power saves dollars, too!

There's a modern V8 for every Chevrolet Task-Force truck!
There's a powerful, deep-breathing V8—either standard, or optional at extra cost—in every Chevrolet truck model. Horsepower ranges as high as 195 for fast, efficient high-tonnage hauling.

The popularity of fishing in Michigan increases each year and there doesn't seem to be any age limit on the group that enjoys this recreation.

Zachary Veldhuis, 86, of Hamilton, was the oldest resident fisherman reported in 1955 fishing license sales and he still didn't hold the distinction of being the state's oldest angler. That honor went to a woman from Ohio, 89-year-old Grace Davey of Toledo.

Federal and state fishery research workers released 350 drift bottles in and near Saginaw Bay last week in hopes of gaining more information about fishery problems of the Bay.

Persons recovering the bottles are urged to return the card contained in each bottle to the Conservation Department's institute for fisheries research at Ann Arbor. The finder will be informed where and when the bottle was set adrift.

More than 2000 drift bottles will be released in Saginaw Bay and southern Lake Huron this summer. Recoveries of the bottles will give researchers necessary information about currents in these waters.

Biologists believe that knowledge of water movements may help to answer questions about perch growth, which has declined in Saginaw Bay in the past 25 years, and diminishing walleye populations.

Searching for some 5000 drift bottles along Lake Michigan shores was a popular sport among beachgoers in 1954 and 1955. About 2000 of the Lake Michigan bottles still are unrecovered.

The Saginaw Bay study is a cooperative project of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Michigan Conservation Department.

Fires damaged 149 acres of state and private forests and grasslands in Michigan last week, boosting the year's damage total to 2222 acres.

Thirty-five fires were reported during the last week, 17 in the upper peninsula, 13 in the northern lower peninsula and five in the southern lower peninsula.

Hardest hit area was the southwestern lower peninsula where two fires damaged 66 acres. Other damage included 55 acres in the U.P. and 26 acres in the northern lower peninsula.

Seven students of the DeMass Accordion School of Tecumseh took part in the World's Championship International Music League Contest which was held in Cedar Point, Ohio, last Thursday and Friday. Three of those attending, Jimime Lambes, Jan Kachur and Marilyn Curtis won first place in accordion and guitar.

Two others, Larry Dean Flowers and Gail DeMass placed third, while Carolyn Woods and Richard Long received a high score.

Trophies were awarded to the winners.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

POLICE CHIEF GEORGE KILBOURN got a big charge out of a ticket one of his patrolmen handed out last week. It went to the chief's son Willis for blocking an alley with his car. But Willis probably did not get the same charge out of the ticket that his dad did.

THE HISTORY OF TECUMSEH always makes interesting reading, even for those of us who are more or less familiar with the city's beginning. This bit of Tecumseh history was taken from the 60th anniversary of THE TECUMSEH HERALD for 1911. It makes good light summer reading. The paper was given to us by Elmer Slayton now of Adrian.

Following is a history of Tecumseh taken in part from an address given by Judge C. A. Stacy at a meeting of the pioneer society of Michigan, July 4, 1876.

The founder of Tecumseh was a worthy Quaker Musgrove Evans. He was a native of Pennsylvania but for several years prior to 1823 had resided in Chaumont, Jefferson county, New York. Like other enterprising men of the day, he caught the western fever and early in the summer of 1823 came to Detroit to "seek his fortune." Here he formed the acquaintance of Austin E. Wing. After obtaining from Mr. Wing what information he could in regards to most desirable localities, he started out to explore the Raisin Valley. Shortly before this time this portion of Michigan had been surveyed and the land placed upon the market. Of this trip by Mr. Evans but little is known as we have neither records nor tradition to enlighten us, but is it known the the Quaker pioneer fell in love with beautiful oak openings around Tecumseh and the splendid hydraulic power afforded by Evans Creek and the River Raisin and he resolved to make this section his future home. He returned to Jefferson county, enlisted his brother-in-law, J. W. Brown, and a few others in the enterprise and made preparations to move his family west in the coming spring. Early in 1824 he, in company with over 20 others left Chaumont, Jefferson county, New York, to take up their abode among the oak openings of the Raisin Valley in Michigan.

The journey was no holiday trip and consumed more time, endured more privations and hardships than a like company would today in traveling from New York to San Francisco.

The party consisted of Musgrove Evans, his wife and five children, General J. W. Brown, Ezra F. Blood, Peter Benson and wife, Turner Stetson and wife, two Fulsoms, father and son, Nathan Rathbone, Peter Lowe, John Boreland, Curtis Page, George Spafford, Levi Baxter and Henry Sloate. They came up lake Ontario to Lewiston and from there to Black Rock near Buffalo. In those days steam navigation was in its infancy, there was but one steam boat on Lake Erie, passenger tickets between Black Rock and Detroit were $20 each. Most people traveling west were unable to pay the fare. The Evans party therefore chartered the schooner Erie (the same craft which went over Niagara Falls afterwards) and sailed for Detroit, disembarking there April 1, 1824.

The men of the party starting on foot for the spot located by Evans the year before. They followed the St. Joe trail to Ypsilanti, traveling single file in Indian fashion from Ypsilanti to Saline and thence to the River Raisin, a mile north of where the village of Clinton now stands. Crossing the river they started in a southwesterly direction, journeying until they came to the creek which bears Evan's name. This they followed to its junction with the Raisin.

Here on the spot where the Globe Mill now stands they found two or three Indian wigwams, here the company passed the night. The next morning they explored the surrounding country and (here they decided to settle down). Three or four days were spent exploring until their store of food became exhausted. They left for Monroe where they expected to meet the remainder of the party, arriving there just at night.

The whole village of Monroe turned out to meet them, for it was a strange sight to witness a company of white men coming into Monroe from the west. Here they met the women and children of the party who had just arrived from Detroit in a sailboat called the Fire Fly.

Austin E. Wing met them at Monroe and the partnership of Wing, Evans & Brown was formed to secure the location of a county seat at Tecumseh. General Brown and most of the men went back to Detroit and thence east for their families.

Evans hired about 30 men and they proceeded to Tecumseh, clearing a road as they went. They followed the course of an Indian trail until they reached the east bank of the Raisin about 30 rods from the present site of the Globe mill. The river was too high to ford at this point, so they followed it some distance north and west until evening and here they camped for the night. The next morning they commenced work on a log house, the dimensions of which was about 20 feet square. There was a low garret two logs in height above the ceiling

Receives Singular Honor

C. O. Butler Heads Michigan Car Dealers

CHARLES O. BUTLER

A signal honor came to C. O. Butler, owner of Butler Motor Sales, and local Ford dealer for 26 years, last week when he was elected president of the Michigan Automobile Dealers' Association. It marked the first time in the 35-year history of the 1400-member organization that a dealer from one of the smallest cities was named to lead the MADA.

Mr. Butler, long active in the state association, and first vice-president was elevated to the presidency at the 35th annual convention of the group which was held in the Hotel Olds in Lansing. He has been a director of the association for the past five years. He succeeds Bruce Nickless of Grand Rapids.

In addition to his activities in the state association, he has served as president of the Lenawee County Automobile Dealers' Association two terms and he long has promoted actively the county association. Mr. Butler also is a member of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, serving as territorial representative.

Since receiving the presidency of the state association dozens of congratulatory telegrams and clippings from various newspapers carrying the story have been sent to Mr. Butler. Attached notes all carry the same theme: that he was elected president because of his long and sincere interest in the association and because of the way he "goes to bat" for dealers.

Mr. Butler, president of the dealership that bears his name, started in the automobile business in Battle Creek in 1920 as a salesman for the Cushman Auto Sales. He has been located on the corner of Chicago boulevard and Pearl St. here since 1930 where he long has been known as the Old Horse Trader.

Twice during these years he has earned the Ford Motor Co. "Four Letter Dealer Award" for excellence in sales.

Born in Battle Creek, Mich., the new president was educated at Olivet College and Michigan State University where he starred in football. He is still active in the MSU Alumni Association, having served as president in 1947. He also is a member of the Spartan Club.

In World War I he served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Army and after the war he worked for the Ford and Dodge plants in Detroit.

Mr. Butler started his agency in Tecumseh March 1, 1930. He and Mrs. Butler live at 210 south Union St. They are members of the St. Peter's Episcopal church where he has served on the vestry for eight years.

Very active in community activities, Chuck has been a member of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce 26 years. He has been a director six terms and has had the president's job three times.

A member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club 25 years, he also is a past president.

Other activities included his serving as general chairman of the Tecumseh Echoes pageant.

He has been a member of the Lenawee Country Club 21 years and a director and past president of the Tecumseh Country Club. Chuck also has been a member of the Tecumseh Club 26 years and president three times and he has been a member of the American Legion 33 years.

An outdoor man, Chuck also is a member of the Tecumseh Gun Club, the Lost Lake Woods Club of Michigan and the Pine Creek Club of New York and the Michigan Seniors' Golf Association.

His hobbies are golf and hunting.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Ladd McKay, East Tawas, first vice-president, Ben Jerome, Pontiac; George Spaulding, Flint; Harold Rockwell, Grand Rapids; Clayton Frei, Marquette, Bill Hermann, Detroit, all vice-presidents of their respective districts.

Howard J. Cook, Lansing, was re-elected treasurer and Gilbert Haley, Lansing, was re-elected executive vice-president.

Lt. Governor Philip Hart gave the address welcoming the dealers to the convention and Rev. Gordon Jones of the East Lansing All Saints Episcopal church gave the invocation.

Among important subjects, the board of directors drew up a resolution submitting their support in the passage of the Good Faith Bill (O'Mahoney Senate Bill 3879). Telegrams were sent in this regard to Adm. Fred Bell, executive-vice-president of the National Automobile Dealers' Association and automobile manufacturers.

Resolutions were also drawn up on service area responsibility or territorial security, opposition of the Williams unemployment proposal, the selling of new cars without franchise and the establishment of a separate motor vehicle division.

Whiting Heads Exchange Club

Wallace Whiting is the new president of the Tecumseh Exchange Club, succeeding Paul Clauda.

Other officers are Neville Hart, vice-president; Al Taylor, secretary; and David Dick, treasurer.

Two-year directors are Claron Rex, Elmer Bryan and Delbert King.

The Rev. Horace James was named to fill the unexpired one-year term on the board.

Dr. Richard Coak Is New Physician

Dr. Richard D. Coak is a new Tecumseh physician.

A native of Jackson, he has offices in the Ford building.

Dr. Coak, Mrs. Coak and their daughter, eight, and son, six, have bought the former Dr. A. H. Brown house at 308 west Chicago boulevard.

DR. RICHARD D. COAK

Dr. Coak attended Jackson Junior College and received his bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1949. He received his doctor of medicine degree from the University of Michigan in 1955.

He received his internship at St. Vincent's Hospital in Toledo, Ohio, and he externed at Herrick Memorial hospital in late 1954 and early 1955.

He will open his offices here next Monday, July 9, in the suite formerly occupied by Dr. Robert Laidlaw. Dr. Laidlaw is now associated with Dr. Robert Murray at 515 west Chicago boulevard.

Fluoride Suit Dismissed

Lack of Interest Given as Reason

The civil suit against several Tecumseh officials brought by members of the anti-fluoridation committee a year ago charging that fluoride was in the city water supply contrary to a vote of the people was dismissed in circuit court Monday morning.

Previously scheduled for a July 26 and 27 trial, the case was dismissed through action of the plaintiffs because of a "lack of interest."

The motion to dismiss the suit was filed by Earl Bryan and C. C. Richard through their attorneys Baker and Baker, and the petition for dismissal was granted by Judge Rex Martin.

Mr. Bryan and Mr. Richard and Charles E. Morris, B. E. Brees, Helen Creger and Harry Morris were the plaintiffs in the suit that began almost a year ago.

Briefly they charged that fluoride was still being used in city water, although the people here had voted it out in March of 1954.

City officials denied the charges, stating that only natural fluoride was in city water.

The motion to dismiss the case explained that Mr. Bryan and Mr. Richard "are the only two plaintiffs who signed the complaint that are interested in contesting the matter; and that they do not think it is of value to fight the battles of those who do not want their battles fought."

The two plantiffs explained that some of the other original plaintiffs and others interested in the suit have dug their own wells and, since they are not using city water, they no longer have interest in the suit.

It was learned too that the plaintiffs did not care to put any more money into the case. It has been estimated that the case cost the plaintiffs $915.

The city paid out a little more than $1200 during the year-long suit which named the City of Tecumseh, Mayor H. H. Hanna, city manager Ed Nelson and water sup-

Jaycee Homecoming Set for Six Days

The Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce will present its free fair and homecoming for six days beginning next Monday, July 9. The homecoming will continue through Saturday, July 14, on the corner of Mill and Brown Sts., across from the Top Hat Grill.

Chairmaned by Bob Breniff, the homecoming is a benefit for the recreation field bleachers. Jaycees already have contributed $500 of a $1000 pledge to the bleachers and proceeds from the homecoming also will be handed over to the city treasurer to pay on the bleachers.

According to Journey Stoner, publicity and advertising chairman, these are some of the features of the free fair and homecoming:

The Jaycee booth, chairmaned by Steve Illeck, will give folks a chance to dunk some of the younger city councilmen and Tecumseh high teachers.

The dunking tank will give patrons a chance to show that for the moment some of their city fathers are all wet.

The special events committee, directed by Bob Wallace, has lined up a special day for the kids on Saturday. And Saturday afternoon games and contests will be held. This special day, with all rides at half price for the kids, will end when a kiddie Corvette is given away.

This committee also has planned for prizes each night. Local merchants have tickets for these prizes which will be given out each night of the homecoming at 9 p.m.

The sign on the lot is spelled "Homecomming." But any way you spell it, a good time is assured.

And Friday night a car will be awarded to some fortunate homecoming goer.

A magic mile of midway with dozens of rides will be featured by the W. G. Wade Shows. Jaycees will man the rides and concessions.

They also will help in handling refreshments.

The Jayshees, wives of members of the club, will manage a penny pitch game and members of the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club will have a duck ring.

The Jaycees also will display

Four Seek Two Posts on School Board

Voters next Monday will elect two members to the Tecumseh Board of Education.

The four candidates in the race are Jens Touborg, Virgil Tucker, Matthew Lunn and Harold Anderson. Mr. Touborg is the only incumbent.

Polls in the lobby of the gym will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters also will vote on the proposition whether the board shall sell the Bird school building.

This will mark the first time that voters in 15 rural school districts annexed to the Tecumseh Public Schools this spring will vote in a local election.

Because of these additional voters a much larger turnout is expected than in past years when only about 40 voters cast their ballots.

HELD FOR FORGERY

Mrs. Delores Myers, 33 years old, of Route 1, Tipton, is being held at the county jail on a California warrant charging her with writing $550 in worthless checks.

Mrs. Myers was arrested by Clinton state police and booked at the county jail Sunday.

Troopers said they received the warrant from police at El Cajon, Calif., where she once lived.

Register

Next Monday, July 9, is the deadline for voters to register for the Aug. primary election.

Voters in the city may register at the city offices until 8 p.m. Monday. Township voters may register with their township clerks until 8 p.m.

Tecumseh Township voters may register with Al Merz at Tecumseh Farm Equipment.

HOURS CHANGED

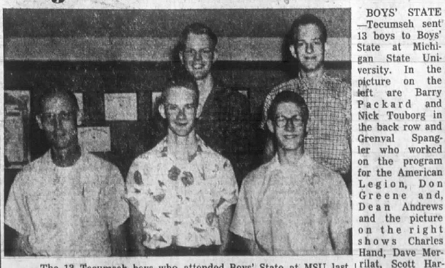
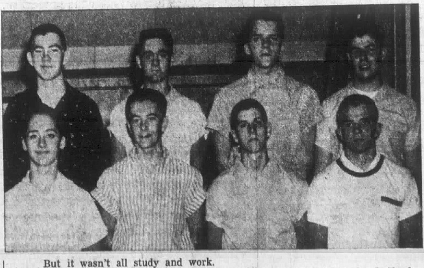
Beginning Saturday, July 7, hours at the Public Library will be changed for that one day each week. The doors will be open at 11 a.m. rather than 2 p.m. as in the past and will close at 6 p.m. instead of the present 9 p.m. hour.

Boys Learn about Government the Painless Way



BOYS' STATE—Tecumseh sent 13 boys to Boys' State at Michigan State University. In the picture on the left are Barry Packard and Nick Touborg in the back row and Grenval Spangler who worked on the program for the American Legion, Don Greene and, Dean Andrews and the picture on the right shows Charles Hand, Dave Merrilat, Scott Harvey, Gordon La Londe in the back row and Warren Naugle, Gary Cameron, Neil O'Hara and Allen Dickinson in the front row. Ron Mikesell who also attended is not pictured. (Photo by Ken Connair)



The 13 Tecumseh boys who attended Boys' State at MSU last week report that it was a fine and painless way to learn about local and state government.

Purpose of the special week, sponsored by the Michigan Department of the American Legion, is to give boys a chance to take part in the actual operation of a democratic form of government.

Conventions and elections were held and the boys also had a chance to witness court trials.

And they took part in city council meetings as well as meetings of the legislature and special bodies of local and state government.

Scott Harvey was a mayor, Nick Touborg served on the University of Michigan Board of Regents and Don Greene was a school commissioner,

But it wasn't all study and work.

Barry Packard and Don Greene were members of the Boys' State Band. Charles Hand served as a reporter on the Whirligig, daily newspaper that was circulated among the 1045 boys each day.

The boys also were able to take part in any number of athletic activities and sports clinics.

Other special activities included music, church services, speech contests, radio broadcasts and tours, including a walk to Lansing to the state capital and back to East Lansing.

They also made many new acquaintances and heard and associated with outstanding state leaders and they acquired new and valuable ideas on their part as citizens.

As the boys said: "Everybody in school government should be given this opportunity to learn citizenship."

Receive 18 Bids on Improving Water Department

Eighteen bids submitted by contractors for the $220,000 water department improvement program were opened and read at the council meeting Monday night.

The bids will be tabulated and studied by McNamee, Porter and Seeley, Ann Arbor consulting engineers, who will determine the low bidder.

The low bidder for the job probably will be reported at the next council meeting July 16.

The Silver Lining

which served as a bedroom for the boys and hired men. There was no floor, as the nearest saw mill was at Monroe. The roof was covered with bark peeled from elm trees and until the next November it was provided with neither chimney or fire place. A bake kettle served the purpose of an oven. A fire was made on the ground, the smoke ascending through a hole in the roof. Mrs. Benson accompanied the party of workmen to prepare meals for them and was the first white woman in Lenawee county. In this house Evans and his wife and children, Peter Benson and wife lived during the summer.

As soon as the house was completed Evans returned to Monroe for his family, packed their household goods and provisions in wagons, secured ox teams and on the first day of June, 1824, the men traveling on foot and the women and children riding in the wagons, they started on the journey for their new home. On the afternoon of the second day, June 22, they arrived at the Evans mansion in Brownville.

Their household utensils were but few and of the rudest kind. They brought no bedsteads with them but a bed was made in each corner of the house by sticking two poles into a hole in each wall supporting the outer ends of the polls where they crossed each other with a block of wood. Tradition tells us that the lord of the house, Musgrove himself, was unceremoniously tumbled out of bed one morning by having the block which formed the corner post knocked from under the two saplings. Rough benches served as chairs. In the following November a floor was laid, a chimney and an outdoor oven and two small shanties were added to the house for two other families had arrived during the winter.

General Brown returned east in July, bringing back his wife and children. George Spafford and his wife had arrived. Brown brought a dozen chairs with him and other articles of household furniture. During the winter of 1824-25 this house afforded a home for Mr. Evans, his wife and children, General Brown, his wife and six children, Peter Benson and wife and George Spafford and wife. This log house was the first in Lenawee county and one of the first ones in Michigan west of Monroe and Detroit. A building was made nearby of tamarack poles, 12 feet square. This was used as a school house, Mrs. George Spafford teaching school during the winter.

Among the farming implements brought to the settlement by Mr. Evans was a plow. No crops were put in the first summer except a little corn and wheat and some garden truck. The first plowing took place on the bank of the creek near the spot where A. McNeil's house now stands.

During the summer several other families reached Tecumseh. In June or July James Patchin arrived, locating on land east of Brownsville. Here he resided many years on what is now known as the Jacob G. Robert place. E. P. Champlin settled on land a little west of the Roberts place. Turner Stetson and wife came with the original Evans party, built a house near the present site of the Episcopal church.

The first land bought of the government was in 1823 when Austin Wing entered two lots covering the Brownsville mill privilege. Abner Spafford arrived with his family July 4, 1824, they located their house on the flat a few rods north of the Lake Shore depot. In the fall of 1824 an Indian trader by the name of Knaggs built a small house on the north side of Chicago street and this was the only place of business in Tecumseh. In July or August, Daniel Pitman and family arrived, built a home the next summer, erecting a store and embarked in the mercantile business. Mr. Boreland, his wife and two children, arrived late in the fall and took up their abode with Mr. Blood on his farm where they lived for two years. Horace Wescott and family came about the same time, also Peter Lowe. Jesse Osborn and family arrived here the same fall and to him belongs the honor of taking to the mill the first wheat ground in Tecumseh. Thomas Goodrich and H. R. Clark took up land in the vicinity of Newburg.

We have thus enumerated (as far as we have been able to gather dates) all the people who came to Tecumseh in 1824, the total population numbering about 50.

The mails came from Monroe every week or ten days and during the autumn of 1824 the first saw mill was erected. The site of the saw mill was east of the bridge across the mill dam.

The partnership of Evans, Wing & Brown entered into at Detroit some time before to secure a county seat at Tecumseh, General Brown was sent to visit Governor Cass and the governor appointed a committee of two consisting of C. J. Lammon and Oliver Johnson who visited Tecumseh and approved the location. In the meantime Wing, Evans & Brown entered the land comprising the present village east of Railroad street and north of the Brownville mill. Upon this tract of land the original plat of the village was made.

Musgrove Evans, who was a surveyor, laid out the village plat during the summer of 1824. The original plat embraced the territory bounded east by Wyandottee street south by Killbuck, west by L. S. & M. S. railroad and the section line running directly north of the depot and north by a line about 10 rods north of the street leading east from Brownville across the river. The cemetery square was located on the corner of Ottawa and Killbuck streets, the military square on Shawnee street, the court house and park squares on the west side of Maumee street and upon either side of Chicago street.

During 1825 a few new settlers arrived. Among these were Curtis Page and William W. Tilton, two practical carpenters and Thomas Griswold and wife and 4 children. In the spring of 1825 General Brown erected a large frame tavern on the southeast corner of Maumee and Chicago streets and this was kept as a public house for 10 or 12 years and was known as Green Tavern.

Colonel Hickman and Theodore Bissell arrived the same summer. The first religious services were held in the summer of 1825 and were conducted by Rev. Noah M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, services being held in the Brown tavern. The same fall Rev. Bauchman, a Methodist, commenced preaching here and conducted services regularly. Tecumseh being the principal point in his circuit, he received a salary of $100 a year.

In the fall of 1825 a large amount of wheat was sown and in the fall and winter of this year Wing, Evans & Brown started the project of a new grist mill. The first white male child born in the county was George W. Goodrich. This same fall a small frame school house was built on the north side of Chicago street, George Taylor being the first school master.

The grist mill which had been started the previous fall was completed but the project came near being a failure for the lack of mill stones. Fortune, however, favors the brave. About a mile or so from the site of the mill was a large granite boulder. With a drill and wedges two large slabs were split off and worked down into suitable size to answer the purpose. The first wheat ground in this mill was harvested on land just east of the Stacy home.

On July 4, 1826, a celebration was held, the procession forming at Brown's tavern. Daniel Pitman, marshal of the day, rode at the head, mounted on a small bald face pony. Brass bands were not plentiful in those days but music of some kind was necessary, so they got a French fiddler from Monroe and that Frenchman with his fiddle constituted the band. Cake and biscuit made from the new flour ground at the new mill that morning were served by Mrs. Brown at the banquet after the procession.

The first two years of pioneer life in Tecumseh were filled with many privations and trials, many illustrations of these have been given, while many more will never be recorded.

An anecdote told of Capt. Merritt, an early resident, which showed the feeling of the early settlers. Meeting a friend one day in Monroe, he asked him where he lived. "In Tecumseh," he said. "And where is that?" "It's thirty miles from Monroe," he replied, "and forty miles beyond God's blessings." Those of us who have come up from the present generation have but a faint idea of the privations and struggles that the pioneers endured who laid on the banks of the river Raisin the foundation of Tecumseh.

Grace Gail Cutler and Yale Leland Kerby Wed

Fan-shaped bouquets of garden flowers and palms banked the altar of the Morenci Methodist church Saturday afternoon, when at 4 o'clock Grace Gail Cutler and Yale Leland Kerby exchanged their wedding vows. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William A. Johnson.

MRS. YALE L. KERBY

John Middlebrook of Clinton presented a program of organ music while the guests were being seated, which included DeBussey's "Clair De Lune," "Evening Star," "In My Garden," "If I Could Tell You," "I Love Thee," and "Hail To The Happy Bride." Immediately preceding the ceremony, Miss Choyce Strayer of Morenci sang "O Perfect Love," accompanied at the organ by Mr. Middlebrook.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Cutler of Route 1, Morenci, was given in marriage by her father. She chose a floor length gown of traditional bridal white for her all white wedding. The molded bodice of imported rose pointe lace was featured by a scalloped portrait neckline and shirred short sleeves. The full bouffant skirt of nylon tulle over shimmering satin featured scattered inserts of appliqued lace motifs, repeating the fabric of the bodice. A matching lace plateau trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of imported French illusion. She wore mits of the same appliqued lace as the bodice and a single strand of pearls. The bride carried a sequin-studded lace fan garnished with three pink Cattleya orchids.

The maid of honor, Miss Claudette Bradford of Hillsdale, cousin of the bride, wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon dotted swiss fashioned in sun-dress style with thin shoulder straps. The peak-a-boo bow at the back and matching head band accented her ensemble. Miss Bradford wore wrist-length white gloves and single pearl earrings, a gift of the bride. She carried a fan garnished with pink roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Carol Dudley of Lansing, Wille Harrison of Sault St. Marie, both classmates of the bride at Sparrow Hospital School of Nursing in Lansing, and Miss Nancy Bacon of Hudson, all wore white gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. They wore wrist-length white gloves and single pearl earrings, gifts of the bride. The bridesmaids carried fans garnished with blue, orchid and pink French-clipped carnations, respectively.

The Misses Andrea and Laura Dawson, nieces of the bridegroom, came from Yuba City, Calif., to be flower girls. They wore dainty frocks of white nylon with wide taffeta sashes, accompanied with white accessories. Their flowered halos matched the bridesmaid's flowers. The little girls dropped pink rose petals from their baskets.

Mr. Kerby, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Yale Harrington Kerby of Tecumseh, was attended by Warren Childers of Detroit, his fraternity brother, as best man. The ushers were William Mart Howe, Paul Pence, Joseph G. Pennington and Earl Fetkenheir, all of Adrian.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cutler were hosts to more than 300 friends and relatives at the reception, given at 120 N. Summit St., Morenci, where the newlyweds will make their home. The six-tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table, topped by the traditional miniature bride and groom. A garland of gardenias encircled the cake, which was set on a mirror.

Mrs. Fred Arndt of Dearborn, the bride's aunt, cut the cake and it was served by Miss Janice Bradford, of Hillsdale, cousin of the bride. The Misses Elaine Schoonover and Linda Allison, both of Canandaigua, served the punch. Miss Joan Cutler of Holloway, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. The Misses Arlene Call of Canandaigua and Margaret DeMeritt of Adrian, assisted with the gifts.

Guests were present from Detroit, Wayne, Dearborn, Tecumseh, Adrian, Hillsdale, Lansing, St. Helens, Britton, Holloway, Corunna, Onsted, Blissfield, Clinton, Royal Oak, Jackson, Foxcroft of Bloomfield Hills, Kerby and Morenci, Mich.; and from Elyria, Grafton, Toledo, Oberlin, and Wauseon, Ohio. Guests were also present from Chicago, Ill.; Arlington, Va.; Mendham, N.J.; New York City and Honolulu.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cutler chose a pink lace over taffeta dress, with white accessories. Mrs. Kerby, the bridegroom's mother, wore a shantung dress of turquoise with matching bolero and pink accessories. The mothers wore Cattleya orchid corsages.

For traveling, the bride changed to a pink polished cotton frock, fashioned in fitted princess style, with a matching jeweled-collared jacket. She wore a white Cattleya orchid corsage with white accessories.

The new Mrs. Kerby is a graduate of Morenci high school and attended Sparrow Hospital School of Nursing in Lansing. Mr. Kerby is an attorney in Morenci, having graduated from Ohio Northern Law University in 1952. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II. Mr. Kerby is a member of the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity.

On their return from a 10-day trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota and Yellowstone Park, a gift of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kerby will reside at 120 N. Summit street, Morenci.

The bride was feted at three pre-nuptial showers given for her by Miss Nancy Bacon, the Canandaigua Community Church and the Benfield Chapter, O.E.S. Mr. Kerby entertained at a bachelor dinner at his home Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Yale Harrington Kerby, parents of the bridegroom, were hosts Friday evening for the rehearsal dinner. Thirty members of the wedding party and their friends enjoyed the buffet supper served by Mrs. Ardella Goings of Adrian.

After the reception Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Cutler and Mr. and Mrs. Yale Harrington Kerby, parents of the newlyweds, entertained relatives at a buffet supper at the residence of the Yale Leland Kerbys.

MRS. C. WESTGATE DIES IN MORENCI

Dr. James Sisson and Doris Simpson Wed in Saginaw

The marriage Friday evening of Miss Doris Louise Simpson of Saginaw and Dr. James Charles Sisson of Ann Arbor was of interest to their many Tecumseh friends. Miss Simpson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. Simpson of Saginaw and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sisson of Tecumseh.

MRS. JAMES SISSON

The double ring ceremony was performed at 7:30 p.m. at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church by its pastor, the Rev. Herman Janssen. Palms, lighted candelabra and arrangements of pink and white blossoms decorated the church and music was supplied by the organist, Mrs. Walter Benjamin, who also accompanied Mrs. Harold Kane, an aunt of the bride when she sang "At Dawning," 'Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Samuel S. Carter as matron of honor and by Miss Kathy Sisson and Miss Betty Youngs as bridesmaids. Miss Sisson of Holland, Mich., is a sister of the groom while Miss Youngs, whose home is in Tawas City is a former classmate of Miss Simpson at Saginaw General Hospital.

The bride's little niece, Linda Louise Carter was flower girl. The groom's brother, William Sisson assisted him as best man and two brothers of the bride, Robert and Leonard T. Simpson Jr. were the ushers.

Chantilly lace over taffeta formed the bride's gown, whose fitted bodice had a mandarin collar and brief sleeves supplemented by gauntlets of the lace. The very full skirt was of ballerina length with lace over deeply flounced tulle. The bridal veil of silk illusion fell from a lace crown heavily embroidered with pearls. She carried a white orchid and clustered white carnations on a tulle fan.

The matron of honor and the bridesmaids all wore ballerina length dresses of white crystalette made with long torso, fitted bodices and full skirts which featured back panels. The scooped neckline of the matron of honor was outlined in deep lilac and a matching bow finished her skirt at the waistline. She wore a coronet of pearls and sequins with a circular veil in the same shade. Similar details of the bridesmaid's costumes were in pale lilac and their tulle fans were decorated with pink carnations while those of the matron of honor were yellow.

The flower girl's dress was made in identical style with those of the other attendants and she wore a white tulle bonnet and carried a miniature colonial bouquet.

For her going away costume the bride chose a sheath dress of pale pink dacron and she wore white accessories.

Approximately 300 guests from Jackson, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh, Adrian, Tawas City, Grosse Pointe, Grand Rapids and Allendale attended the wedding and were entertained at a reception in the church parlors after the ceremony. Those assisting were Mrs. Fred Graham, Mrs. Charles Heidger, Mrs. Gilbert Kane, Mrs. Donald Kane, Miss Maryann Causley, Mrs. John McLaughlin, Mrs. Edward Pellowe and Mrs. William Sisson.

A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and immediate families had been given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sisson at the High Life Inn preceding the wedding date.

Dr. Sisson is a graduate of the University of Michigan and of the University Medical School and is now a resident at the University Hospital. Mrs. Sisson is a graduate of the School of Nursing of Saginaw General hospital with a degree of R.N.

They will make their home in Ann Arbor.

Carothers-Graham Vows Spoken Saturday Morning

The altar of St. Elizabeth Catholic church was decorated with white gladioli and blue delphinium Saturday morning when, at ten o'clock, Barbara Ann Graham and William Dale Carothers were united in marriage by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins.

MRS. WILLIAM CAROTHERS

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham of W. Kilbuck street and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dale Carothers of Reading, Mich.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was lovely in a waltz length gown of lace and net over taffeta, whose fitted lace bodice had a short lace jacket. The full skirt had lace ruffles and she wore long lace mitts extending in a point over her hands. Her fingertip length, net veil was held by a lace crown embroidered with seed pearls and she carried a lace covered prayer book decorated with Eucharist lilies and Carol Amling roses combined with a shower of satin ribbon tied in lovers knots.

Beatrice Graham was her sister's maid of honor and wore a ballerina length dress of light blue ruffled net over taffeta. It was strapless with a matching stole and was complimented by a cascade bouquet of feathered pink carnations.

The bridesmaids were a cousin of the bride, Kathy Raggerman of Dundee and Betty Vargo of Tecumseh. They also wore light blue, low cut dresses in ballerina length with head bands, gloves and pumps of white and their flowers repeated those of the maid of honor.

The groom had asked his friend, Eugene James of Adrian to assist him as best man and the guests were seated by Bob Byrd of Tecumseh and Jerry Shock of Milan.

Mrs. Graham was gowned in black eyelet over taffeta made princess style and she had a shoulder corsage of red rosettes. Her dress was trimmed in white and her accessories matched. The groom's mother wore charcoal gray with white accessories and a cluster of pink rosettes on her shoulder.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Mattice of Adrian was present in a dress of heliotrope lace with white accessories.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the evening at the Products Union Hall with Mr. and Mrs. Steve Collins of Adrian acting as hosts. Dianne Smith registered the guests and the groom's sister, Helen Sharpe was table hostess. The bridesmaids and maid of honor cared for the gifts and the five-tiered cake, which was decorated with rosebuds, foliage and bells and topped by a miniature bridal party was cut by Lillian Tautkus of Milan. Sharon Chase cut the groom's cake, Carole Glisson served punch, Madeline Stevens, the coffee and Shirley Holdridge, the ice cream.

The newlyweds left after the reception for a week's trip and on their return will live at 418 S. Pearl, Tecumseh. The groom, who is employed at the Tecumseh Products graduated from Reading high school in 1951 while the bride is a 1956 graduate of Tecumseh high and is employed at the D. and C. Store.

Jeanne E. French and W. H. Carter Jr. Married Saturday

The Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene was the scene of a June wedding Saturday afternoon when Jeanne Elaine French became the wife of William H. Carter Jr. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p.m. by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Bernard Gill.

The bride is the daughter of Lyman French of 2473 Monroe road, Tecumseh and Mrs. Albert Genson of Ludington and the groom's parents are William S. Carter Sr. and Mrs. Lyman French of Tecumseh.

The couple was attended by the bride's sister, Mrs. Mildred Bishop of Nunica, Mich., and Ambros Fowler of Ypsilanti and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Paul Larson, who also accompanied Mrs. Bernard Gill when she sang, "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony.

Miss French chose white lace for her wedding gown. Her satin slippers and veil were also white and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Mrs. Bishop was in pink with white slippers and gloves. Her flowers were pink roses and she wore a pink veil.

The bride's mother wore blue combined with cerise while the mother of the groom was in blue and pink and both had corsages of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a large group of guests was entertained at the bride's home on Monroe road. Those from out-of-town included the bride's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Genson of Ludington and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bishop and son of Spring Lake. Also present were Miss Vernice Lemire of Ludington, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Oliver, Detroit; Mrs. Alma Albert, Ypsilanti; Mrs. Doris Mason and son, Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Leith Swegler, Richmond, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. James Warren, Elyria, Ohio; and Mr. Towler and Deede Towler of Ypsilanti.

Saline Mill Is Showing "Blithe Spirit"

"Fine sets . . . talented and inspirational guidance . . . exceptionally entertaining . . ."

Such are the critics' comments that greeted the Saline Mill Theatre's opening night performance of Noel Coward's comedy, "Blithe Spirit" at the historic mill on US 112 in Saline last week. The play runs through July 8.

Now in its fourth season under the guidance of founder-producer Barb Hamel, the theatre is offering 10 weeks of summer stock, featuring young veterans of stage and television. Improvements and expansion of facilities on the grounds provide the auidence with increased comfort and additional entertainment.

The Mill Art Gallery, which also opened last week, presents paintings by some of the most prominent artists in the area. Many of the works are for sale and the gallery itself is a worthy co-attraction with the dramatic works.

"Blithe Spirit" is the farcial story of an English gentleman, Charles Condomine, whose life is violently disrupted, initially by the apearance of the ghost of his first wife, and later by the ghost of his second spouce. John Lindsley, Detroit radio and TV performer, plays the role of the sophisticated Charles.

Martha Kern Buhs, Birmingham, is cast as Ruth, the second wife, while Marion Mercer, a busy actress year-round in Ann Arbor, and who was recently seen in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," is the blithe spirit of the title.

The Saline Mill Theatre, which is well over 100 years old, is located a half-mile west of Saline on US-112. The larger building, which was once owned and operated by Henry Ford, serves as a dormitory, dining room, rec hall and dressing quarters for the troupe. The theatre is situated in what was once the machine shop.

Plays are presented nightly except Mondays, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the box office. Reservations can be made by phoning Saline 31.

Miss Hemel has announced that there is ample space for pre-performance picnics on the colorful grounds surrounding the Mill. Shows will continue through Labor Day.

Among the plays to be seen this summer are: "The Moon is Blue," "Dial M for Murder," and "Pursuit of Happiness."

Lutherans Will Honor Tigers at Game Aug. 10

Members of Immanuel Lutheran church of Britton, the Rev. V. H. Schwartz pastor, are taking part in a special "Lutheran Night" to be held at Briggs Stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers, Friday, Aug. 10.

Aim of the effort is "to give sports-minded Lutherans in the state of Michigan an opportunity to demonstrate their appreciation to the Detroit Tiger baseball team for the many hours of fine entertainment they provide through the summer".

In pre-game ceremonies, special honors will be paid to the following Lutherans on the Tiger team: Harvey Kuenn, Billy Hoeft, 'Duke' Maas, 'Red' Wilson, Al Aber, Jack Phillips, Jim Brideweser, and Mel Ott, radio broadcaster.

Ten thousand seats have been secured for the game between the Tigers and the Chicago White Sox. In charge of the local sale of tickets is the Rev. Schwartz. Deadline for orders is July 10.

erintendent John Kopka as defendants.

At the hearing for dismissal Monday, attorneys for the plaintiffs argued that the suit should be dismissed "without cost and without prejudice."

J. C. Beardsley, city attorney, however, argued that if it were to be dismissed it should be done with cost and with prejudice. He sought to reclaim funds spent on the case by the city.

But Judge Rex Martin ruled that public issue costs are never assessed.

Judge Martin, however, did allow prejudice.

This means that this same case can never be brought up again: it is through as a court case.

The city will get back part of its cost on the case. Officials called for the July 26 and 27 trial which now will not be heard will return their checks paid to them for being called as witnesses to the trial.

Don't Be Tricked into Diving into Unknown Waters

If you want to keep on rockin' and rollin', teenagers, don't be tricked into diving into unknown waters.

That's advice from the state health department, which today estimated that a number of the 312 deaths from water accidents were caused by the familiar, "Bet you don't dare!"

The department cautioned against going headfirst into the lake before you test the depth of the water; taking a long-distance swim in water over your head; staying in water too long; swimming without a partner; swimming too soon after you eat; and taking a chance by swimming in a gravel pit.

Adding a word to parents, department officials urged that small children playing around the water should be kept within reach at all times and that as a first safeguard against drowning, parents should see to it that their youngsters are taught to swim at an early age, learning safety rules at the same time.

A way to help your grocer is to be a good housekeeper when you are in his store. Take all the time you want to make your choice from his displays, but put the merchandise that you don't buy back in its proper place. Don't mess up displays needlessly and don't litter up the store by throwing trash on the floor.

How to Make Housework Easier, Told by Wayne U. Home Specialist

Miles of walking can be saved by using a metal cart when performing household duties such as setting the dinner table or cleaning. Mrs. Frances Sanderson, head of Wayne University Home Economics department demonstrates to senior Ann Kopko how the dinner table can be set in one trip from the cupboard to the table by utilizing the cart.

No wonder housewives feel exhausted at the end of the day.

They walk up to 500 feet making a meal, stoop down a dozen times and reach up 40 to 50 times. These facts were revealed in tests conducted by Mrs. Frances G. Sanderson, chairman of Wayne University's Home Economics department.

About 75 per cent of the walking, bending and lifting and 60 per cent of the reaching in housework can be avoided, according to Mrs. Sanderson.

Here are some of the main remedies seldom taught to housewives:

Avoid kitchen bending and reaching by placing articles used daily—china, cooking utensils and tools, foods and cleaning materials—on shelves no higher than shoulder level and no lower than fingertip level when you drop your arm in standing position. It takes 19 times the energy to get something three inches from the floor as it does to get at elbow level.

Prevent back or shoulder fatigue by adjusting working levels where possible to your working height—a difference of 15 per cent too high or too low can double the strain.

When setting a table or doing work involving transportation of many small objects, save trips by using a light, maneuverable tray cart.

Avoid lifting heavy weights (beds, chairs, tables) by placing them where they don't have to be moved to clean around. Use a cart to eliminate lifting and moving heavy, wet laundry.

Sit down for ironing, preparing vegetables and other similar chores. This method requires only half the energy expended when you are standing up. Sit in a low chair, feet flat on the floor.

Pack away all utensils, knicknacks and ornaments that take up space or increase work.

Careful selection of household aids will save time and energy in executing household tasks. Here is a list of useful, inexpensive items:

The combination mop and bristle brush, the broad, soft broom which can be worked with one hand, and the long-handled dustpan can end a large part of the bending.

The long tongs, the lazy susan, the half-self and the ladder can eliminate much high reaching.

The laundry cart and tray cart can save much of the walking and carrying.

A sink-platform, used to raise a dishpan to comfortable height, cures the bane of most housewives, the sink which is too low.

Russell G. Mawby, left, succeeds A. G. Kettunen (standing) as assistant director of extension and state 4-H Club leader on July 1. The 28-year-old Mawby came up from the 4-H Club ranks in Kent county, was Michigan's first International Farm Youth Exchange delegate and has been a member of the Michigan State University extension staff since 1952. Kettunen, who retires after 39 years of service, 31 as state leader, saw nearly one million and a half Michigan boys and girls take part in the 4-H program. (M. S. U. Photo)

Former Resident Dies in Morenci

Nicholas Hodge, at one time proprietor of a confectionary store in Tecumseh died Sunday noon at his home in Morenci. He was 80 years of age and had been in failing health for several years.

Born, Kefer Hasbyia Hodge in Lebanon in 1876, he came to the United States in 1895 and moved to Tecumseh about 1900.

He is survived by his widow Rogena; three sons, Capt. Ferris Hodge of the U.S. navy, now stationed in Japan; Abraham Hodge of Cranford, N.J., and Edward of Morenci; three daughters, Mrs. Nellie Hamra of Seneth, Mo., Mrs. Helen LaNew of Morenci and Mrs. Mary Adam of Oak Park, Ill.; two sisters; 14 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Capt. Ferris Hodge is the best remembered of the family in Tecumseh as he was a dentist here for several years.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Ackland and Fink Funeral home, Morenci.

BIRTHDAY HONORED

Mrs. Donald Creger entertained Saturday afternoon at her home on south Union street honoring the ninth birthday of her daughter, Karen Diane. The main feature of the afternoon was a treasure hunt with Gloria Green and Gail De Mass the winners. Prizes for other games that were enjoyed were awarded to Brynn Packard, Joyce Richards, Susan Hohenstein, Joan Green and Sandra Brown. Other guests were Laura Seager, Laura Wright, Ruth Ann Brooks, Pamela Miller, Carolyn Purple, Faith Penrod, Linda Wagner and Susanne Poley. Mrs. Creger served refreshments from a supper table decorated in the spirit of the Fourth of July with a red, white and blue color scheme.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

And the Lord answered me, and said: Write the vision and make it plain upon tablets, that he may run that readeth it.—(Habakkuk 2,2.)

The Holy Bible, which is readily at hand for each of us, contains the writings and the visions of mortal men, as ourselves, who walked and talked with God and who left to us their God-guided wisdom—to enable us, even as we frantically run these days, to gain His love and in it live righteously, happily.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors for their beautiful floral offerings and many other acts of kindness shown us during the illness and death of our husband and father, Irving H. Downing. Especially do we thank Dr. Claxton and Dr. Helzerman and Mr. and Mrs. Niblack for their very efficient services, the nurses and employees of Herrick Memorial hospital, the Rev. C. A. Bearinger and the Rev. L. L. Kelly for their comforting words, Mrs. Eula Avery, Mrs. Ruth Hall and Mrs. Naomi Spohr for the singing, the ladies of the Nazarene Church of Ridgeway for serving the meal and to all those who assisted us in any way. Mrs. Hazel Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Papworth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wagner and family and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gubbe and family.

———o———

With grateful appreciation to all who called during my stay at the hospital, for all the cards, gifts and flowers, to the Farm Bureau groups, the Tecumseh Grange, neighbors and others who gave their time and tools to put in my crops, ladies who gave and prepared the dinner, the H. R. Whelan Co., the Cities Service Oil Co., to all I wish to say THANK YOU.

MISSIONARY BAPTIST BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSES

The Missionary Baptist church of Tecumseh closed its vacation Bible school with a picnic in the Memorial Park Friday and commencement exercises Saturday evening at the church. There was a large attendance of parents and friends.

The average daily attendance for the 10-day school was 85 children and 17 teachers and helpers. One day's offering of $16.50 was designated for the bleacher fund and was turned over to the Tecumseh Recreation Board. The remainder of the offerings was for missions and expenses.

Those helping in the school were as follows: the Rev. and Mrs. Edgar Owens, Robert Maupin, Jimmie Richmond, Hulda Rich, Betty Lake, Pansy Jones, Stachie Cosby, Ruby Ingle, Veria Schroder, Anna Lee Richmond, Rosie Richmond, Connie Brown, Marion Partain, Ida Owen, Freddie Mae Hamilton, Charlotte Smith and and Ima McClain, Irene Isom acted as secretary and Goldie Foster as pianist.

Local Topics

Sylvia Helzerman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Helzerman is a student at Michigan State University, taking a nine weeks summer course. Her sister Marilyn is also at State for a three weeks youth music course. This summer series is known as Junior Interlochen. She is specializing in harp.

Nineteen members of Boy Scout Troop 73 are spending this week at the Boy Scout Camp at Washington Lake. Howard Wilson Jr. is leader of the troop.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams and children are spending the Fourth at their cottage on Otsego Lake near Gaylord. They left Saturday.

Mrs. P. B. Hardy is again a patient at the University hospital in Ann Arbor after spending some time in Herrick Memorial. She is free from a cast for the first time since her motor accident last fall and is undergoing physiotherapy. Her hospital room number is 5420.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson of Wilmington, Del., spent Tuesday of last week renewing acquaintanceships in Tecumseh. Dr. Wilson, who was previously pastor of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church is now with the Westminster Presbyterian church in Wilmington. They visited Mrs. Wilson's family in Detroit last week and are now with relatives in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Edna Staulter began this week a two months vacation from her work as Tecumseh correspondent for the Adrian Telegram. Her plans for the summer are indefinite.

Federation Meets in Clinton Center

Representatives of the Tecumseh Monday Club and the Business and Professional Woman's Club who attended the summer session of the Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs held in Clinton last Thursday included Mrs. Herbert Murphy, Mrs. E. J. Aebersold, Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. W. G. Waldron, Mrs. D. C. Finch, Mrs. James Artman, Mrs. Guy Pocklington, Miss Edith Ingersoll, Miss Ethel Keyser, Mrs. Jennie Satterlee and Miss Clara Waldron. Mrs. Murphy is treasurer of the federation, Mrs. Pocklington is on the Congress building committee and Miss Ingersoll and Miss Waldron, the historical committee.

The potluck dinner with the Clinton, Britton and Macon clubs as hostesses, was held at noon on the lawn of the Clinton Community Center and the group was welcomed by Mrs. H. P. Vaughn representing the Clinton club. She also gave a brief explanation of the Community Center, saying it was a gift to the citizens of Clinton by Mrs. L. C. Kimball and her two daughters. In the discussion which followed it was stated that the house had been built probably a century ago, purchased by Mrs. Kimball's father, Edwin Smith and had been the home of the Smith and Kimball families until the death of Mr. Kimball more than a year ago.

Mrs. J. Cleon Mason of the Blissfield club, president of the Federation conducted the meeting, during which it was announced that the fall and winter meetings would be held in the First Baptist church in Adrian instead of at the Public Library as in the past, and that the next meeting will be Nov. 14.

The program of the afternoon consisted only of detailed reports of the annual convention of the state federation which was held at Sturgis last April. Mrs. Eugene Ryan of Addison and Mrs. Roswell Burr of Adrian were the two speakers. About 125 women from all over the county were in attendance.

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

LAST SEASON he was lionized as the youngest player ever to win the American League batting championship. This year some of the well-wishers and hangers-on have already deserted him because his bat is not quite as potent.

But even though he does not draw as many headlines as before, young Al Kaline continues to be one the mainstays of the Tigers. Without his speed to turn sure hits into putouts and accurate arm to nail winning and tying runs at the plate, the troubled Tigers would be in more desperate circumstances than they are now.

Former Bengal manager Freddie Hutchinson once remarked that if Kaline were to hit only .270, he would still be a most valuable asset to the team because of his tremendous defensive abilities.

Al ought to finish the season hitting much better than .270, given any luck, and his continued power is reflected in numerous extra base blasts, but he qualifies as the hard-luck player of the year in any event.

Eye, Timing Affected

Kaline's troubles date back to spring training when a sore shoulder and tooth extraction kept him from batting less than 40 times during the exhibition schedule. This certainly did not aid his eye and timing, and then there was the pressure on him as batting champ to continue his sensational performances.

It seems possible that Al was pressing for homers instead of going with the pitch. In addition, the pitchers were giving him everything they had on every pitch because, after all, he was the champ.

So Kaline struggled along, trying to emerge from his slump, and finally we noticed on Detroit's last Eastern trip that Al was beginning to look more like himself than at any time this year. His average rose from .240 to .295.

Then the jinx struck again, this time a stomach disorder, on the last day before returning to Detroit. Losing 12 pounds in one week, Al complained of dizziness and a heavy feeling in his legs.

Stuck in Line-Up

Certainly the ailment left him in a weakened condition and it affected his swing. But it is to his credit that the courageous young right-fielder stuck in the line-up and continued to make sensational plays.

They'll be a long time remembering his strikes into Frank House on three successive days that nipped Yankees at the plate. And they'll not soon forget those circus catches that left opposing batters growling in frustration.

Defensively, Kaline ranks with the best right fielders I've ever seen, and I should know something about the position, having played it during my many years with the Giants.

Offensively, once his physical ills are cured, Al should improve with greater maturity and return to last year's batting form. In seasons to come, I look for him to average about .330 at the plate with over 25 homers, 100 runs batted in and close to 200 hits annually.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

The latest upper peninsula mail carrier survey shows a marked increase in numbers of deer and ruffed grouse over a similar survey made last year.

The 1956 spring survey revealed an average of 1.5 birds per 10 carrier-days as compared with less than one bird sighted per 10 days last year.

The increase in deer numbers was even greater, with 5.5 animals counted per 10 carrier-days. The figure compares with 2.6 deer last year.

Growth of foliage was retarded this spring by colder weather, making visibility greater. Thus, the 1955 and 1956 surveys were made under somewhat different conditions which probably had an effect on the number of animals recorded.

However, other information indicates an increase in ruffed grouse populations since last year, which apparently was the low of the population cycle in most parts of the U.P.

The latest census was conducted by 84 R.F.D. and star route mail carriers, representing every county in the U.P. These men contributed 1512 carrier-days of observations and counted 229 ruffed grouse and 832 deer.

State park visitors in western Michigan will welcome the news that Traverse City state park will remain open throughout the summer. It previously was reported that the park would be closed at times because of highway construction work on US-31.

The change in plans should help to ease over-crowded conditions at other state parks in the area. Last season, the Traverse City park accommodated more than 150,000 visitors and some 3100 camping permits were issued.

Michigan's grayling restoration program received a setback last week when most of a 100,000 egg shipment from Montana was lost because of a delay in transit. However, the shipment will be replaced by Montana officials.

The 100,000 grayling eggs, purchased by the Detroit News, were delayed two days on their trip to the Conservation Department's Wolf Lake hatchery at Mattawan. A great majority of the eyed eggs hatched enroute and were dead when they reached the Kalamazoo airport.

Some 10,000-13,000 of the young fish were saved and appeared to be thriving in hatchery troughs at Wolf Lake.

Walter Allen, Montana superintendent of fisheries, said the shipment would be replaced without cost when he learned of the loss. The new batch of eggs will be sent by express.

The grayling project, financed by the Detriot News, is aimed at restoring the once-native fish to certain waters as a "museum piece" for exhibition and educational purposes.

The Montana grayling is similar to the Michigan species which once occupied several northern streams, but now is extinct. Fish division workers hope to liberate the hatchery-reared grayling in one or more selected northern lakes.

Bounty payments to hunters and trappers during May totaled $39,795 for foxes, bobcats and coyotes taken. Bounties for the same month last year were $30,165.

Foxes continued to make up the bulk of the predator kill. The state paid $36,415 for 7283 foxes bagged by hunters and trappers.

Another $3035 went for 179 coyotes taken. Bobcat payments were $345 for 69 'cats taken.

All but 10 of the coyotes were bagged in the upper peninsula and bobcats are bountied only in the U.P. Foxes were bountied generally throughout the state.

A new technique in the state's forest fire control program will go into effect June 25 in the northern lower peninsula.

In cooperation with the Conservation Department and the U.S. Forest Service, three television stations in the area will present forest fire condition reports as part of their daily weather forecasts throughout the fire season.

The stations are WNEM-TV, Bay City; WWTV, Cadillac; and WPBN-TV, Traverse City. The reports will inform viewers of fire conditions in the northern portion of the peninsula, including warnings to areas where extremely hazardous conditions exist.

Forest fire specialists point out that public awareness and cooperation are important weapons in holding down fire losses.

"The Red Foxes of Michigan," a new 48-page Conservation Department publication is off the press and available free to the public.

The book is the result of a Pittman-Robertson project that has been under way for the last several years and was written by David A. Arnold, now Escanaba district game supervisor. The illustrations are by Oscar Warbach, game division biologist and cartoonist.

"The project has been conducted for the public benefit and this report is intended for the layman rather than the technical researcher," announces a preface in the booklet.

The book purposely has not been copyrighted, to encourage wider use of the material. Requests for the book should be sent to Conservation Department Publications, Lansing 26.

The annual cleanup of a 48-mile stretch of the AuSable River has been completed by the Grayling explorer scouts.

The boys, who volunteer their services for this project, gathered an estimated six tons of debris from the main stream and south branch of the river. The assorted refuse consisted mainly of cans and bottles, but included wire fencing, rubber tires, washtubs, bedsprings and frames, rope and other miscellaneous articles.

The scouts spent three days in completing the cleanup this year, using canoes donated by local boat rental agencies. The refuse was unloaded at access points on the river where it was picked up by Conservation Department trucks for disposal at county dumps.

Grayling merchants supplied food for the scouts while they were at work and local residents made donations to the troop's treasury in appreciation of the cleanup. The scouts use the money earned to purchase equipment and to finance an annual camping trip.

The debris, which is strewn about the river bottom near access points, comes from careless fishermen, picnickers, vacationists, canoeists and local inhabitants.

Forest fire damage last week was restricted to 44 acres throughout the state as 23 fires were reported.

The latest fires brought the totals for the year to 396 fires and 2266 acres damaged.

Hardest hit region during the week was the northern lower peninsula where 16 fires burned 37 acres. Two fires in the southern lower peninsula damaged four acres while five fires burned about three acres in the U.P.

Dog owners must wait until after July 15 to train dogs in open fields. State law prohibits breaking, training, or practicing dogs in open fields from April 15 to July 15.

Game birds and animals are nesting during that period and should not be molested.

A Berkley resident who broke this law was ordered to pay a $17 fine and $8 court costs in a Holly court.

He was among the 61 persons listed on the latest conservation law convictions report. Financial penalties for the group included $732 in fines and $623 in court costs.

Down at the Playground

So far this summer 1864 persons have taken part in and watched playground activities, reports Bob Breniff, director. This report was for the first three weeks.

In softball games last week the Herrick Park Midgets hung one on Tecumseh Acres 31 to 13. Newell of the Parkers walked only one and he had four hits out of five at bats.

In other Midget League play Central edged Tecumseh Acres 17 to 15. Dick of Central was the pitching hero and Butch Anderson was the hitting star, banging two of four, including a homer. One hundred and fourteen parents watched this game.

In the Junior League Herrick Park measured Tecumseh Acres 13 to 6. Tim Sisson banged out three hits in four tries, including a triple and George Heeman contributed four hits out of five attempts. Mike Robinson of the Acres walloped three of four.

In another Junior League game Tecumseh Acres edged Central 11 to 10. Bill Ross of the Acres was the hitting power with four out of five and he also stole home with what proved to be the winning run.

Central defeated Tecumseh Acres 12 to 9 in Senior League play. Coach Bob Benham said "The Central boys showed real team effort, coming from behind to win this one."

Herrick Park and Tecumseh Acres both were thrown for a loss by the weather, having their game rained out after two innings of play.

Central nosed out Tecumseh Acres in the Senior Girls' league 19 to 16 with Sherry Tucker homering in the seventh to provide the winning margin.

Deerfield knocked off Tecumseh in Little League play 7 to 3. Rich Stephenson and Steve Kruger starred for the losing locals. Rich homered to drive across all Tecumseh markers and Steve had two of three in batting and performed a stellar relief job on the mound.

The Tecumseh team had men on base in every inning, but could not push them around to count.

Are You Registered?

Are you going to be able to vote in the Aug. primary election?

Will you be allowed to help nominate county and state candidates?

If you're not sure, you had better check with your city or township clerk to see if you are a registered voter.

And time to do this is running out. The registration deadline is next MONDAY, JULY 9. If you are not a registered voter, you had better take care of this by next Monday or you won't have any voice in the selection of candidates for the primary.

Do You Want Lower Taxes?

It would be possible to reduce income taxes by 25 per cent for everyone — without eliminating or weakening any necessary government service or activity.

How could this be done? The Town Journal explains it succinctly in these words: "Here are the figures: the personal income tax takes from the people's earnings about $30 billions a year. The Hoover proposals for shaking out the waste and inefficiency would cut the cost of Government by $7.5 billions. That amount, $7.5 billions, is 25 per cent of $30 billions. Save that much and taxes could come down 25 per cent."

That $7.5 billions could, instead, be applied to reducing the national debt, which many think should precede tax reduction. Or part could be used for debt reduction and part for tax reduction.

Some of the Hoover Commission recommendations have gone into effect. The prospect for others seems good. But many of them — including the most important, from the standpoint of saving money and making government more efficient — are dormant at this time. They can be brought to life by public interest and public demand for reform.

Condition Betters

"Even though some current conditions still seem to indicate that the tight mortgage market will continue, there are other signs now in evidence that we have already seen the worst of the down shift in the money market."

This optimistic appraisal of today's shortage of mortgage money for potential home owners was made by Robert A. Taggart, president of Hannan Real Estate Exchange, Inc., in speaking to members of the Michigan Real Estate Association at their regular monthly directors meeting.

Taggart also said he looks for an upswing again in residential construction as soon as mortgage money begins to loosen.

He cited several reasons for the change: the potential federal budget surplus; no apparent cutbacks in defense appropriations; the solid position of steel, rails and other important bulwarks of our economy; and the fact that the general public is once again building up savings deposits.

"The fact that savings are again accumulating will help create the funds needed for a mortgage market. The buying market of the past period depleted savings, causing a shortage of investment money."

This should be good news for potential home owners.

Your Name in the Paper

How valuable is local newspaper advertising to local business people? Here's what the American Bankers magazine, a publication which represents a traditionally hard-headed profession, has to say: "No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half, or even a quarter page advertisement in each issue of the paper but your name and address should be mentioned if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town . . . it's the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

Realty Views

"We'd like to see some houses," said a young couple one day.

And frankly, after showing one or two exceptionally good values I realized that maybe they were speaking the truth: They wanted to "see," but not to "buy." The husband tossed cold water on his wife's enthusiasm.

But not for long. A week later she stopped me on the street near our office. "This may be an unusual request. But keep working on my husband. The kids and I are anxious to get permanently settled. He's not around during the day except on weekends and then we go somewhere. So he doesn't realize how badly we really need a good, permanent home. That last place you showed us is just right. Won't you see him again?"

I did. He had me put all the financial details on paper and gave it lots of study. Then he looked up and said, "We can afford the home all right. I'll see how my family feels."

He was greeted by a chorus of "yeses" when he asked them if they wanted to own the home.

He grinned, "I guess all that remains is for me to write out a check." And he did.

"Thank you," his wife said as I left. "We truly appreciate your efforts."

May we show YOU our best home values too?

Christian Science Services Listed

Humanity's need for effective prayer will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from Psalms (19:14): "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer."

The importance of earnest prayer to God is brought out in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which will include the following (4:3-9): "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds. To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

Kiwanis Names New President

Reed C. Culp, Salt Lake City businessman, has been named president of Kiwanis Interantional. He was elected to the number-one Kiwanis post by delegates attending the 41st annual convention of Kiwanis International at San Francisco, California.

News of Culp's election was received by officers of the Kiwanis Club of Tecumseh today.

As head of Kiwanis International, Culp will be official spokesman for a quarter million Kiwanians in 4200 clubs located throughout the United States and Canada, and in Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. He succeeds Dr. J. A. Raney, Director of the Indiana State School for the Deaf, in Indianapolis. Raney has held the Kiwanis post since August of 1955.

REED C. CULF

Culp, who is a life-long resident of Utah, operates a wool-livestock brokerage firm. He is a member of the National Woolgrowers Association, the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce, and all Masonic bodies. He is currently a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Utah, where he serves on the executive committee and as chairman of the buildings and grounds committee. He has served also as a member of the Mayor's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency in Salt Lake City, and as former state chairman of the Advisory Council, Civil Defense Committee. He attended the University of Utah, and graduated from the University of Michigan.

Kiwanis' president-elect has been a member of the organization since 1937. Immediately prior to his selection to the number-one Kiwanis post, he was treasurer of the organization. During his career, he has risen through the Kiwanis ranks, holding the positions of club president, governor of the Utah-Idaho Kiwanis District, and as a member of a number of district committees. He has served two terms as a trustee of Kiwanis International. In 1946, and again in 1947, he was chairman of the International Committee on Vocational Guidance. In 1951, he was chairman of the International Committee on New Club Building for the United States.

Delegates to the San Francisco convention, Kiwanis' 41st, numbered approximately 14,000 to make the convention the organizaton's largest. In addition to naming Culp president, the delegates chose two vice-presidents, a treasurer and six international trustees. They are: H. W. Driver, Cleveland, Ohio and Kenneth Loheed, Toronto, Ontario, vice-presidents; H. Park Arnold, Glendale, California, treasurer; Harold Doolen, Billings, Montana, Hal. J. Fraser, Prince Albert, Sashatchewan, Cecil L. Morris, Springfield, Illinois, Armand J. Rodehorst, Sr., New Orleans, Louisiana, J. O. Tally, Jr., Fayetteville, North Carolina and I. R. Witthuhn, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Michigan Boasts 90 Native Trees

Michigan has more native species of trees than the entire continent of Europe, according to Harlowe O. Whittemore, professor of Landscape Architecture at the University of Michigan, College of Architecture and Design.

"The state, with 58,000 square miles, has, in fact, 90 species of native trees, while Europe, with three-million square miles, has 85 native species," Professor Whittemore states. He explains that trees include only those with a trunk diameter, when fully grown, of eight or nine inches, while the term "native" refers to trees which were not planted by man.

Why does Michigan have so many species and Europe so few?

TREES RETREATED

The landscape architect explains that "in North America the mountain ranges — as the Appalachians and the Rockies — run generally north and south. When the Ice Age came, the trees retreated southward before the advancing ice. When the ice retreated the trees moved back north."

The picture in Europe was somewhat different. "The mountain ranges — Pyrenees, Alps, Carpathians and Caucasians — run mainly east and west. When the Ice Age came, the glaciers moved down from the north and also formed on the mountains. On the northern slope of the mountains the glaciers met other glaciers coming down from the north and plant life expired completely in northern Europe. Those trees south of the mountains were pushed into the Mediterranean. When the Ice Age was over in Europe not many plants could stage a comeback."

HAS THREE LIFE ZONES

Professor Whittemore points out that a study of a climatic map of Michigan shows that the state has three "life" zones: Upper Austral (southern) with oak and hickory predominating; Transition, (extending roughly from Saginaw and Bay City north to Mackinac) with a mixture of pine, spruce, oak, birch and sugar maple; and Canadian zone, (northern) composed of pine, spruce, fir, hemlock, sugar maple; and birch."

"Very few states," he asserts, "have three zones except those with high mountains. This extensive range of climate enables us in Michigan to have not only more native plants but also to import and grow a wide variety of exotics."

Professor Whittemore points out that "another thing which may increase the total of native trees in Michigan is the fact that the climate appears to be getting milder and that the trees from the south are gradually moving up into Michigan. Recent immigrants from the south are the tulip tree, flowering dogwood, redbud, red cedar and paw paw.

School Lunch Cooks To Confer at Michigan State

More than 200 women who operate school lunch programs in Michigan schools will get advice on menu planning at their annual conference at Michigan State University, July 17-19.

The menu planning session will consider ways to meet school lunch standards with variety, imagination and zip, according to conference sponsors, the M.S.U. department of institution administration.

This 10th annual workshop also will give help in the fields of labor saving techniques, use of surplus commodities, communication skills and others. Demonstrations will be an added attraction.

happy vacations begin in a Chevy

You'll love to travel in it, because it loves to travel! When you get this Chevrolet out on the road, you'll want to keep going—and so will the whole family.

Of course, even in a Chevy the happiest vacations may involve one or two minor problems. Like fidgety small fry who want gallons of water and keep asking if you're almost there. The big things, though, are well taken care of by this roomy Chevrolet's smooth and easy way of going.

The fact is, few cars at any price hold the road with a Chevy's grace. That idea about the best riding cars being great oversized affairs went out with the introduction of Chevrolet's outrigger rear springing and low, precisely balanced chassis design. With horsepower up to 225, the Chevrolet moves out like a whiplash, for safer passing. And with it you've always got that solid feeling of stability.

It's no wonder that many people who used to buy higher priced cars are changing to Chevy! Stop by for a ride.

A message from Ralph Hodges, 'Your Pharmacist'

WHEN YOU ASK FOR A PRODUCT, we make every effort to always have in stock the exact item you request. When your physician specifies a medicine, made by a particular manufacturer, we pharmacists always dispense that exact drug in our prescriptions. To carry out your physician's instructions exactly is our willing duty.

IT MAY INTEREST YOU TO KNOW that the most recent issue of The American Druggist Blue Book, lists information about 171,910 different drug store products, made by more than 7,200 different manufacturers, and had 68,378 price changes, additions, or deletions from the last issue.

ANYONE OF THE PRODUCTS mentioned in this Blue Book could be requested from us. It is of course impossible to carry all of them in stock, but we do manage to almost always have exactly what you want.

PLEASE DO NOT HESITATE to ask us for any unusual product. The odds are we will have it, but if not, we will immediately contact the supplier and get it for you, if it is still available. Inform any physician you visit, even in the most distant cities, that he may specify the particular medicine that will help you most. His instructions will be followed exactly.

So You Want To Go To College

(Note—This is the seventh in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

Almost any subject can be studied today in the colleges and universities of the United States.

All institutions of higher learning offer the traditional subjects. But the tremendous range of subjects you can study is almost unbelievable.

You may study mathematics, engineering, agriculture, home economics, business, teaching journalism, chemistry, or any one of a number of other traditional fields.

On the other hand, you may wish to specialize in hotel or police administration, landscape architecture, mortuary science, petroleum, plastics, printing, publishing, public relations, seismology, food merchandising, tobacco growing and processing, or music therapy.

VARIETY OFFERED

If you still would seek further variety, you can find institutions which offer choreography, fly casting, surf boarding, airline hostessing, cartooning, canoeing, polo or floral display.

At Michigan State University opportunity for study in 126 undergraduate fields is available, according to Robert S. Linton, M.S.U. registrar. These courses are taught in the basic college and the colleges of agriculture, business and public service, communication arts, education, engineering, home economics, science and arts and veterinary medicine.

During the first two years, most colleges require all students to take certain basic subjects. These courses are important to you because they enable you to receive a background for your work in the junior and senior years.

At Michigan State University you are enrolled during the first two years of study in the basic college. Here you study communication skills, natural science, social science and humanities. These courses enable you to develop skill in working and thinking, broad mindedness, and a feeling of responsibility, according to Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, M.S.U. vice-president for academic affairs.

EXPLORE INTERESTS

Also, the basic college makes it possible for you to explore your aptitudes and interests. If you have not decided on a major field at the time you enter college, your two years in the basic college will help you to make your choice wisely. Also, it will help prepare you for the upper college which you will enter as juniors and seniors.

All able-bodied freshman and sophomore men students at Michigan State must take basic military training (R.O.T.C.). You have a choice between army and air force training. Advanced R.O.T.C., taken in the junior and senior years, is elective.

What you study in college will be largely determined by the field of specialization. As a college student, you will have an adviser in your chosen field to assist you with your course of study. All the fields of specialization have their own requirements. You can find out these requirements by writing the registrar of the college you wish to enter.

Two Phone Companies Plan To Merge

The Boards of Directors of General Telephone Corporation and of Continental Telephone Company have recommended the merger of these two companies according to an announcement made in New York today by General's President, Donald C. Power.

General Telephone will continue in existence as the surviving corporation. The merger will complete the unification of two holding companies whose business consists of the ownership of securities of companies active in the telephone and communications business.

Special shareowners meetings have been called for both companies Aug. 7, 1956, at which time the shareowners will be asked to approve the merger. Solicitation of proxies is expected to commence July 6, 1956.

Under the terms of the proposed merger, holders of the common stock of Continental will receive seven-eighths of a share of General for each share of Continental. Shareowners of record at the close of business on June 29, 1956, will be entitled to vote at the meetings.

At the present time General Telephone owns 50.49 per cent of the common stock of Continental as a result of the merger of Theodore Gary and Company into General Telephone Oct. 31, 1955.

COMPLETES TESTS

GRAFENWOHR, GERMANY — Army Specialist Third Class Ned E. Lewis, whose father, Lyle E. Lewis, lives at 908 Napoleon Rd., Jackson, Mich., recently completed a 24-day series of field training tests with the 10th Infantry Division in Germany.

The tests include squad, platoon and company combat tactics and individual survival under simulated conditions.

Specialist Lewis, whose mother, Mrs. Lucille M. Butler, lives at 301 W. Logan St., Tecumseh, is a member of Company K of the division's 85th Regiment. He arrived in Europe last Nov.

Lewis was employed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Jackson, before entering the Army in May, 1955. His wife, Lorraine, is with him in Germany.

It's a Great Time to Buy a Buick

Buick SPECIAL
6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera

(And at the Best Buy Yet!)

WHAT'S IN IT for you—if you step out and buy yourself a 1956 Buick right now?

Well, first of all—the time is right.

Right now, your present car is at its peak worth.

And, with the whole summer and almost half of '56 still ahead of you, you'll get more enjoyment out of a spirited new Buick this year—if you buy now.

Second, there's the matter of how much more automobile your money buys in the best Buick yet.

We tell you flatly that nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get so much bounty for so little booty.

For example, take the beauteous big '56 Buick SPECIAL pictured here.

It's one big reason why Buick now ranks in the top three of America's best-selling cars. Yet, you'll find it priced right close to the well-known smaller cars.

That sure makes Buick a whale of a lot of car for the money. And look:

Nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get the absolute smoothness and the electrifying performance of Buick's terrific new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Nowhere else can you get the obedient responsiveness of Buick's big and mighty new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. Or Buick's matchless new handling ease and ever-level ride buoyancy—or Buick's bold new sweep-ahead styling, and solidity of structure, and stretch-out roominess.

Add it all up and the answer comes out the same, any way you figure it: Now's the time to buy your 1956 Buick.

Will you come in—before another sun sets—and get set with your best buy yet?

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

So You're Publicity Chairman

If you are ever appointed to the publicity committee of your club, here are a few do's and don't's on how to deal with newspaper people, whether you are handling publicity for a style show, a charity ball, a lecture series, or an election of officers. Your cooperation and knowledge can make you the darling of the society editor's staff.

First of all, don't try to tell paper how to run its business. Don't tell the editor how to punctuate or capitalize. Don't try to dictate the type size to headline your story or the position of the story on the page. Let the editor use her judgment and follow the paper's policy. Remember that you probably see your story out of proportion to its general worth as news.

When you write a story for a paper, don't editorialize. State the facts objectively. If you do include editorial opinions, don't feel hurt if you find your pet sentences chopped out. For instance, don't write: "This is a lecture all should hear. It will help every man, woman, and child lead a fuller life and will make each of us more . . ." That's editorializing. Response to the lecture is a matter of opinion.

If you must editorialize, buy some advertising space. And now that the unpleasant matter of money has come up, let it be said that buying advertising space isn't a bad idea. If you are promoting a minstrel show, a harvest dance, or a glee-club concert for which you expect to sell tickets, you have turned commercial and should be willing to pay for things, including space. Of course, your announcements have some news value and, as such, rate some free space; but chances are they are not so newsy as you think. And since papers make much of their living from advertisements, it is only fair to run an ad now and then, if you ask for free publicity.

Another warning: Don't play favorites. If you have a relative on the Gazette or if you find the society editor on that paper very congenial, don't arrange to have the Gazette consistently get your stories ahead of the Chronicle. If one is a morning and the other an evening paper, alternate the timing of your releases so that each paper gets an equal break.

Do get your material in on time. For instance, if you want a story about your club's plans for a talent show to run in Thursday's paper, have the facts in the newspaper office the preceding Monday. Papers like stories well in advance so they can be set in type during lulls. If you wait until Wednesday morning, chances are your material won't get in that day's paper. Only urgent news is set near each day's deadline.

Is it better to write the story yourself or phone it in? By all means, write it if you can trust yourself to include all pertinent facts. Ask yourself the questions who, what, when, where, why, and how, and write the answers on paper. If you have a long list of names, mail it in; reading it over the phone would take too much of the editor's time, and the spelling might get garbled. Remember that names make news only when they are right. Check the spelling of every name; verify every initial; make sure all titles, addresses, and facts are complete and correct.

Type your story, double-spaced, on one side of the paper. Leave three or four inches of space at the top of the page. Be sure your name, address, and telephone number are in the upper lefthand corner of the first page. If you write stories for more than one paper, type separate copies. Don't send mimeographed or carbon copies. Avoid using handouts or prepared copy from national or state headquarters. If there is a local angle in them or a local person is mentioned, rewrite the story to feature the local touch.

If you feel more at ease on the telephone than at the tpyewriter, ask the society editor what time of day she prefers you to call. Then she can steer you clear of her deadline jitters. But no matter what time you call, have all facts at hand. Don't keep her waiting while you look up something; no newspapers are so overstaffed that editors are splashing in leisure. State your facts and hang up.

Don't submit a story that is a repetition of the minutes of a meeting. One society editor gives this advice to publicity chairmen: "If nothing newsworthy was done, skip the story. If you merely met and ate, that is not news. Incidentally, don't mention refreshments — unless they sent twenty of you to the hospital."

Are newspapers interested in photographs? Yes, but chances are you will have to provide them. A paper sends a photographer only for something very special. Ask the society editor if she wants glossy prints or mats. Mate are pieces of cardboard with pictures impressed on them. If you do not know how to go about having your photographs made into mats, ask the man who prints your tickets and posters. He will put you in touch with an engraver.

If you are about to launch a campaign—for instance, if your club is going to have a concert series with "imported" musicians—invite the society editor to be your guest at lunch. During lunch, ask her to help you work out a time schedule for release of pictures and advance stories. And don't forget to send her several complimentary tickets for the series.

If your club is sponsoring a concert series, lecture series, charity ball — anything that might draw people from a thirty- or forty-mile radius—go to the public library and ask for N. W. Ayer & Son's Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals. Copy names of all newspapers serving that area, for a publicity mailing list. Again, don't forget to send complimentary tickets.

You will be surprised at the number of small papers in your area. Weeklies are usually printed on Thursday; so get material to them no later than Monday noon. These smaller papers are interested in photographs; but usually you have to give them pictures in mat form.

One final bit of advice: Inoculate yourself against scrapbook-itis. It is a deadly disease found among amateur publicity chairmen. Never let an editor get the idea that you are keeping a scrapbook or are competing with another club for publicity space. Amount of space is not always an adequate way to measure a sucessful publicity program.

Refreezing of Thawed Foods Is Given O.K.

Keep frozen foods frozen until you are ready to thaw them for use But, if frozen foods do thaw before needed, they may be safely refrozen under certain conditions.

M.S.U. home economists explain that the process of thawing and refreezing does not in itself make fruits and vegetables unsafe. But, thawed foods spoil more rapidly than fresh foods and may quickly become unsafe to eat if not refrigerated. Foods are not likely to be fit for refreezing if they have reached temperatures of 40 degrees to 45 degrees after having passed through the slow temperature changes that occur in a freezer when it is not in operation.

Both fruits and vegetables may be frozen if they have not completely thawed or if they have been thawed for a short time and have been held in a household refrigerator. But the thawing and refreezing will usually cause poorer quality and loss of flavor, specialists warn.

Refrozen vegetables may toughen and refrozen fruits become soft and mushy. If flavor and texture of such refrozen fruits make them unfit for eating uncooked, they may be good to use in cooking.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Board Gets Progress Report

Staff of 81 Serves 1655 Students

The following report was given to the Tecumseh Board of Education at its organizational meeting Monday night by James McDowell, superintendent:

"It is with pleasure and pride that I present the annual report of progress achieved by the board and staff of the Tecumseh Public Schools during the year 1955-1956.

"Enrollments in Tecumseh Schools in June showed increases of 50 in the secondary school and 58 in the elementary school whereas last year the increases were 38 and eight respectively.

"Total enrollments in the secondary school in June were 684 and the elementary school 971. A staff of 79 persons served these children; 26 elementary teachers, 20 secondary teachers, two music teachers, four physical education teachers, one art teacher, one secondary school librarian, one elementary principal, one elementary principal and supervisor, a high school principal, three secretaries, maintenance engineer, eight custodians, three bus drivers, three cafeteria workers, a part time remedial reading teacher, and a superintendent of schools.

"Since the public library is also under the jurisdiction of the board of education and there are two librarians, the total number of persons employed directly by the Tecumseh Public Schools is 81.

"Although there has been an increase of 129 pupils in the last two years, the staff has made an outstanding effort to serve the pupils well with but four persons added to the staff in that period.

"My congratulations are extended to all those who gave so fully of their patience, understanding, cooperation and overtime in making the year so full of educational opportunities and happiness for the children of Tecumseh.

"That the children are happy and enjoy school is partially evidenced by the fact that Tecumseh Schools have enviable and outstanding attendance record for 1955-1956; 94.6 per cent in the elementary school and 95.8 per cent in the secondary school. The latter is almost unheard of in secondary education.

Teacher Salary Schedule

The salary schedules, for teaching duties only, in the Tecumseh Public Schools for the various levels of academic learning are as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Non-degree (60-90 hours) | Minimum $3400 | Maximum $3900 |
| Non-degree (90-120 hrs.) | Minimum 3700 | Maximum 4200 |
| Degree | Minimum 4000 | Maximum 5560 |
| Master's | Minimum 4200 | Maximum 5760 |

FIVE SCHOOLS OPERATED

"Five schools have been operated daily: West Branch, Brownville, Patterson, Central, and high school. These buildings have been at peak capacity for optimum educational opportunities for the children for over two years and will be sorely over-taxed next year. However, by careful planning and a re-distribution of children plans have been made that include additional rooms outside these buildings only at the Baptist church and the basement of the library.

"Through the cooperation of the State Department of Public Instruction, the County Board of Education, the Tecumseh Board of Education, and the boards of education of 17 primary districts, plans for their annexation were completed. Fifteen Primary Districts consummated their plans by a favorable vote, one defeated the issue, and one has yet to vote.

"In addition considerable valuation of property has been transferred to the Tecumseh Public School District from other primary districts by the County Board of Education. In all better than eight million dollars of state equalized property has been added to the district this year. When school closed in June, Tecumseh Public Schools were operating 15 primary schools with 23 teachers. This brought the total staff, including an additional custodian, to 105.

WILL HAVE 1302 STUDENTS

"The 1956 school census for our enlarged school district shows that we will have 1302 children under five years of age which is a gain of 513 children over last year; we will have 2834 children of school age or a gain of 1162. The total children from 0 to 20 years of age is 4,136. Plans have been initiated to educate these children as close to their homes as possible and yet to give each child the advantage of study with groups his own age and of similar interests.

"A full and well-rounded music, art and physical education program was offered both in the elementary and secondary schools as in the past. Next year these services are to be extended to the annexed primary schools to some extent and will augment their programs.

"Extra-curricular activities in the secondary school consisted of football, basketball, intramural basketball in upper grades and secondary school, baseball, track, golf, Future Farmers of America, Varsity Club, Girls' Athletic Association, debate, forensics, student council, class plays, annual staff and professional writing for awards. In addition a Spanish Club was organized, wrestling as a sport was inaugurated, and a school newspaper staff turned out a bi-monthly.

"A regional basketball tournament was again awarded Tecumseh and although Tecumseh did not win the tournament they did capture the league championship. They also won the league golf championship and tied for second at state matches. The new track added incentive and track events should improve in the future. The cooperative training programs, although serving fewer pupils, were very successful. The junior and senior plays were very well done.

ADULTS ALSO LEARN

"One semester of adult education or evening school programs was operated with 104 in attendance in seven classes in the following fields: business and commercial education, practical arts, crafts and avocations, drama and fine arts; music, etc., and recreational skills. Young adult farmers classes were held in the evening weekly and other educational and civic minded groups were served by the school.

"The public library has operated through the services of two full time librarians as required by the State Library Board. Improvements in lighting and other physical equipment as well as the addition of new books and services has resulted in greater use by the public of the library facilities. A library board was appointed by the board of education for the express purpose of library improvement and extended services to the community. This new board is doing an outstanding piece of work in planning for the future. Children's programs have been offered through the library which help to augment regular school instruction in reading and engender a love of books.

ADJUST SALARY SCHEDULE

"A professional problems committee consisting of the Teacher Club salary committee and a group of teachers appointed by the superintendent met with Mr. Mead of the board of education on several occasions to discuss professional

Rodgers, Hereford Are Re-Elected at Britton-Macon

G. E. Rogers and Clarence Hereford were re-elected members of the Britton-Macon Board of Education Monday. One hundred and ninety-two votes were cast

This was the result of the election:

|---|---|
| CLARENCE HEREFORD | 104 |
| G. E. RODGERS | 82 |
| DOUGLAS PALMER | 61 |
| LESLIE DOWNING | 55 |
| CHARLES BENEDICT | 54 |
| CHESTER GODZINA | 17 |

At a reorganizational meeting after the election, Mr. Hereford was elected president of the board. Other officers elected include Gerald Benedict, secretary; Leland Bush, treasurer. Harold Rohrback and Ed Rodgers are trustees.

RECEIVES ALL "A'S"

Twenty-seven students in the University of Michigan College of Engineering made an all "A" record during the spring semester, it was announced recently.

Earning all "A's" from Britton was Fredrick Thomas Cross, 144 E. Maple St.

Hospital Receives Full Accreditation

For the first time in its history Herrick Memorial hospital has received full accreditaton from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Chicago, Ill.

A 14-page booklet put out by the commission lists the standards that are used in accrediting hospitals. To qualify for accreditation a hospital must have at least 25 beds, have been in operation at least 12 months and . . . be listed in the Administrator's Guide of hospitals which is published by the American Hospital Association.

Accreditation is based on these principles:

ADMINISTRATION — the buildings of the hospital must be constructed and arranged to insure the safety of the patient and to promote his welfare.

The governing body has the legal and moral responsibility for the conduct of the hospital as an institution. It is responsible to the patient, the community and the sponsoring organization. Its official representative is the chief administrative officer of the hospital.

Facilities for the following services are necessary: dietary, medical records, pharmacy or drug room, clinical laboratory and pathological services, radiology and medical library.

THE MEDICAL STAFF — is responsible to the patient and to the governing body of the hospital for the quality of all medical care rendered to patients in the hospital and for the ethical and professional practices of its members.

NURSING — There must be a graduate registered nurse on duty at all times and professional nursing care must be available for all patients at all times.

These basic principles are then described in great detail for the use of the hospital in meeting the standards set up for accreditation. Depending on their size, hospitals must score at least 70 per cent on the examination to be fully accredited.

The following letter, received by Orrie L. Gilbert, administrator, was received from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals whose member organizations are American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association:

"Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals
Chicago, Ill.

"Dear Mr. Gilbert:

"The board of commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has approved the recommendation that the Herrick Memorial hospital receive FULL ACCREDITATION.

"As you know, this is the result of the evaluation of the hospital survey conducted on May 22, 1956, by Dr. Peter D. Ward, a field representative of the joint commission. Your courtesy to Doctor Ward at the time of his visit is appreciated.

"You will find attached recommendations for the improvement in the quality of patient care made as a result of the survey. These warrant your attention and should be put into effect before the next

School Teacher Mrs. M. V. Uckele Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Margaret V. Uckele, 64, Tecumseh school teacher died suddenly Monday night of a heart attack at her home in Blissfield.

She taught four years in Tecumseh and last year she was fifth grade teacher at Central school.

Prior to coming to Tecumseh she taught 15 years in the Blissfield schools.

Her residence in Blissfield was at 304 south Lane St.

Widow of the late William J. Uckele, she was born in Erie, Mich., and she had spent most of her life in Blissfield.

Three sisters and one brother preceded her in death.

Mrs. Uckele was a member of the Blissfield Presbyterian church. She also was a past matron of the O.E.S. and she was a member of the Blissfield Service Club.

She is survived by her niece Mrs. Katherine Burns of Toledo and her step-son William E. Uckele of Blissfield and her step-daughter Mrs. Loraine Saylor of Deerfield.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) from the Tagsold Funeral Home in Blissfield with the Rev. James Van Pernis officiating.

Internment will be in Pleasant View cemetery in Blissfield.

HEY, KIDS, LOOK

All kids 12 and under may take part in the kids' day program at the free fair and homecoming Saturday.

Games of various kind will begin at 2 p.m.

The Kiddie Corvette will be awarded between 4 and 5 p.m.

Touborg, Tucker Are Elected to School Board

An incumbent and a new member were re-elected and elected to the Tecumseh Board of Education in a large vote Monday.

Re-elected by voters was Jens Touboug, incumbent, and elected was Virgil Tucker, a new member. Both men received three-year terms.

They won out over Harold Anderson and Matthew Lunn who represented newly-annexed rural areas.

Four hundred and forty persons voted or almost 10 times as many as voted last year when 51 turned out. The greater number voting is attributed to the fact that since 15 rural districts joined the local system it is much larger now.

Results of the election were:

|---|---|
| TOUBORG | 349 |
| TUCKER | 265 |
| ANDERSON | 127 |
| LUNN | 120 |

The sale of the Bird school building also passed. The vote on this was:

|---|---|
| YES | 348 |
| NO | 14 |

About 90 voters failed to vote on this proposition.

At a re-organizational meeting Monday night following the election Mr. Touborg was re-elected president of the board of education.

Other officers of the board are Aden Mead, vice-president; Dr. Ralph Helzerman, secretary; Dwight Hodges, treasurer; and Virgil Tucker, trustee.

Dr. Helzerman and Mr. Hodges also were re-elected.

Warren Holmes and Co. representatives of Lansing attended the meeting to show some prospective plans for future elementary school buildings in the area.

SHOTS

Third shots of polio vaccine are available now from all Tecumseh doctors for children who were given their second polio shot six or more months ago.

All children who received either one or two shots in school clinics are eligible for the next shot of the vaccine.

The health department has authorized the use of the vaccine throughout the summer months.

Legion Has 421 Members

Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 now has a membership of 421. Three new members present at the last meeting of the post boosted the membership to the new high.

Legionnaires also voted to operate a concession at the Jaycee homecoming and free fair. They will operate the archery range.

Arrangements also were made for the Michigan Department Convention which will be held in Lansing from Aug. 2 to 5. The second district meeting will be held at 9 a.m. Friday, Aug. 3.

The Silver Lining

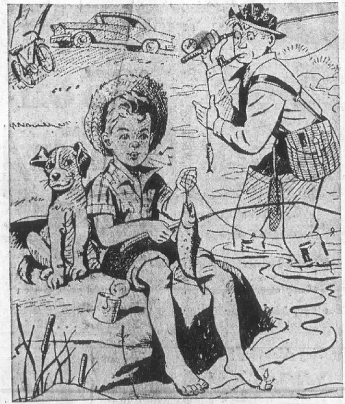
Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN



AS THE ACCOMPANYING cartoon clearly points out, the fisherman who always has the most expensive and up-to-the-minute equipment does not always get the big ones.

In fact, many a sad follower of old Ike Walton, loaded to the gills, (to coin a new expression) with fishing gear, often has to take a back seat to the barefoot boy with the binder twine and safety pins.

This maddening (to the over-geared fisherman) state of affairs again was proved Sunday. My 13-year-old boy didn't even have a pole. He merely had a line he dropped over the side of the boat; yet he made a fine contribution to the total take of 28 dandy bluegills.

We were up at 5 a.m. and out on the lake three minutes later. By 7:30 we had the 28 and we would have been there yet, almost a week later, if our beat-up bait had not run out.

Later, just to see how hungry those bluegills were, we went out right in the heat of the day. And this time we hauled in 18. For the record we both had poles this time.

But here is the clincher. Again to check further on the appetites of our watered friends (but not until we again ran out of bait) I showed him how to hook out a fish eye to use as a lure. The fish were so hungry (or so dumb) that they even gobbled the eyes. We each caught a sly perch and mine was almost a foot long.

Area Study Group Wants To Know

What Will Make Our City Better?

A newly-created Tecumseh Area Study Committee geared to the long-range goal of improving Tecumseh soon will make a mail survey to ask residents here what is needed most to make the city a better place in which to live and to work.

The post card survey will be made about July 20. Suggestions are invited. You need not sign your name to the card.

Answers from the survey will be used by the group in seeking its objectives of making Tecumseh a better city.

So far the Kiwanis, Exchange and Rotary Clubs have lent their support to the project as well as the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce. Others are expected to follow.

Members of the group have been meeting since last May to set up preliminary work and to map long-range objectives.

An internationally prominent adult educator and community leadership consultant has been meeting with the group to help it to formulate its thinking and goals.

The Tecumseh Area Study Committee now has a membership of 20. Others are expected to join the group's activities.

The group has no "axe to grind". Its membership cuts across party lines and represents most of the churches and clubs in the city. The members also represent professional and non-professional persons. And an invitation will be extended to labor to take part in the group.

Its sole objective is to help in creating constructive community thinking with the end result geared to provide constructive community action that will in the end make Tecumseh a better and more progressive community.

But the group needs your help. It wants to know what you are thinking; it wants your ideas.

Then it will take your ideas and try to put them into action that will improve every aspect of Tecumseh.

MSU Expert Describes

Excitement, Strategy of Coming Conventions: Democracy at Work

By Prof. Norton E. Long
Michigan State University

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of five articles prepared especially for weekly newspapers by Dr. Long with assistance of the M.S.U. Department of Information Services.

An expert on public administration and political parties, Prof. Long is currently acting head of the department of political science and director of the Michigan Citizenship Clearing House.)

You, the radio, television and newspaper audience, may know more about what is going on at the Republican and Democratic national conventions than the Michigan delegates and alternates. Skilled commentators and reporters will relay the latest "hot rumors" and results of top-level negotiations. Delegates may hear the same news only after it has been passed around by word of mouth.

But your delegates will probably have a better grasp of the way the convention operates, what to look for and how to interpret the happenings. Unless you, too, understand how the convention is run and organized, much of what occurs may be an uninteresting mystery.

SET FACTS STRAIGHT

First, perhaps, we should get the "where, when and who" facts straight. The Democratic convention will open Aug. 13 in Chicago. The Republican one will convene a week later, Aug. 20, in San Francisco. At the Republican conclave, Michigan delegates will control 46 of 1,323 votes, and at the Democratic convention, 44 of 1,372 votes.

Delegates and their alternates, party officials, supporters of the contending candidates and the just plain curious will pour into the designated cities days in advance. Delegates and alternates of both conventions will be augmented by thousands of well-wishers and out of town visitors.

The city chosen for the convention may give a clue as to which faction controls the party and may control the convention. No potential nominee will back the choice of a city in his opponent's stronghold unless forced to do so. The requirements for a convention city are good hotel, restaurant and convention hall accommodations, good travel connections and, today particularly, good communications facilities. At least a dozen cities would fill the bill.

NIXON IS IMPORTANT

This year's choice indicates the Stevenson faction is in control of the Democratic convention machinery. The Republicans, by selecting San Francisco, indicate the strong position held by California Republicans, and the importance attached to the nomination of Vice-President Nixon, a native Californian. There is, of course, the added fact that businessmen from cities under consideration usually bid heavily for the privilege of having the convention and the added business it brings.

While enthusiasm runs high and the participants are still fresh, there may be much commotion and fun-making. The South Dakota delegation in 1948, for instance, featured Indian Chief Spotted Crow in full dress. The chief insisted on taking a taxi to the convention instead of riding in the special bus provided. When asked why, he replied, "Ugh, bus ruffle feathers," to the amusement of millions of Americans following the convention's progress from home.

These circus and pep-rally aspects, however, are understandable. During most of the convention, a majority of the 2,000 alternates and delegates have little to do. Actual voting takes a fairly small part of their time, and alternates frequently "spell" delegates in voting and sitting on the floor. While the meeting goes on, they talk with other participants and meet new ones.

This function of "introducing party members all around" is one of the most valuable of the convention. Personal ties of friendship add greater cohesiveness to the party.

To return to the formalities: as soon after the designated time as possible, the chairman of the party's national committee attempts to get order by banging his gavel and begging delegates, participants and observers to be seated. This is usually a time-consuming and arm-tiring task. Finally the convention is declared officially opened.

SLATE PRESENTED

Next, the national committee presents a temporary slate of officers for the convention. These have been selected at the Dec. meeting of the national committee and are well known in advance. Rarely does the convention fail to approve the temporary slate.

The keynote speech follows. The keynoter sets the tone of the convention, and whips up enthusiasm among the delegates. The speech is intended as much for the country as for the convention itself. Political conventions present an ideal occasion for persuading the voters at home.

State Fair Ribbons Will Be Presented to County Winners

Winning County Fair home arts exhibitors in Michigan will receive special Michigan State Fair ribbons entitling them to free entry in the State Fair at Detroit, Aug. 31 through Sept. 9.

The awards, totalling more than 700, actually will be made by the various County Fair officials.

Each County Fair winner will be eligible to compete for State Fair premiums which are at a new high this year—$138,000. Entries must be made before Aug. 10.

Polly Luers, State Fair home arts director, said that all county fair exhibitors, as well as the special ribbon winners, are invited to exhibit at the state fair.

The state fair ribbons will be awarded for various classes of needlework, canning and baking. For further information, prospective exhibitors may write to the Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Michigan, for a copy of the home arts premium book and entry blank.

County fair exhibitors receiving ribbons also will receive passes to the state fair, according to Donald L. Swanson, general manager.

Family Reunion Attended by 61

The 40th reunion of the VanValkenburg family was held July 4 at the Sand Lake cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Munger. There were 61 present for the noon potluck dinner.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Herbert Hoag during which it was reported that there had been eight marriages, three births and five deaths in the family in the past year.

New officers elected were president, Dalton VanValkenburg; vice-president, Ernest VanValkenburg and secretary, Mrs. Leon Swartz.

A memorial service was held for the five members of the family who had died during the year and it was voted to hold future meetings on the same date and at the same place. Those who attended came from Belleville, Ypsilanti, Clinton, Britton, Adrian and Tecumseh.

Atomic Research May Aid Farmers

The atomic age will bring no drastic changes in the production methods of Michigan farmers in the immediate future, but in the long run atomic research may result in much greater efficiency in farm practices.

This is the opinion of A. Geoffrey Norman, University of Michigan botanist who recently headed a National Academy of Science study on agriculture and food supply in the atomic age.

Plant mutations caused by radiation can be used to improve crops, he explains but progress in this area is slow because of the number of irradiated plants which have to be studied and the recombinations needed to find the most acceptable varieties.

Comparable use of radiation to improve livestock and farm animals is not likely to be so rewarding, Prof. Norman believes, largely because of the time required for securing results, the expense, and the difficulty of disposing of animals exposed to radiation.

Atomic research in the agricultural area will probably be built in small steps over a period of years, Prof. Norman concludes, but the total of all these changes could result in a far more productive and easier life for Michigan farm families.

Egg Desserts Depend on the Temperature

Are your baked custards and rice and bread puddings smooth or are they watery when they are cut into? It might be your baking technique that makes the difference.

Using a low enough baking temperature is essential to prevent watery puddings, says Mary Coleman, foods instructor at Michigan State University. The best oven temperature is about 325 degrees. Then be sure the custard or pudding is baked only until it is set enough so that when a silver knife is inserted in the center of the mixture, it comes out clean with no traces of the food.

Prolonged baking or baking at too high a temperature will cause the eggs to shrink away from the liquid in the mixture that makes it watery.

To help prevent this, Miss Coleman suggests, set the dish of custard or pudding in a pan of water before placing it in the oven. This keeps edges of the dessert from being overcooked while the center portion is getting firm.

Conlin Took Part in Seminar on Aging at UM

More than 200 medical and gerontological experts from 20 states in the U.S. participated in workshops and seminars at The University of Michigan's ninth annual Conference on Aging in Ann Arbor July 9-11.

Titled "Health for the Aging," the meeting was concerned with such problems as the lack of specialized medical facilities for elderly persons, their inability to meet major medical expenses through income or insurance, and the need to check chronic disease development by preventive care early in life.

Three seminars for research workers and educators in this field were discussed, "Medical School Teaching and Hospital Training Programs in Geriatric Medicine," "Professional Training in Gerontology," and "Research in Health and the Aging Process."

Twelve workshops were scheduled for social workers, welfare experts, public health personnel and others attending the Conference. Topics covered were: "Integrated Medical and Social Services," "Health and Criteria for Retirement," "The Geriatric Clinic in the Hospital and the Community," "Health Assessment of the Aging," "What Older People Should Do to Maintain Their Own Health," and "Planning Housing and Long Term Care Facilities."

Also: "Nutrition and Health of the Aging," "Creating the Climate for Healthful Living Through Activities," "The Problem of Mental Illness Among the Aging," "Insurance Methods for Meeting the Medical Costs of Older People," "New Developments in the Treatment of Older People — Implications for Nursing," and "The Role of State Governments, Legislative and Citizens Committee in Promoting the Health of the Aging."

Program participants included Rollo G. Conlin of Tipton, a member of the Michigan House of Representatives.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man; but God is faithful...—(I Corinthians 10, 13.)

We are all human beings, mortal flesh and blood, and there is no temptation to evil that equally has not visited every one of us at some time or another. But the weakest as well as the strongest of us equally may draw strength to resist, from God's everlasting mercy and His love.

PROJECT: CS B1 of 46-15-20, C1 (S 683 (5) )

Net classification required for this project is 12 Fa.

Sealed proposals for the construction of this project located in Raisin Twp., Lenawee County, will be received from contractors having 1956 Michigan State Highway Department prequalications, in the Small Auditorium, Civic Center, Lansing, Michigan, until 10:30 A.M., Eastern Standard Time on Wednesday, July 18, 1956, and will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals may be mailed to the Contract-Estimate Office, 715 Stevens T. Mason Bldg., Lansing, Michigan.

The work will consist of the removal of the existing bridge, the construction of a new bridge, 0.12 mile of grading and aggregate surfacing of the approaches to the new bridge and incidental work.

Completion date for entire project
Alternate (Precast Prestressed) 10-1-56
Alternate (Cast in Place) 11-1-56

The Department's Standard Specifications (1950 Edition), its current Soils Manual, the plans for this project, the special provisions governing subletting and assigning the contract and the employment and use of labor, and the proposal blanks (all of which are essential parts of the contract) may be examined at the district office of the Department at Redford, Michigan; at the County Road Commission in Adrian, Michigan and at the Michigan Road Builders Association, Lansing, Michigan, but may be obtained only at the office of the Contract-Estimate Engineer, 715 Stevens T. Mason Bldg., Lansing, Michigan, up to 5 P.M. of the day preceding the opening of bids. A fee of three dollars will be charged for furnishing plans or proposal blanks, which will not be refunded.

Full cooperation in carrying out the special provisions will be required. Minimum wage paid to labor employed on this contract shall be as outlined in the proposal.

A Certified or Cashier's Check, Bank Money Order, or Certificate of Deposit, properly endorsed, on an open, solvent bank, in the sum of $6,000.00, payable to Charles M. Ziegler, State Highway Commissioner, must accompany each proposal. All such checks will be returned promptly after the bidding, except that of the lowest bidder will not be returned until execution and delivery of the contract to the State Highway Department.

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

REPORT

advancement, professional needs and salary schedule problems. Following a report to the board of education, the salary schedule was again adjusted as in previous years to meet changing needs and competition in the field, particularly the shortage of teachers.

"Since no non-degree personnel have been contracted for Tecumseh Public Schools for several years it was also necessary, due to the annexation of the 15 primary districts whose teachers are predominantly non-degree personnel, to predicate new personnel policies concerning these new staff members as well as a salary schedule for these members.

"Hourly rated employees were given a five cent per hour raise which approximates the annual increment of the teachers. Tecumseh schools have a high percentage of master's degree personnel and many of our teachers are in the process of securing either their A. B. or A. M. degrees at present.

"The operation of the school buses was exceptionally well done by Lee Purkey and Sons. Actually, per capita costs on Tecumseh Public School buses due to efficient program scheduling, maintenance, and cooperative drivers was less than half of most surrounding communities. Starting times of the elementary and secondary schools were staggered so that buses could be used to exceptional capacities. We carried an average of 558 pupils at an average cost of $20.40 on the three buses which were owned by the Tecumseh Public Schools for the entire year.

"One of the most significant steps during the year toward safety of the athletes and pupils of the community engaged in extra-curricular activities was the acquisition of a highway bus for the specific purposes of transporting such groups. Children are completely insured and students and parents no longer must assume responsibility for children for such affairs as in former years. Also, this bus has been invaluable as a teaching tool since field trips are now possible for both the elementary and secondary schools which could not be engaged in previously since all the buses were needed for regular daily bus runs.

PTA's ARE ACTIVE

"The high school P.T.A. sponsored a band uniform drive and succeeded in securing 70 uniforms for use next fall. All the building P.T.A.'s, have assisted materially in planning and augmenting the school programs and have done much to engender cooperative effort in solving the educational needs of the children.

"The track was completed, plans for permanent bleachers approved and monetary gifts made toward same by the board of education. The services of a psychologist and a speech correctionist were made available to the pupils of the community and special reading classes for those dificient more than two years were offered both in the elementary and in the secondary school.

"The board of education met 13 times during the year and has successfully solved many problems. It has made every effort to plan well for the future of the children of the whole area and for the future needs of the adults who wish to continue to grow educationally. The annexation of the primary districts has been a tremendous task and their formation into a closely-knit and single-purposed group to secure for their children the best possible educational opportunities still lies ahead.

"The board voted to retire $120,000 of 1952 school bonds well in advance of their due dates. This was made possible by the increased valuation of the school district and the prompt payment of school taxes by the community.

"The board honored Miss LaPointe with a gift of a watch for her 40 years of service as a teacher in this community.

RECEIVES APPOINTMENTS

"Your superintendent was appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to the State Curriculum Committee on Adult Education and Community Colleges; appointed by the President of the Michigan Association of Public School Adult Educators to the Ways and Means Committee; and appointed as director of the Lenawee County Child Guidance Clinic by the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic which is the sponsoring agency.

"I have enjoyed working with outstanding educators in these fields and have been better able to serve the community through these contacts and experiences. I am particularly proud of the report from the University Bureau of School Services on their visit here this spring. Their constructive and adverse criticism has helped to set a pattern for certain curricular improvements and has strengthened our efforts to continue to improve so that once again in the future we may merit their high praise.

"I wish to quote the following letter from the University:

> 'Your school (Tecumseh) shows the efforts of good administration and the cooperative work of the staff and the community. The citizenship shown by the students was good and all staff members were cooperative . . . Undoubtedly the most significant of my observations was the genuinely high moral displayed by both students and teachers. Interviews with teachers and a sample of students gave indications that pupil-teacher relationship were above the level found in the ordinary school.'

"May I, too, express to the high school principal and the secondary staff my congratulations in achieving so well one of our educational goals.

"It has been a distinct pleasure to serve such an outstandingly progressive board of education composed of members with vision of future opportunities for children not accorded most individuals. I also appreciate the opportunity of serving this community and shall continue to endeavor to coordinate the activities of the board, staff, children, parents, and citizens toward the common goal of a well rounded education for all."

Miss Mary Brown Will Be Married

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Brown announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth to James Edward Blocker, son of Professor and Mrs. John G. Blocker of Lawrence, Kansas.

Miss Brown attended Albion College and was graduated from Eastern Michigan College of Education at Ypsilanti in 1953. She is a member of the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority and for the past three years has been teaching in the elementary schools of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Mr. Blocker received a B.S. degree from the School of Business of the University of Kansas in 1950 and his M.B.A. degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Business in 1952. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta, Beta Gamma Sigma, Sachem and Alpha Kappa Psi and was a Summerfield Scholar. He is now associated with the Spencer Chemical Co. in Kansas City, Mo.

The wedding [illegible] planned for early fall.

BOBBY

MRS. ETHEL HAMMACK has (or had) a blue-green parakeet named Bobby who was in love with himself to the extent that he went around saying "pretty Bobby," among other things.

A week ago Monday Bobby went out to see the world on the shoulder of Mrs. Hammack's grandson Gary McKenzie.

But instead of seeing the world Bobby saw the interior of the Tecumseh Products Co. Specifically, he saw T building down there where refrigeration compressors are made.

And more specifically he came down on the shoulder of Tom Kampmueller who took Bobby home and fed him. Tom was about to advertise the lost bird when Mrs. Hammack learned that he had Bobby.

But meanwhile she had bought another bird. So she gave Bobby to Tom who now hears the bird discussing its own good looks.

from The Bible

Knowing that Christ, being raised from the dead, dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over Him.—(Romans 6, 9.)

Jesus, our Redeemer Savior, Friend—ever present, always patient and understanding in loving kindness — walks and talks with us this very day as He did with the people who knew him in ancient days, when we free ourselves of sin and in prayer seek His presence.

BEATER SENTENCED

Circuit Judge Rex Martin sentenced James McKenzie, 48, of Tecumseh, to one year of probation, 15 days in jail, $50 fine and $50 costs Thursday.

McKenzie was arrested by Clinton state police Dec. 27 on charges of aggravated assault.

Troopers charged him with beating his former wife.

On March 13 he pleaded guilty to the charge.

NANCY COFFEY IS ONLY six but she can tell a good yarn. She asked: "What did the two fleas say when they came out of the show when it was raining?" And, not being versed in this matter, I had to admit that I did not know. So she told me: "Shall we walk or take a dog?"

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE: If you were to lay all the sausage casings produced in the United States annually end to end, they would form a tube 940,000 miles long. And this is no baloney.

A CONFIRMED FISHERMAN who also is a farmer told us this: three-fourths of the earth's surface is water and only one-fourth is land. The great truth to be deducted from this is that it's clear the Lord intended that a man should spend three times as much time fishing as he does plowing.

Small Points Are Important To Fishing For The Big Ones

If you're a sport fisherman who finds himself smack-dab in the middle of the fishing season — that's now — with a pretty poor percentage of strikes to your name, maybe you're forgetting some of the important "small" points of fishing.

Take some tips from the University of Michigan's fishing expert, Prof. Karl F. Lagler, who heads the Department of Fisheries.

"Too many fishermen concentrate on the big things of fishing, like wangling a time to go, finding a boat to go in, a place to go to, and out-talking the wife, who'd rather go on a picnic," he says.

FORGET THINGS

They forget about such things as accuracy, stealth, wise choice of lures, care of hooks and some other factors which are "all important to him who would mess up a skillet!"

First of all, learn to be an accurate caster, says the professor. Overshooting or undershooting the target louses up the good holes and tears down your estimation of your fishing ability, he points out.

Pick out a target in the back yard and try casting at it until you can hit it without thinking about fundamentals, he recommends. "Once you've mastered accuracy you've surmounted the geratest obstacle facing most cast fishermen."

STALK THEM

As for stealth, you have to stalk the larger game fish, Professor Lagler maintains. "Wear dark clothes, stay down in the boat and be quiet; the only noise a fish should hear is that of your lure falling on the water."

He agrees with the well-known friend of the fisherman, Homer Circle, that choosing lures wisely is a very significant part of catching a fish. "If you're fishing in weedy waters don't use a lure that is constantly hanging up. Try a good weedless lure with a pork chunk," both men advise.

And don't use a shallow running lure in deep water. If the water is calm try a topwater splasher and vary its action, trying a noisy retrieve, a fast one, a quiet slow one, they say.

"Try different colors too," Professor Lagler suggests, although fisheries scientists can't give explanations for why fish are sometimes attracted to one color, sometimes to another.

Don't be afraid to slam your hook home with zeal when you've got a strike, the professor adds, and those hooks should be sharp!

And if all else fails, just sit back in your boat and troll.

Northville Trot Set for July 11

The $6,000 Northville Trot to be held July 11 will be the second of the series of Wednesday night stakes at Northville Downs.

The race will be for 14 class trotters in two dashes at one mile.

Among the leading horses entered in this early closing event are: Evans Song, Johnna Averill, Pastime Lawrence, Excellul, Josedale Jet Pilot, Sonnie, Imperial Gallon, Mr. Shelt and Sweet Mike.

The opening stake, the $6,000 Northville Pace, was held Wednesday, July 4. Upcoming big races are the $8,000 Wayne County Pace, July 18; the $10,000 Michigan Pacing Derby, July 25, and the $10,000 Governors Cup Trot, Aug. 1.

Northville Downs opened its 13th season June 26. The 35 nights of racing will continue through Aug. 4.

by MEL OTT

THIS SCARRED veteran of many a baseball campaign well remembers my 1934 season with the New York Giants when we were leading the league by something like half a dozen games on Labor Day, yet blew the pennant to the St. Louis Cardinals on the final day.

The Cards went on to quash the Tigers in the World Series but that isn't the point of this story.

The point is that we were all veterans of the championship 1933 team and certainly knew what the game was all about. Yet we went into an unexplained slump, nothing we could do was right, and the next thing we knew we wound up trailing the Cardinals.

Similar difficulties befell the Tigers, although under less acute circumstances, when they suffered their recent 10-game slump. It was the fault of no individual, it was something that was (and is) difficult to explain and little or nothing could be done about it except to keep giving everything you had every day.

Still in Contention

I still believe that should the Tigers ever get all the parts clicking at once, and keep them that way, they're going to be a very tough team to keep out of the first division.

This was proved on the last Eastern trip when they posted a highly commendable 11 won-5 lost record while whipping the Yankees three straight.

Despite the absence of Ned Garver, the pitching staff was going along smoothly. The batters were coming through in the pinch. And the defensive play was superb.

The team returned to Briggs Stadium full of confidence. If they could do so well on the road, wouldn't they do even better at home? Naturally.

Trouble—All At Once

Then the roof fell in. Harvey Kuenn, who'd been injured in Boston, failed to respond to treatment and remained out of the line-up. Frank Bolling, whose play at bat and at second base had been outstanding since his return on leave from the Army, had to go back for his discharge.

Bill Tuttle went into a slump. Ray Boone's ailing knees acted up. And, as if all this weren't enough, bad luck seemed to dog those who remained. A fielding misplay that ordinarily wouldn't have mattered turned out to be a crucial play. Or the batters simply couldn't drive in important runs, no matter how hard they tried.

Such a combination of circumstances is enough to make anyone discouraged. But the Tigers weren't discouraged, only disgusted, particularly over blowing the close ones during that 10-game ordeal.

Finally it came to an end. The ailing players recovered, the absent player returned and the team started hitting and fielding again. That's the way it goes in baseball.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Michigan will receive $133,474 in additional federal funds for assistance in wildlife restoration projects during the next fiscal year. The money is the state's share of the first apportionment of surplus Pittman-Robertson funds, accumulated from 1939 to 1946.

During that eight-year period, more than $13,000,000 in P-R funds accumulated when Congress did not appropriate the full receipts annually from the 11 per cent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. Twenty per cent of this surplus will be distributed to the 48 states and U. S. possessions in each of the next five fiscal years.

Random Thoughts

IT IS OBVIOUS THAT nobody save the attorneys gained anything worth while in the so-called fluoride suit.

The dismissal, called for by two of the anti-fluoridation committee members who were plaintiffs was not a clear-cut decision.

We say this in the belief that even though they no longer wanted "to fight the fight" some members of the committee never will believe that they actually did have their "day in court."

Nor will the dismissal of the case with prejudice ever stop some of them from saying that they did not have their day.

And it will not stop them from re-stating that fluoride is in the city water.

Like we said at the beginning: nothing positive was gained from this inane and costly suit.

IT IS HOPED THAT Tecumseh never has a real hard rain. If it does it is going to have trouble with its storm sewers.

That rain of last Thursday morning proved this when water stood hub-cap deep in the streets and had no place to go.

The city storm sewer situation needs immediate attention.

"AREN'T WE GOING to have any fireworks or parade for the Fourth of July?"

A half dozen inquiries were made along this line before the July Fourth holiday.

Admittedly $1200 is a lot of money to be burned up in smoke when so many other things more lasting are needed; but why couldn't some holiday activity such as a parade be planned by one of the veterans' organizations or other civic group?

Oh, well, it was only the birthday of our country, the greatest one in the world.

IT IS FAIRLY CERTAIN that there will be a new spiral of higher prices that consumers will pay for items made from steel.

In the past when steel workers were given a boost in wages companies passed the increased costs on until the increases were realized as higher prices.

There is no reason to believe that this same situation will not prevail again. In fact, some companies already have boosted the price of steel, expecting that they will meet at least a part of the steel workers' demands.

Yet you still hear that inflation has been curbed.

MOST OF US KNOW there is a state speed law but how many know that it is against the law to pull a house trailer more than 50 miles an hour? There is; so you had better take it a little easier on your vacation trip if your "house" is tied to your car.

SEN. CHARLES E. POTTER has urged Congress to suspend the automobile excise tax for a period of six months.

Pointing to the 250,000 unemployed in the automobile industry in Michigan, Sen. Potter believes dropping the tax would cut car prices, spur sales and put the idle back to work.

The tax is 10 per cent or $250 on a $2500 car. This is a luxury tax; yet in many cases the automobile today has become a necessity.

This is a concrete suggestion for doing something about the vital automobile industry.

You Are Not Billed For These Many Costs . . .

The unexpected services rendered by the Funeral Director are many and often costly. Some were unknown to the family of the deceased before their sudden necessity.

Practically all are done for you without extra cost. Yes, extra services without extra cost are regularly a part of the services at the Green Funeral Home.

Realty Views

"We heard you just sold a large house on Logan St.," said suave Jim Blankton. "We'd never had a chance to meet you before but I figure you're the right real estate man for us. After all, results are what count! Besides, we've also heard you enjoy a good reputation."

"Fine," I replied. "Do you want to sell your home?"

"Certainly," said Mr. Blankton with a wave of his hand. "It's just the wife and me now. We rattle around in our big house like peas in a pod."

The home was in excellent shape.

"Honest," Jim said as he caught my look, "there's nothing wrong. It's just too big for us now. We want something smaller that we can easily keep up."

Well, needless to say, we advertised Jim's house and in a few weeks it was sold. And the Blanktons bought a neat, new home.

Jim smiled as we handed him the key, "I really appreciate the way you helped us solve a problem," he said. "You deserve the double deal."

May we help you with your real estate selling problem?

So You Want To Go To College

(Note—This is the last in a series of articles prepared by the Department of Information Services of Michigan State University to assist high school students and their parents in finding out some of the answers to the most commonly asked questions concerning college attendance.)

College and university life can be the four happiest and most profitable years of your life. Whether or not they will be so will be dependent to a large extent on you. Your aim and objective in college will be to make your every academic effort count toward a specific end.

College is not a country club, not a football game, not a society tea, not a theater, but a place where you can mature and develop as an individual. Here you can build step-by-step the preparation which will give you a self-satisfying and worthwhile life.

A college is many things to many people. You will find "college" in the classroom; you will find it in your instructor; you will find it in your friends, in your fraternity or sorority; you may find it in the dormitory or on the platform at commencement. But most of all you will find that college has meaning only when it does something for you. It is an experience in living.

YOU'RE NOT ALONE

"As you go through college, you will not be alone," said Tom King, dean of students at Michigan State University. "There will be many at your side to assist you. True, they will not be telling you every move to make, controlling your every activity, or dominating your life. But they will be there to help you."

From the time you consider entering college, there are many helps which are available to you. At the outset, your high school principal and counselor will assist you in making your plans for higher education.

Each college and university has personnel who are happy to counsel high school students on planning for college. At Michigan State University, the office of high school cooperation, under the direction of Dr. Guy Hill, provides this service.

The college registrar, admissions director, scholarship director and the counseling service are but a few of the offices which early in your college planning will be able to give you valuable advice.

HELP YOUR CHOICE

You will have an enrollment officer who will help you with your choice of subjects. Also, college instructors today pride themselves not only on their ability to teach and carry on research, but also on their ability to help students with problems. The counselor in your dormitory is another source of guidance as you begin your adventure in higher education.

When you graduate the placement service will help you to get a position. The alumni office will serve in many ways to keep your ties with your Alma Mater.

So, what happens to you in college? You study under a distinguished faculty; you live in a dormitory which fosters a congenial, democratic atmosphere; you mature and grow toward your life's vocation and you have a lot of fun along the way.

What will college do for you? In the words of Dr. Harold Taylor, president of Sarah Lawrence College, "I believe that the purpose of education is to expand the limits of personal freedom and to give each person a chance to do whatever he can — to become, as is so often said, what he is capable of becoming."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Keep The Change"

If you've seen "Mac" Johnson this week, chances are he's told you his waitress story. For those who haven't heard:

"Mac" recently stopped at an out-of-town diner. He ordered the chef's special—and his waitress (brand new on the job) made every possible mistake. She confused the order, spilled the soup, dropped the rolls, brought him a wrong dessert.

Despite it all, "Mac" left a substantial tip. But she smiled and handed the money back. "Keep it, Mister—you've sure earned it more than I have," she said.

From where I sit, that girl deserves credit for admitting her shortcomings—something not everyone is big enough to do. For instance, I'm convinced lots of folks know they're wrong when they deny me the right to a glass of beer with my supper . . . just because they happen to prefer some other beverage. They wouldn't like me ordering them to accept my choice.

Brown Family Has Reunion

The annual Brown family reunion was held Sunday, July 1 in the social rooms of the Tecumseh Methodist church. The arrangements were made by Mrs. W. G. Waldron who is a member of the Brown family.

Sixty-five descendants of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, whose home was at Deerfield, attended the morning service at the church and then enjoyed a picnic dinner and social hour. They came from Bay City, Mt. Pleasant, Port Clinton, Ohio, Ann Arbor, Vassar, Hudson, Madison, Ottawa Lake, Detroit, Onsted, Brooklyn, Adrian and Tecumseh.

Mrs. Walter Kirk of Port Clinton was chosen president for the coming year and it was decided to hold future reunions on the third Sunday in June.

A program during the afternoon included an interesting description given by Dr. G. B. Brown of Bay City of a recent trip to Mexico and the southwestern states. Mrs. Lucille Miller of Detroit sang a solo and community singing brought the reunion to a close.

Guests who also attended were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gale of Daleville, Ind. and Mr. and Mrs. John Monsca and two children of Albany, N. Y.

Fifty Attended Waldron Reunion

Fifty descendants of Jonas and Hattie Scofield Waldron held their first annual reunion Sunday, July 1, at the Sand Lake cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Munger. There was a potluck dinner at noon and a social afternoon of swimming, boating and getting acquainted.

Guests came from Dearborn, Ypsilanti, Howell, and Adrian. Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Waldron, whose home farm included what is now the River Acres subdivision were the parents of five children and the grandparents of eleven. There are now 34 great grandchildren and seven great-great grandchildren. Only two of the grandchildren and their families were not present.

Christian Science Services Listed

How spiritual understanding of God as divine Life brings increased strength and usefulness will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptual readings in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" will include the following from Psalms (66:8,9): "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: Which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved."

Among the selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (487:27): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality."

The Golden Text is from John (5:26): "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself."

PIANO RECITAL GIVEN BY RUTH ANN BRYAN

A program of seven piano selections was given as a recital Sunday afternoon by Miss Ruth Ann Bryan at the Baptist Youth House. Ruth Ann, who is 15 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bryan of Britton is a pupil of Fred Wood of Adrian and hopes to make music her career. Fifty-two relatives and friends gathered at 2:30 for the program which was given entirely without notes.

Following the music refreshments were served from a lace covered table whose centerpiece was a beautiful basket of roses brought the young pianist by Mr. and Mrs. Wood. Her sister Sharon was in charge of the coffee urn and Miss Ruth Miller of Blissfield served punch.

Ruth Ann is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan of Tecumseh.

Local Topics

Pfc. Gerald VanValkenburg is spending a month's leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Faye VanValkenburg. He is stationed at Monterey, Calif., where he is attending language school.

Mrs. Robert Kerr of Durand, the former Florence Bryan of Tecumseh, who has been seriously ill at her home is reported to be much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harriman of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. J. H. Elliott of Lexington, Ky., and Don Mead of Royal Oak were all callers in the home of Miss Mary McWilliams, Thursday. Mrs. Harriman will be remembered here as the former Ione Sisson.

Motion Brazee and seconded Purkey to adopt the following resolution

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS the State Highway Commissioner of the State of Michigan has requested approval by the City of Tecumseh of the abandonment by him, of that part of State trunkline highway M-52 (shown on the attached sketch map), bearing State Highway Department approval and dated June 8, 1956, lying wholly within the corporate limits of said City, and more particularly described as follows:

Commencing in the City of Tecumseh on the present route of M-52 at the intersection of Chicago Boulevard and Evans Street; thence North, on the present route of M-52 on Evans Street, to the North City Limits. (Approximately 1.3 miles); and

WHEREAS the State Highway Department will let a contract for the construction of a new bridge over the Raisin River on M-52 in Tecumseh, to be jointly financed by State, County and City; and

WHEREAS the City of Tecumseh has agreed that its just share of the cost of this bridge is $30,000, and will pay said sum to the Michigan State Highway Department when requested.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That the abandonment of the aforesaid section of State trunkline highway M-52 is hereby approved; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the City Council will take over the aforesaid streets as part of the City Street system, when advised by the State Highway Department, in writing that the new section of highway west of Tecumseh from M-50 north to U. S. 112 is completed and open to traffic; and the new bridge over the Raisin River is completed;

PROVIDED, the State Highway Department continues the maintenance of said streets in the interim.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

Dated: 2 July 1956

Attest:
Naomi Sallows
City Clerk

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Powell and seconded Kelso the City Clerk be authorized to sign the "Workmen's Compensation Annual Rate Endorsement" with the Michigan Mutual Liability Company. Motion carried unanimously.

The following ordinance was read for the first reading

ORDINANCE

WHEREAS divers complaints have been received that certain sidewalks within the City are falling into disrepair; and

WHEREAS it is proper Municipal function to see that said sidewalks be properly preserved for the safety of the inhabitants of the City.

NOW THEREFORE THE CITY OF TECUMSEH ORDAINS:

(Effective 1 August 1956.)

Section 4.950. RESOLUTION. The City Manager shall determine the necessity for the construction, reconstruction or repair of any sidewalk in any street or alley in the City and shall declare the intention of the City to make such improvement.

Section 4.951. NOTICE. The City Clerk shall notify the owners of property adjoining the sidewalk which it is proposed to construct, reconstruct or repair of the intention of the City to make such improvement and assess the cost thereof against the abutting property owner. Said notice shall also state that the property owner may cause said work to be done in conformity with the plans and specifications on file in the City Hall at his own expense, provided this work is completed within 60 days after the date of such notice.

Notice shall be given either by personal service of such notice or publishing the same in a newspaper circulating in the City.

Section 4.952. PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS. All sidewalks shall be constructed in conformity with the plans on file in the City Hall and in accordance with the standard specifications of the City. All concrete used in sidewalk construction shall, 28 days after placement, be capable of resisting a pressure of 2,500 pounds per square inch without failure.

Section 4.953. PERMIT. No sidewalk shall hereafter be constructed in the City without a permit being obtained therefor from the City Clerk. The City Clerk shall be authorized to issue such permits upon payment of a fee to the City Treasurer in the amount of 50c for each 100 square feet of sidewalk or fraction thereof with a minimum fee of $1.00. This perunit shall be secured by the owner of the property abutting said sidewalk or his agent and under the terms of this permit the owner shall agree to construct this sidewalk in conformity with the grade established by the City and according to specifications attached to such permit. The owner of the property abutting the sidewalk covered by such permit shall be responsible for the condition of said sidewalk. Any replacement or repairs on this walk shall be at the expense of the property owner or his successor in title.

No such permit shall be required for repair of sidewalk involving less than 50 square feet in area. Such permit shall not be required for sidewalks constructed under contract with the City or by the City forces.

Section 4.954. SIDEWALK BUILDER LICENSED. No sidewalk shall be constructed, built, rebuilt or repaired in the City except by a licensed sidewalk builder except as hereinafter provided. Any person, firm or corporation desiring to engage in the business of building, rebuilding, or repairing sidewalks shall make written application for a license therefor to the Commission, which application shall contain the full name, age, and place of residence of such person, and expressing his willingness to be governed in all respects by all rules, regulations, or specifications which are now or may hereafter be adopted by the City for the building, rebuilding or repair of sidewalks, and shall be signed by two or more reputable citizens vouching for the applicant's qualifications for such license. If such application be approved by the City upon payment of a license fee of five dollars, and filing a bond as hereinafter specified with the City Clerk he shall be entitled to receive a builder's license. No such license shall be granted for more than one year and all such licenses shall expire on the 31st day of December of each year. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to build, rebuild or repair any sidewalk within the City after this Ordinance takes effect without having first secured a permit therefor under the provision hereof.

Section 4.956. BONDS. All sidewalk builders' bonds, as provided for by terms of this ordinance, shall be in the penal sum of one thousand dollars, with a surety company, or a personal bond with two or more sureties residing within the County of Lenawee, to be approved by the City Manager. Said bond shall be conditioned upon the faithful observance of the provisions of all Ordinances in effect at the date thereof concerning the building, rebuilding, or repair of sidewalks, and further conditioned that the principal executing the same shall and will construct all sidewalks of good material and workmanship and in strict accordance with all specifications and regulations prescribed by the City for the construction of sidewalks, and shall and will keep all of such sidewalks so constructed in a good condition of repair and fit for public travel for a period of two years after the date of the completion of construction of the same.

Section 4.957. RECOVERY ON BOND. Such bond may be prosecuted and recovery had thereon by the City or by any person, firm, or corporation who shall have suffered any injury or damage by reason of the inferior quality of materials or improper construction or poor workmanship of any such sidewalk, or for any injury or damage suffered on account of any such sidewalk becoming out of repair within the period covered by such bond. All such suits may be brought in the name of the City by any such persons, firm or corporation, for his, her or their use and benefit, provided, that said City shall not be liable for any costs occasioned by any such suit.

Section 4.958. MATERIAL USED. All sidewalks shall be of cement or artificial stone, prepared and laid in accordance with plans, specifications and regulations therefor prescribed by the City, provided, however, that on land abutting on any paved or unpaved street, where such land shall have been built of marshland, swamps or dumps rendering the stability of cement uncertain, that, upon approval of the City Manager authorizing the same, a first plank sidewalk may be constructed for such reason. Every sidewalk builder shall stamp upon each cement sidewalk built by him, once in every 100 lineal feet thereof, his name and the year in which such sidewalk was built.

Section 4.959. PERMIT TO OWNER TO BUILD. The City Manager is hereby authorized to grant a permit to any property owner to construct a sidewalk in front of or adjacent to any real estate owned by him, conditioned that such owner is skillful and competent to construct the same in the manner provided in Section 4.953 hereof.

Section 4.960. REVOCATION OF PERMIT. The City Manager may revoke any permit issued under the terms of this Ordinance for incompetency or failure to comply with the terms of this Ordinance or the rules, regulations, plans and specifications furnished by the City for the construction, reconstruction or repair of any sidewalks.

Section 4.961. PENALTY. Any person, firm, or corporation who shall fail to comply with any of the provisions hereof shall, upon conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Motion Kelso and seconed Brazee to accept the City Manager's report as read and the same be placed on file in the City Office. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Kelso and seconded Hamilton to adjourn the meeting. Motion carried unanimously.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF LENAWEE—SS.

I, Alice M. Welch, Clerk of Lenawee County and of the Circuit Court thereof, the same being a Court of Record, and having a Seal, do hereby certify that I have compared the attached copy of

with the original and have found it to be a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of said Circuit Court, this 18th day of June, 1956.

Alice M. Welch, Clerk

STATE OF MICHIGAN
CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF LENAWEE
IN CHANCERY

DAISY LINES,
Plaintiff,
vs
NOEH BALDWIN, WILLIAM BALDWIN, MILES E. BALDWIN, DIANA BALDWIN, MILLIE SCHMEIER, ARTHUR BALDWIN, RUTH LANE, CHARLES E. TEFT, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns and any person claiming dower (either vested or inchoate) under any of the foregoing parties,
Defendants.

ORDER FOR APPEARANCE

At a Session of said Court held at the Courthouse in the City of Adrian in said County on the 18th day of June 1956.

Present: Honorable Rex B. Martin, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the bill of complaint in said cause and the affidavit of Daisy Lines attached hereto, from which it satisfactorily appears to the court that the defendants above named, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatee and assigns, are proper and necessary parties defendant in the above entitled cause, and,

It further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry it cannot be ascertained, and it is not known whether or not said defendants are living or dead, or where any of them may reside if living, and if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs living or where they or some of them may reside, and further that the present whereabouts of said defendants are unknown, and that the names of the persons who are included therein without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cannot be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry.

On motion of J. C. Beardsley, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in default thereof that said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants, their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns.

It is further ordered that within forty days plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in The Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said County, such publication to be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession.

(S) Rex B. Martin

Patricia J. Johnston

Henry O. Brown Died Suddenly

Henry Oliver Brown of 738 south Union St., died very suddenly at his home Saturday afternoon of a heart attack.

Mr. Brown, who had lived in Tecumseh for only the past nine months, was employed as a steam fitter by the Seitz Plumbing Co. He was 50 years of age and came to Tecumseh from Monroe where he had been in business for several years.

He was born Nov. 11, 1905, in Barnhart, Mo., and served for two years in World War II as a member of the 7777 Engineering Pipe Line Co. in the South Pacific. He was a member of the Underwood-Orr Post of the American Legion and of the Monroe Posts of the V.F.W. and the D.A.V. He was also a member of the Eagles Lodge of Monroe.

Besides his wife, Suesan, he is survived by six children, Donald, Dale, Nancy and Sandra at home, Robert of Dexter and Fenton of Ann Arbor; one brother, William Brown of St. Louis, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. Sadora Gilmore of Anna, Ill., and Gertrude Manna of Cape Gerardeu, Mo., and six grandchildren.

The Rosary was recited Saturday evening at the Collins Funeral Home and funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins at St. Elizabeth Catholic church at 10 a.m. Tuesday morning. Burial was in Roselawn Cemetery in Monroe with the Underwood-Orr Post of the American Legion in charge of the graveside services.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Young Farmers Run Huge Program on Small Budget

Thirteen young Michigan farmers, including one from Britton, are tackling a budget problem that would baffle a business expert — how to run an 11,000-member organization with units in 234 Michigan high schools on an operating budget of $7,500 in dues.

The 13 officers of the Michigan Association of Future Farmers of America must do a myriad of things with that $7,500 budget, including:

Provide travel expenses for five official trips to Lansing during the next year; pay expenses of scores of visits to local chapters by individual officers; send delegates to the national convention and judging teams to national contests; stage a state convention for 2,000 persons, and pay for 11,000 subscriptions to the National FFA magazine.

"In order to help them solve the budget problem and others they face during their year in office, the Agricultural Education Office of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and the Railroad Community Committee of Greater Detroit recently gave the officers a two-day leadership training course in Detroit," Harry E. Nesman, of Lansing, adult adviser for the FFA, said.

The young farmers—their average age is just under 18—must start their college careers or help run their family farms while handling the man-sized job of running the state association, Nesman said. The training course sponsored by the railroads and the Agricultural Education Office gave them an advance look at their problems and some suggestions for solving them, he explained.

"FFA activities they will direct include three big regional fat stock shows, and numerous other contests and awards designed to help high school vocational agriculture students learn how to become better farmers and better citizens," he added.

"In addition to their operating budget, they also direct the expenditure of an awards fund."

State officers are:

Norman Brown, Temperance, president; Ervin J. West, Williamston, secretary; Donald Hewitt, Swartz Creek, treasurer; Kenneth Bortel, Britton, reporter; Darold Simpson, Saranac, sentinel; and the following regional vice presidents: James Helmer, Colon, region one; Jack Hill, Adrian, region two; Ronald Milz, Elkton, region three; William Kissane, Saint Johns, region four; Ronald Pierson, Ionia, region five; William Anderson, Scottville, region six; Gerald Simpson, Bay City, region seven, and Erik Ball, Sault Ste. Marie, region eight.

Rogers–Doty Reunion Held

The annual reunion of the Rogers-Doty families was held July 4 at the Doty homestead, Holloway. Sixty members of the family were present and enjoyed a bountiful co-operative dinner served in the spacious home. Members were present from Kalamazoo, Detroit, Adrian, Palmyra, Tecumseh and Cleveland.

Alvan Doty settled his family on this farm in 1835, and it is still in the family, the present owners being his grandson, Stanley E. Doty and Stanley's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter German, who live there with their two sons.

The Rogers homestead, three-fourths of a mile west of the Doty homestead, was taken up in 1831 by Obadiah Rogers, who that year partly built his log cabin upon it, and moved his family there from Mass. in 1832. These two families have held their reunions together on the Fourth of July for nearly 80 years. Both farms have centennial plaques marking them.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Carrie Whitmarsh, 94 years old, who was born on this farm and now lives in Adrian. The next oldest was Mrs. Ida Rogers, 93 years old, who many years lived on the Rogers homestead now owned by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Fairbanks, but now lives in the village of Holloway.

Mrs. Gertie Whitmarsh, 87 years old, who lives on the Colvin homestead in Palmyra, was also present. The Colvin homestead has also been in the family for over 100 years. It was settled by George Colvin and his wife Mary Ann Rogers, daughter of Obadiah Rogers in 1835 or 1836. The farms have been owned and occupied by these families continuously.

Polio Vaccine Seen Reducing Crippling Cases

Polio should cause less crippling in Michigan this year. More than 2,000,000 doses of polio vaccine have been given to the most susceptible groups, and health officials hope for a marked reduction in paralysis caused by the disease.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, state health department director of disease control, said that this year's record shows that on June 29, Michigan had some 48 new cases of polio reported, against 82 in the same period last year and 113 new cases in 1954.

He sail it is too early to tell if the vaccine is going to bring expected reductions in paralytic polio, "but there is every reason to think that it will."

The health department, he said, is continuing to urge parents to have children immunized against the disease. The group eligible for vaccine remains children one through fourteen and pregnant women.

Dr. Leeder said most persons in the priority group have had two doses of vaccine, and third doses are now released for those who have had their third dose six months or more after the second brings the most effective boost in immunity.

Besides stressing immunization for everyone in the vaccine priority group, Dr. Leeder said the same precautions issued in previous years should be observed.

If polio is reported in your neighborhood, he said, it is wise to: (1) keep children within their usual circle of relatives and playmates since new contacts mean new chances to get polio germs; (2) see that children do not get chilled by staying in swimming too long; (3) see that they do not become over-tired; and (4) be sure they wash their hands before eating and after going to the toilet.

Accidents Cost Money and Time

The average farm accident in Lenawee county last year cost $60 for medical treatment and three weeks of work, reports County Agricultural Agent Louis G. Hall.

He points out that fact in calling attention to Farm Safety Week, July 22-28.

"We need only to look around the county to recognize the seriousness of accidents and fires on the farm," declares Hall. "It's fitting that the theme of Farm Safety Week is 'Safety Pays All Ways.'"

Richard Pfister, extension farm safety specialist at Michigan State University, points out that farm accidents cost the nation's farmers one and a half billion dollars per year. "And this does not include the value of priceless hands, arms, feet, eyes — and lives," he adds.

Every farm family in Lenawee county, Agent Hall urges, should have a good discussion of hazards and how to avoid them. A good place for this, he suggests, is meal time, and it might be one of the most important discussions in which the family ever will participate.

General Phone Names Hilgeman Division Manager

T. A. Saunders, president of General Telephone Company of Michigan, announced today the appointment of Mr. Fred F. Hilgeman as western division manager of the utility.

Formerly general commercial manager of Union Telephone Company whose headquarters is Owosso, Mr. Hingeman has 19 years of telephone experience behind him, 11 of which were with Union Telephone.

Mr. Hilgeman's telephone career was interrupted during the war years while he served in the Pacific with the Marine Corp. Mrs. Beatrice Hilgeman and seven-year-old Sandra soon will move to Muskegon to join Mr. Hilgeman.

Gas Tax Is Highest One Paid

Commenting on the cent-a-gallon increase in the federal tax, from two to three cents a gallon, on gasoline that motorists now pay to finance the government's new highway construction program, F. J. Swindell, Standard Oil Company manager at Detroit, said today:

"We certainly agree that good highways are highly desirable. But we do feel that motorists should realize that the new tax rate on gasoline is the highest in the nation on any essential commodity.

"The total gasoline tax paid by motorists has now risen to about 40 per cent of the retail price of gasoline. The combined Michigan state and the federal taxes have now climbed to 9.8 cents on every gallon of gasoline. This amounts to about 40 per cent of the retail price.

"For instance, when motorists buy a 15-gallon tankful of gasoline, we hope they realize that about $1.47 of what they pay is for taxes for highways, not for the supplier's products.

"A motorist can look on these taxes as an investment in building better highways for his own use. The average Michigan motorist, who uses about 750 gallons of gasoline a year, pays about $73.50 a year in state and federal taxes on it.

"Standard's prices on its gasoline to dealers in the Detroit area, excluding taxes, will remain unchanged."

Mr. Swindell also said that Standard Oil has made available to farmers half a million copies of a reprint of a government pamphlet telling them how they can get back the money they have paid in federal taxes on gasoline used for agricultural purposes since January 1, 1956. These pamphlets are now being distributed to farmers by Standard Oil agents.

is in addition to the $580,525 already apportioned for the 1956-57 fiscal year, giving the state a total of about $714,000 in federal funds for wildlife restoration projects.

Michigan, however, must match the P-R funds with at least $1 for every $5 of federal money.

In both the original allotment and the supplemental distribution, Michigan qualified for the maximum any state could get, on the basis of area and licenses sold.

The U. S. Forest Service has announced that Michigan's upper peninsula will become "a center for research activities," following a July 1 expansion of the Lakes States forest experiment station.

Headquarters for the research center will be in the Marquette post office building.

The forest service said the extension of activities in the upper peninsula "is in recognition of the widespread interest in forestry which has been evidenced in the U.P. in recent years. It is especially important because of recent industrial developments which will make greater use of timber in upper Michigan."

Early season counts indicate the state's pheasant brood population is up from last spring, but a late spring this year may reduce the total production of young birds.

Department "crowing counts" show the highest number of cock pheasants surveyed during the seven years the counts have been made. Counts are made on 780 miles of highway routes in 30 southern lower peninsula councounties.

Field workers travel 20-mile-long road strips on still, early mornings during mating season, counting the number of pheasant calls audible at mile intervals.

Each male bird "crows" an average of once every two minutes, providing basis for the study.

No attempt is made to count total birds; the survey merely provides an index for comparison with past years.

The survey showed an average of 13.28 birds per survey route stop this year. Last year, the average was 12.49 and the previous six-year record high was 12.7, counted in 1952.

Other pheasant counts, by rural mail carriers and conservation officers, indicate the hen population also is increased this year.

"But wet spring weather pushed the nesting season back several weeks this year," says Ralph I. Blouch, department game bird specialist, "and there's a strong possibility that total production will be somewhat below last year."

"In any case," he added, "we've certainly recovered from the so-called pheasant depression of the early 1940's and I'll eat my hat if Michigan hunters don't bag in excess of a million pheasants this fall."

Blouch isn't taking too many chances. Michigan hunters have packed home more than a million birds each year for the last three years and besides, he never wears a hat.

Music Club Has Picnic

Twelve members of the Tecumseh Music Club met at the Sand Lake cottage of Mrs. W. G. Waldron last Saturday for the annual club picnic. A potluck luncheon was held at 1 p.m. and plans for the next year's programs occupied most of the afternoon. It was decided not to follow any special theme for the year unless the State Federation of Music Clubs has a specific recommendation. The balance of the afternoon was spent socially.

Flies are Large Producers

Swat flies, but don't expect to cut down their population just by slapping those which buzz around the house. A single female housefly, according to the Michigan Department of Health, lays from 500 to 2,000 eggs in her prolific lifetime.

Said the health department: "Fly paper, fly bombs and screening may help rid your household of flies, but the best way to eliminate them is to remove their breeding places by keeping your premises clean and free from garbage. Communities still using the old fashioned open garbage dumps can remove this fly breeding center by providing the sanitary landfill which gets refuse buried promptly."

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

CITY EMPLOYEES ON the Mill St. pre-paving job have a novel past time during their breaks. They lay pennies on the track and pick up the souvenirs after the train passes over them. And why not? You can't get much else for a penny these days; so you might as well have some fun with them.

A LINE IN THE "Early Files" column for 1906 this week tells "The Ginnivan Dramatic Co. will be here all next week."

This reminded us of the time this colorful troupe played in Hillsdale during the 30's. To the bug-eyed kids they were wonderful productions.

And on Tuesday night the whole family went when admission price was only "one thin dime," "the tenth part of a dollar," as the ballyhoo went. Kids even saved the bargain dime by working their way in by putting up the flat bleachers.

For 10 cents more (to paying customers, that is) you could sit in "reserved seats" that had backs to them. And for another thin dime you could buy a box of chewy kisses that had a "prize in every box." The cry of these hucksters saying "who will be next" and "last time around" still rings clearly over 20 years.

And who would ever forget the funny song and dance man Skippy Lamore. He was as fine a comedian as we have ever seen and Skippy, with his blacked out front tooth and little silly hat, plaid baggy suits with the pants about two feet too short put on a show that was "just what the doctor ordered "for the Hillsdale folks back in the dark days of the depression. Skip would make most so-called tv comedians today look as if they were reading obituary notices.

His wife always played the leading lady, even after she became middle aged and more plump and gray than leading ladies are supposed to be. But folks never minded this miscasting.

And on Saturday night when all the big tent was down and the troupe almost packed up to go on to the next town after their week's stay, a special show of comedy and song would be put on for another two bits per head. This show with Skip as the star would last until about 1 a.m.

It is sort of ironical that tv probably contributed to the passing from the scene of the Ginnivan tent show and all of its colorful and interesting troupe of actors and actresses.

Kid tv addicts today just don't know what they missed by not seeing these exciting dramatic masterpieces (well, at least they were as seen through a kid's eyes.)

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: Men who hang around waiting for something to turn up, should begin with their own sleeves.

MRS. NYRA PARRETT (Parrett Nursing Home) has three Easter lilies that are blooming for the second time this year. Each has two or three full-sized blooms. They were set out of doors this spring after their Easter blooming.

And Mrs. Neil Pearson has in her garden a white hybrid lily with a stem six feet tall and 12 blooms each seven inches long.

COACH BOB BRENIFF reports that playground activities have averaged more than 1000 kids for each week this summer. He said 5336 kids have taken part during the first five weeks.

THIS IS WISDOM from the mouths of the young. A Tecumseh lass says a baby tornado is one that has not grown up yet.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL project goes into the record book for the Tecumseh Jaycees. Of all the aspects of the homecoming I liked best the way Jaycees cleaned up the lot loaned to them for the shindig. Sunday afternoon, like a bunch of ants, they swarmed over the place, leveling, picking up and cleaning. A ray of silver to each member.

JOE, THE LINOTYPE operator has tinkled the keys for the last "30" (in newspaper lingo "30" means end of the story.) In fact, "30" has been written for Joe. He died of a heart attack, possibly brought on by over drinking. He was the first honest-to-goodness linotype man I knew. Fresh out of a journalism classroom, I was set right many times by Joe's knowledge of grammar and spelling. He could and did make the novice reporter look good by his careful scutiny of copy.

His wit probably was only surpassed by his ability to hold his liquor. Joe was a confirmed alcoholic. But he was a gentleman and a scholar.

He kept up a running account of the staff's doings in his shop newspaper appropriately called "The Little Brown Jug."

In his bright columns, written during a lull in work, he wrote about the editor being fleeced by a large hotel in

The picture at the right shows Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marsh accepting the keys to the car they won at the homecoming from the hand of Proctor Pace. (Photos by Del King.)

Jaycees Net $900 from Homecoming

About $900 was realized by the Tecumsen Junior Chamber of Commerce on its homecoming held here last week. Depending on some charges that are not in yet, the profit may reach $1000.

Jaycees will give another $500 of the profit to the recreation field bleacher fund. The club has given one $500 check and this second check will complete its pledge of $1000 for the bleachers.

The balance of the money raised from the homecoming will go for the club's youth activities.

Club officers and members of the board of directors thanked publicly all persons and business places who aided in making the homecoming successful.

Prizes of radios were given to the following persons: Jenny Murphy, Mrs. Hazel Murphy, Mrs. Thomas King and John Elliott.

The car was won by Earl Marsh.

And the Kiddie Corvette was won by Judy Snook.

The car was donated by Butler Motor Sales and the Kiddie Corvette was donated by Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc.

Dutch Elm

A state survey shows that the city has four trees that have Dutch elm disease.

Reporting the case to councilmen Monday night, Ed Nelson, city manager, asked to have all city-owned elms sprayed.

Councilmen approved his suggestion.

He also said 12 other trees that have been infected with a killing worm will be sprayed.

Dr. G. Burkhard Takes Practice of Dr. R. C. Limes

Dr. George Burkhard has taken over the practice of the late Dr. Richard C. Limes at 108 east Chicago Blvd.

Born in River Rouge, Mich., Dr. Burkhard received his elementary training in River Rouge and he graduated from Milan high school.

He attended the University of Michigan and he graduated from the Chicago College of Optometry in 1955.

Dr. Burkhard is married and he and Mrs. Burkhard have three children, a boy three, a boy two and a girl four months.

As soon as adequate housing is available, the Burkhard family will move to Tecumseh.

CITY TAXES ARE DUE

If you have not noticed already, city taxes are due and payable at the city treasurer's office.

According to Mrs. Naomi Sallows, treasurer, the taxes may be paid any time before Sept. 1 without penalty.

The tax millage rate for city purposes is 10 mills.

PAYS FOR BINGE

Richard Haas, 26, of Tecumseh, was arrested by Tecumseh police Friday night on a drunkenness charge.

He was arraigned before Justice Robert French Saturday and paid a $15 fine and $8.60 costs.

Area Girls Place in 4-H Contest

A successful training school and judging contest was held recently in the "Big 4" in 4-H home economics projects — clothing, food preparation, food preservation and home improvement.

Seventy-two girls participated in the event. About half of these were junior girls (those under 14) who gained much experience in judging. The top five in each project group are slated to go on to district judging eliminations Aug. 2 and 3 at Michigan State University.

The girls in clothing projects judged a class of cotton dresses; one of cotton shirts and another of commercially-made school blouses. Suzanne Bierman, Riga; Jill Bennington, Holloway; Marie McLouch, Jasper; Joan Lipp, Riga; and Linda Goetz of Blissfield are representing this county in this project group.

Girls in food preservation judged classes of canned tomatoes, containers suitable for freezing fruits in syrup, and raw green beans — suitability of each specimen for freezing. Judy Fairbanks, Route 3, Adrian; Marjorie Mitchell, Holloway; Ann Wellnitz, Holloway; Sharon Roesch, Route 2, Adrian; and Patricia Fatchett, Blissfield, will judge these classes in Aug.

The food preparation classes judged were cooked green beans, muffins, and adequate breakfasts. Sharon Ries, Ridgeway; Joyce Hyatt, Manitou Beach; Ruth Ann Poling, Sand Creek; Marlene DeLislé, Tecumseh; and Ann Carr of Cement City were the top girls in these classes.

Those placing in the top group at district eliminations will go on to state show Aug. 28-31, for competition with representatives from the other three districts.

Sharon Ries and Joyce Hyatt were first and second in the home improvement contest but chose to represent the county in the food preparation classes in which they also placed very well.

Palman Store Will Re-Open

The Palman store on the main four corners will open some time next month as a furniture store.

Closed since Jan. 1, 1955, the store will re-open as soon as remodeling now in progress is completed.

The Palmans have two other stores, one in Adrian and one in Toledo, Ohio.

Reject 3 $900 Bids on Police Car

Bids submitted by three car dealers on a new city police car were rejected by the council Monday night.

All three bids from Butler Motor Sales (Ford), Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc. (Chevrolet) and Wilson Motor Sales, Inc. (Plymouth) were for $900 with trade.

Since councilmen felt that the dealers wanted to rotate the police car it was suggested that they had "gotten together" on the bidding.

A proposal to draw the winner out of a hat was rejected by city attorney J. C. Beardsley. He said this would be against competitive bidding which is provided for in the city charter.

And the proposal to have the chief of police select the winning bid on the basis of what he thought about the merits of the three cars for police work also was rejected. Councilmen, the attorney said, had to choose.

But they thought if the dealers wanted to rotate the car, they could get together again and have the dealer they wanted submit the lowest bid.

So the bids were rejected.

Alert

Friday, July 20, at 3:10 p.m. all radio and television stations will go off the air, for 15 minutes.

It's part of a nation-wide civil defense drill. Some stations will switch to special wave lengths, 640 and 1240 on your dial, but unless you're 10 to 15 miles from a radio station you won't be able to receive.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore, county civil defense director explains that during the nationwide alert, stations go off the air so they can't be used as homing beacons by enemy bombers.

The special wave lengths of 640 and 1240 to be used at this time can be received by civil defense committees in the big cities for transmission of emergency information. You can get them on your radio if you're close enough but reception won't be good.

The Rev. Bashore asks everyone who might be using their radio or TV Friday afternoon to make a note of the time — 3:10 to 3:25 — and stand by and don't be alarmed. It's just a drill.

GRANT CIRCUS PERMIT

Bill Davenport appeared before the council Monday night on behalf of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He asked for and was granted permission for the club to bring a circus to town Monday, Aug. 27.

PAVING PROJECT — Don Dunlap with the shovel and Aubrey Farmer with the jack hammer that shakes the pudding out of a man are part of a city crew that is readying M-52 in town from the boulevard to Bidwell St. for paving. The Ayling Construction Co. has the contract for the bituminous concrete. The job will be completed some time next month.

Dump Stench Brings Complaints from Residents

A committee of residents from south Division street appeared before the council Monday night to complain of the horrible stench coming from the city dump.

Gale Hooton and Jesse Nichols told councilmen "it is so horrible it takes your breath away".

Councilmen agreed that they had something to complain about and that steps would be underway to remedy the condition.

Mr. Hooten said he had pointed out the horrible condition to the city manager two years ago and "nothing has been done about it yet."

He added that he hopes he won't have to put up with two more years of dump stench.

Storm Mauls Tipton Area

The Tipton area was mauled by the wind storm that struck the county Monday night during the dinner hour.

Several barns and outbuildings were damaged by the winds that reached 65 miles an hour.

And a 60 x 90 barn on the Lewis D. Hall farm on Ryan highway southwest of the village collapsed, killing a number of sheep inside.

Mr. Hall's father and son were saved from injury when they ducked under a combine in the barn.

The storm belted trees in Tipton, knocking off several large limbs.

High winds also knocked down phone lines that connect Adrian to Tecumseh, Clinton and Holloway. Part of these circuits were out several hours.

Qualifies in Amateur Meet

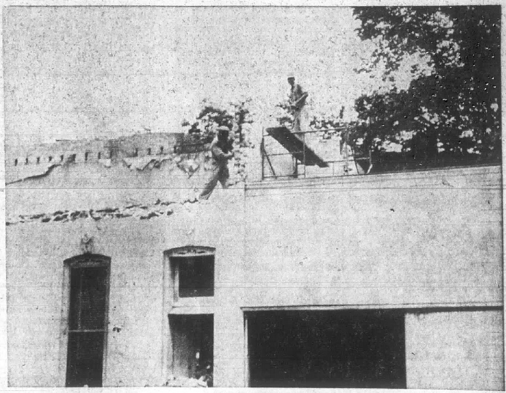
Val Spangler, Tecumseh's young ace golfer, qualified in the Michigan amateur golf tournament by shooting 153 over two courses at Jackson.

He fired scores of 79 and 74 last Wednesday and Thursday to qualify in a field of 64.

In the opening round of match play Val played Val Bleech of Flint Friday who had a qualifying score of 151. Bleech won three to one, eliminating Spangler.



MORE IMPROVEMENTS — Workmen for the Hungerford Construction Co. now have the top story off the Consumers Power Co. office which will undergo radical remodeling. Meanwhile, Consumers has its office in the Elmer W. Eberhardt Insurance agency with the agency moving to the rear of the building.

The remodeling program is expected to take about three more months. And when it is completed Consumers will have one of the most modern buildings in town.

Bids Awarded for Water Dept. Project

Six contracts for part of a $220,000 city water improvement program were tentatively awarded to low bidders by action of the council Monday night.

They were tentatively awarded, depending on the city's ability to sell its bonds.

The bonds are expected to be sold early next month and when they are sold work on the water department improvement will begin.

The low bidders were Hammond Iron Works of Reading Pa.; Jechura Brothers of Toledo, Ohio; and Dunbar Drilling and Supply Co. of Delta, Ohio.

Six separate contracts were let. Hammond Iron Works will furnish a 300,000 gallon elevated steel tank. This contract is for $56,775.

Jechura Brothers will furnish the water mains and the foundation for the tank. These contracts are for $113,164 and $5,300.

Dunbar Drilling will furnish a test well, well house and piping and a turbine pump. These contracts total $12,571.

The six contracts total $187,810.

The water department improvement program was begun at the "suggestion" of the Michigan Department of Health which ruled that Tecumseh could not extend any more water lines for city expansion until more water mains and a bigger water supply standby were constructed.

Survey

The post card survey of the Tecumseh Area Study Committee will begin next week.

Members of the committee will ask residents what is needed most to make Tecumseh a better city in which to live and to work.

The opinions which will be returned to the committee for future planning need not be signed by residents.

Anything of a constructive nature is welcomed by members of the committee whose only interest in the survey is to see what thinking folks want done to initiate action that will make Tecumseh a better and more progressive community.

Overlooks Three Traffic Tickets

Kaywood Woodcox, 17, of Route 1 Tipton, was arrested early Wednesday morning by Tecumseh police for failing to pay for three traffic violations.

Patrolmen stopped to investigate the three occupants of a car on Occidental road at 1:45 a.m. They discovered that Woodcox, the driver, had not paid for the violations.

June 17 he received two tickets. One was for speeding and one was for not having his address changed on his driver's license. July 9 he again was picked up for having defective brakes.

Traffic violations should be paid within a week after they are issued.

Justice Robert French said he had given the youth more time to pay, but not as much time as he took.

The tickets would have cost him from $2 to $5 each, plus about $3.10 costs on each.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON SAFETY

Trooper Hal Morrison of the Michigan State Police spoke to Rotarians Tuesday night on highway safety. He also showed a film dealing with the several national aspects of highway safety.

The trooper stressed that the new speed laws of the state have not done what was hoped: that too many drivers are still being killed.

He said the speed laws do not mean that a certain speed should be maintained because of posted signs. Depending on road conditions, he said drivers should make allowances for fog, rain and terrain.

The trooper also said that slow drivers on major highways should be ticketed under certain conditions.

Rotary Pledges $1000 for Bleacher Fund

Members of the Tecumseh Rotary Club Tuesday night voted to pledge $1000 toward recreation field bleachers.

At the next meeting of the club various projects through which the pledge may be raised will be discussed.

VIOLATES PAROLE

John Ross, 44, of Tecumseh is back in jail.

Arrested by Tecumseh police Sunday on a drunkenness charge, he is held in the county jail for parole violation.

Goes to Alma

Miss Ruth Anna Harding, who until her retirement July 1 had been librarian at the Tecumseh Public Library for the past 12 years, left today (Thursday) for the Masonic Home in Alma where she will make her home.

Miss Harding's father was a native of Tecumseh and she has spent much of her life here. Previous to becoming librarian she taught home economics in several parts of the United States and in Puerto Rico.

She succeeded Miss Edith Ingersoll as head librarian in 1944 and after the reorganization of the system two years ago she became assistant. Her retirement is due to poor health.

She was accompanied to Alma by Mrs. Norris Morehouse, Mrs. Lynn Harris, Mrs. George McCombs and Mrs. Kenton Hunt, all officers of the Tecumseh chapter, O.E.S.

Irene M. Murphy Is Bride of Joseph Carl Gruber

In an impressive morning ceremony at St. Elizabeth Catholic church, Irene Marie Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Murphy of Macon road and Joseph Carl Gruber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gruber of Occidental Hwy. were united in marriage, July 14.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins at 10 a.m. before an altar where arrangements of white gladioli and bebe pompoms were combined with palms. White satin bows marked the pews.

MRS. JOSEPH GRUBER

The solemnity of the occasion was enhanced by organ music played by Mrs. Ben Hammack, who also accompanied Wallace Whiting as he sang "Ave Maria" and Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams singing "Mother at Thy Feet is Kneeling" as the bride laid her bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin. The Nuptial High Mass was sung by Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Hammack, Mr. Whiting and Kenneth McEnroe.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was very lovely in a gown of white marquisette and lace made over taffeta. The floor length skirt swept into a train and the bodice, made with a deep yoke effect had long sleeves. Her veil was held by a crown trimmed with pearls and lilies of the valley. She carried a white missal which had been given to her by Fr. Collins and a cascade bouquet of Frenched carnations and gypsophilia clustered about a white orchid. Her pearl earrings and necklace were a gift of the bridegroom.

The matron of honor, Mrs. James J. Gruber of Tecumseh, wore a ballerina length dress of yellow and white net and lace over taffeta with matching hat and shoes and carried a nosegay bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and lavender statice in a setting of lavender maline.

The Misses Mary Barrett and Bernadine Frolich of Adrian were bridesmaids, Miss Barrett wearing blue nylon tulle over net made in ballerina length with blue hat and shoes and Miss Frolich a similar dress in pink with pink accessories. Miss Barrett's nosegay was of blue carnations and gypsophilia with a center of pink rosebuds and that of Miss Frolich pink carnations combined with blue Frenched carnations and pink maline.

Also preceding the bride down the aisle was Beth Hammack, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hammack, as flower [illegible] floor length dress of embroidered nylon with a mint green sash. Her hat and shoes were in matching color and she carried a tiny nosegay of pink sweetheart roses with white baby breath and pink maline. Gary Lee Baker, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a heart shaped pillow of white satin and lace with a cluster of pink rosebuds.

James J. Gruber assisted his brother as best man and the ushers were his cousin Frank Gruber and Fred Frolich of Adrian.

Mrs. Murphy's dress for her daughter's wedding was of pale blue lace and she wore a white hat, gloves and shoes and a lavender orchid as a corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of dusty pink lace and her accessories were turquoise. Her corsake also was a lavender orchid. The two grandmothers attending, Mrs. John G. Murphy and Mrs. Martha Bruno both had corsages of pink carnations.

A wedding breakfast for 30 followed the ceremony at St. Elizabeth school with Mrs. Leo Bishop, Mrs. Joe Dziachan, Mrs. Harry Weakly, Mrs. T. J. Wagner and Mrs. Harry Hoffman serving. That evening at 7:30, 200 guests were entertained at a reception at the Eagles Club in Adrian where those assisting were Mrs. Donald Baker and Mrs. Melvin Bringman, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. James Tressler of Tecumseh.

After a wedding trip of a few days to northern Michigan, the bridal pair will return to a home on the Tecumseh-Clinton road. The groom, who is a graduate of Catholic Central high school in Adrian is now employed at the Tecumseh Products.

Friday evening Mrs. Donald Baker gave a rehearsal party for her sister's wedding, serving ice cream, cake and punch. At that time the bride presented her attendants with gifts of earrings which matched the gowns they wore in the bridal procession.

Guinea Gold Vs. Chief Lenawee in Pacing Derby

The race Michigan harness fans have been awaiting — the first clash between Guinea Gold and Chief Lenawee — will be held Wednesday night, July 26, at Northville Downs.

It will be the $10,000 Michigan Pacing Derby featuring the Nation's top racers and drivers.

Owner Paul Hungerford retired Guinea Gold to stud two years ago but decided to give the Hoosier hotshot another crack at competition in some of the better stakes. The speedy veteran made his first start at Wolverine where he holds the track record.

At Northville this season Guinea Gold came within 2/5 of a second of Red Sails' Northville record of 2:01 2/5.

Meantime, Tommy Winn drove Chief Lenawee to win the $6,000 Northville Pace on July 4 in 2:02 3/5 but the pacer was not extended.

So fans are eagerly looking forward to the first season's meeting between these outstanding pacers.

But others on the list of 23 nominations may surprise both Guinea Gold and Chief Lenawee. These include Bert Brennan's Mighty Brewer; Howard McAra's Russet Hal; Jim Merriman's Chuck Dillard; Charles Henry's Black Andy; C. P. Chamberlin's Fenella Hal and the 1955 Ohio aged champion Times Square which has paced in 1:57 2/5.

Warpath, winner of the Michigan Pacing Derby for the past two years, wasn't staked this year. But the job of keeping the title in the hands of Saunders Mills of Toledo has been turned over to Sea Eagle.

State Cited for Traffic Planning

A certificate of achievement for police traffic supervision in 1955 has been awarded to the state of Michigan by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, according to word received by State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

In recognition, a plaque will be presented to the state at a ceremony in the near future.

In all, four states and 39 cities are receiving outstanding achievement awards and four states and 40 cities will get certificates of achievement.

Outstanding achievement awards are based on performance evaluations of 90 per cent or higher for states and 85 per cent or higher for cities, as rated in the police traffic supervision section of the annual inventory of traffic safety activities.

Certificates of achievement are given on the basis of 85 to 90 per cent performance evaluations for states and 80 to 85 per cent for cities.

The annual inventory of traffic safety activities is administered by the National Safety Council. The police traffic section of the inventory is under the supervision of the international association of chiefs.

"We are highly pleased to receive this award," Childs said, "and it will help to spur us on to even greater accomplishments in traffic safety."

The other three states receiving the same honor as Michigan are North Carolina, Virginia and Indiana. Of this group, only Michigan and Indiana are included in the classification group of the eight big states.

The beginner's tendency in cooking chicken outdoors is to try to cook it too quickly and with a fire much too hot. This results in the skin becoming blistered, hard and leathery, while the meat next to the bone is often undercooked. M.S.U. poultry specialists remind that chicken must be cooked slowly and thoroughly.

Marketing Agent Speaks to Grange

During the business meeting of the Tecumseh Grange last Thursday evening it was decided to observe Sunday, Aug. 5 as Grange Sunday. It was announced that the program for the Aug. 23 meeting will be in charge of the home economics committee and their contest eliminations will be held then in preparation for county eliminations at Rome Grange, Sept. 5. Those for the district will follow, Sept. 12, and will be held at the Tecumseh Grange.

Announcement was also made of the "mystery ride" the evening of July 24 when the Cinderella and Prince will be selected to represent Lenawee County at State Grange at Petoskey in Oct. Any subordinate member from 14 to 30 years of age and unmarried is eligible to participate in the drawing but they must be able to attend the entire session of the grange convention. Grange members and friends are to meet at the Tecumseh hall from where they will start for the "place of mystery." There they will be met by groups from other granges in the county. Cookies are to be brought as refreshments.

Guest speaker for the Thursday evening meeting was George K. Dike, marketing agent of Lenawee and Hillsdale counties. He spoke on, "Marketing Michigan Products" and those present took a keen interest in his informative and interesting talk. They availed themselves of the opportunity of asking many questions about the various farm problems he presented and he extended an invitation to all those present to visit his office at any time for consultation or information.

Mrs. Earl Haughn Died Monday

Nina I. Lowry Haughn, wife of Earl Haughn and a former resident of Tecumseh, died Monday after a brief illness at her home in Union Lake, Mich. She had been in gradually failing health for about a year.

Mrs. Haughn was 59 years of age, having been born in Tecumseh, Nov. 29, 1897, the daughter of John and Mary Boyd Lowry. She graduated from Tecumseh high school and Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti and attended Wayne University. She was a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church and the Tecumseh chapter O.E.S.

She was a teacher in the schools of Commerce, Mich., and her fellow teachers pay her this tribute: "Mrs. Haughn taught in the public schools of Michigan for 37 years, starting her career in Colon, Mich., in 1919. She also taught in Hillsdale and Tecumseh. For the past 22 years she taught in Commerce, starting in a small two room school and finishing the past year in the modern brick building which is part of the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools. The finest of teachers, she gave her pupils all the warmth and affection of a generous nature, so that her school room became a second home."

Mrs. Haughn is survived by her husband, Earl; two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Jones of Hendersonville, N.C., and Miss Margaret Lowry of Tecumseh; one brother, Harold J. Lowry of Birmingham; two nieces and two nephews. Her parents preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held at the Green Funeral Home Thursday at 3:30 p.m. with the Rev. Alvin Brazee in charge. Burial will be in Brookside.

The Silver Lining

Chicago, about the gum-chewing ad man who blew his gum on the birthday cake when he blew out candles at his staff party; of how the bookkeeper was leaving to become a mother; of the publisher marrying; of how the mails were being slowed by what the editor termed "the d . . . Democrats."

All were written in a breezy, colorful style that were priceless to those who were the subjects.

A former operator on every one of the large Detroit dailies, Joe always drank his lunch and of course his breakfast and dinner. He would have a couple of whisky shots for lunch and for dessert a couple of beers.

He always walked around in winter (incidentally, on his heels with a slight backward tipping) with just a suit coat on. And when his would be protectors told him he would catch pneumonia he would laugh and say: "What? With all my anti-freeze."

The only time he ever ate square meals resulted from a Christmas present the publisher once gave him. It was a meal ticket (non-transferable for drink).

But solid food didn't appeal too much to him. He drank too much. He knew it. Everybody knew it. Yet, some times well-meaning associates tried to help him. One time his wife was brought out from the city to help straighten him out. She straightened herself out. She drank more than Joe.

And the wonderful Alcoholics Anonymous tried to help. But they never changed Joe. He would listen to their messages and he always appreciated their aid; but he kept right on nipping, even when they were talking to him.

Joe borrowed on his wages to drink. He borrowed from his friends to drink. He charged drinks at the best bars in town. Yet he always paid for his liquor.

He never solicited pity; in fact, he could never see anything about himself that needed pity.

His friends in the newspaper game and in the town in which he worked were legion.

Joe would have been pleased over his obituary in his paper. It was one of the finest features I have ever seen.

The editor wrote: "Joe asked nothing of life so he probably expects nothing of death. Wherever he is, he's not disappointed."

Joe, the linotype operator, also would have liked the three by four ad the fellows in the composing room made for last week's issue.

The ad read:

"30"

SOME OF THE fellows here think I should get a prize for telling the biggest fish story. They think my conception of a nine-inch bluegill is two four and one-half inch ones glued together. Looks like I'll have to show them.

ALL ABOUT PHONES: Bill Beagle, phone manager here, admits that service so far has not improved since new switchboards were put in. But he asks the public to bear with the operators until they learn the new boards . . . A very gracious local lady called her son in Detroit and was "darlinging" and "honeying" him all over the place. Then she discovered that she was not talking to her son at all but to a strange man. And the man told her that he wished he was her son. She was so embarrassed that she declined to place the call again . . . And some local folks get calls that are placed to Tecumseh, Ontario.

THE BIG TOP has closed. Simply put, it can never be replaced by any amount of Super Circuses. There probably never again will be an Emmett Kelley.

DID YOU NOTICE that wonderful Associated Press picture of Tecumseh's Web Anderson? The general was shown inspecting the seal of the U.S. Army on the new army flag.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: Make wisdom your provision for the journey from youth to old age, for it is more certain support than all other possessions.—Diagenes

Guide Kids Into New Experiences

New experiences, such as a train ride, are exciting to some children, but most youngsters are happier with some "warm-up period." A first train ride can be fearsome, awesome or over-stimulating.

Some beforehand guidance goes a long way in helping children gain from a new experience, says Grace Harrison, child development specialist at Michigan State University. Children, like adults, may be overwhelmed by an experience when they don't know what to expect. Give the youngster some small doses of train experience before hand and he may board the coach like a seasoned traveler, or at least, a more eager one.

Youngsters can also learn about that first ride through books and by playing train at home. Then, too, parents can talk the whole subject over with the children.

Reserve Forces Act for Young Men Explained

You feel that a two-year stretch in the armed forces is a long time, but you're mighty proud of the young fellows who respond to the call of our great country.

The United States never was one to maintain a large standing army. The early settlers battled the Indians. The minute men left their farms to fight for independence. It wasn't until later that our country had some reserves. Realizing that two years is a long time for a citizen to interrupt his career or education, congress enacted the reserve forces act of 1955, which President Eisenhower signed last Aug. 9. Now an applicant between the ages of 17 and 18½ can enlist in the United States army reserve or marine corps reserve for eight years and only have to serve six months on active duty.

Young man, here's how it works. You can be deferred from selective service induction by enlisting in an army or marine corps reserve unit in your own home town. You are, however, required to serve six months in training on active duty. This period may be deferred until you finish high school, quit school, or reach 20 years of age, whichever of these happen first.

When you enlist in an outfit you must attend 48 two-hour training sessions each year and participate in the unit's 15-day annual summer training camp. For each two-hour training period and for each day in camp you get a full day's pay. Also, you can advance in grade and receive retirement benefits.

This differs from the draft in that you serve six months on active duty instead of two years, and seven and one-half years in the reserve instead of four.

The army urges parents of high school students eligible for the draft to look into the new reserve program at the nearest army or marine corps reserve office or recruiting station. You may get that education or job sooner than you think.

Buffalo Bill, Jr., Texas Rodeo Will Be at State Fair

Here's good news for the youngsters and the young at heart, too!

Buffalo Bill, Jr., will star in a mammoth rodeo at this year's Michigan State Fair, Aug. 31 through Sept. 9.

It will be the Texas All State Rodeo with plenty of rootin' tootin' cowboys and — what's this? — a band of INDIANS, too.

Buffalo Bill, Jr., is the same hardest-riding, fastest trigger man who has starred on the television show by that time. In real life he is Dick Jones, movie star.

Rounding out the State Fair grandstand entertainment will be a 250 mile auto race on Sunday, Sept. 9, and an auto thrill show the evening of Sept. 9.

Donald L. Swanson, State Fair manager, said other details of the entire grandstand program are being arranged.

Former Teacher Has Anniversary

Those who remember John C. Reincke, at one time a teacher in Tecumseh high school, will be interested in the celebration of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Reincke held last Sunday in Jonesville. Mrs. Reincke was the former Clara Bliss of Jonesville.

For 33 years prior to his retirement in 1938, Mr. Reincke was a mail clerk on the N. Y. Central railroad between Cleveland and Chicago. He is an elder in the Jonesville Presbyterian church, a member of the Lion's Club, and of the Masonic Lodge and has served as president of the village.

They are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Russell Clark of Northville and Mrs. Chester Gooding of Westfield, N. J. Mr. Reincke taught in Tecumseh in the early 1900's.

Christian Science Services Listed

The ever-availability of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Christ Jesus' healing of the centurion's servant, as recorded in Luke's Gospel (chap. 7), will be among the Scriptural passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitle "Truth."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (142:31): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, today, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (86:11): "Teach me thy way, O lord; I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name."

Completes Youth Music Course

Marilyn Helzerman, 612 W. Chicago Boulevard, Tecumseh, completed the 11th annual Youth Music course at Michigan State University, June 25-July 14.

The course offered high school students the opportunity to improve themselves musically so they can make a better contribution to their own school groups next fall.

Students were divided to form a concert band, training band, orchestra, chorus and numerous ensembles. Classwork included music theory, conducting, music listening, accompanying and other phases of music.

Highlight of the three-week session was an outdoor concert by the various musical groups in the M.S.U. band shell. Other events included faculty and student recitals, and a student performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "Trial by Jury."

A record enrollment of 261 was recorded at the conference sponsored by the M.S.U. department of music.

More than 100 of the youths attended on scholarships provided by local civic organizations.

CONELRAD CAR RADIO dial marked at 640 and 1240 kilocycles for any emergency will come in handy when all radio stations go off the air at 3:10 p.m. on July 20, and then some return to broadcast special civil defense material on these frequencies as part of Operation Alert, 1956. The 15-minute nationwide Conelrad test, first of its kind, will test radio stations' ability to switch to the Conelrad system of broadcasting in an actual attack so that emergency instructions could be radioed to the public without guiding enemy bombers to their targets. Civil defense authorities are hoping the public will mark their radios for future emergencies. (FCDA Photo)

Fisheries Prof. Offers Tips for Cooking

If you're one of the lucky beginners in the sport of fishing who actually catches things, but wonders then what to do with them, here are some suggestions from a University of Michigan fisheries expert who also has a few simple fish-fry recipes up his scientific sleeve.

Prof. Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the U-M's Department of Fisheries in the School of Natural Resources, suggests stripping the skin off the fish with pliers to do away with the mess of flying fish-scales.

After the skin is off, slit the underside from gills to vent to get out the entrails, flipping the dark red kidneys out of the top of the body cavity with your thumbnail; then rub the cavity with salt to clean it, he says.

Leave the fins in, they'll come out more easily after the fish is cooked, the professor adds.

And as for the cooking, a freshly caught fish fried in smoking fat in a kettle or frying pan over an open fire is a real treat, he claims.

Overnight campers who've had some luck with the trout might want to try baking it, he mentions. To do this roll the cleaned and seasoned fish in waxed paper and fold the ends. Cover this with several thicknesses of wet newspaper and put each separately-wrapped fish in a small hole, cover with dirt and build your campfire on top of it. Don't remove or unwrap your fish till breakfast is served the next day, he cautions.

You can pan broil your fish, and it's best to use very little fat in the pan. For fish other than whitefish and trout, which are quite fatty, a good sauce for basting is made by mixing a tablespoon of lemon juice with half a cup of cream.

To bring out the flavor of smelt try using some milk, the professor suggests. Soak the fish in milk for half an hour before frying; then dip the smelt in a batter made of two eggs, three tablespoons of cream and some sifted bread crumbs; fry in deep fat.

For charcoal-broil enthusiasts, try wrapping your fish with bacon and broiling over hickory charcoal.

And if all this talk of fish is making your mouth water for some, Professor Lagler reminds that the Institute for Fisheries Research on the U-M campus has maps to guide you to the good fishing areas in almost 3,000 of Michigan's lakes. You can get these by writing to the Institute, specifying the county you're interested in.

Services Held for Fred W. Biddix

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Springville Methodist church for Frederick W. Biddix, whose death had occurred Friday at Herrick Memorial hospital. He had been a patient there for 10 days but had been failing in health for the past two years.

Mr. Biddix, whose home was on Springville highway was only 34 years of age having been born Nov. 29, 1921, in Delta, Ohio. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Biddix, who now live near Onsted. He was married in 1942 to Ruth Brainard of Springville and they have two children, Susan, 11 and Douglas, 8. He was a member of the Springville Methodist church, the Onsted chapter F. and A. M. and had worked for more than 10 years at the Tecumseh Products Co.

Besides his widow and children and his parents he is survived by four brothers, Floyd of Topeka, Kansas; Duane of Tedrow, Ohio and Leroy and Earl of Adrian; five sisters, Mrs. Clarence Schoonover, Clayton; Mrs. Keith Dunfee, Elyria, Ohio; Mrs. Raymond Aebersold, Onsted and Mrs. Dorman Morse and Mrs. William VanValkenburg, both of Hudson.

Friends called at the Collins Funeral Home in Tecumseh until noon Monday. Services were conducted at 2 p.m. by the Rev. B. O. Bashore of Tecumseh and burial was in Maple Shade cemetery in Onsted. Bearers were nephews, Ned and Richard Biddix, Jack Dunfee, Jerry and Donald Morse and Charles Tilden.

944 Killed by Accidents Last Year

Home and farm accidents took the lives of 944 Michigan people last year, almost half as many as were killed on state highways, the Michigan Department of Health reported today.

Commenting on this heavy toll, Dr. J. K. Altland, Head of the Local Health Services Division, stressed the importance of stepped-up home safety programs in local health departments.

"Unfortunately, there is no vaccine against accidents," Dr. Altland said, "but health departments can do a great deal to reduce hazards which might result in accidents on the farm or in the home."

Public health nurses and sanitarians, Dr. Altland pointed out, are already engaged in accident prevention activities. "Nurses advise mothers regarding child growth and development. Sanitarians work closely with farmers and home-owners on such matters as safe water and sewage disposal. This kind of counsel involves dealing with individual families and can well be extended to include broader fields of home and farm safety."

"Too often," Dr. Altland continued, "we think of an accident as a single event which is soon over. Equally important are the by-products of an accident — the long-term effects on the individual, the family and the community.

"Here, too, health departments can be of real service. Certainly, in a time of stress related to an accident, public health workers have the opportunity to act as family counselors. They know community resources and can help the family through emotional or financial emergencies.

"We have not yet completely coordinated all elements of home safety into a separate program," Dr. Altland said.

MRS. LUCY TERRY, 91 HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Clarence Gilman and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll entertained a group of friends and neighbors last Wednesday evening honoring the 91st birthday anniversary of Mrs. Lucy Terry. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Terry's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Albertson of Detroit and Mrs. Betty Marshall of Arora, N.Y., who was a teacher in the schools there when Mrs. Terry was principal. It was also Mrs. Marshall's birthday. A decorated and lighted birthday cake was a feature of the refreshments which were served on the patio of the Gilman home.

To Buy A New Car or Better Used Car

WHY?

1. Before Price Raises
2. Before Scarcity Sets In
3. Before New Models

FIRST, the unions want 20c raises. This will raise steel $10 to $15 per ton and will be passed on to new cars.

SECOND, the best sources of information all say there will be a SCARCITY of '56 and early '57 models because of the steel strike.

THIRD, Smart and frugal people have always saved money before model changes every year.

GROUNDSKEEPERS can be a decided asset to managers with imagination and perhaps just a touch of the devil in their makeup. Between them, the field keeper and the field general can devise some ingenious, if not fiendish, methods to help win ball games.

Take Bill McKechnie, for instance. When he managed the Cincinnati Reds, his four starting pitchers all were low ball pitchers, that is, their throws came in well below the belt.

Quite aware that opposing batters have a tendency to hit such pitches into the ground, Bill ordered his groundskeeper to let the infield grass grow to three inches and keep the field well watered.

Fit the Situation

This slowed up many grounders that would have gone through the infield like a shot and permitted the fielders to make easy putouts of what ordinarily would have been hits.

On the other hand, when he moved to Pittsburgh McKechnie soon discovered that his two star hitters, the Waner brothers, Lloyd and Paul, frequently chopped down on the ball, literally beating it into the dirt.

So he ordered the area in front of the plate packed with hard clay and left to bake without watering.

The result was that while opposing players were waiting for the ball to come down from the first bounce, one or the other of the Waners was already on first.

Soaking in Cleveland

The story goes that because the Indians' Bob Lemon is a low ball pitcher, in Cleveland the area in front of the plate sometimes is well soaked.

Verifiable is the story of a visit by the White Sox to Cleveland one year when the Indians were hopeless behind the plate on stolen bases. It got so bad, Indian catchers rarely attempted a peg down to second, they were that slow.

Anyway, in this particular series, Chicago players trying to steal second soon discovered it was futile to make the attempt. The path between first and second had been so thoroughly soaked that the catcher's ball was reaching the bag long before the runners started to slide.

Managers with good-bunting teams will order the base lines landscaped to slope slightly inwards so that bunted balls will roll fairly along first and third.

Help the Tigers?

Managers with teams weak on fielding bunts will order their lines to slope outward slightly to achieve the opposite result.

Opposing pitchers have complained that the Briggs Stadium mound is more flat and hard than they're used to on their home fields. They say it throws them off their stride. Groundskeeper Tony Kochivar doesn't care one whit—as long as Tiger hurlers like it that way, and they say they do.

As a footnote, when the Tigers were in the throes of their recent slump at home, a wit suggested to Stadium Manager Jess Walls that they scatter pebbles in the infield. This would permit more Tiger batters to reach base on errors.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Timely rainfall played a major part in limiting forest fire losses during the last week. Only five fires were reported in the state, with damage to about five acres.

No fires were reported in the entire upper peninsula last week as generous rains kept hazardous conditions from developing.

The southern lower peninsula reported one fire which damaged three acres. In the northern lower peninsula, four small fires burned about two acres.

So far this year, 402 fires in the state have damaged 2271 acres of state and private forests and grasslands. Last year at this time, 3360 acres had been burned.

Fish workers at the Conservation Department's Wolf Lake hatchery report that a shipment of about 100,000 grayling eggs arrived from Montana in good condition.

The eggs were a replacement for an earlier shipment, most of which was spoiled because of a delay enroute from Montana. At least 10,000 fish were hatched from the original shipment, however, and appear to be thriving in hatchery troughs.

The grayling eggs, purchased by the Detroit News, will be used to produce fish for planting in an attempt to restore the once-abundant fish to selected northern waters for exhibition and educational purposes.

Michigan's quail population appears on the increase.

A recent survey produced an index number of 16 birds per route surveyed. Last year, the same highway routes produced an index of 13.1 birds per route surveyed.

Quail in Michigan are generally limited to the southern tier of counties, mostly in Branch, Hillsdale, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee and Monroe.

Experimental muskellunge work is progressing at Wolf Lake hatchery near Kalamazoo and Conservation Department fish specialists hope to plant several thousand muskies later this summer.

Several ponds at Wolf Lake have been stocked with tiger muskies and these fish will be planted when they have reached fingerling size. Recommendations from field personnel are being studied in order to select the planting sites. Fish workers hope to release at least 5000-6000 muskies in one or two selected lakes.

The tiger muskies were hatched from eggs obtained from several lakes in Gogebic county.

A few Great Lakes muskies also have been stocked at Wolf Lake and any resulting fingerlings will

In Midget League play Herrick Park shaded Central 8 to 7 with Jimmy Newell pitching good ball for the Parkers.

And Central nosed out Tecumseh Acres 18 to 16.

In Junior League games Herrick Park edged Central 13 to 11. Steve Kruger chucked a good game and had four for five at the plate.

In another close one Central squeezed by Tecumseh Acres 14 to 13. Larry Titley had three hits in five tries.

And Herrick Park edged Tecumseh Acres 6 to 5. John Cook tossed a good game. Clarence Champanois had a perfect day getting three out of three. A quick, rally-ending double play by George Heeman ended the game.

Herrick Park knocked off Central in Senior League play 14 to 9. Ron Gurtzweiler had a triple and homer. His triple came with the bases loaded.

And Tecumseh Acres clubbed Herrick Park 26 to 17. Jim Teegarden banged out two homers.

Tecumseh Acres won another by shading Central 14 to 13. Allen Dickinson homered for the winning run.

In Little League play Deerfield slipped by Tecumseh 9 to 8. The game went into extra innings with Deerfield finally pushing over the winning run in the ninth. Dennis Harrison chucked for the losers. Tecumseh's three key players were missing.

Tecumseh Little Leaguers won two other games, knocking off Madison 17 to 2 and shutting out Britton 12 to 0. Steve Kruger tossed a three-hitter at Madison and contributed a pair of homers. Dennis Harrison allowed Britton only two hits and whiffed 13.

ANY WAY YOU FIGURE IT . . . Ford Trucks cost less. Take initial cost—Ford, based on factory-suggested list prices, has more models priced under competition than any other line.

But low initial cost is only the beginning. Take resale value—it stays high, thanks to the demand for used Fords. Take operating costs—they stay low, with Ford's modern, economical Short Stroke engines. And Ford Trucks cost less to maintain because they last longer. This is a fact certified by independent insurance specialists.

Answer the Survey

We doubt very much the charge that too many folks in Tecumseh so long as they are provided with the necessities and some of the luxuries of life care very little about whether the city has problems. We doubt that because of public apathy Tecumseh is rapidly going to seed.

Folks here do care. How else would you account for the interest stimulated by the area study committee that is seeking answers to the question what can be done (or what is needed) to make Tecumseh a better and more progressive community?

About July 20 the area study committee will send out post cards asking residents what is needed to make the city a better place in which to live and to work.

The response to this simple but very important questionnaire will give new insight as to who and how many Tecumseh citizens are cognizant of community needs and who will take the time to set down these needs.

The area study committee is on firm ground in mailing cards to every adult resident in the city. They are giving as many adults as possible the chance to take an initial part in progressive community action.

The survey should get a fine cross-section point of view as to what folks are thinking about their city.

And later some of these same folks who answer the survey question will be called in to pool their ideas and still later their experiences and resources to make Tecumseh a better and more progressive place in which to live and to work.

The survey is very important. It should have the support of every thinking citizen in the city. Answer the question and send in your answers. You will be taking part in a very important community project that may have far-reaching results.

It's a Warming Thought

"There is a paradox in this thing called newspapering. Newspaper people meet deadlines if they have to go without sleep and meals. Occasionally, however, a breakdown makes it impossible to meet the deadline. It is then the phone starts ringing, and impatient, even angry voices inquire, 'What's going on down there? Can't you get a paper out on time?' At the moment it seems unreasonable to people who have been working around the clock. But it is also a warming thought. The town is waiting for the newspaper."

Illinois Reunion Held Sunday

The 29th annual Illinois reunion was held Sunday at the recreation park in Britton. Fifty-two members sat down at 12:30 for a cooperative fried chicken dinner. The president, Bert Moore of Britton is in the hospital and the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Luther Wood of Tecumseh is confined to her home following a hip fracture so the meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Mrs. Robert Wood while Robert Wood acted as secretary-treasurer.

The historian, Mrs. George Forsythe reported seven births, two weddings and two deaths in the group during the past year. New officers elected were, president, Mrs. Mildred Henry of Britton and vice-president, Mrs. Mary Lou Moore of Tecumseh. Mrs. Wood was re-elected as secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Forsythe, historian. Mrs. Mildred Moore will have charge of games.

After the business meeting they were entertained by a concert of accordion selections and vocal solos and duets given by Gail De Mass and Larry Dean Flowers.

It was voted to hold the reunion at the same place in 1957 and on the second Sunday in July. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Packingham of Pemberville, Ohio, had come the longest distance for the meeting.

Realty Views

A well-dressed, enthusiastic young man entered our office carrying a folded newspaper.

"I see here," he said, pointing to one of our recent ads, "that you have 3 or 4 good homes for sale. I'd like to buy one, so let's see them."

"Just a minute," I said, "we have many others. Those properties are merely representative selections for our ad."

The young man looked surprised. "You mean you've got quite a lot more to select from?"

I nodded. "Yes, probably never less than 20 good homes of 2 bedrooms or more in a wide range of styles, locations, sizes, etc."

"Boy," the young fellow interspersed, "if you have that large a selection, you should let people know about it."

The number shortly thereafter was cut to 19 because the young man bought one before we could list another to replace it.

However, he did have a good idea. Remember, regardless of the number of properties we happen to feature in our ads, we have a wide selection of good residential property.

So, stop by when you want to BUY.

Problems, Pitfalls in Moving Are Cited

FRANCES PENNINGTON, Secretary of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, warned today against problems and pitfalls that can arise in the moving of household goods.

Citing a bulletin from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local chamber is affiliated, she said:

"On the occasions when people move their household possessions from one community to another, they enter into relations with a large and complex industry with which they are, in most cases, quite unfamiliar. This fact has resulted in misunderstanding between home-owners and reliable movers, and in addition, has made it possible for a few unscrupulous operators to cheat and defraud the unwary."

Mrs. Pennington stated that householders who are preparing to move their possessions should secure several estimates from moving firms. She cautioned, however, against making the mistake of assuming that an estimate is an actual prediction of the precise total charge, or assuming that an estimate binds a mover with regard to his price. She also stated that householders should be wary of the mover whose estimate is substantially lower than the range of other competing estimates received.

Quoting from the National Better Business Bureau bulletin, No. 253 for July, 1956, she stated:

"Since the mover's charges are governed by various sets of tariff schedules administered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and since the schedules, in turn, are based on factors such as weight and mileage which cannot be exactly determined at the time that estimates are made, it is obvious that estimates cannot represent a completely accurate forecast of actual charges.

"Reputable movers make their estimates in an honest effort to let the householder know, as closely as their judgment and experience will permit, what the moving job is going to cost. Unscrupulous moving outfits, on the other hand, use the estimate solely and simply as a 'baiting' device, to prey on persons who judge by price promises alone and who do not bother to check reliability."

Mrs. Pennington also emphasized the necessity of exercising great care in checking the loading inventory when household possessions are loaded onto the van, and again when they are unloaded. She stated:

"The inventory itemizes each item or crate, and provides space for noting condition of items when loaded, and again when unloaded. The householder must sign the inventory on both occasions, thereby certifying its accuracy. He should receive a clear, legible copy when the goods are loaded which he should retain and have with him when the goods are unloaded. He should be sure on both occasions that it is complete, that notations of condition are correct, and that shortages or damages are fully and accurately entered at the time of unloading. The inventory serves both as a receipt and as a basis for [illegible] claims.

"It should be further noted that, unless the householder wishes to enter into a special written agreement with the mover regarding expedited service with delivery on or before a specified date, he should recognize that the Interstate Commerce Commission does not require a mover to specify or adhere to a rigid schedule in transporting household goods. The volume of traffic carried by a given firm, and the frequency of more or less regular trips made by its vehicles or agents, are important factors in assuring prompt transit and delivery.

"Interstate Commerce Commission regulations require that, except where other arrangements have been made between the mover and the householder, payment must be made in full, on delivery, by cash, money order or certified check, before the goods can be unloaded. This can be a source of considerable inconvenience, and the householder therefore should discuss with the mover in advance the method for payment, and arrive at a mutually satisfactory arrangement."

Mrs. Pennington also made the following recommendations:

1. Check the reliability and reputation of the mover through your chamber of commerce.

2. Read the contract or agreement thoroughly, and be sure you understand all its provisions.

3. Consider the advisability of carrying transit insurance for the full value of the goods being moved.

Saline Mill Theater Presents The Moon Is Blue

"The Moon is Blue," second production of the summer season by the Saline Mill Theater, opened July 10 for a two-week run, according to an announcement by Barbara Hamel, producer. Miss Hamel will also direct the three-act comedy by F. Hugh Herbert.

"The Moon is Blue," which played to packed houses on Broadway before being made into a highly controversial motion picture, has been termed by Ben Hecht as "an evening of fresh and provocative dialogue."

The part of Patty O'Neill, the knowing young woman who is confronted with some rather startling facts of life in the big city, will be played by Martha Korn Buhs.

A new face on the stage of the Saline Mill Theater this season will be that of Al Douglas in the role of Donald Gresham, made famous on the screen by William Holden.

Ed Bordo will appear as David Slater, Gresham's cynical friend.

Harry Burkey, one of the Theater's scholarship apprentices and a recent graduate of Detroit's Denby high school, will appear as Michael O'Neill.

Bob Maitland has prepared an ingenious reproduction of the observation tower of the Empire State Building for "The Moon is Blue."

Theater-goers and art-lovers alike have thronged the Saline Mill thus far. The Mill Art Gallery is displaying the works of five prominent area artists: Donald Matheson, Richard Wilt, Bill Moss, Ellen Bonar Wilt and Dorothy Lamming.

The Theater is located on US 112, one-half mile west of Saline.

Curtain-time is 8:30 p.m. nightly except Mondays. Reservations can be made by phoning Saline 31.

What Your Red Cross Did Last Year

This is the annual report of the Lenawee County Chapter of the Red Cross.

The Lenawee County Chapter of the American Red Cross again presents to you a report of its activities for the year 1955-1956. The chapter has endeavored to meet the needs of the county and to contribute to other communities that were less fortunate than ours. Floods, tornadoes and hurricanes continue to take their toll in other localities, while Lenawee County has been singularly free of the same.

Mr. H. H. Hungerford, chapter chairman the past year, has agreed to carry on the work for another year, as have all other officers with the exception of the secretary. Present officers are the Rev. Raymond Taylor, first vice-president; William Short, second vice-president; Mrs. James Reynolds, secretary; Mrs. Florence Ott, treasurer. It is particularly valuable to the chapter to retain the present officers as the coming year will present many problems with which they are familiar. Mrs. Richard Brittain will replace Mrs. James Reynolds as secretary. Mrs. Reynolds resigned because of extra responsibilities.

Among the problems confronting the chapter, the past year has been the necessity of finding a home for the chapter. This was apparent a year ago when the Post Office Department notified the chapter that they needed the grounds on which the present building is located. The matter was terminated by the purchase of the building housing Red Cross, by Clare Hess, necessitating final action.

The chairman appointed a housing committee, composed of the Rev. Raymond Taylor, chairman, Mrs. William Wiebeck and Mrs. Russell Allen to consider a new location for the chapter offices. After much consideration the renting of property seemed inadvisable and that the purchase of a property would be the most practical solution to the problem. After considering several sites the Heffron home at 204 north Broad Street was purchased for the sum of $20,000. The property will be tax exempt, and after the purchase price is paid, the chapter will have only maintenance expenses.

JOIN IN FUNDS

The chapter has participated in the Tecumseh Community Chest Fund for a number of years and in 1954 it joined with the Adrian United Community Chest Fund on an industrial and business basis only, but in 1955 residential basis was included, making Red Cross an integral factor in the Adrian drive. We have received to date 75 per cent of our quota.

Mr. Douglas Trites is state relations representative from the area office. He has visited the chapter a number of times the past year and has given invaluable suggestions and advice to the office personnel and to the chapter.

HOME SERVICE: Mrs. Frank Jerrells, chairman; Mrs. Ione E. Lane, home service secretary.

The home service department as usual has been very busy during the past year having given service to 969 active cases; 343 for servicemen and their families and 626 for veterans and their families. We have a very heavy case load for the veterans in claims, which requires considerable time and work. There were 3756 services for information only where no actual work was done on the case. In the summer of 1955 we assisted in the disaster of the Mexican families and this spring also worked on the Leon Anderson disaster, $87.56 being taken from the home service funds for this case due to the fact that two sons were in the Air Force. As usual each month a letter is written to the boys being inducted into the service and at the time of departure a package of post cards is given them.

AID SERVICE MEN

To the first of June we have given $1378.81 in financial assistance to the active service men and to the veterans and their families; financial assistance is only given veterans when funds cannot be gotten elsewhere for them. We have referred veterans to the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund and from that source have gotten $4443.98.

We are also active in the Council of Social Agencies and have found this very beneficial in our work. All the agencies are cooperating and our policies have been established so it is not difficult in obtaining assistance when it is needed.

We understand that beginning in July the draft call is going to be heavy and this always makes the work in this department heavier.

DISASTER PREPAREDNESS: Mrs. Eugene Schmidt, assistant chairman.

Aug. 2, 1955, 34 Mexican migrant workers were hurt in a truck accident near Rome Center. Hospital bills amounting to $1200 were paid for them. Assistance on this bill was received from national headquarters. Fire victims in Adrian, Riga, Addison, Tipton and Clayton were assisted with dry cleaning bills, clothing and food.

Mrs. Eugene Schmidt organized the county nurses in Nov. for disaster and, a workship was held for nurses in April to which the public was invited. This is an outstanding organization, probably one of the best in the state. In case of an atomic attack or invasion of our country all nurses can be recruited in an hour's time. Complete files of the same are kept at the Chapter House.

Mrs. Eugene Schmidt spoke before five different groups this spring on the subjects of home nursing and disaster.

HOME NURSING: Mrs. C. G. Campbell, chairman.

Adult classes were taught by Mrs. Eugene Schmidt. Student classes were taught by Mrs. Elwood Jewell in Adrian; by Mrs. Lois Richardson in Blissfield and by Miss Inez Blystone in Morenci. A migrant class was taught by Mrs. Eugene Schmidt in Blissfield. A total of 126 certificates have been issued.

FIRST AID: Mr. S. F. Rost, chairman.

The past year Mr. Paul Ahleman held standard classes for the Deerfield Fire Department and for the guards at Bridgeport Brass Company.

Miss Elizabeth Menzi held standard and advance classes at Adrian College.

Mr. John Ladd is conducting a class in first aid at the Union Telephone Co., Adrian. Mr. Paul Ahleman spoke before a group of Boy Scouts in July in Onsted. Mr. S. F. Rost spoke before the Ogden Variety Extension Club on first aid.

AID BOOTH MANNED

A first aid booth at the Lenawee County Fair was manned by Mr. Paul Ahleman and Mrs. William Wiebeck with a corps of workers aiding them from day to day. Fifty-six people availed themselves of their services.

Sixty standard first aid certificates and 56 advanced certificates have been issued.

WATER SAFETY: Mr. Francis Hazen, chairman.

Classes and a water show were held at the Girls' Training School with Miss Marie Walters as instructor.

Classes and a water carnival were held at Adrian high school with Mr. Hazen as instructor. Classes were held in Tecumseh high school with Mr. Victor Lawson and Mr. Robert Marsh as instructors.

Summer swim groups sponsored by Mr. Robert Welke and held at Welke Summer Day Camp had 14 Beginner certificates issued.

Mr. Duane Furbush had a private class aiding handicapped folks.

Two people are being sent to aquatic school this year.

One hundred twelve beginner certificates were issued; 108 junior life saving certificates; 65 senior life saving certificates; 41 swimmer certificates; 13 advance certificates and 76 intermediate certificates were issued.

VOLUNTEER SERVICES: Mrs. Wm. Wiebeck, chairman of all volunteers.

GRAY LADIES: Miss Frances Gorny, chairman, Lenawee County; Mrs. William Wiebeck, chairman, Adrian; Mrs. Theodore Golat, chairman, Tecumseh.

GRAY LADIES ORGANIZE

Jan. 18, 22 women gathered at the chapter house and organized a Gray Lady Unit. Their orientation was given at Maple Lane Manor with Miss Frances Gorney as instructor. This group was capped on April 11. Twenty hours are needed for capping.

Those capped were: Mrs. Eva Wagner, Mrs. Clark Sinclair, Mrs. Richard Brittain, Mrs. Clyde Harris, Mrs. Elmer Rockwell, Mrs. John Rehklau, Mrs. Claude Lewis, Mrs. William Wiebeck, Mrs. E. C. Starkey, Mrs. Pency Rogers, all of Adrian; Mrs. Leighton Loar of Jasper; Mrs. Clark Crumrine of Onsted; Miss Phyllis Hassenzahl and Mrs. Clyde Dinius of Clayton and Mrs. Theodore Golat of Tecumseh.

Miss Vivian Kidman and Mrs. Jesse Hoddinott were unable to be present.

Mrs. Doris Carlson, Mrs. Edna Starkey and Mrs. Clark Sinclair have been going to Ypsilanti State Hospital for the past year doing Gray Lady work in that hospital.

May 22, 11 ladies met with Miss Gorny at the home of Mrs. Golat in Tecumseh and organized a unit in Tecumseh. Their training will be in the Herrick Memorial hospital.

June 13 Mrs. Doris Carlson and Mrs. Dorothy Sinclair will receive certificates for 100 hours service in Ypsilanti State Hospital, and Mrs. Edna M. Starkey and Miss Frances Gorny will be recognized for various volunteer services in the hospital, Mrs. E. T. Armstrong will receive an honorary certificate for the chapter for the Red Cross cooperation and participation throughout the year.

Miss Frances Gorny is county chairman of Gray Ladies; Mrs. William Wiebeck, chairman of the Adrian group and Mrs. Theodore Golat, chairman of the Tecumseh group. Mrs. Wiebeck is interested in organizing other groups and one is under consideration for Morenci and another near Cambridge Junction.

CANTEEN: Miss Rhea Spence, chairman.

Canteen served refreshments at the Capping Services for the Gray Ladies on April 11, 1956, at Madison Agricultural School.

Three Red Cross members from the county attended the disaster meeting at Camp Waterloo June 13 and 14.

PRODUCTION: Mrs. Charles Shierson, chairman.

A committee met at Mrs. Shierson's home and assembled, wrapped and packed for shipping 500 Christmas gifts for the boys on the high seas at Christmas. Several "Thank You" notes have been received from the boys receiving these gifts.

Ten pairs of pajamas and dusters were purchased and sent to the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Downey, Illinois, and 300 bed side bags were cut by Mrs. Shierson and made ready for sewing by the several church groups and clubs. Groups participating this past year were the West Side Workers and the Walworth Women's Club.

JUNIOR RED CROSS: Mrs. Russell Allen, chairman.

Fifty-eight schools are enrolled in the Junior Red Cross program; and 193 gift boxes for overseas were sent to the Red Cross Warehouse at Landover, Md. Several "Thank You" notes have been received from Holland, Germany and Korea for these boxes.

A mural was received from Miss Eloise Smith, pre junior elementary art director in the Adrian Public Schools and will be sent to area office.

Two afghans made by the Hudson Public School pupils have been sent to the hospital at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Films were shown at the Adrian high school on Red Cross work under Miss Sue Pellowe, junior counselor.

FAMILY AIDED

The juuior high school students collected $208.47 for the Leon Anderson family which suffered the loss of two children in a fire that destroyed their home early this spring. This was presented to the Red Cross for the purchase of needy articles for the family. A refrigerator was considered a necessity and purchased. In addition Mr. Matt Lunn's class collected $10. This was spent for needy articles for the same family.

BLOOD PROGRAM: Dr. James Spencer, chairman.

The state no longer sponsors the mobile unit, that was brought to Lenawee County for a number of years, and the work of the chapter is confined to trying to get blood for individual cases.

PUBLIC INFORMATION: Mrs. Arthur Kells, chairman.

A Red Cross program has been a regular feature on WABJ. All papers in the county and the Adrian Daily Telegram have given valuable space to the fund drive and other Red Cross news items.

CONVENTION --

Mrs. William Wiebeck and Mrs. Carl LaSalle were delegates from the chapter to the convention held in St. Louis, Missouri, June 3 to 7. The train left Adrian Sunday morning, June 3 and the delegates returned Thursday, June 7.

The 75th anniversary of the American Red Cross is being observed this year throughout the nation. While no local program was observed on May 21, its natal day, an open house will be held later at the new headquarters in its observance.

Switch the Pitch –
And you Zing like a Bird

You can do it only in a Buick.

Only with Variable Pitch Dynaflow* can you switch the pitch like an airplane pilot does. Only with Dynaflow can you get a safety-surge of extra power that's smooth as a soaring bird.

Only the newest version of Dynaflow gives completely smooth, swift acceleration — even at the first gas-saving inch of pedal pressure.

Trying is believing—this new 1956 Dynaflow is years ahead of any other transmission. And it's just one of the great new features that you're missing if you're still driving an older car.

So why wait for your present car to become another year older—and considerably less valuable as trade-in—when you can take advantage of today's prices? And enjoy a car so excitingly new?

Just look at Buick's new styling. "Massive" and "grace" are words that seem almost contradictory. But they're beautifully combined in these newest Buicks. And in a classic way that will still look fresh for years to come.

Just try the newest Buick ride. It's the steadiest yet. Based on deep-coil springs, deep-oil-cushioned shock absorbers, torque-tube drive, and a long list of new developments not even Buick has ever had before.

To get a softer, more buoyant ride than this, you'd have to repeal the laws of gravity.

And to say that this is a great time to buy a Buick is really an understatement. Come see the sensible, down-to-earth prices of Buick's tremendous range of models. Come hear the deal we can give you.

It's our deal—for your pleasure. Come draw up a chair—we're ready whenever you are.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Sunderland – Dibble Vows Spoken in Tipton Church

In an impressive candlelight ceremony in the Tipton Community church Saturday at 7:30 p.m., Mary Lou Dibble and Donald G. Sunderland exchanged their marriage vows. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrick E. Dibble of Tipton, and Mr. Sunderland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Roy Sunderland of Macon, Mo.

MRS. DONALD SUNDERLAND

The bride and bridegroom repeated their vows in a double ring ceremony before the Rev. Gordon Blossom of Albion.

The dais was banked with hampers of white gladioli and hydrangeas with palms and lighted candelabra, while the pews were marked with the traditional satin bows centered with hydrangeas, and the aisle was lined with Cathedral candelabra. Mrs. Harold Every at the organ played Lohengrin's processional and recessional and Miss Mary Bush sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over shimmering satin. The molded lace bodice was enhanced by an illusion yoke and mandarin collar outlined with iridescent sequins, and the long lace buttoned tapered sleeves ended in dainty points over the hands. The voluminous skirt of nylon ruffled tulle with back and front panels of lace, was worn over a tiered hoop. Her fingertip veil of illustion fell from a satin pill box studded with iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a lace covered Bible, the gift of the groom, centered with gardenias and stephanotis extending into satin streamers.

Patricia Ann Dibble served her sister as maid of honor with Mrs. Lowell Bush of Tecumseh, assisting as bridesmaid. Each wore ballerina length white lace dresses over blue satin with dainty white satin head bands and small veils. Each wore three-quarter length white gloves and white shoes and carried cascade bouquets of light pink carnations surrounded by white daisies tufted with light blue tulle. The tiny flower girl was Vicky Cook dressed in a blue and white dress. She carried a basket of rose petals.

James R. Sunderland, Jr. of Lee's Summit, Mo., attended his brother as best man and the ushers were Dale Titley and Lowell Bush of Tecumseh.

The bride's mother chose a sheath dress in rose and white linen with matching hat and white accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosettes. Mrs. Sunderland wore a dress of blue lace over taffeta and white accessories and her corsage was of crimson rosettes.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for 225 guests, registered by Miss Marion Titley of Tecumseh. Miss Joan Whelan presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Arch Wilson of Adrian poured.

The bride's table was linen covered and centered by a four-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and surrounded by blue and white lacealon. Lighted tapers of white in crystal candelabra lighted the table.

Mrs. William Vollmer made the bride's cake and it was cut by Mrs. James R. Sunderland, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Also assisting were Mrs. Robert Younglove, Mrs. Marie Listman and the Misses Marilyn Whelan and Ruth Elaine Titley.

Mr. and Mrs. Sunderland left later on a week's trip in the west, the bride wearing a mint green shantung suit fashioned with a peplum with white accessories and wearing the gardenias from her bridal bouquet.

On their return they will make their home at 207½ E. Shawnee street, Tecumseh.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and is employed as a secretary in the offices of the Tecumseh Products Co. Mr. Sunderland was graduated from Atlanta, Mo., high school and has served four years in the U. S. Air Force. He will enter college in the fall to further his studies in engineering.

A "MUST" FOR TECUMSEH READERS

"Tecumseh, Vision of Glory." If that sounds rather like the local Chamber of Commerce in one of its more expansive moments it might easily be — but in this case it isn't. It is instead the title of a new book and the life story of our Indian namesake, the Shawnee chief, Tecumseh. It was written by Glenn Tucker, who was already the author of another book which dealt with the period of the War of 1812 called "Patriots and Poltroons."

Because of its name, our town has always been the target of "feature writers," both foreign and domestic, who have copied and embellished each others ideas about Tecumseh until what we thought we knew about him had become a confused and contradictory legend. Thus Mr. Tucker's book, factual, sympathetic, detailed, and extremely well documented, comes as a welcome relief. Perhaps for the casual reader it is a bit too detailed and some critics consider it rather too sympathetic. From our point of view, however, its value lies in the author's insistence on going back to actual records for his material. He at once confirms and refutes many of the things we have believed, refutes many of the fanciful and unimportant details but confirms the broader evaluation of Tecumseh's character which led to the choice of his name for the new Michigan settlement in 1824.

We learn, for example, that Tecumseh's mother was not a Pottawatamie, that he was not born in this county and did not become a Shawnee by adoption after her second marriage. Also he was not born in Florida and was not the son of a French general. Neither was he a twin. Mr. Tucker can find no recorded basis for the commonly accepted story that the was given the rank of brigadier general in the British army (although he did wear a uniform on occasion) and—alas for local pride and pageantry—no where in the book is there any reference to a visit to our "Indian Dancing Ground" beside the Raisin.

But when Musgrove Evans, one of our Quaker "founding fathers" said: "Tecumseh was NOT a British Indian, he was an Indian's Indian" he anticipated Mr. Tucker's point of view by 132 years. Both men recognized and appreciated Tecumseh's single hearted devotion to his belief—hopeless as history proved it to be—that the "Great Spirit" had given the land to America, like the air and sunshine, to the Indians, not as individuals but as a race and that no one chief had the power to barter any portion of it to the white man. It was admiration for this devotion that moved Evans to make the then unusual suggestion of an Indian name for our village.

Only the briefest outline of Mr. Tucker's findings is possible here. Tecumseh was born in Ohio's Scioto River Valley of a Shawnee father and a Creek mother. There were eight children in the family, an unusual number for the red race, and an older sister, Tecumapeace and a younger brother, Laulewasika, "The Prophet" were the two that were important in his life. He was also influenced by his association with white captives. One of them, a boy, Stephen Rudell, became almost a foster brother and he also learned much from the two captive scouts, Daniel Boone and Simon Kenton. Although his mother had imbued him with hatred of the white men after his father had been killed from ambush, he early turned away from the Indian custom of torture and the massacre of helpless captives. This attribute was further developed by the teachings and influence of the white girl, Rebecca Galloway, whom he loved and wished to marry, and accounted for many incidents of mercy in his later career.

He had married at 28 a woman older than himself and was the father of a son, Pugeshashenwa. The marriage had lasted only a few years, however, and the boy seems to have meant very little in his life.

One of the hitherto little known phases of the period is the part played by the Prophet and his fanatical followers in the growth — and wrecking — of Tecumseh's plans. Tucker's story of the religious "purges" is reminiscent of the white man's civilization.

Another contradiction of a commonly believed story is the disclosure that it was Tecumseh who went to the British before the war developed to try to arouse them to action rather than the reverse as we have been led to believe. This would indeed substantiate Evans' opinion that he was not a "British Indian." He fought with them only as a means to an end; trying to use them to stop the advance of the American settlers.

One of the most astonishing things about the book is the record of the extent of Tecumseh's travels while he was attempting to build up his confederation. He covered the territory from Florida to Wisconsin to New York and here the book offers an extra dividend in the background picture of the Indian nations.

Here, perhaps, we may even take hope for our local legend. If he went so far could he not have included the valley of the Raisin? No where could there have been a more logical meeting place than the "Dancing Ground." We have the word of early surveyors that "clearly defined paths" leading from it connected with trails to Lake Michigan, Lake Erie and the valley of the Wabash. The earth work amphitheater itself (which antiquarians are sure was a relic of the Hopewell Age) was venerated by the local Indians and it would seem the story of Tecumseh's visit must have been given to the white settlers by those Indians.

So perhaps, even without Mr. Tucker's specific benediction, we may still salvage our Tecumseh tradition.

O God our Father, let us not be content to wait and see what will happen, but give us the determination to make the right things happen.

be planted in the Indian River, where the eggs were obtained.

The first recorded planting of Great Lakes muskellunge in Michigan was made last week when about 600 fry were released in the Indian River. The planting was a disposition of fry obtained from experimental hatching at Oden hatchery.

Unlawful killing and possession of a doe brought heavy fines and jail sentences to two Boon residents recently.

The men, who were convicted in a Cadillac court, were each ordered to pay a $50 fine and $8.40 in court costs and to serve seven days in jail.

The two were among 84 conservation law violators listed on the latest convictions report. Violators paid a total of $576 in fines and $652 in court costs. All fines go to the state library fund.

Michigan's busy state parks will cater to at least 18,000,000 visitors this year and the unvarnished truth is that many of these people are litterbugs.

Conservation Department parks workers devote much of their time to keeping parks clean and attractive, but the job is impossible without public cooperation. Other important duties often must be delayed by parks personnel in order to carry out these cleanup chores.

Managers of state parks and recreation areas say that litterbugs and vandals not only cause extra work, but also mar the beauty and function of parks for considerate visitors. Law-breakers may be ticketed for violations of park regulations, but enforcement becomes an enormous problem in overcrowded parks.

Local agencies and organizations often lend a welcome assist to parks personnel, through voluntary cleanup campaigns and by reminding parks visitors of their responsibilities when using public property.

Observance of a few simple rules of courtesy can make Michigan's state parks a more enjoyable place for family recreation:

1) Place all paper and other debris in trash barrels provided for this purpose. Don't be a litterbug.

2) Obey traffic and parking laws and other poster regulations.

3) Give parks equipment and facilities the care you would give to your personal property — they belong to you.

Rabbits are the most popular game for Michigan hunters, who bag more than a million cottontails annually.

One of Michigan's most important trees from the standpoints of forestry and game is the quaking aspen or "popple." The tree, valuable in wood pulp manufacture and as deer food, has the most extensive range of any tree in North America.

Michigan has four times as much water-covered land as any other state and contains more than 11,000 lakes and 36,000 miles of streams. At any point in the state, one is never more than six miles from a lake or stream.

Recreation, including camping, picnicking, hunting, fishing and touring, is one of the most important uses of state forest lands. Several million persons visit Michigan forests annually for these activities.

The beaver is the largest rodent in North America and second largest in the world. An adult beaver weighs 40-70 pounds, with a few on record of nearly 100 pounds.

The adaptability of the common mallard has made it the chief wild duck of the world. It will breed almost anywhere it can find suitable habitat and readily adapts itself to civilization.

The first oil pool of importance in Michigan was located near Port Huron about 1886. The next commercial pools were discovered in the vicinity of Saginaw in 1925 and in Muskegon in 1927. Other discoveries followed rapidly and oil now is produced in at least 39 counties in the lower peninsula.

Garden Club Members Hear Practical Tips

Meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Ann Carson, members of the Garden Club were privileged to hear from a professional but practical gardener.

Mrs. R. P. Beardsley of Hamilton, Ind. took for her topic, "It's Your Garden" and developed the thought that to be truly satisfactory a garden should express the taste and desires of the owner.

She gave practical help in reaching such a goal by listing shrubs, bulbs, perennials and annual plants which fitted special environments, mentioning those best suited to shady, damp or sunny spots.

While giving professional advice she urged the members to express themselves rather than some specialist.

Mrs. Beardsley, who is co-owner of the Cardinal Iris Gardens of Hamilton, is a top gardener in her own right and while she assists her husband with his specialty, her own hobby is collecting, growing and breeding day lilies.

Some of her listeners were surprised to learn that there are literally thousands of variations of this species commonly known as the "Lemon Lily" including a wide scope in color and size.

Mrs. Neil Pearson and Mrs. Herman Koelbel assisted Miss Carson in entertaining and refreshments were served to those present.

There will be no Aug. meeting of the club.

In Sept. members will have a flower show with Miss Mary McWilliams as chairman.

Pair Fined for Conduct

Candelario Sanchez, 21, of Tecumseh, and Joe Ramos, 22, of Jackson were arrested early Sunday morning by Tecumseh police chief George Kilbourn on the charge of disorderly conduct.

Arraigned before justice Robert L. French Tuesday, they were fined $15 each and assessed costs of $8.60.

If the fines and costs are not paid they will have to spend 15 days in the county jail.

Drunk Driver Fined $50

Ysabel Florez, 26, of Tecumseh was arrested Thursday by patrolmen Barns and Rodenhaver of the Tecumseh police department on the charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

Arraigned Friday before justice Robert L. French, he was fined $50 and assessed $8.60 costs and five days in jail. If the fine and costs are not paid he will have to serve 30 days in jail.

Drunk Fined $15

Richard Wayne, 59, of the Ferris Trailer Park, was arrested Saturday on a drunkenness charge by patrolman Kempf of the Tecumseh police department.

Arraigned Tuesday before justice Robert L. French, he was fined $15 and assessed $8.60 costs. If the fine and costs are not paid he will have to serve 15 days in jail.

300 Receive Swim Lessons

Swimming lessons have been given in the Tecumseh swimming pool for the third year. And this year, because of the popularity of the courses, the number of students had to be limited to 300.

Classes in these divisions have been given: beginner, junior intermediate, intermediate and swimmer.

The courses were to have ended this week but they will continue a few days next week because rain during the summer interfered with some of the teaching time.

Vic Lawson and Bill Benham have been instructors this summer. In the pictures (above) instructor Lawson watches a couple of young swimmers shoot away from the edge of the pool while Bill (at left) gives personal instruction to Dianne Handy as an unidentified swimmer watches.

Check Dutch Elm

Private Trees Offered Spray

The company that has sprayed city-owned elm trees that were infected with Dutch elm disease will spray all privately-owned trees.

The cost of the spraying will depend on the size of the tree and how difficult it is to get the spraying equipment to it.

Any property owner in the city that would like his trees sprayed may drop in at the city office to pick up an application blank. The cards will be turned over to the spraying company.

The city had its trees sprayed when the state discovered Dutch elm disease in four city-owned trees. As a result the council approved spraying all city-owned trees along sidewalks and in the parks.

Miss Ruth Harding Dies in Masonic Home

Ruth Anna Harding, former Tecumseh librarian, died Monday morning in the Masonic Home in Alma, Michigan. She had been in failing health for more than a year and had entered the Home the previous Thursday and had been in the hospital there since shortly after her arrival.

Miss Harding, who was the daughter of the Rev. William F. and Grace Owen Harding, was born in Ganges, Mich., Jan. 13, 1893.

Her father was a native of Tecumseh and the family lived here after his retirement from the ministry of the Congregational church.

She graduated from the University of Kansas with a B.S. degree in Home Economics, received her M.A. in Education from Columbia University and took advanced work at the University of Puerto Rico.

She taught for six years in a mission school in Puerto Rico, six among the Sioux Indians in Nebraska and three in a school for colored people in Mobile, Alabama, besides teaching six years in other schools in the United States.

She had been librarian of the Tecumseh Public Library for 12 years until her retirement July 1.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Wit and Wisdom Club, the Tecumseh Teachers' Club, Tecumseh chapter No. 51 O.E.S., the Business and Professional Woman's Club and was an honorary member of the Monday Club.

Miss Harding is survived by two cousins, Mrs. John W. Wearmouth of Otsego and Mrs. Charles Sanford of Kalamazoo and an uncle, Arthur Harding of Tecumseh. Her parents and an infant sister and brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. this afternoon (Thursday) at the Green Funeral Home and will be in charge of the Rev. George Walworth of the Presbyterian church.

Burial will be in the family lot in Brookside.

Claus Family Has Reunion

The third annual Claus family reunion was held Sunday in the Community church in Tipton with 65 members attending. As part of the guests were from Canada, they were entertained over Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Titley and other members of the family and friends in Tecumseh. Both dinner and supper were served at the church and the group organized and elected officers for the first time.

Those who came from Canada included Mr. and Mrs. Nick McGuigan of Toronto, Mrs. Fern McGuigan and son Peter of Blenheim, Miss Grace Claus of London, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Ellis of Hamilton, Mrs. Beatrice Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Claus and four children of Chatham and James Douglas of Windsor. Others came from Detroit, Centerline, Birmingham, Cass City, Jackson and from many nearby points.

Services Held for George Babcock

George Babcock, who had lived in the Tecumseh area for the past 55 years died late Sunday evening at Maple Lane Manor in Adrian where he had been living since Oct., 1954. He was 81 years of age and was born in Bridgewater township Sept. 30, 1874, the son of Daniel and Serafina Hunt Babcock.

He had been engaged in farming near Tipton for many years. He was a member of the Tecumseh Baptist church.

Mr. Babcock is survived by three sons, Harold of Curtice, Ohio and Bernard and George Babcock, both of whom live in Toledo; eight grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews. His parents preceded him in death as did three sisters, Ida Freeman, Dora Hunt and Marion Hildinger.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. David Holly of Tipton, Wednesday afternoon at the Green Funeral Home and burial was in the Tipton cemetery.

Dentists Form New Partnership

Dr. Robert J. Murray and Dr. Robert W. Laidlaw have filed certificates of partnership in the office of the Lenawee county clerk.

Dr. Laidlaw moved his office into Dr. Murray's office about two weeks ago and now they both will practice from 515 west Chicago Boulevard.

Britton Phone Company To Change Hands

Action has been taken to dissolve the Britton Telephone Corporation.

Audrey W. Miner and Dalton D. Walper have petitioned in circuit court to dissolve. John R. Zeigler is their attorney.

The former privately-owned company has been taken over by the General Telephone Co.

There has been no interruption of service for the 460 customers.

Absentee Ballots for Primary May Be Picked Up

The absentee ballots may be picked up from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Saturdays.

The deadline for picking up the ballots is Saturday, Aug. 4.

Rotarians Told: Educate for Soul

Education of the soul is the soul of education, stated Dr. Lewis Brumbaugh speaking before the Tecumseh Rotary Club Tuesday night.

Dean of Adrian College, Dr. Brumbaugh outlined these points:

Young people should be taught to know what is right and, more importantly, to do what is right.

Intellectual integrity, the capacity to think through problems by using all the facts, must be a major part of educating for the soul.

Self reliance as an attitude of learning should be coupled with teaching social responsibility.

Education must involve a faith in the possibility of human progress.

And, finally, men must realize there is a higher power, an ennobling, inspiring power that will enable them to do their work in the realm of God.

John Zeigler was in charge of the program.

Driver Gets 10 Days in Jail

Donald L. Curtiss, 34, of Tecumseh was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $24.30 for failing to answer a traffic summons issued in May.

He pleaded guilty to the charge when he was arraigned before Justice L. J. VanDeusen of Clinton Monday.

Curtiss was arrested in Tecumseh Sunday night by Tecumseh police at the request of Clinton State Police.

He was arrested last May on the charge of exceeding the state speed limit. Troopers clocked his car at 75 miles per hour.

If his fine and costs are not paid he will spend an additional 30 days in jail.

Newspapers Only Print News

Too often too many persons lose sight of, or fail to understand, the fact that newspapers do not make the news; they only print the news.

This obvious fact again was called to our attention Tuesday when a man walked into this office and asked to have his name left out of a story. The word "asked" is too mild; he demanded it.

When he was told that papers only report the news and that newspapers do not control the commodity called news, he attempted to pay for the service of having his name left out of a story that was a matter of police record.

It also should be quite obvious that the bribe approach to a newspaper is one that will raise the blood pressure.

The man failed to realize that he was on dangerous ground. He did not have the sense to know that a newspaper worthy of the profession will never stoop to bribery.

His bungling but direct attempt to keep his name out of the newspaper was, thank goodness, an exception to the normal course of events. We have never seen a more direct approach; usually the approach is more refined.

His story because of the nature of the case naturally was used.

And we hope that we always will have the courage to print a story, regardless of the circumstances and the persons involved. A newspaper does not make the news but it is the duty of a newspaper to print the news.

Charles A. Seitz, 73, Plumber 28 Years, Dies

Charles Augustus Seitz, a Tecumseh businessman for the past 28 years, died Monday morning at Herrick Memorial hospital. He had been ill for only a few days and had entered the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Seitz, who with his sons conducted the Charles A. Seitz Plumbing Co. was 73 years of age.

He was born Feb. 29, 1883, in Bridgewater township, the son of John George and Mary Seitz.

CHARLES SEITZ

His parents later lived on Mill street in Tecumseh.

He was a member of Tecumseh Aerie 1563 F.O.E. and of the Knights of Pythias.

His home was at 123 N. Ottawa street.

He is survived by his widow, Jean Leonard Seitz; four sons, Charles E. of Oklahoma and John George, Albert J. and Raymond E. all of Tecumseh; nine grandchildren; two brothers, G. J. Seitz and William Seitz, both of Jackson and three sisters, Mrs. Verdi Skinner and Mrs. Henry VanDuzer of Tecumseh and Mrs. Charles Hunt of Jackson.

His parents and two brothers, Fred and Herman preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mr. Seitz were conducted Wednesday morning at the Green Funeral Home with the Rev. Alvin Brazee in charge.

Graveside services in Brookside cemetery were conducted by the Eagles Lodge.

John Gier and Jerome DuFour were in charge.

Bearers were John Gier, Jerome DuFour, Adam Lowery, Lawrence Drewyor, Martin Schneipp and Fred Creger.

Defendants Say Wheel Stealing Was "a Joke"

Aaron Sparks, 18, Route 1, Tecumseh, and Duane McKinney, 22, 5700 Raisin Center Highway, were picked up early Wednesday morning by patrolmen Purkey and Skinner of the Tecumseh police department on the charge of attempted larceny from an automobile.

When the youths were apprehended they were parked in the gravel pit on Ives Rd. and asleep.

They admitted that they had tried to steal a spare wheel and tire from the Jerry Hand car on Ives Rd. But they said it was a joke.

Mr. Hand startled the youths when he came out with a shotgun.

They later admitted taking reflectors off mail boxes north of Birdsall and gas from cars at the Tecumseh Products Co. parking lot.

They are now in the county jail to think about their little "joke."

Letters Sent to Gridders

Letters went out to potential Tecumseh high school football players reminding them to start to get into condition for the coming season.

Coach Bob Breniff who sent out the letters expects about 90 boys to answer the call.

Practice for the Indians will begin Aug. 27.

Jaycees To Give $500 for Bleachers

The second $500 check of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce's pledge for the recreation field bleachers will be given to the recreation board at the club's meeting tonight (Thursday) in the Eagles' home.

The club pledged $1000 and $500 of the pledge has been turned in.

The homecoming project enabled the club to make enough profit to complete its pledge.

PICTURES ARE HERE

THE HERALD still has several pictures of engaged girls, married ladies and pictures of wedding anniversaries.

They may be had by their owners if they call at the office.

Reviewers Are Kind to Allan Seager's New Book

Allan Seager's new book "Hilda Manning" is being treated kindly by book reviewers. His fourth novel recently was reviewed both by the Detroit News and the New York Times.

John McManis had this to say about the story with the setting in some small village in Lenawee County:

"There's something for every taste in the current books published for summer reading. Among the best on today's list:

" 'Hilda Manning,' a romance about a remarkable woman in a small Michigan village, written by Allan Seager and published by Simon and Schuster.

"Seager, born in Adrian, Mich., and a summer resident of Tecumseh, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he now teaches. This novel, his fourth and by far the best, takes place in a town something like Tecumseh or Britton, Blissfield, Deerfield or Petersburg, other southeastern Michigan villages.

"The story is no light romance, Hilda being the kind of unfortunate woman who unintentionally brings trouble for others with her. But the book is wonderful reading, exciting enough to keep one's mind off the weather or any other summer distractions."

(Not that it matters too much but Mr. McManis erred twice in his review, maybe three times. He calls Mr. Seager a "summer resident" of Tecumseh. He lives on the boulevard here the year around. And he includes Tecumseh with other southeastern villages. Tecumseh, of course, is a city. The story "Hilda Manning" probably has its setting in Onsted; but it could have been any hamlet in the state, or bordering states.)

James Kelly in the New York Times Book Review for last Sunday wrote this about "Hilda Manning":

"Many novelists have tried a hand at capturing the personality of a brooding farm community with its short horizons and entwined people. Few, short of Eudora Welty and some of the pastoral Englishmen, have managed to uncover roots or impart a lived-in look. Which is why 'Hilda Manning' comes as a pleasant surprise from the author of 'Equinox' and 'The Inheritance.'

"Mr. Seager has constructed a superior regional novel . . .

" 'Hilda Manning' is flawed by florid nature writing. Here and there the plot wavers uncomfortably close to suspense melodrama before coming safely back into line. But the scene structure and the human materials are too carefully selected to be buckled by small miscalulations. In offering a book which many readers will delightedly discover this summer, Mr. Seager has very likely discovered himself."

("Hilda Manning" is in the Tecumseh Public Library.)

Aerial Fire Fighters

Conservation Department airplanes play an important part in Michigan's forest fire control program, enabling observers to spot fires quickly. As soon as fires are detected by aerial observers, towermen, or ground lookouts, Department fire-fighting equipment goes into action.

FALLOUT CLOUD could look much like this artist's conception following an attack on a target city, such as the 76 target areas which will be assumed hit during Operation Alert, 1956 (July 20-26). Radioactive dust in the bomb's mushroom could be blown 200 miles or more downwind from the blast area, covering the countryside with radioactive material which for days could bring injury or possibly death to anyone not under cover. In rural areas, a basement, root cellar or "cyclone shelter" would be the best shield from radiation. Such a shelter should have food and water for at least seven days, and a battery-operated standard radio to receive emergency instructions from civil defense broadcasts. (FCDA Photo)

Variety of Activities Adds Spice To Sec. of State Office

The Michigan Department of State has a number of investigating functions that are probably not widely known, says Secretary of State James M. Hare.

"We have an Investigations Division that plays an important part in the business activities of the state, but except for an occasional newsworthy item, most of what it does isnt much in the public eye," Hare says.

"One of its activities that has been getting some attention lately has been the re-weighing of trucks to determine whether the proper amount of tax has been paid on them.

"The truck re-weighing is not done on every truck in the state, as we haven't nearly enough staff for this. We investigate only when a complaint has been made. This complaint usually comes from a competitor. We expect that this year we will recover several hundred thousand dollars in additional license fees and sales tax as a result of this re-weighing program.

"Re-weighing trucks is not the only activity of our Investigations Division. This division at the moment is participating in the hearing of a new car dealer charged with selling cars of a make he is not franchised to handle.

"Our department is responsible for licensing private detectives. When an application is made the Investigation Division checks before we determine that we will or will not issue the license.

"This investigation function is only one of the many activities of the Department of State. It is just another reason that this is one of the largest of the various departments of the state government.

"When I took office I was amazed to learn that there were so many different activities assigned to my department. I'm sure that the general public would be equally amazed to observe the great variety," concludes Hare.

NOTICE

TREE SPRAYING

The survey by the State Agriculture Department, for Dutch Elm Disease, indicated that there were four trees in the City which had the disease.

The City has had all elm trees sprayed throughout the city along streets and parks.

This week the company that has been spraying these trees will spray all privately owned trees.

The cost per tree will range from $2.00 to $7.50. The cost will depend upon the size of the tree and how hard it is to get to.

Anyone who would like his elm trees sprayed please call the City Office as we have cards to fill out to give to the company who is doing the spraying.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

In the Matter of the Petition of the Board of Directors for the Dissolution of the
BRITTON TELEPHONE COMPANY.
ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

At a session of said Court held at the County Building in the City of Adrian on the 23rd day of July, A.D. 1956.

Present: The Honorable Rex B. Martin, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the petition of Audrey W. Miner and Dalton D. Walper, petitioners herein for the dissolution of the Britton Telephone Company, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Michigan, together with accounts, inventories, statements and affidavits annexed thereto, and the Court being fully advised in the premises, now on motion of John R. Zeigler, Attorney for the Petitioners,

IT IS ORDERED that all persons interested in the Britton Telephone Company show cause, if any they have, before me in the Court Room of the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee, at the City of Adrian, Lenawee County, Michigan, on Monday the 27th day of August, 1956, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, why said corporation should not be dissolved and a permanent receiver appointed.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order be served by regular mail upon all known creditors and stockholders of said corporation not later than the 27th day of July, 1956, and that a notice of the contents hereof be published three consecutive weeks, commencing with the issue of the 2nd day of August, 1956, in The Tecumseh Herald, a paper published and circulated in the County of Lenawee.

Speech Camp Offers Help to Stuttering

In a small 26-acre camp on the shores of Grand Traverse Bay, 99 boys from seven to 22 are engaged in a struggle the outcome of which could seriously effect the rest of their lives.

All of the boys have speech defects — some speak haltingly, others can barely be understood. Their struggle is to overcome their handicaps and go on to normal lives.

Though some of their speech impediments stem from physical defects such as cleft palate, loss of muscular control in mild cases of cerebral palsy, and loss of hearing, the largest group is that whose problem is stuttering.

SPEECH BLOCKED

Stuttering so pronounced that the youngster attempting to speak may go on for minutes making only inarticulate sounds — rubbing his face, tapping his leg with a hand, or scraping a foot on the floor in an effort to force himself past his "block".

To John Clancy, founder of Shady Trails Speech Improvement Camp 25 years ago and now its director under The University of Michigan, there are three main courses to follow to help such a youngster in correcting his speech.

One, on the theory that speech, like other muscular and nervous action, is largely dependent upon the condition and function of every part of the body, is physical conditioning in large doses.

Another is training and encouragement by graduate speech correctionists, many of them from the University of Michigan.

The third is talking.

DIRECTOR STUTTERED

"Talking," says ex-stutterer Clancy, "is like swimming. You can read all the books you want to, but you've got to get into the water to really learn how. My boys talk."

And talk they do. Lunch and supper are not only meals, they are a project, a toastmaster's paradise.

After each of the meals all 16 members of one of the camp's six cabins will make a speech. It may be the "Cavemen" after one meal, the members of the "Roost" after another, the "Wolverines" after the next, and so on through the "University Club", "Park Avenue" and the "Neophytes".

The speeches are usually only a handful of sentences in length and have a wide variation in subject but they have one thing in common — they are painful. The boys stammer and halt or they don't get started at all. They try to practice their breathing control and their vowel prolongation. Some of them make it and some of them don't. But they stay in front of the group until their speech is finished and they have introduced the next speaker.

The boy having difficulty may get upset at himself but he doesn't become embarassed or ashamed. He seems to know what every visitor to the camp seems to feel — that there are 98 other boys in the room who are trying to mentally push him past his "block".

SOME GET MAD

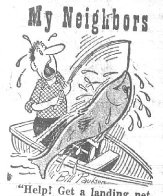
Some of the boys do get mad at themselves. Like the 14-year old who tried for minutes to begin a poem that began with the word "if". He finally gave up, slammed the written poem on the table and said, without a halt, "If I could say 'if' I could read this thing." When he realized what he had done he tried again and still couldn't say "if".

Clancy's method and that of his counselors is to say nothing if they can get one of the boys to talk instead. They don't usually have much trouble. As the boys begin to overcome their impediments they anxiously seize any opportunity to try their new skill.

Only rarely is a boy completely cured after one eight-week stay at the summer camp. But rare, too, says Clancy, is the case of a boy who forgets and relapses completely when he leaves. The usual thing, he says, is for the boys to forget some of the controls and to suffer a partial relapse into their old habits. They usually work themselves out of the habits if and when they return to the camp the following year.

Clancy emphasizes the point that the camp does not work any amazing recoveries. "We work with a boy and try to help him in every way we can. But in the end his progress is strictly up to him. If he works, and works hard, he will usually show improvement."



"Help! Get a landing net. Get a gaff hook. Get a witness!"

Witnesses Plan Lansing Conclave

The Tecumseh congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is making plans to attend a four-day major Bible conference at Lansing, Michigan, July 26-29, announced Kenneth Ball, presiding minister here.

Upwards of 10,000 are expected to attend with 50 delegates from the local area participating.

Although convention officials have designated this conclave as a tri-state affair, requests for accommodations have been received from 18 states.

"The local Civic Center, in Lansing, has been obtained for the meet," stated Mr. Ball, and "to augment restaurant facilities the witnesses plan to operate a cafeteria where some 20,000 meals will be served during our four-day stay in Lansing," he added.

"The purpose of the meet," said Mr. Ball, "is to aid all of Jehovah's Witnesses and those attending, to become adequately qualified for the ministry of announcing Jehovah's (God's) Kingdom." Emphasis will be placed on the obtaining and properly evaluating accurate Bible knowledge.

R. L. Anderson, principal speaker at the Lansing meet, will deliver the main public address, "Why Permanent Peace Will Come in Our Day," Sunday, July 29, 3 p.m. The convention is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible Society of New York and is but one of thirty-four such conferences being held throughout the United States and Canada this summer.

I, Alice M. Welch, Clerk of Lenawee County and of the Circuit Court thereof, the same being a Court of Record, and having a Seal, do hereby certify that I have compared the attached copy of

with the original and have found it to be a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of said Circuit Court, this 18th day of June, 1956.

Alice M. Welch, Clerk

STATE OF MICHIGAN
CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF LENAWEE
IN CHANCERY

DAISY LINES,
Plaintiff,
vs
NOEH BALDWIN, WILLIAM BALDWIN, MILES E. BALDWIN, DIANA BALDWIN, MILLIE SCHMEIER, ARTHUR BALDWIN, RUTH LANE, CHARLES E. TEFT, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns and any person claiming dower (either vested or inchoate) under any of the foregoing parties,
Defendants.

ORDER FOR APPEARANCE

At a Session of said Court held at the Courthouse in the City of Adrian in said County on the 18th day of June 1956.

Present: Honorable Rex B. Martin, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the bill of complaint in said cause and the affidavit of Daisy Lines attached hereto, from which it satisfactorily appears to the court that the defendants above named, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatee and assigns, are proper and necessary parties defendant in the above entitled cause, and,

It further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry it cannot be ascertained, and it is not known whether or not said defendants are living or dead, or where any of them may reside if living, and if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs living or where they or some of them may reside, and further that the present whereabouts of said defendants are unknown, and that the names of the persons who are included therein without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cannot be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry.

On motion of J. C. Beardsley, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in default thereof that said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants, their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns.

It is further ordered that within forty days plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in The Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said County, such publication to be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession.

Beaver Island Needs a Dr.

The vacation retreat of St. James, Beaver Island, located in Lake Michigan just north of Charlevoix is hunting for a doctor. Dr. Harry F. Vail, the island's only physician, is leaving Sept. 1.

In a unique financial arrangement, the State of Michigan makes a regular appropriation for a "Beaver Island Physician." Basic salary ranges from $6,493.68 to $7,642.08, plus all fees collected.

The doctor who comes to the island also will have a modern, well-equipped clinic, built by popular subscription.

The island, famous as the site of the Mormon colony founded by James Jesse Strang about 100 years ago, is now the home of almost 300 people — most of them descendants of the sturdy Irish fisherman who took over following the break-up of Strang's island empire.

The island, growing as a resort center, can be reached in summer by a 33 mile ferry boat ride from Charlevoix, but the only way on or off the island during winter months is by plane.

The Beaver Island Civic Association is doing its best to tempt a doctor to take the post on the island by pointing to all the lure and charm of unspoiled beaches, lush green pine, waters filled with fighting game fish and woodlands offering excellent hunting.

The Civic Association said that applications for the unusual post are being directed to Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, Lansing.

Extra Work at State Parks

Another new picnic table is made available for public use at one of Michigan's popular state parks. Maintenance duties are a big job for Conservation Department personnel at heavily-used state parks and recreation areas which receive about 18,000,000 visitors annually. In this scene, a careless park-user has increased the work load by being a "litterbug."

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL scenes like this would be duplicated across the nation if the assumed toll of "dead" and "injured" during Operation Alert 1956 were not merely "paper casualties." The 200-bed emergency hospital, including part of the sorting (triage) area shown here, has been designed by the FCDA to be moved into disaster areas and set up on short notice. It is complete with X-ray, operating room and other usual hospital equipment.

Labor Savers Featured on Farm Tour

How two men can handle a 50-cow milking herd, tend 100 feeder cattle, feed out 60 hogs and yet farm 475 acres will be revealed by Walter B. Lillie, Montcalm county, during the 1956 State Farm Management Tour.

The tour will visit the Lillie farm west of Greenville during the morning of Aug. 15, according to Everett Elwood, Michigan State University farm economist and state chairman of the tour.

Lillie and his son, Jack, supply most of the labor for this livestock farm. A high school age son, Elwin, helps with summer work.

The Lillies have made use of labor saving ideas and equipment to help them turn out a large amount of work per man. In the dairy operation, a self-feeding bunker silo with concrete sides and floor have cut roughage feeding time. A shuttle-type conveyor distributes silage from an upright silo into a basement manger.

A loose housing arrangement and an elevated milking parlor along with a concrete barnyard are other features which allow the Lillies to maintain a high output per man.

Skillful feeding practices help put good gains on their steers with a minimum amount of labor. Walter Lillie estimates that their feeding program puts about two pounds of gain per day on each steer.

Elwood urges visitors to come promptly at 9 a.m. to allow time to see the farm's unusual features. M.S.U. crops, dairy and livestock specialists will be present to discuss each feature.

The tour will stop for lunch at the Greenville fairgrounds to hear D. B. Varner, vice-president of Michigan State University. In the afternoon, the tour will continue on to the cash crop farm of Alvin Hansen, near Stanton.

Craft Can Be Learned by Pinching Pots

Pinching pots is one of the simplest projects in learning the craft of ceramics.

You learn how clay feels and how it behaves under your fingers, declared Pauline McSparran, extension home industries specialist at Michigan State University. No tools are necessary. Best of all, she says, adults and children can both enjoy and learn from making pinch pots.

A pinch pot is what the word says; you shape the pot by pinching the clay between your fingers —no tools. If you pinch well, a beautifully rounded shape emerges. It can be left as is, or pressed into some other form. A pot that starts out as a ball of clay can be turned into almost anything.

To pinch a pot, Miss McSparran says to start with a ball of clay which is small enough to fit easily in the palm of your hand. Round and smooth the ball as much as possible. Hold it in your cupped left hand keeping the bottom round, and with your right thumb, press down in the center and out. Soon it will take on the appearance of a little pot.

Pinch the clay between your thumb on the inside and your other fingers on the outside, working the wall up and out. If the clay starts to crack, especially at the rim, moisten the area and press it together.

When the pot is well rounded and evenly thick throughout, you can add your own personal touches. You might want to make a flutted edge or square the rim or attach a piece of clay to make a cigarette holder. Apply the glaze in your own personal color scheme and you have an original pot designed by you.

HARVEY EDWARD KUENN'S quest for his third 200-hit season in four full campaigns with Detroit received a serious setback when the blond shortstop was forced to leave the line-up for 16 days after injuring his foot in Boston.

Despite this loss of opportunity to fashion hits, plus the limitation of succeeding days when he served only as a part-time player while the injury continued to hamper him, the aggressive Mr. Kuenn is as determined as ever to regain all his lost ground.

Knowing Harvey, I'd be the last one to discount his efforts. If he doesn't make the charmed 200 circle, it won't be by much. I'd guess he'll wind up with between 190 and his hoped-for 200 hits.

Exactly 190 hits is what the big, raw-boned young fellow with the crew cut and twinkling blue eyes achieved last year. But he wasn't satisfied.

Hit Mark First Season

Harvey looked to his first full year with the Tigers in 1953, when he connected safely 209 times, and to the following season, when he rapped out 201 hits, and he was determined to return to the 200 mark this year.

Energetic young Harvey was going along at a good clip, too, connecting safely 68 times by around a third of the schedule, when the bad break upset his plans. Sliding into second base at Boston last June 7, he injured his instep so severely that he still is not back to peak performance on the base paths or at shortstop.

But the painful disability failed to slow down measurably the smoking Kuenn bat. Once Harvey returned to full duty, he began hitting to all fields again and by All-Star game time, the half-way mark on the schedule, he had reached 91 hits.

Of course, this sets him behind the pace in his ambitious effort, but records of other years disclose that Harvey is a strong finisher and does better in the second half of the campaign than in the first.

Three-Way Race

Naturally, as his hit output rises, so does his batting aver-

Down at the Playground

In Midget League play Central knocked off Tecumseh Acres 22 to 9 and Central and Herrick Park were rained out. This game will be played Thursday, Aug. 2.

Tecumseh Acres clobbered Central 15 to 9 in the Junior League with Mike Robinson hitting a homer. And Central shaded Herrick Park 10 to 9. Bob Dick had four for four. Larry Titley drove in the winning marker.

In Senior League play Herrick Park defeated Central 17 to 7. Lee Marsh had three for four, including a homer and Tony Kasik and Ric Solarski hit back to back homers.

Central took Tecumseh Acres 20 to 15. Bob Manley had four out of six, including a homer.

Central Girls edged Tecumseh Acres 11 to 9. Slugger Ann Kempf had three out of four.

"Bhowani" Ends at Strand

"Bhowani Junction," M-G-M filmization of John Masters' widely-read novel of a curious romantic triangle laid against the strife-torn and exotic background of Pakistan, ends tonight at the Strand Theatre.

Ava Gardner and Stewart Granger are co-starred for the first time, with Miss Gardner playing what has been heralded as the most dramatic role of her career as an Anglo-Indian girl torn between her loyalty for her native land and her love for a British Army officer, enacted by Granger.

The latter's rival for Miss Gardner is portrayed by Bill Travers, one of England's handsomest and most popular young actors, who is expected to loom importantly on the Hollywood horizon on the strength of his first role in an American-produced picture.

"Bhowani Junction" was filmed in CinemaScope and color on locations in Pakistan against backgrounds never before photographed. Headquarters for the location company was established in Lahofe, with the tons of equipment needed for the picture sent half way around the world from Hollywood.

Its scenes encompass the spectacle of terrorism and "passive resistance," street fighting and the looting of an ammunition train, a railroad wreck, scenes of burning and pillage, Miss Gardner's terror-stricken flight through the city and her act of murder in self-defense. In contrast is the unique ceremony of a Sikh wedding in a sacred temple and other scenes in which Miss Gardner and Granger are introduced to the art of native dancing.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Confused "Sit"–uation

Been meaning all week to tell you about Curley Lawson's "baby-sitting" experience.

His Mrs. left him in charge, about seven p.m., with instructions not to let the children come downstairs. So Curley read his paper and whenever he heard footsteps on the staircase he ordered the culprit back to bed. Happened three or four times.

Little while later, Mrs. Miller from next door came over to inquire if Curley had seen her Sonny. "Here I am, Mom" came a voice from upstairs, "But Mr. Lawson won't let me go home."

From where I sit, jumping to conclusions like Curley did, doesn't always make for an amusing story. I'm reminded of the people who—without due consideration—have concluded that I'm wrong to like an occasional glass of beer. Well, to my way of thinking, that's not only intolerant ... but, what's more, "minding" the other fellow's business is not the American way.

$10,000 Governor's Cup Trot Set for Northville

The annual $10,000 Governor's Cup Trot will be held Wednesday, Aug. 1, the last of five stakes on this season's program at Northville Downs.

It will come three nights before the closing of Northville's 13th season on Saturday night, Aug. 4.

Governor G. Mennen Williams will make his first appearance at the Downs this season to present the trophy to the winner.

Racing Secretary Harry Hatch reports that 10 horses were entered for this classic event. There will be two entries: Excellul and Johnna Averill and the other of Mr. Shelt, the Ohio-Kentucky champion, and Little Dannie. Other nominations are Elby Hanover, Lord Pick, Rhythmic Song, Imperial Gallon, Lord Stewart and Scotch Valley.

The free for all will be raced in two dashes of one mile each.

The first racing for the Governor's Cup at Northville was in 1945. The record is held by the great Proximity who trotted the mile in 2:02 4/5 in 1948.

Comedy Is Next for Saline Mill

"The Pursuit of Happiness," an American comedy by the noted Lawrence Langler, is the third play of the summer season for the Saline Mill Theatre. It opened Tuesday night at 8:30, July 24, for a two-week run.

Produced by Barbara Hamel and directed by Howard Malpas, "Pursuit" is laid in the days of the Revolutionary War in New England. It is a shrewd and humorous commentary on American morals and mores, as applicable today as 180 years ago.

The principal theme concerns a captured Hessian mercenary who intends to fight with the Continental Army, and is quickly embroiled in a conflict between intolerance and prejudice. As directed by English-born Howard Malpas, it is a broadly-sketched satire making the most of "situation comedy" as opposed to "quip" humor.

The underlying theme of the play, which touches on the early-American custom of "bundling," deals with the premise that "all men are created equal, free to exercise their rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The Hessian soldier, played by Ypsilanti's George Webb, falls in love with the daughter of a Caption of Militia, and courts her over the fanatical protestations of the local preacher.

The cast includes, in addition to Webb, who recently scored at the Flint Musical Tent, James C. Hamilton, vacationing radio announcer from Toledo, Ohio. Others are: Nadine Cherney, apprentice from Chicago; Ann Arbor's Marian Mercer; Ed Bordo ("The Moon is Blue"); Harry Burkey, Joanna Kellogg and Richard Thiede, Detroit.

Sets were designed by the imaginative Bob Maitland.

Performances begin at 8:30 p.m. nightly except Mondays. Reservationes can be made by phoning Saline 31.

Services Held for Charles L. Butrick

The funeral of Charles Lynn Butrick took place last Thursday at the Green Funeral Home with burial in Brookside cemetery. Graveside services were conducted by Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. Puffer, Jack Puffer and Stanley Miller.

Mrs. F. A. Osborn Buried Tuesday

Burial services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Brookside cemetery for Mrs. Frank A. Osborn of Detroit. Mrs. Osborn was the former Eva Wilson of Tecumseh, daughter of Henry and Ellen Bradley Wilson and was born here in 1879. She attended Tecumseh schools and lived here until her marriage.

Mrs. Osborn is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Charles Sharp and a grandson, Charles R. Sharp, all of Detroit and one sister, Edith, Mrs. George Witheral of Columbus, Ohio. She was preceded in death by her parents and one brother, Halleck Wilson of Detroit. Sidney and Howard Wilson of Tecumseh are cousins of Mrs. Osborn.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Complimenting Miss Marian Elizabeth Titley, a Sept. bride-elect, Mrs. Lawrence Boyd entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home on north Adrian highway, Saturday evening.

Games and contests entertained the 32 guests present and the prizes won by 12 of the guests were in turn presented to Miss Titley. She also opened many gifts which had been arranged on a pink and white decorated table with a bride doll sitting beneath a large pink and white umbrella. Several gifts were hidden about the house for Miss Titley to find by instructions given in rhymes.

The Misses Ruth Elaine Titley and Patricia Dibble assisted Marian when she opened her gifts. Mrs. Herman Titley poured and Mrs. Boyd was assisted in serving by her granddaughter Cynthia Feight and her daughter Mrs. James Feight.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Titley's sister-in-law, Mrs. Dorman Titley of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio and her aunts, Mrs. Raymond Mohr of Farmington and Mrs. Glenn Titley and daughter of Dearborn and Mrs. Walter Titley and three daughters of Santa Monica, Calif. Others were present from Tipton and Tecumseh.

Research May Solve Cancer Problem

(Editor's Note: If a cancer cure or preventative is found, such a triumph will have its roots in painstaking research constantly moving forward in many laboratories. The following is the first of two articles describing the varied approach to the cancer problem by research teams at Michigan State University.)

Research teams at Michigan State University are waging a five-pronged attack against cancer from their East Lansing laboratories.

Their approach to the disease is as varied as the scientific backgrounds of the men involved — zoology, veterinary medicine, botany and plant pathology, chemistry, natural sicence and microbiology.

But by this very diversity of attack and method, the men hope M.S.U. will be able to contribute significant findings to cancer control, prevention or cure.

CELLS ARE STUDIED

Although there is clinical research underway, the M.S.U. teams are primarily engaged in basic research. Through study of body and plant sells and their functions, the researchers hope to find the key to the secret of why some cells become cancerous and "run wild."

Fundamental laboratories such as these continually feed their individual findings and indications into the nation's larger and more complex cancer research centers and organizations — each one adding something to fill the vast gaps still existing in medical knowledge of cancer.

If a cancer cure or preventative is found, it will have its roots in long years of day-to-day basic research painstakingly done in laboratories by scientists such as those at Michigan State.

"In the search for cancer inhibitors, scientists can overlook nothing reasonable," says Dr. Eugene H. Lucas, professor of horticulture, who, with Dr. Richard U. Byerrum, associate professor of chemistry, heads one of the groups.

The two men develop and test extracts from carefully-selected plants to see if they will affect cancerous cells. They select plants on previous knowledge or hints of medicinal values. Prof. Lucas has studied plant folklore extensively for clues.

"Medicine men, witch doctors and just plain people have handed down some medical recipes from generation to generation by word of mouth. In all that time, a process of elimination must have taken place, so what is left merits scrutiny," Dr. Lucas suggests.

IT'S A SLOW PROCESS

"South American Indians fought malaria with quinine for centuries, and ancient India knew of the drugs we have only recently begun using to treat insanity. In 1875, a British doctor reported that foxglove — which contains digitalis glycosides — was of medicinal value. He experimented on it after a woman told him she sucessfully used the plant extracts for treatment of dropsy. Today, digitalis is used for heart disease.'

One of Lucas' folklore hints paid off recently. Attracted to the St. Johns-wort plant family by statements in old books that it "drove out witches," Lucas and his co-workers on another project discovered a new antibiotic which—in its unpurified state — has one-tenth the effectiveness of penicillin.

Drs. Byerrum and Lucas have discovered that some growth-regulating substances in plants show action against cancer, and that some antibacterial mixtures may kill cancer cells as well as bacteria.

GRANTS ARE GIVEN

The two scientists have been working under grants from the American Cancer society and the National Institute of Health. The Sloan-Kettering institute is cooperating in the studies by doing additional screening and actual testing with animals. Thus far, the institute has tested almost 3,000 samples from the laboratories of the two men.

Michigan State also has a large-scale program of clinical research in cancer. The patients are dogs, cattle and other animals afflicted with cancer or leukemia. But the diagnostic techniques and treatments used in the clinics of the M.S.U. College of Veterinary Medicine may prove important in shedding light on human cancer, Dean Chester F. Clark points out.

LEARN FROM ANIMALS

"The rate of cancer in dogs is relatively the same as in humans and of the same types and activity," says Dr. Andrew C. Wheeler, veterinarian and instructor in radiology. "Treatment is carried out in animals along pretty much the same lines as it is in human cancer patients."

The university's Small Animal Clinic, under the supervision of Prof. Edward K. Sales, treated more than 200 animal cancer cases last year. Members of the College staff are making intensive studies on identification of cancer and on the effects of clinical treatment with irradiation by deep X-rays, surgery and chemotherapy.

The Large Animal Clinic treated 39 cancer cases in 1955, and diagnosed many more. Cancer in cattle is just as common—or more so—as it is in humans, according to Prof. George R. Moore, who directs the clinic.

Most common is lymphocytoma, which is similar to human leukemia. Just as in the human form, there is as yet no known cure for the disease. But there is an economic advantage for farmers in early diagnosis so the animal can be salvaged rather than left to a drawnout death on the farm.

CATTLE HAVE IT

Each year, about 10,000 cattle are condemned on packing house floors when federal inspectors find them affected by neoplastic diseases, many of which closely resemble cancer.

White-faced Hereford cattle also frequently develop carcinoma of the eye. The eye cancer results in death unless treated surgically before it spreads. Federal packing-house inspectors condemn cattle who have this cancer, since the meat of such animals is considered unfit for food.

Thus, this phase of the M.S.U. cancer program has important implications for farmers and consumers, as well as possible applications in the field of human medicine.

U-M Promotes 'Self-Help' for Communities

During eighteen years of active leadership in the field of community education, the University of Michigan has promoted — still promotes — a variety of approaches to community self-help, says Howard Y. McClusky, professor of educational psychology. The work is directed by Community Adult Education, a joint function of the extension service and the School of Education.

Among these approaches is the community survey in which local laymen decide on the topic to be covered and actually go out and ask the questions. It might concern recreation needs and facilities, adult education needs, interests and preferences, housing or other areas of concern.

A survey of public functions and facilities gives citizens a chance to criticize and suggest. It asks: "What's right or wrong with this town?"

The U-M staff is shying away from using the surveys for predicting the future. Professor McClusky said prognosis was "out of the bailiwick" of his group and that "we don't aspire to that degree of precision." As a by-product, though, some good predictive information often comes out of the surveys.

Community councils have been one of the most productive types of organizations for co-operative community effort fostered by the program. These councils usually include representatives of major educational, civic, welfare and economic interests; they pursue multiple goals, largely under volunteer leadership.

In one Michigan community, a council was the forerunner of a citizens' committee to support the public schools and to advise the local government. In another, the formation of a recreation commission was sparked by the council, and in still another a community chest sprang out of the council.

As we said before—
It's a Great Time to Buy a Buick

WE'VE BEEN SAYING for some weeks now that you really ought to come see us for the buy of your life—and we're not fooling.

There's never been a better time to buy a new Buick than right now—and we list here 3 solid facts that make this gospel.

Fact No. 1: Since it's only July, you have a lot of wonderful driving weather ahead.

Fact No. 2: Your present car is at its peak worth right now.

Fact No. 3: Buick gives you more solid automobile for your money than ever before—as witness how Buick outsells every other car in America except two of the well-known smaller ones.

So why hold back another week, another day?

Why deny yourself the fun of bossing the mightiest Buick V8 yet?

Why pass up the world's most luxurious ride—and the magnificent ease of handling that goes with Buick's great new travel?

Most pointedly, why miss out on the most modern thing on wheels—Variable Pitch Dynaflow*...

Where the top inch of pedal travel gives you brand-new getaway, plus brand-new gas savings ...

And where you can switch the pitch—like a pilot does—for a blazing new safety-surge of full power.

Like we say—these are the things that make the best Buick yet the best buy yet right now.

Come in today and let us show you what a great car this '56 Buick really is—and what a great time right now is to buy one.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Christian Science Services Listed

The value and importance of right motives in daily living will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" will include the following (454:17-21): "Love for God and man is the true incentive in both healing and teaching. Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action."

The freedom-giving power of divine Love will also be brought out in the Scriptural readings which include the following (1 John 4:18): "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

Protane Buys Out Garrison's

Russell Mueller, regional manager of the Protane Corporation, announced that his company is purchasing the bottled gas business of Garrison's in Adrian. The Protane Corporation will service their customers out of their Tecumseh Plant.

The Tecumseh plant of Protane has recently been remodeled, and a complete new bulk tank storage system constructed. This $18,000 remodeling job will enable Protane to meet the needs of all their new customers.

Paul McManis, district manager of the Tecumseh plant, pointed out that Protane will step up its efforts to be of service to their new customers with the desire to make service better than ever.

Mr. McManis announces that Jack Myers, who serviced Garrison's customers for the last three years, will be retained by Protane and continue servicing his old customers.

Mr. McManis cordially invites all of his new friends and customers to drop in and inspect the showroom and modern bulk tank facilities.

Fall Fashions Play Up Color and Texture

Your new fall ensemble is more likely to have definite texture that is apparent to the eye as well as the mind.

The single biggest fabric news this year is the reappearance of surface interest, announces Florence Rann, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State University. Texture will dominate all fabrics regardless of fiber, type or use.

You can see the use of texture by watching for enlarged weaves, ribbon weaves, close grainy weaves, flattened surfaces and crepes. Crepes are being revived in a big way—not only in silks—but in wool jerseys, wool suitings and dresses and acetates. Magnifield patterns big, big classic checks, stripes and plaids will play an important part on the fashion scene.

Miss Rann goes on to say that in color, it's black plus five big families. Not just black [illegible] black" as a carrier of new weaves and new surfaces will spark fashions. First in colors is the entire brown family including beige and taupe. Greeny taupes will be high fashion; camels for suits, coats, separates and dresses; and beiges for formal and cocktail dresses.

Second in importance will be red. These will be hot and blue tones. Number three will be true, blue blues. There will be no purple, grey or green in them, but they will be clear blues which are pure and intense, yet not vibrant.

The green family ranks fourth on the color hit parade. These will include yellowed greens, blue-greens, sage-greens and bronze-greens. The fifth color group is that of antique coin tones—gold, brass, copper and deep rust. These coin colors are expected to be used in sportswear and coats more than anywhere else.

To dazzle the eye for late-day fashion, Miss Rann declares there will be paper-thin and soft-as-chiffon taffetas. Satins will be so sheer you'd think they were chiffons and brocades will be loaded with metal (though lightweight) and truly monotone at first glance. Baratheas and peaus are being given pronounced weave interest, and velvet, as always, will be high fashion.

Rounding out the fashions forecast for fall, Miss Rann points out that tweeds are in for their biggest year. They will have smoother surfaces, monotone colors and weightlessness despite frequent bulkiness. Something to look for right now are the dark rich colored silk tweeds.

LABEL GUIDES BUYING OF DACRON CURTAINS

Look for the label when buying "dacron" curtains. It helps as a quality guide, says Michigan State University clothing specialists.

At present 31 fabric manufacturers use the label which is furnished to them by the company that makes the "dacron" fiber. It states, "The fabric in the curtain is woven 100 per cent of 'dacron' polyester fiber, has at least 52 x 34 threads to the inch and that the label is furnished by the company for use only on curtains made of fabric of this construction or better."

Committees Play Major Role in Outcome of Political Conventions

BY PROF. NORTON E. LONG
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles about the national political conventions prepared especially for weekly newspapers by Dr. Long with assistance of the M.S.U. Department of Information Services. An expert on public administration and political parties, Prof. Long is currently acting head of the department of political science and director of the Michigan Citizenship Clearing House.)

Some of the biggest battles of national convention history have been fought in the four great committees, or at the time the committees reported to the convention.

An important factor in President Eisenhower's nomination in 1952, for example, was the overriding by his supporters of the late Senator Robert Taft's backers who controlled the credentials committee. Thus committee strategy plays an extremely important role in the actual nominations.

The keynote speech over, the convention's four principal committees are selected. These are the credentials, platform, rules and permanent organization committees. The chairman of each state delegation rises and presents names of delegates from his state to serve.

FOUR ARE PRESENTED

Usually, each state presents four names, one for each committee. Sometimes five will be nominated, with two serving on the platform committee. The four groups then set to work, while the convention continues. Much of the excitement may come with the reports of the committees. So, until they are in, the convention marks time and listens to speeches.

The credentials committee normally is first to report. The national convention is absolute judge of the qualifications of its members. Credentials are passed upon in the first instance by the national committee which draws up a temporary list of the delegates it deems qualified to sit at the convention.

By Republican Party rule, the national committee must place on the temporary list all delegates duly certified by the state's public officials as having been selected in accordance with the laws of the state. The Democratic Party has no such rule.

The delegates, if any, not seated by the national committee have an appeal to the credentials committee. This happens particularly with splinter groups, or "parties within the party." Two complete sets of delegates may show up at the convention, both claiming to be the "rightful" delegation from the state.

RECOMMEND SEATING

This is what happened in the Republican convention in 1952. The national committee, the convention arrangements committee and the four major committees were all Taft-dominated. Several states sent two delegations to the convention, one pro-Taft, the other pro-Eisenhower. With about 70 votes at stake, the Taft-dominated credentials committee recommended that most of the Taft-supporting delegations be seated.

When the committee report was read, the convention first passed a "fair play" amendment prohibiting contested delegations from voting until their contests were finally settled. This eliminated the 70 votes which would ordinarily have gone to support the seating of the Taft backers.

With the 70 eliminated, the Eisenhower-favoring convention then went on to seat all of the Eisenhower delegations, ultimately making possible Eisenhower's nomination and defeat of the Taft forces.

ONE MAN CONTROL

Thus it is possible that one candidate will control the machinery of the convention completely as Taft did in 1952, and yet fail to be nominated. This is probably one of Adlai Stevensons' fears this year.

A dramatic fight broke out in 1944 at the Democratic convention. The credentials committee recommended seating the "regular" Texas delegation which was opposing the fourth term of Roosevelt. As a conciliatory move, however, it suggested both delegations be seated, and each delegate be given a half vote, in effect carcelling out the Texas vote. When the convention adopted this recommendation, the "regular" delegation angrily walked out, thus assuring the nomination of F.D.R.

Vets' Survivors Are Aided by New Program

Four suggestions to aid Tecumseh survivors of deceased veterans in filing claims for death compensation and pension were offered today by Lloyd H. Jameson, Manager of the Detroit Veterans' Administration Regional Office.

Mr. Jameson said the Detroit Regional Office now processes new claims for death benefits under a recent VA decentralization program. Formerly, these claims had to be sent to St. Paul, Minnesota, or Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, District Offices for processing.

By following these four suggestions, survivors will expedite the payment or rejection of claims, Mr. Jameson said.

The hints are:

1. If the veteran's death certificate does not contain a statement as to the cause of death, it should be accompanied by a certificate from the attending physician showing the dates of treatment and cause of death.

2. A widow filing a claim should furnish the record of her marriage to the veteran. If she or the veteran were previously married, she should furnish copies of death or divorce certificates to establish that previous marriages were dissolved.

3. If minor children are among the survivors, birth or baptismal records are required, containing the names of both parents and date of birth. If the children were adopted, a copy of the court order of adoption is needed.

4. Parents filing a claim must establish their relationship to the veteran by furnishing VA with a certified copy of the veteran's birth or baptismal certificate containing the names of both parents and evidence of their dependency.

Mr. Jameson said this evidence is required by the laws governing compensation and pension payments.

TWO CHAMPIONS OF THE ROAD... both Chevrolets!

To the eye, the sleek torpedo shape of the new Corvette and the long, massive lines of the new Chevrolet are far different. But these two champions have one superb quality in common—both were born to cling to the road as though they were part of it!

Matter of fact, Chevrolet's astonishing roadability—its precision ball-bearing steering, wide spaced rear springing and beautifully balanced weight distribution—are the major reasons why Chevrolet is America's short track stock car racing champion. It can and does out-run and out-handle cars with 100 more horsepower. When you wed this rock-solid stability to superb engines such as the 225-h.p. V8 that flashed the Corvette to a new American sports car record—then you get a real championship combination. Stop by for a sample.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Further proof of the heavy demand on Michigan's game and fish resources was indicated by 1955 license sales totals, released this week. More than 2,300,000 hunting and fishing licenses were issued for that calendar year.

Impressive as the figure may seem, it is not completely accurate because many more thousands enjoy fishing each year and are not required to purchase licenses. Wives of resident fishermen and children under 17 years of age do not need fishing permits. Also, no license is needed for sport fishing on the Great Lakes.

Fishing licenses accounted for approximately 1,150,000 of the total sales and another 226,000 trout stamps were purchased by fishermen.

The biggest jump in numbers, however, was among hunters as more than 1,218,000 went afield last year—an increase of about 32,000 over the preceding year.

Resident hunters made up 1,197,000 of the total while Michigan was host to about 21,000 non-resident hunters.

Oak wilt, a forest disease trying to get a foothold in southern Michigan woodlots, is in for a struggle with the state departments of Agriculture and Conservation.

Twenty-eight counties in the south half of the lower peninsula are being surveyed from Conservation Department planes to determine location of trees infected with oak wilt. Department of Agriculture ground crews will use results of the survey to find and kill these trees before the disease becomes widespread.

Conservation foresters point out that oak wilt is spotty in Michigan; not as prevalent as in neighboring states. But it is persistently taking two or three trees each year from many woodlots in southern counties. Primarily, the disease attacks red, black and pin oaks and kills them within two weeks.

Department of Agriculture workers, with consent of woodlot owners, girdle infected trees and treat them chemically to speed death and prevent roots from sprouting. Red, black and pin oaks within 50 feet of infected trees also are girdled and treated to break the chain of infection.

Two Michigan residents recently paid $10 fines for operating noisy motorboats.

According to state law, all motorboat engines must be "adequately muffled" when boats are operated on inland waters of Michigan, or within one-quarter mile of the shoreline on the Great Lakes. Special exceptions to this law are made for regulated races, regattas and speed trials.

An Adrian justice also ordered the two men, from Adrian and Onsted, to pay $7 each in court costs.

The two were listed among the 97 violators on the latest conservation law convictions report. The group paid a total of $738 in fines and $705 in court costs. Justices throughout the state also handed down jail sentences totaling 55 days.

---

Recent reports on two ducks banded in Michigan a few years ago give an indication of the distances sometimes covered by migrating waterfowl.

The two birds were lesser scaup, commonly called "bluebills."

The first was banded March 28, 1952, on the Detroit River and was killed Jan. 26, 1956 near Camaguey, Cuba.

The second duck was banded March 26, 1953, near the mouth of the Detroit River and its flight carried it all the way to Venezuela, where it was bagged on March 4 of this year.

State and federal conservation workers band waterfowl and tabulate recovery information in order to study the birds' migration and nesting habits. This information is particularly helpful in setting waterfowl hunting regulations.

In the Little League Britton took the measure of Tecumseh 1 to 0. Steve Kruger had a total of 14 strikeouts and he allowed only two hits.

Britton's winning run was scored on two Tecumseh errors. The locals again had key players on vacation.

age, and Kuenn is batting around .350 as of this writing. He's in a three-way race for the American League batting title with Charley Maxwell and Mickey Mantle, and not a few of the Tigers privately believe that Harvey will win the crown.

This .350 figure is considerably above Kuenn's best in previous campaigns in the majors, the strong righthander having turned in .308 - .306 - .306 in his other three years, but Harvey is still learning and there's no telling how far he'll go before he reaches his peak in baseball.

In his only season in the minors, Kuenn hit .340 in 63 games with Davenport of the Three-I League. Finishing the year with Detroit, he hit .325 in 19 games.

Afield Harvey is improving with each year's added experience and he has become one of the best shortstops in the league, not counting the current limitations of his injury. As a base runner, Kuenn was doing remarkably well, too, until he was hurt. But it is at bat that Harvey is the greatest terror — and that includes the quest for 200 hits.

Community Action Movement Shows Concrete Results

Dozens of beneficial developments have resulted from the community action movement promoted by the University of Michigan during eighteen years of helping Michigan communities to help themselves.

This is the statement of Howard Y. McClusky, U-M professor of educational psychology and consultant in community adult education.

Among developments he lists: community idea scouts who visit other towns to learn new useful ideas; community directories listing organiaztions, facilities and key people; news-letters reporting community activities; leadership training conferences; presidents' clubs in which organization heads attempt to co-ordinate individual organization activity with over-all community needs.

Also community beautification; information centers on community organization, activities and ideas; study groups for school needs; community music programs, community fairs, projects in international understanding.

Institutes for better home and community living, home planners' institutes, community health projects, children's clinics, nursery schools, baby sitter service, cooperative child centers, hospitality committees to welcome new residents, movie and projector loan centers for organizations, toy lending libraries, tool "libraries," second-hand goods exchange and disposal centers, and school lunch programs.

Among other projects have been citizenship programs for new voters, institutes for elected officials, roving play-lots in which play materials are trucked from one vacant lot to another on a schedule, craft shops for adults, youth forums — the list goes on and on.

In such ways, "the people" on the local level are busy making their communities better, says Professor McClusky.

"Democracy demands local planning, participating, prosecution. Without these democracy cannot mean much," he notes.

Milk Producers Appoint Venne

RICHARD V. VENNE

Appointment of Richard V. Venne as director of information of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, was announced today by H. F. Simmons, secretary manager. Venne succeeds Lewis W. Morley who retired July 1.

Venne comes to Michigan Milk from the Albers Feed division of Carnation Milk Company, Los Angeles, where he was assistant advertising manager. He is a native of Milwaukee and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1953 with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural journalism. In 1954 he received his master's degree from the same university before joining the Albers division.

A tour of army duty in both Germany and Japan where he was assigned to information and publications work preceded his undergraduate training. Venne is 29 years old.

Doctor's Life Behind Iron Curtain Called Tough

One of Europe's best surgeons says that Russia's most recent new look is not a change of heart. He calls it "Smiling Politics."

Dr. Rene Fontaine, professor of surgery and dean of the Medical Faculty at France's University of Strasburg, said while visiting the University of Michigan Medical School recently that the Soviets latest tack is more treacherous than the blunt, open policy of domination which preceeded it. "The Soviets goals have not changed, and I do not believe they will," he stated.

He emphasized his point by stating, "I would rather die than have to practice medicine and teach under the communists."

Commenting on medical education behind the Iron Curtain, Dr. Fontaine said that considering the lack of freedom and shortage of medical faculty, satellite countries were producing some pretty fair surgeons. "They are generally well-trained," he stated, adding "and are performing operations, such as those of heart, with admirable skill."

He pointed out, however, that there are many drawbacks.

MUST RATE WITH PARTY

To become a surgeon one has to have a good standing in the Communist party. Medical men who are not party members are permitted to practice, but are cut off from all contacts with medical students, he stated.

Medical practice in satellite countries is suffering, Dr. Fontaine stated. Poland is suffering the most. Most medical school teachers are in their 70's, while the next age level of new doctors and students is below 35 years. The vacuum of men in the "prime" ages between 35 and 70 is a result of Poland's involvement in the second world war, which took a great toll of lives, he said.

To make up for the doctor shortage in Poland, the Communist government is now permitting persons to practice the more routine forms of medicine, and simple surgery, after studying only one year—and this can be right after high school, he said.

Satellite countries are placing a great emphasis on research Dr. Fontaine stated. The doctors seem to be eager to do research and are doing some good work. A great deal of money is being poured into research, and some modern research centers are being built.

HAMPERED BY REGIME

Research is hampered, however, by the communist regime, he said. Physiologists, for example, cannot perform any experiments the nature of which may be contrary to the teachings of the Russian physiologist, Pavlov, who is famous for his experiments with dog reflexes.

Noncommunist researchers have a very difficult time getting their work published, as all of the medical journals behind the iron curtain have communist party members as editors. Their red pencils are aimed continuously at the noncommunist doctors, he added.

"A noncommunist doctor has a difficult time in the satellite countries, to say the least," he commented.

Even communist doctors are not having such a good time of it, he said. In Czechoslovakia, for example, Dr. Fontaine said that he knew of only one doctor in the entime country who owned an automobile. The lucky one had performed a successful operation on a high communist government official.

As one of the four power commissioners in Vienna for several years after the second world war, and through his Medical School's resident exchange program he got to learn the communists and their ways.

Concerning medical education in East Germany, he said that there is a real shortage of doctors there because "so many have fled to West Germany and freedom." The East Germans are not helping relieve that shortage, because they have a hard and fast rule that no son of a professional man, doctor, lawyer, et cetera, is permitted to go to medical school. Only laborers' sons can go to medical school. A doctor's son will be admitted, however, if he can prove that his father is the son of a laborer, he stated.

Medicine behind the iron curtain is making some surprising strides, Dr. Fontaine said. "Medical men are greatly handicapped, however, by the denial of freedom of thought and expression common to the communist atmosphere." he concluded.

Wear Those Feed Bags!

Colorful wearing apparel and home accessories made from the cotton bags that once contained feed, flour and other products will be a feature of the sewing competition of the Home Arts Department at the 1956 Michigan State Fair, Aug. 31 through Sept. 9.

Cash prizes will be awarded in each of the following entry lots: Mother and daughter dresses; stuffed toy; child's or crib size quilt or comfort; luncheon set; blouse; pajamas; men's or boys' sport shirt and kitchen curtains.

The sweepstakes prize to the person winning the highest total of cash prizes will be a portable electric sewing machine and the winner becomes eligible to submit her entry for judging in the national competition in Chicago in Nov.

Judging will be based on originality, workmanship and appearance. One entry may be submitted for each lot. All entries must be made entirely from cotton feed, flour, fertilizer or sugar bags with the exception of trimmings such as rick-rack, braid, tapes, ribbons, buttons, etc.

Premium books and entry blanks may be obtained without charge by sending a postal card to the Home Arts Department, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Michigan.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me.—(Philippians 4, 13.)

"All things are possible — only believe." Too often too many of us give up in despair, turning away from the hand that always is extended to help us — the hand which holds all the power of the Almighty: the hand of Jesus, Saviour, through which we reach God.

George Is Honored

Are you perfectly willing to sit back and "let George do it" when it comes to any constructive endeavor that might help improve your club or your town? Admittedly, it is the easiest way out.

Corunna, up in Shiawassee County, had this age-old problem. The city was dead because too many citizens were all too willing to sit back and "let George do it." The only trouble was that even George wasn't on the ball in Corunna. George was lazy and indifferent, too; so nothing of any importance got done.

But that has changed in Corunna now. "Let George Do It," the too familiar phrase denoting escape from an unpleasant job, is being capitalized. Corunna will have a festival Aug. 11 and 12. The festival will be called significantly "George Do It Day."

The festival will include street dances and a barbecue in honor of the mythical man of so many talents. And all men on the two days will be called "George;" their wives will be called "Georgia."

The idea for the festival developed when the city began an improvement campaign.

Commenting in the Shiawassee News, editor Frank Dunham wrote: "As little as one year ago Corunna was as dead as a [illegible] can be, because 'George was supposed to do it.' Then things began to happen, slow at first; then in a steady tempo."

And now Corunna is alive again all because "George" has been pried loose from his easy chair and is doing something for his city.

A blight at Corunna has been turned into a healthy, living activity that will improve the town.

Have Fun . . . But Be Careful

Going on vacation? Then don't let an unpleasant experience spoil it.

The National Safety Council says Tecumseh area folks can have a carefree vacation if they will remember these tips:

BEFORE YOU LEAVE - -

1. Stop milk, newspaper and other deliveries. Ask a neighbor to keep advertising circulars off your porch.
2. Don't lower window shades. Arrange to have your lawn mowed. Prowlers watch for such tip-offs.
3. Notify postoffice to hold mail, or arrange delivery to a neighbor.
4. Lock windows and doors. Remember basement windows and coal chute.
5. Shut off gas and water at main valves. Shut off electricity at master switch unless refrigerator or food freezer is to be left on. If current must be left on, disconnect lamps and appliances at wall outlets. If refrigerator is disconnected, leave door open to prevent mold.
6. Inform police how long house will be vacant and where you can be reached in an emergency.
7. Service car thoroughly with close attention to safety features such as lights, brakes, tires, steering, windshield wipers.
8. Put a first aid kit and flashlight in the car. An inexpensive package of fuses may be a lifesaver if you have trouble along the road.

ON THE WAY - -

1. Speed kills — take it easy. Start a little earlier and don't try to cover too great a distance in a day.
2. Long drives at constant speed make you drowsy. Vary your speed and stop occasionally to stretch your legs.
3. Be sure you understand driving techniques in different localities, such as in the mountains or on superhighways.
4. Don't be impatient to make time. It's unsafe, and it's not restful driving. Watch your passing.
5. Signs and signals are not uniform in all states. Read them carefully when in strange territory.

AFTER YOU ARRIVE - -

1. R-e-l-a-x! Don't try to crowd a year's exercise into two weeks.
2. Take the sun in easy doses. Dont nap in the sun. Wear sunglasses.
3. Stay out of the water for at least an hour after eating, and swim in sight of others. Be sure water is deep enough and free of obstructions before diving. Don't try to swim too far.
4. Distribute the load evenly in boats. Don't stand up. If you fall out and the boat stays on an even keel, climb in over the stern. Most boats won't sink, so stay with it until help comes if it capsizes. Check the weather before going far on a large lake.
5. Don't sample berries, touch unfamiliar plants, or drink impure water.

John Millik bought a spacious, closein home through our office. "I think we can be happy here," he said.

A few weeks later he remarked to me, "It must make you feel good to be able to bring happiness to others."

Rather surprised at this observation, I replied, "Do you like the new home?"

"Like it!" John exclaimed, "We love it! For the first time in the 21 years we've been married we are truly settled. I notice my wife relaxing and enjoying herself. We have a place for everything. Owning that home has given us a real mental and spiritual lift. We just can't thank you enough for finding it for us and showing us how easy we could own it."

Frankly, hearing such a remark has given me a new "lift." I've resolved to see if I can help other families find the joy of owning the right kind of a home.

With this thought in mind, please call on us if you are in the "house market." We'll be pleased to try to please you!

Strange How The "Liberal" Mind Works

News From The Past From Our EARLY FILES

1856

The organization of the Northern Lenawee Agricultural Association is now complete and comprises the townships of Franklin, Raisin, Ridgeway, and Tecumseh. Officers are M. A. Patterson, president; William Hall, John Richard, F. A. Kennedy and J. B. Wells, vice-presidents; B. L. Baxter, secretary and B. J. Bidwell, treasurer.

Messrs. Richards and VanTine are receiving the best and largest stock of furniture ever in this market, consisting of everything from a child's cradle to a $50 sofa.

1866

Tecumseh is to be honored with another weekly newspaper to be known as the Raisin Valley Record and published by P. W. Adams.

We should have a local item on the extreme heat but can't do justice to the subject on paper; hence refrain from comment.

No amalgamation about it. We have it. Pure white mosquito netting. One side repels Democratic mosquitoes; the other Republican mosquitoes. Those proud of their "blood" can save it by obtaining the above at Moore's.

1876

The thermometer registers 100 degrees in the shade.

The frame of the new bridge at Raisin mills is nearly completed.

The Fast Mail has been discontinued and Fred Avery is back on the passenger between Adrian and Monroe.

We have an ice cream wagon that runs around town delivering ice cream to the homes.

Now mosquitoes are presenting their bills. Scratch around and pay up.

We are indebted to our friend Mat Blosser of Manchester for a life like portrait of the "76 Club Printer of Tecumseh." We never could get his picture before.

1886

Wheat is all harvested and secured without any rain on it.

A stock company has been organized here with a capital of $5,000 for the purpose of building a creamery.

Dryer and dryer, day by day.

The trees on the streets have been trimmed of all branches nearer than eight feet from the ground.

Albert Vedder has purchased the draying business of Will Scofield.

Ed Hough has his new steamer on the Globe pond. It will carry eight passengers.

D. P. Anthony has completed three of the finest barns in Raisin township.

A. J. Coddington has sold the Shelby Enterprise and returned to Tecumseh.

1906

James Geehan of Battle Creek is working for John Hazlett, tailor.

Raynor Anderson is home from Boston on a vacation.

John Reinke, a former teacher here and Clara Bliss of Jonesville were married July 16.

1916

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNeil, July 18, a son.

Lellah Wuerthner is enjoying a trip through the west.

An open air bowling alley has been set up in the vacant lot back of McCann and Bowen's store.

1926

The generator on the steam turbine at the Electric plant burned out Monday resulting in $1,000 damage.

Jack Curtiss was operated on for mastoid, Monday.

1936

About three-fourths of the water gates in the town's water system have been repaired so far. The damage resulted from the heavy freeze last winter. Engineer Al Bagshaw reports that so far they have not found one that was in working order.

The fire marshall has recommended fire escapes on the Witherell building and on the Eagles Hall on north Evans street.

Damage to highways from the extreme heat has been estimated at $15,000 in the state.

Mrs. Bertram Updyke has taken the position of kindergarten teacher at West Branch.

1946

The council has approved an expenditure of $25,000 for a storm sewer on Patterson street from Evans to the river.

Ellsworth Collins has been elected the first president of the newly organized Exchange Club.

Following the example of the county organization the local Red Cross Nurses Aides have disbanded after several years of service.

John J. Orr, who has been well known as a Tecumseh druggist for nearly 50 years died Sunday at the age of 91.

Miss Elsie Jones of Britton and Warren Filter of Tecumseh were married July 16.

Annette A. Bailey and James W. Nichols Married

The marriage vows of Annette A. Bailey and James W. Nichols were spoken Saturday evening in Grace Lutheran Evangelical church in Tecumseh. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey of Blood road and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Nichols, whose home is on S. Ottawa street.

MRS. JAMES W. NICHOLS

The Rev. Adolph Jeschke, pastor of the church performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. before the altar whose gold vases were filled with white gladioli. The chancel was banked with palms and candelabra of lighted tapers while white gladioli and satin bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attended by Miss Marge Papp of Britton as maid of honor and Miss Janice Rummel of Frankenmuth and the groom's sister, Miss Susan Nichols as bridesmaids. Another sister of the bridegroom, Miss Lois Nichols was flower girl.

Dale Monagin of Tecumseh assisted the groom as best man and Roger Finnegan, Dale Tingley and the bride's brother, Walter Bailey, all of Tecumseh were ushers.

An appropriate setting for the solemn ceremony was provided by the singing of "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" by Carl Bailey, a brother of the bride. His accompanist was Miss Anita Engle of Saline at the organ.

Ice crystalette combined with petit point lace over taffeta fashioned the gown of the radiant bride. Her lace bodice had a deeply rounded neck line, outlined with scalloped lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. Shirred lace formed the short sleeves and a wide band of lace was appliqued to the circular, ballerina length skirt. She wore a strand of pearls with matching earrings which were a gift from the groom and carried white carnations arranged with stephanotis and a shower of satin ribbon on a lace covered Bible. A jeweled half hat held her double illusion veil.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore identically styled princess dresses of Gorjet taffeta made in ballerina length. That of Miss Papp was pale yellow while both Miss Rummel and Miss Nichols were in ice blue. Their cascade bouquets were of carnations, that of the maid of honor being mist blue with a background of pale yellow nylon tufts and the bridesmaids, yellow edged with pale blue.

The flower girl wore a floor length dress of ice pink crystalette and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and Frenched carnations bordered with white tulle and featuring a shower of white satin streamers.

Shoulder corsages of pink, pale yellow and white rosebuds were worn by the mothers of the bride and groom and by the bride's grandmother, respectively.

Two hundred guests were entertained at a reception in the church basement immediately after the ceremony. The guest book was in charge of Marge Linden and gifts were received by Marge Steiner and Anita Engel. The four-tiered cake was encircled by a wedding ring of yellow and blue flowers and flanked by crystal candelabra with yellow candles. It was cut by Garnet Bowman and the punch was served by Karen Marine and Marilyn Helzerman. Refreshments were in charge of the ladies of the church.

For her going away dress the bride chose yellow polished cotton with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The wedding trip was to northern Michigan and on their return they will live at 27 W. Brown street.

Mrs. Nichols is a graduate of the Michigan Lutheran Seminary at Saginaw and is a teller at the United Savings Bank. The groom, who graduated in 1954 from Tecumseh high school and is a junior at Adrian College is employed at Greens men's wear store. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Bride-Elect Is Honored at Tea

Mrs. Paul Keyser entertained at tea Friday afternoon at her home on N. Maiden Lane honoring Miss Patricia Ann Marx of Grosse Pointe, whose marriage to Gordon Keyser will be an event of Aug. 11. Seventy-five guests were welcomed during the afternoon by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Paul Ammer, Mrs. Russell Carey and Mrs. Virgil Tucker.

Pink and white flowers were aranged about the house and on the tea table where Miss Sandra Marx and Miss Sherry Tucker presided over the tea service.

Guests from out-of-town included Miss Marx's grandmother, mother and sisters, Mrs. Frank Bowles of West Acres, Mrs. Oscar B. Marx Jr. and Sandra and Barbara Marx of Grosse Pointe.

Of the total 31,000,000 donations of blood obtained by Red Cross since Feb. 1941, some 21,000,000 donations were provided for military and defense and 10,000,000 donations were provided for civilian use.

The American Red Cross provides service to veterans at 73 Veterans Administration offices throughout the country.

ENGAGED—A December wedding is planned by Sharon Lee Woods of Lansing and Robert William Hall of Tecumseh. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Walter Banta of Detroit and the late Russell A. Woods.

Miss Woods graduated in March 1956 from Michigan State University with a B. A. degree in journalism and is now working on the Clinton County Republican-News in St. Johns.

Mr. Hall, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Hall of Tecumseh, graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1952 and is a senior at M.S.U. graduating in Dec. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fairbanks of Tecumseh announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy Anne (above) to Arthur Jack Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill of Clinton. A Sept. wedding is being planned.

Patricia St. Arnaud Dr. George Baibak Married in Toledo

Friends of Dr. George Baibak, son of Mrs. Anastasia Baibak of Tecumseh will be interested in his marriage, July 7, to Patricia Anne St. Arnaud of Toledo. The wedding took place at 9:30 a.m. in Gesu church on Parkside Ave. with the Rev. Fr. Charles Mooney, S.J. performing the single ring ceremony. Miss St. Arnaud's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Laurence St. Arnaud of Joffre Ave., Toledo.

Attendants were Miss Pat Roller and Mrs. Thomas Verlin as maid and matron of honor, Miss Joanne Behm and Mrs. Anthony Krieger, bridesmaids; Lawrence F. St. Arnaud, brother of the bride, best man; Robert Lide and Dr. Jon Bennett of Ann Arbor and Joseph Thomas of Clinton, ushers.

Nuptial music was played by Clarence Hillebrand at the organ and the church was decorated with white snapdragons and chrysanthemums and pale pink asters.

The bride wore a floor length dress of imported Deponi silk made with a Cathedral train. The bodice had a scooped neckline bordered with pearls and iridescent sequins and the same detail was repeated on the sleeves. Her Cathedral length veil of Swiss illusion fell from a pearl encrusted tiara and she carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses, a prayer book and a linen handkerchief which was a gift of the groom's mother. The groom's gift to the bride was a sterling silver cross studded with diamond chips.

All the bride's attendants wore floor length dresses of mint green crystalette over taffeta and wreaths of smilax with rose petal rosettes across the front. They had white gloves and carried arm bouquets of roses, the maid of honor's being yellow, the matron's peach and the bridesmaid's pink.

Mrs. St. Arnaud wore blue lace with a blue picture hat while Mrs. Baibak's gown was of rose nylon lace and her accessories were white. Both had corsages of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate families and wedding party followed the ceremony at the Park Lane Hotel. That evening from 8 to 10 p.m., 300 guests were entertained at the same place. Guests attended from Adrian, Akron, Ohio; Toronto, Canada and from Hudson, Pentwater and Berwyne, Ill. Those from Tecumseh included the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Ervie Raymond and Mrs. R. Kantautas, the groom's grandmother. The Rev. Fr. John O'Brien of Detroit was also present.

After a two months tour of Canada and the northern United States, Dr. Baibak will enter the air force going to Gunther Air Force Base at Montgomery, Ala. He is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and the medical school of the University of Michigan. Mrs. Baibak received her R.N. degree from St. Ursula's Academy in Toledo.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY

MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Chairman's Job Linked to Convention Strategy

BY PROF. NORTON E. LONG
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

(Editor's note: This is the third in a series of articles about the national political conventions prepared especially for weekly newspapers by Dr. Long with assistance of the M.S.U. Department of Information Services. An expert on public administration and political parties, Prof. Long is currently acting head of the department of political science and director of the Michigan Citizenship Clearing House.)

The committee on permanent organization, the second of the four great committees, has as its most important business the selection of the permanent presiding officer for the convention. Normally the permanent chairman is expected to be neutral, at least to the extent of not himself being a candidate for the nomination.

As a matter of practical policies, the permanent chairman is often selected weeks in advance by the national committee's committee on convention arrangements.

He is sometimes friendly to one candidate, and meets in preliminary caucuses with the candidate's backers to map strategy to assure that person's nomination. A candidate with the permanent chairman's backing has definite procedural advantages.

CAN BREAK A MAN

For instance, by failing to recognize the opposition backers, the chairman can make the best of plans come to naught. Senator Sam Rayburn's rough handling of Senator Paul Douglas and the Kefauver delegates to the 1952 Democratic convention is a good example. He refused to recognize Douglas when Douglas, in desperation, came up to Rayburn's desk asking permission to be heard. Rulings on procedure may also prove devastating to the opposition, and give advantage to the candidate the permanent chairman favors.

The rules committee recommends the rules of procedure under which the convention will operate. Usually this committee merely advises that the rules of the last convention be adopted. But it may draft more important changes. In 1936, for example, the Democratic committee recommended abolition of the party rule which required that a presidental nominee receive a two-thirds vote. Franklin Roosevelt, in the flood tide of his political power, had determined that never again would the Southern Democrats exercise veto power over the majority choice of the convention.

The platform committee is responsible for presenting a draft platform to the convention. Most of this work has actually been done long before in committee meetings. The committee usually spends most of its time during the convention going through the formalities of listening to representatives of various organizations desirous of promoting or opposing some possible plank.

WHAT HE WISHES

In cases where the president is to be renominated, the party platform is usually written according to his personal wishes. Thus President Eisenhower, if he so decides, can probably draft the Republican platform under which he will campaign.

The committee's recommendations on a platform are normally accepted by the convention. However, floor fights are not unknown, and it is likely that one will develop this year on a civil rights plank in the Democratic platform.

A majority and minority committee report are expected on the issue, and it will probably be fought out on the floor of the convention. In the 1948 Democratic convention, Senator Hubert Humphrey's battle to insert a strong civil rights provision was successful, and led to the walkout of two Southern delegations, and formation of the Dixiecrat party. Southern leaders have said there will be no such third party this year, but they will try their utmost to get a civil rights plank acceptable to the South.

BRUSHED THEM OFF

The late Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential candidate in 1940, brushed off party platforms as "fusions of ambiguity," and another commentator said the tendency of the political platform is "neither to define nor to convince, but rather to attract and confuse. It is a mixture of denunciation, declamation and conciliation."

Once the report of the platform committee has been adopted, the convention is ready for its real and most exciting business: nominating the candidates.

Meet Your Michigan

A CITY DISAPPEARED: IN THE EARLY 1800'S A FLOURISHING COMMUNITY IN MONROE COUNTY WAS NAMED CLARK CITY. BY 1877 THE ENTIRE CITY HAD VANISHED. THE ONLY TRACE OF IT REMAINING NOW IS A CEMETERY, WHICH WAS REDISCOVERED LAST SUMMER ON THE WM. KAMIN FARM, 12 MILES NORTH OF MONROE.

THE MARTENS ARE COMING: HIGHLY PRIZED FOR THEIR BEAUTIFUL FUR, THE SMALL "WEASEL-LIKE" MARTEN USED TO ROAM MICHIGAN'S UPPER PENINSULA, BUT WERE TRAPPED INTO EXTINCTION. THIS YEAR THE CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT IS ATTEMPTING TO REPOPULATE MICHIGAN WITH THE ANIMAL. TWO PAIR HAVE BEEN IMPORTED FROM CANADA AND RELEASED IN THE PORCUPINE MOUNTAIN AREA, AN IDEAL HABITAT FOR THEM.

MUNICIPAL CENTER ON STILTS: FLINT'S MODERN NEW FOUR MILLION DOLLAR MUNICIPAL CENTER WILL ACTUALLY BE BUILT ON STILTS. THE SEVERAL BUILDINGS INCLUDE A CITY HALL, POLICE HEADQUARTERS, COURTS, HEALTH CENTER AND AUDITORIUM. IT WILL BE LOCATED IN THE MIDDLE OF WHAT WAS ONCE A MARSH. CONSEQUENTLY, 1300 PILINGS MAKE UP THE PIERS NECESSARY TO SUPPORT THE BUILDINGS. THEY WILL COVER 6 BLOCKS OF FORMER MARSHLAND.

NO RADAR FOR THESE NIGHT FLYERS: NO RADAR IS NEEDED BY MICHIGAN'S FLYING SQUIRRELS AS THEY FLIT FROM TREE TO TREE AT NIGHT. THESE NIGHT FLYING SQUIRRELS ARE THE ONLY NOCTURNAL VARIETY OF SEVERAL SPECIES OF SQUIRRELS NATIVE TO MICHIGAN.

CITY MAY VOTE ON FLUORIDATION

Directors State Their Views

This is a statement by the board of directors of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce:

1. The Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce is endorsing fluoridation as a community project because we feel it is a valuable public health measure which the children of Tecumseh should not be denied. This project has been carried out by other junior chambers of commerce throughout the country.

2. We intend to conduct a positive educational program which at all times will keep to the subject at hand and not become involved in personalities, local politics, or other side issues.

3. We hope to enlist the support of many local organizations and individuals to assist in the promotion of this project.

4. Financial assitance for the project will come only from voluntary personal donations. The junior chamber of commerce will not donate any money for the project nor will any organization be solicited for funds.

5. We intend to circulate petitions to place the question on the ballot in the Nov. election to give all eligible voters in Tecumseh an opportunity to express themselves on the subject.

Issued by the board of directors Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Saturday, July 28.

Jaycees To Direct Educational Program

Fluoridation of the city water supply may be placed on the ballot for the general election in Nov.

Meeting Thursday night, members of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce in a standing vote decided to "assume the leadership in an educational campaign" with the goal of having the issue placed before city voters in Nov.

The vote to sponsor the educational campaign was 13-9 with several members not voting. This does not necessarily mean that nine Jaycees were against fluoridation. It may mean that some of the nine are opposed to the Jaycees' sponsorship of the educational campaign.

This was brought out in a discussion that followed the motion of Dr. Robert Laidlaw to start action on the campaign. His motion was seconded by Delbert E. King. Dr. Laidlaw, instrumental in getting fluoridation in the city water supply more than two and one-half years ago, moved:

"Moved that the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce assume the leadership in a public educational program for the promotion of fluoridation of the community water supply with the intention of placing the question on the ballot in the Nov. election."

Dr. Laidlaw stated: "Although it is true that the junior chamber of commerce does not take sides on political issues, this question is not political, but simply involves the health of Tecumseh children. Health matters should be decided on their merits not on politics or personalities. The junior chamber of commerce is the logical sponsoring organization as the club has always had youth projects as a primary interest. Also since most of the members' children would be directly benefited, Jaycee members should have a high personal interest in the project."

He said that other Jaycee clubs had sponsored such a program.

Prior to his motion he and Dr. Robert J. Murray, immediate past president of the club and the leading proponent of fluoridated city water before the last election on the issue, circulated a pamphlet "Why Your Dentist Recommends Fluoridation" to members of the club.

Dr. Laidlaw then pointed out the many benefits from the standpoint of dental health that are derived from fluoridated water, particularly in the case of children.

DISCUSSION FOLLOWS

During the discussion period the following comments were made:

Merlyn Downing, president, wanted to know if other Jaycee clubs had sponsored an educational campaign before or after the issue had been voted on.

Dr. Murray replied that there had not been a vote but that Jaycees took over when agitation against fluoridation began.

Arthur Schwartz, who also is a member of the city council, said he was not against fluoridation on its merits but that some of the people he talked with prior to the last fluoridation election questioned the economy of paying for the fluoride and flushing most of the fluoridated water down the sewer.

(The cost to the city would be $3600 a year.)

DEBATE WANTED

Robert Williamson said he has his own well and the question does not matter to him but he would like to see a debate on both sides before the club voted on it.

Dr. Laidlaw replied that this would be a major part of the educational campaign: that public meetings to discuss both sides would be held.

Donald Brazee, who also is a member of the council, said: "We never get anywhere by keeping our heads in the sand or running away from something just because it is controversial."

VOTE PLAN CHANGED

At first a secret vote was started; but so many members complained, saying that the club had never had a secret vote before, that the plan was changed and a hand vote was taken on the club's supporting the educational campaign.

But the count had to be taken twice And then there was still a question, so a standing vote was taken with the count 13 to 9 supporting the proposed program.

This means in effect that members of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce will circulate petitions to get the referendum on the ballot in Nov.

They will have to get 10 per cent of the registered voters or about 290 signatures before they can ask that the proposal be placed on the ballot.

Fluoridation of the city water supply was voted on in Tecumseh March 8, 1954, when it lost by a 54 vote majority. The count at that time was 676 to 622.

Members Named To Handle Details

The following members of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce have volunteered for the project and have been appointed by President Merlyn Downing:

General chairman, Jack Osburn; treasurer, Richard Beemer; members, Charles Aebersold, Donald Aebersold, Donald Brazee, John Hamilton, Delbert King, Douglas Murdock, Dermont Poley and Ray Shelton.

The following members will serve as a professional advisory committee:

Carlton Cook, M.D., Robert Laidlaw D.D.S., Robert Mohr D.-D.S., Robert Murray D.D.S.

Any citizen wishing to help in the project please contact chairman Jack Osburn at 429.

Cash donations for the fluoridation committee treasury are being accepted by Richard Beemer, 202 E. Chicago Blvd. or Phone 446.

One World

The Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken over the sponsorship of the annual all-county band festival.

The sponsorship had been by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce which has furnished $175 for the promotion of this year's festival which will be held here on the Recreation field Oct. 2.

The theme of the festival this year is "One World". It again will be directed by Clare Camburn with the Rev. B. O. Bashore as narrator.

Primary Election Set Next Monday

An average turn-out of voters is expected for the primary election scheduled for next Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Voters will be voting for the following: governor, lieutenant governor, representative in Congress and state senator and representative.

Grenval W. Spangler of Tecumseh is Democrat nominee for senator from the 19th district.

They also will be voting for the following county office nominees: prosecuting attorney, sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, register of deeds, drain commissioner, coroners and surveyor.

And they will be nominating persons for the probate judge office and circuit court commissioners.

The two county offices that have the most pre-primary interest are prosecuting attorney and sheriff.

Yale Leland Kerby, Kenneth Glaser and Paul Betz are Republican candidates. Mr. Betz is the incumbent.

Arthur Kerr, Elmer Smith, Robert Stites and William Howe are Republican candidates for sheriff.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Jay Campbell was arrested by Tecumseh police Tuesday. He is awaiting arraignment on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Car Hits Boy

David Elder, 9, was seriously injured Friday about 6 p.m. when he was struck by a car on south Evans St.

The car was driven by Ray Fish of Tecumseh who told police that he turned off Chicago boulevard going west and the boy ran out from behind parked cars on the west side of Evans and into the path of his car.

The boy suffered head injuries. He was released from Herrick Memorial hospital after being a patient two days.

Library Report Shows Growth

The Tecumseh Public Library last year had a combined circulation of 37,806 items. In addition to books, this included magazines, pamphlets, records and music. This was an increase of 12,651 over the previous year, reports Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, librarian.

Library readers, her report shows, numbered 3,745. And the library staff answered 1,003 reference questions.

Eight hundred and sixty nine books were added, bringing the book total to 11,498.

The library has 2,218 registered borrowers. Of this number 828 are juveniles and 1,390 are adults.

Library activities during the year included a story hour and book club.

In Nov. about 400 persons visited the book fair.

Last Jan. a new library board was appointed. The board has planned a future program.

The library building, Mrs. Fosbender's report notes, had a face lifting with new lighting and interior painting. And a new table, filing cabinet and book case were added.

The library also has begun a hospital library service and a student helper has been added to the staff.

Mrs. Fosbender reported: "Our plan for the coming year is to be of more service to the community and to build a larger and better collection of materials that will not sit on the shelves but be put to use by the people of the community."

BLEACHERS GAIN—Ed Nelson was all smiles and so was Bob Breniff when the Jaycees turned over their second $500 check for the recreation field bleachers. The money was gained from the Jaycee homecoming and Bob was chairman of the affair.

Youth Fined for Theft

Herman Schmidt, 17, of Tecumseh was fined $100 in circuit court last week. Also assessed costs of $50 and ordered to pay restitution of $23, he was charged with stealing money from lockers at Tecumseh high school last May 16.

Tecumseh police charged that he stole about $40 from the lockers as baseball players practiced.

If he does not pay the fine and costs, Schmidt will have to serve 90 days in jail.

LONG LINE-UP—This was one of dozens of trucks lined up to process loads of wheat at Hayden's Monday. The line-up went from the mill, down south Evans and lapped over into Pottawatamie St.

Rain Slows County Wheat Harvest

BY GRETTA PORTER

"Rain! Rain! Rain!" has been the farmers' sad theme song this summer.

According to H. C. Weghorst, manager of the Hayden Mill in Tecumseh, rain has held many farmers as much as two weeks behind their regular harvesting schedule.

"In past years we have received wheat as early as July 4th and usually at least by the middle of the month," he said.

"This year has been extremely wet and this weather has held up harvesting," continued Weghorst.

"In the past two weeks there have been only four days which were good for combining. Wheat is usually brought to the Mill immediately after it is harvested," he explained.

The moisture content of the grain has run abnormally high this year — often up to 16 per cent. Wheat cannot be stored until it has 14 per cent moisture content or less.

The wheat this year has been number two grade in comparison with last year's crop of number one grade grain. Mr. Weghorst explained that after grain is ripe it does not stay at its best if it gets wet and then dries out several times before being harvested.

The average yield per acre has been roughly 25-30 bushels.

Insect damage this year has been no more than usual, Weghorst reported.

On the whole, he concluded, this promises to be a good but not bumper year for wheat.

Public Schools Need Two More Teachers

Tecumseh Public Schools still lack two teachers to complete the staff for next fall.

Although 81 teachers have signed contracts to teach in Tecumseh, Supt. James McDowell has been attempting to secure an elementary music teacher for the city schools since early last spring.

No qualified personnel have been available who were interested in Tecumseh.

A second vacancy in elementary physical education for girls occurred upon the resignation of Mrs. Hardcastle last week.

Teachers are at a premium again this year and should any citizen of this area know of any teachers with college degrees that might be interested in these positions they would be performing a public service by having them contact Supt. McDowell.

Legion Conclave Set for Lansing

This week marks the American Legion convention in Lansing.

The Drill Team Auxiliary of the Tecumseh post will participate in a parade Saturday morning.

The team is under the direction of Doug Tate and Mrs. Louis Schneider is the captain.

Mrs. Charles Howe is the chairman of the Tecumseh delegation to the convention. Among those from Tecumseh who will be in Lansing one or more days this week for the convention are: the Louis Schneiders, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Purnell Osburn, Mrs. Robert Lowe, Mrs. Emma Russell, Mrs. Golda Zarnoch, Mrs. Nell King and Mrs. Esther Seizert.

Grange Sunday Will Be Aug. 5

Tecumseh Grange met Thursday evening with the young people conducting the meeting. It was announced that each member should bring with him to the next meeting anything concerning the community project. William Grigg is chairman of this project.

It was also announced that Grange Sunday will be observed Aug. 5.

The home economics committee will have eliminations contests at the Aug. 23 meeting. This will consist of house dresses, textile painting, crocheted holder and cookies in four classes, which will become the property of the State Grange, where they will be sold.

Following the meeting, games were played under the direction of Judy Schultz and prizes were presented to the winners.

Man Charged with Assault Pays $33.60

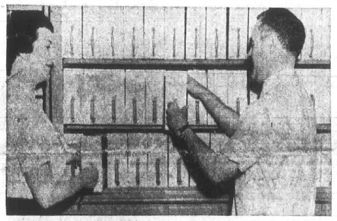
Clarence R. Woodby of Adrian pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery when he appeared before justice Robert French last Thursday.

He was fined $25 and assessed costs of $8.60.

The assault took place July 22 in the Palman store here when Mr. Arthur Muck, a union steward, and Mr. Woodby had words over the employment of a carpenter working on the remodeling of the store.

Mr. Woodby said he struck Mr. Muck in the mouth after Mr. Muck called him names.



110th ANNIVERSARY—Friday and Saturday the C. A. Wright and Son drug store will observe its 110th anniversary in its newly renovated building. Mrs. William Wright and William Wright are standing behind their expanded prescription department.

A feature history picture story is on page two.

Tuesday night's Rotary Club program featured a tribute to the Wright drug store. Henry Maicki, president of the Michigan Branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association, brought official greetings to the drug store and Mrs. Jane Rogan, hospital pharmacist at Deaconess hospital in Detroit, cited what a druggist means to a community.

Other guests were Mrs. Maicki, Mr. Rogan, John Cameron of the Cameron Drug Co. and Ralph Hodges of Hodges Drug Store. A. C. ("Bill") Hamaker, who was in charge of the program, read a letter of greeting from John J. McKeighan, national president of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

SURE GLAD OUR Gretta Porter who competently has pinch-hitted for Miss Clara Waldron while Clara took a well-earned vacation did not get lost when she worked on the Hayden wheat story. She has lived here eight years but she surprised us when she said she did not know where Haydens, Tecumseh's oldest industry, is located.

MRS. ERNEST ROBISON on south Evans is another proud owner of Easter lilies. She also has one with five blooms.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "The less one has to do the less time he finds in which to do it."

THE ROOM WAS CROWDED with tiny Tecumsehites celebrating one of the tike's seventh birthday Saturday. A chair was moved too close to the television set and the young hostess, being uninhibited as most seven-year-olds are, warned: "Don't scratch the TV. It isn't paid for yet."

WHEN FLUORIDATION was being bandied about by Jaycees Bob Wallace, an exhausted rooster, commented: "Sure, it's good stuff. We have it in Britton and it is so good that we don't even need dentists."

MR. AND MRS. YALE KERBY enjoyed the editorial on Corunna in last week's paper. They came from that neck of the woods.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Lester Handy will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday, Aug. 5. An open house will be held for them from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Baptist Youth House.

Mr. and Mrs. Handy were married at Wamplers lake Aug. 7, 1931. The couple has lived in and around Tecumseh since their marriage and now reside at 413 W. Chicago Blvd. They are the owners of the Jack Pine Drive-In.

The Handys have five children, Mrs. Gerald Eaton of Tecumseh, Mrs. Ray Bond, Jr. of Lansing, Mrs. Gary Roberts of Tecumseh and Max and Lois, who live at home.

The seventh of August is a big day in the Handy family for, in addition to their 25th wedding anniversary, they will celebrate both Mr. Handy's and Max's birthdays.

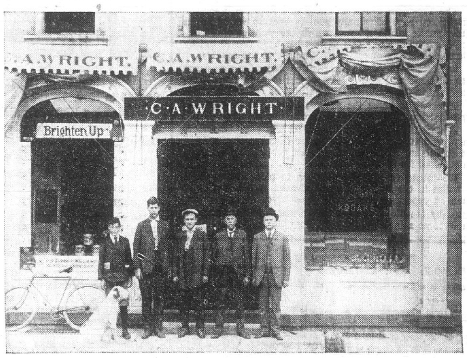
C. A. Wright & Son Long Has Been Family Affair

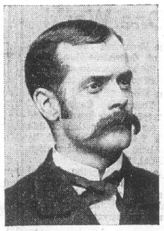


THE OLD—This is the C. A. Wright & Son store as it looked at the turn of the century.

This is a short history of the C. A. Wright & Son drug store which will have its grand opening of its renovated building this weekend:

The state's fourth oldest community was founded in the Territory of Michigan in 1824. Thomas Wright, farmer and surveyor, formerly of Northhampton, Massachusetts, settled in Tecumseh with his wife and children in 1831. Relatives who arrived prior to that date had purchased land for him.

FOUNDER—Moses Wright



GAVE NAME—C. A. Wright

FORMER OWNER—Donald Wright

Moses Wright, son of Thomas Wright opened a general store in Tecumseh in 1839. That drugs and medicines, laudmum, ipecac and many others were an important part of this store at that time is evidenced by many account books now in possession of the family.

In 1846, having studied herbs, chemicals, and materia medica, Moses Wright abandoned most of the general store and specialized in drugs, and medicines. Thus was founded the business that was probably Michigan's first real drug store.

FORMS FIRM NAME

Charles Augustine Wright, son of Moses Wright was born in 1848. Commonly known as "C. A." or "Gus," he was educated in pharmacy and carried on the business in Tecumseh past the turn of the century. His name now forms the firm name.

Donald Wright, son of C. A. Wright was born in 1883, graduated from Northwestern University and carried on the business for many years, overlapping both the service of his father and his son, William A. Wright, who now operates the store. Donald Wright, well-known in pharmacy throughout the middlewest, was a Rotarian, a 32nd Degree Mason and active in civic affairs.

IT'S FAMILY AFFAIR

William A. Wright and his wife, Ruth Thatcher Wright, both registered pharmacists and graduates of Ferris Institute, now operate the business, one of the oldest in the United States to be in a direct line of a family.

William A. Wright also carries a degree from Kenyon College. Their two daughters, Sarah and Laura Wright are already showing their hand in the store work.

The C. A. Wright & Son Pharmacy has been consistently successful through the many years of its operation. During the past year, their store structure has undergone a complete rebuilding and modernizing.

A beautiful early American style is in evidence in the new front. The prescription department, entirely open, is greatly enlarged. A rear entrance to the store from their own private parking area brings the entire prescription department under scrutiny of the patrons.

The store maintains all the usual drug store departments, and in addition it has a separate store next door connected by an archway and carries a large stock of wallpaper and paints.

Always a respected and active establishment, the C. A. Wright & Son Pharmacy now enjoys a nice general business that marks it as one of the finest in southern Michigan.

Davis-Biederman Vows Spoken in Friends Church

Sandra Elaine Biederman became the bride of Ritchie T. Davis Saturday at 3:30 p.m. in the Tecumseh Friends Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Biederman of Russell road and the late Mr. Biederman. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Davis of north Union street.

MRS. RITCHIE T. DAVIS

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Escolme, pastor of the church. Hampers of white gladioli and palms were used to bank the altar and white satin bows marked the pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Clarence Kayner. The former Miss Biederman asked Miss Connie Clark to be her only bridesmaid.

Ashley Chase assisted the groom as best man. Mr. Davis asked Thomas Neitling and Leroy Betzoldt to seat the guests.

Mrs. Amos Wilson played appropriate organ music preceding and during the ceremony. Before the ceremony, Diane Woodward sang "Because" and "Always" and she sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Miss Biederman was charming in a floor length gown of traditional bride's white. The bodice of her gown was of chantilly lace basque with a bateau scalloped neckline and short sleeves. Tulle over satin with appliques of lace fashioned the skirt of the lovely gown. The bride wore a coronet held by a cathedral veil of illusion. She wore a string of pearls, a gift from the groom. A cascade of white carnations with pale pink rosettes edged with white tullle and interspersed with ivy formed the bride's bouquet.

Miss Clark and Miss Bowen wore identical sheath dresses of light blue, polished cotton with full, frosted nylon overskirts. Their picture hats were covered in the same material as the overskirts of their dresses. Their accessories were of light blue. Both attendants carried cascade arm bouquets centered with feathered pale pink carnations and edged with white daisies.

Mrs. Biederman chose a gown of light blue nylon shantung with white accessories for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Davis wore blue-gray nylon shantung, also with white accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement for 150 guests. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table. The cake was flanked by pink candles and carnations. Miss Barbara Ousterhout cut the wedding cake while Miss Jane Smith served the punch. Mrs. Jack Houghtaling was in charge of the guest book. In charge of gifts were Theresa Verrier and Linda Sisson while Mrs. Allan Bordine assisted at the bride's table.

For a short wedding trip to northern Michigan the new Mrs. Davis wore a light blue cotton sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Tecumseh high school in 1955 attended Stautzenberger Secretarial School and is employed by the Tecumseh Produces Co. Mr. Davis, also a 1955 graduate of Tecumseh high school, is employed in the shipping dept. of the Tecumseh Products Co.

Upon their return the couple will live at 2270 east Monroe road in Tecumseh.

Prior to her marriage Miss Biederman was the guest of honor at showers given by Mrs. Allan Bordine and Mrs. Amos Wilson, Miss Connie Clark and Mrs. Marvin Rumpf.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Sterling-Monroe state park on Lake Erie will be closed, except for weekends, starting Sunday night, July 22, until mid-Aug., and then will be closed completely for the remainder of the season.

The state Conservation Department said today that trucks will use the park road system during the next four work weeks, carrying topsoil in the continuing park improvement program. About 30,000 yards of topsoil will be moved by mid-Aug. Weekends, however, the park will be available for public use.

But after mid-Aug., Sterling-Monroe will have to be closed for the remainder of the season to accommodate dredging operations now under way. The dredge will cut across the main entrance road after this date and begin work in the north lobe of the park.

To date this year, 536,000 persons have entered the park. Park officials, reluctant to close during the peak of the season, said the work had to be done this summer to continue the park development on schedule.

Contracts awarded thus far for improvement of the park total $1,120,000.

Michigan State Police troopers will visit state parks during routine patrols this summer to help calm the enthusiasm of rowdies and vandals.

The State Police recently agreed to take on the patrols to help beleagured park managers, most of whom work alone and unarmed. In cases of trouble, local police are often summoned, but park officials feel the occasional presence of state troopers will do much to ease tensions that sometimes arise, especially in the more crowded parks.

---

A bear recently stole a beaver live trap, containing a beaver, from a backwoods area of the Newberry district. State trapper John Arduin, Newberry, says this is the third time this has happened in the last three years.

Southern Michigan farmers have shown a growing willingness to make use of the Conservation Department's farm game habitat program.

The Department provides free trees, shrubs, grasses and other plantings to farmers to make more cover and food for small game.

Sportsmen pay for the plantings out of taxes they pay on sporting arms and ammunition.

But farmers, who know a good bet when they see it, find the cover plantings serve not only wildlife, but farm purposes as well. Trees form windbreaks, shrubs and grasses halt erosion, other plantings help hold water on the land.

At present, 4700 southern Michigan farms have planting programs under way and requests from others are received in Department offices daily.

The plantings come with no strings attached, except an obligation on the part of the farmer to see that the plant get into the ground and receive reasonable protection in getting started. But the farmer doesn't have to let hunters use his land, nor is he under obligation to pay, at any time, for the planting. The program is long-range and based on the theory that what's good for the land is good for wildlife and people combined, including farmers, hunters and anyone else interested in the problems and products of agriculture and conservation.

Anyone having five acres or more of rural land in southern Michigan, below the Bay City-Muskegon line, is eligible for participation in the program.

A postcard request to the Conservation Department's game division at Lansing, 26, will get the farmer under way on the program, and it's still early enough to get plantings for this fall.

About 113,000 young graylings are thriving on a diet of brine shrimp and ground beef liver at Wolf Lake hatchery, west of Kalamazoo.

The young fish are the Montana variety of the grayling, close relative of the now-extinct Michigan grayling. They came as eggs from the Montana State Fish and Game Commission early this month and will serve as an "exhibition" population for educational purposes.

Conservation Department officials say a long history of planting attempts in the early years of this century failed to keep the Michigan grayling from extinction.

The Detroit News gave $1000 to buy the eggs from Montana at the start of the program.

Hunters and trappers received $20,110 in bounties for coyotes, bobcats and foxes during June.

Conservation Department records show 46 coyotes, 41 bobcats and 3817 foxes were presented for bounty during the month.

Michigan has 3,217,000 acres of wetlands of value to waterfowl.

A recent Fish and Wildlife Service study of United States wetlands shows that Michigan stands ninth in total waterfowl area, but first in total wetlands of "moderate" value.

Conservation Department field workers, acting in cooperation with Service officials, compiled basic information used in the study.

Michigan has 310,500 acres of high value wetlands, 2,013,200 acres of moderate value wetlands, 430,100 acres of low value wetlands and 463,300 acres of negligible value wetlands.

Minnesota leads in the high value column with 1,274,000 acres of precious wetlands, while Florida, with 17,185,300 acres of wetlands, leads the nation in total marsh area. Most of Florida's duck lands, however, are termed low or negligible in value.

The Service report says this is the first inventory designed to show wildlife values set in proper perspective with other resources in a balanced land-use pattern.

About 74,400,000 acres of U. S. wetlands are covered in the report, Wildlife Circular 39, available from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

A blue-winged teal, banded Sept. 7, 1954, at Crow Island state game area near Saginaw, was killed Dec. 18, 1955, near Lajas, Puerto Rico.

A recent U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service report shows that another bluewing, banded Oct. 5, 1954, at Seney Waterfowl Refuge, was shot Jan. 22 near Los Villas, Cuba.

Here's why more farmers choose Twentieth CENTURY MANUFACTURING COMPANY AC ARC WELDERS TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

In Midget League play Herrick Park blasted Tecumseh Acres 21 to 0. Jim Newell defeated coach Bill Newell's club by chucking a four hitter.

And in a team effort Herrick Park defeated Central 12 to 3. Tecumseh Acres trounced Herrick Park 25 to 4 in a Junior League game. Bill Conklin had five for five; Mike Robinson had five for six, including a homer and triple; and Bill Ross had four for six, including two homers.

Tecumseh Acres also knocked off Herrick Park 9 to 1.

In Senior League play Tecumseh Acres shaded Herrick Park 9 to 8. Dave Merrillat socked a triple and single to provide some timely hitting.

Herrick Park took the measure of Central 19 to 11. Lee Marsh had three for four; Gary Hanna had two for three, including a triple and homer; and Tony Kasik pitched well under pressure.

In Little League games Tecumseh was defeated by Madison 5 to 1 in a game abbreviated by rain after four innings.

Tecumseh blanked Adrian 22 to 0. Kruger and Stephenson smacked back-to-back homers and Kruger chucked a one-hitter.

Tecumseh also shaded Adrian 5 to 4. Bill Ross drove in the tieing run with a triple and Kruger knocked in the winning marker.

FANS SOMETIMES think of professional baseball players as glamorous stars who lead unusual and exciting lives. This, of course, is far from being true.

Ball players are ordinary fellows, just like the guys in the neighborhood, except that they possess tremendous natural talent in sports that sets them apart from other people.

But nowhere is their "normalness" more apparent than on the road when, after a day game or before a night game, time hangs heavy on players' hands. Away from friends and family, the players cast about for varying forms of recreation.

On the Tigers, for example, Frank House, Al Kaline, Bob Kennedy, Jim Brideweiser, Ray Boone and Steve Gromek go to the movies. Almost without exception, they like Western films best.

Cards Favorite Diversion

Card-playing, particularly on monotonously long railroad trips, is a favorite diversion of Bill Hitchcock, Red Wilson, Bill Tuttle and Jack Phillips, who comprise a bridge foursome.

Harvey Kuenn, Bill Hoeft and Paul Foytack prefer hearts, while Earl Torgeson, Steve Gromek, Virgil Trucks and Jay Porter favor pinochle.

Charley Maxwell, on the other hand, is kept fairly busy with his studies in a correspondence course in accountancy. When he has some spare moments, he likes number painting and reading mystery fiction.

Jim Brady and Jack Tighe enjoy singing and they're at it quite a bit around the clubhouse or on the way to the ball park. Hoeft is the team cut-up and one hardly knows what gag he'll pull next.

Keeping in Business

Crossword puzzles are perused avidly by Trucks, Hitchcock, Porter and Hoeft. Jim Small prefers to work with his new weight-lifting outfit that he hopes will help develop his wrist and forearms for greater hitting power.

Walter Masterson, who was in the shoe business during the time he was out of baseball, seemingly knows every retailer and wholesaler in every town the Tigers visit. He's always ready to steer a teammate to a "good deal" if the teammate is in a buying mood.

Bob Kennedy, who's a manufacturer's agent for a floor covering concern in the off-season, devotes considerable off-duty time to calling on prospective clients. He, too, gets Tiger wives "deals" on merchandise.

Curiously, Gromek and Wilson are amateur barbers, and do the Tigers enjoy that! The players chipped in to get the pair a complete set of barbering equipment, and since most of them wear crew cuts, it's a simple matter to get a good clipping. The cutting is done in the clubhouse early, before batting practice, whenever they're on the road.

Northville Downs Closes Saturday

Northville Downs will close its 35 night harness meeting Saturday (Aug. 4) with the prospect that it will be the most successful in its 13-year history.

The mutuel handle and attendance has been running four to five per cent above last year which was the best year to date.

Racing Secretary Harry Hatch has scheduled two outstanding cards for the final two days of the meeting Friday and Saturday (Aug. 3 and 4).

Friday night's program will feature A and AA trotters which will bring out the best on the grounds.

Saturday night's feature will be $3,000 consolation pace open to all pacers who were nominated for the Michigan Pacing Derby and who did not finish first or second in either of the two heats.

By appointment, I found myself talking with Mr. and Mrs. Morgon, who were planning to sell their home. Before long we had discussed most of the details and I left with a good listing.

A short time later I was back with prospective buyers. They liked the house.

Mrs. Morgon phoned me then said, "You know I've never sold a house before so I'd like a little more information. Do you want me along as you show our house, or would you rather show it alone? Frankly, I'd prefer to let you do it."

"That's usually the best policy too," I replied. "If we know the house well — as we should on an exclusive listing — we can guide the prospects. Generally, they feel more at ease without the owner. Moreover, we can spotlight certain features we know they want. And, they're more frank in their criticisms and objections.

"But I really appreciate your call," I said, "because it illustrates one point that is of prime importance — owner cooperation. It's a pleasure to work with and for a cooperative home owner."

May we SELL your home too?

They Must Be Signed

The HERALD this week received two more letters to the editor that were not signed by the writers.

One letter was about civil defense tornado protection for Tecumseh. It was signed "An Interested Citizen" and the other was about "protected concessions" at the homecoming.

This newspaper welcomes letters to the editor but, as we have stated many times in the past, letters must be signed by the writers.

The Jaycee Program

For more than two years the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce has been an outstanding service club that has worked hard and long on many worthwhile community projects. The club has had an enviable record.

And now it will be attempting what may prove to be its greatest test. It will circulate petitions to try to get 290 city electors to agree that the proposal to fluoridate the city water supply (this is not about the merits of fluoridation) should be placed on the ballot for a vote in the general election in Nov.

This should not prove too difficult; but what will this and the educational program on fluoridation that will be assumed by club members do to the club. The Jaycees' success in the past has been due to their solidarity.

An indication that maybe this solidarity is threatened may be seen in the fact that the vote to carry the fluoridation story to the voters was 13 to 9. Of course this does not mean that the club has nine persons opposed to fluoridation. The vote was whether the club should get mixed up in the proposal. But it is safe to assume that of the number against the proposed Jaycee program some members are opposed to fluoridation per se.

If the proposal had been a new one here it might have been different. But it is not new and it is not a pleasant one. There are now too many personalities and too much community conflict in the picture.

Of course if the Jaycees' educational committee can work over the past and conduct its educational campaign on a high level without being egged on by remarks that will be repeated from the old controversy and if the club members will forget personalities completely they will be on firmer ground and they might stand a good chance to come out of the educational campaign without scars.

For the sake of the club and its work in the community it is sincerely hoped that members will not let fluoridation disrupt the club's solidarity.

You Can't Clip a TV Program

Dorothy Kilgallen, the columnist and television star, recently had something pleasant to say about newspapers as reading matter.

"You can read on a train crossing the desert or on a plane at 17,000 feet above the Atlantic — no static, no fading, no blips," says Miss Kilgallen. "You can read in a bathtub or while hanging onto a pole in a crowded bus. You can read as much or as little as you want, as fast or as slowly as you want.

"And if you read something you like, you can tear it out and save it to read again some day. I enjoy radio and television, and I am gainfully employed by both, but I must admit they have their drawbacks. Did you ever try to clip a television program and paste it in your scrapbook?"

Here's why the newspaper holds its dominant place in the homes and hearts of Americans. And here is why—to touch on the world of commerce from which all of us draw our livings—the newspaper remains an unsurpassed means of advertising goods and services.

In order to receive a license to be a pharmacist, it is necessary now to study four years in a College of Pharmacy, serve an apprenticeship to gain practical experience, and pass a state examination.

In order to receive a license to practice medicine a Physician spends even more years in a Medical University, serves an internship in a hospital, and also must pass a state examination. All this accumulated cooperative knowledge is yours whenever your physician writes you a prescription, and we pharmacists compound it.

YOUR PHYSICIAN CAN PHONE TECUMSEH 245 WHEN YOU NEED A MEDICINE

Pick up your prescription if shopping near us, or let us deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with the responsibility of filling their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Some Performers Hired

Conventions Are Like Circuses

BY PROF. NORTON E. LONG
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

(Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series of articles about the national political conventions prepared especially for weekly newspapers by Dr. Long with assistance of the M.S.U. Department of Information Services. An expert on public administration and political parties, Prof. Long is currently acting head of the department of political science and director of the Michigan Citizenship Clearing House.)

Presidential nominees traditionally are proposed in long "man who" speeches in which the name of the man being nominated is never spoken until the very end. Mention of the name then stirs up parades and demonstrations.

Complete with hired performers, some demonstrations take hours. Maximum time limits were set in 1952 by agreement among the chief contenders and have also been set for this year's conclaves.

States are called alphabetically, led by Alabama. If the state does not want to nominate, it either "passes" or "yields" to another. Thus, in 1952, Alabama Republicans "passed" to Illinois and Senator Dirkson thereupon nominated Senator Taft. Senator Jenner of Indiana is slated to nominate Eisenhower this year.

Usually the nominating speech is followed by a seconding speech, but there are moves afoot in both parties to eliminate these. The person chosen to nominate the candidate is selected for definite political reasons. Senator Dirkson, for example, was selected in 1952 because of his well-known oratorical abilities and because he was an ardent Taft supporter from a pivotal state with many electoral votes.
